CHAPTER ONE

Incarnations of Visnu

- 1. I bow to Lord Hari, the un-born, un-ageing, endless, identical with Knowledge, Supreme, auspicious, pure, beginningless, devoid of physical body and sense-organs, the inner presiding deity of all living beings, the unsullied and the only omnipresent force that transcends all illusions.
- 2. With mind, speech and actions, ever and anon, I offer my obeisance unto Hari, Rudra, Brahmā, Gaņesa and the Goddess Sarasvatī.
- 3-5. The learned Sūta, well-versed in all paurānika lore, ever-calm, a master of all sacred scriptures and a great devotee of Lord Viṣṇu happened to visit the holy forest Naimiṣa² in the course of his pilgrimage. As he was sitting on a holy seat contemplating on the sinless Lord Viṣṇu the learned Sūta was adored by Śaunaka³ and other holy sages of the Naimiṣa forest—the sages who were effulgent like the sun, yet ever calm and ever engaged in the celebration of sacrifices.

The Sages said :

- 6. O Sūta, we ask you, since you know everything. Who, among the gods, is the most godly, almighty, worthy of our worship?
- 7. Whom are we to contemplate upon? Who creates the universe? Who protects it? Who destroys it? Who is the source of religion? Who is known to be the suppressor of the wicked?
- 8. What is the form of that God? How is the process of creation explained? What are the religious rites to propitiate him? By which Yoga can he be attained?

1. The sūtas in the Paurānika age were regarded as venerable persons who preserved the genealogies of deities, sages and kings in the form of songs and ballads. [Vide details in SP (AITM) p.l. fn. 2.]

2. A forest near the Gomati-river. Here Sauti related the Mahā-

2. A forest near the Gomati-river. Here Sauti related the Mahabhārata to the sages. (Also refer SP (AITM) p. 2107; Linga (AITM) p. 800).

3. A great sage, the author of the Rgveda Prātišākhya and other Vedic compositions. (Also see SP (AITM) p.l. fn. 1).

9-10. What are his incarnations? What is the origin of different lineages? Who assigns the various duties to persons of different castes¹ and āśramas² of life? Who controls him? O wise sage, narrate to us all this and everything else. Tell us the most excellent stories of Nārāyaņa.

Sata said :

- 11. I shall recount to you the Garuda Purāņa, the essence of the anecdotes of Viṣṇu. Formerly, this was narrated to Kasyapa³ by Garuda. I heard it from Vyāsa⁴ in the past.
- 12. The Lord Nārāyaṇa alone is the most powerful almighty of all gods. He is the supreme soul. He is the supreme Brahman. All this world originates from him.
- 13. For the preservation of the universe the unborn, unageing, deathless Vāsudeva assumes various incarnations in the form of Kumāra etc.
 - 14. At first, that god, Hari, assumed the form of Kumāra7
- 1. There are four main castes prevalent among the Hindus: (i) Brālmaņa, (ii) Kṣatriya, (iii) Vaitya and (iv) Sūdra. (Vide SP AITM) p. 2098).
- 2. According to Hindu scriptures, man's life-span is divided into four periods (Aframas) viz., (i) Brahmacarya, (ii) Ghastha, (iii) Vānaprastha, (iv) Sannyāsa. That is to say, (1) a period of studentship totally devoted to study and preparation for life, (ii) a period of householdership enjoying the worldly life, (iii) a period of retired life in the forest and (iv) a period of complete renunciation.
- 3. A great sage, the legendary father of deities and demons. (Also refer SP (AITM) p. 2104, Linga (AITM) p. 798).
- 4. The renowned sage, author of the Mahabharata. (vide Linga (AITM) p. 808.)
 - 5. Brahman-an indefinable supreme power.
- 6. Viṣṇu's preserving and restoring power is manifested in a variety of forms called avatāras literally 'discents' but more intelligibly 'incarnations' in which a portion of his divine essence is embodied in a human or supernatural form possessed of super-human powers. All these avatāras became manifest for correcting some evil or effecting some good in the world. (CDHM p. 361). Ten incarnations of Viṣṇu are accepted universally—Fish, Tortoise, Boar, Man-lion, Dwarf, Parašurāma, Rāma, Kṛṣṇa, Buddha and Kalki. Bhāgavata-Purāṇa enumerates twenty-two incarnations and asserts that in reality they are innumerable. Garuḍa-Purāṇa follows the suit. (Vide details in CDHM pp. 33-8.)
- 7. A son of Siva : generally known as Kärttikeya. (SP (AITM) p. 'a104; Linga (AITM) p. 798).

and O Brahman, performed the unbroken vow of Brahmacarya (celibacy), very difficult for every one.

15. Secondly, the lord of sacrifices took up the form of a boar lifting up the earth that had sunk deep into the nether region.

16. The third incarnation was in the form of a sage. Assuming the form of the divine sage (Nārada¹) he expounded the Sātvata Tantra²—the philosophy of inactivity of actions.

17. In the fourth incarnation Lord Hari, assuming the form of Nara-Nārāyaṇa³ practised penance for the preservation of religion. He was honoured by gods as well as demons.

18. The fifth was in the form of Kapila,4 the foremost among the Siddhas5 who instructed Asuri in the philosophy of Sārikhya6 which had been ravaged by the lapse of time and categorised the (twenty five) tattoas (elements).

1. The famous legendary sage, a great devotee of Visnu. (SP (AITM) p. 2108; Linga (AITM) p. 801.)

2. Obviously refers to Nărada-Samhită of Pancarătra—a ritualistic work on Vaisnavism.

3. They are said to have been practising austere penance on the Himalayas, which excited the fear of Indra who sent down several damsels to disturb their austerities. But Narayana put all of them to shame by creating a nymph Urvasi from a flower on his thigh who excelled them in beauty. (SSED p. 281; SP (AITM) p. 2108; Linga (AITM) p. 801.)

4. A renowned sage who reduced to ashes the sixty-thousand sons of Sagara. (SP (AITM) p. 2104, Linga (AITM) p. 798).

5. Siddhas—A class of semi-divine beings. (refer SP (AITM) p. 2114; Linga (AITM) p. 804).

6. One of the six systems of Hindu Philosophy attributed to sage Kapila. This philosophy derives its name from the fact that it describes twenty-five tattoas (true principles) with the object to achieve the final emancipation of the twenty-fifth tattoa, viz., the Purusa or Soul, from the bonds of his worldly existence—the fetters of phenomenal creation. It conveys a correct knowledge of the twenty-four tattoas and effects the disentanglement of the Soul from their vicious influence. It regards the whole universe to be a development of an inanimate principle—Praken, while Purusa is altogether passive and simply a looker-on. It agrees with the Vadanta in being synthetical, and differs from the analytical Nydya. or Vaitspika; but its great point of divergence from the Vadanta is that it maintains certain principles which the Vadanta denies, chief among them being that it does not admit God as the creator and controller of the Universe, which Vadanta affirms. (SSED. p. 596.)

- 19. The sixth incarnation was in the form of Datta,1 the son of Atril and Anasūyā. When Lord expounded the philosophy of Ānvīkṣikī (Metaphysics) to Alarka, Prahlāda and others,
- 20. Then in the seventh incarnation he was born as Yajña, the son of Rucis and Akūti, as a result of propitiation by Indra and other gods in the Svayambhuva era.
- 21. In the eighth incarnation he was born as Urukrama the son of Nābhi and Merudevī. He indicated to women the path of duty deserving respect of people of all stages of life.
- 22. In the ninth incarnation, as requested by the sages, he took up the form of Prthu. With the milk of potential herbs he resuscitated the brāhmaņas and other creatures.
- 23. He took the form of a fish in the great Deluge at the end of Cākṣuṣa Manvantara¹⁰ and saved Vaivasvata Manu¹¹ by putting him in a terrestrial boat.
- 1. Popularly known as Dattātreya, he is regarded as an incarnation of Brahmā, Vişņu and Šiva.
- 2. The name Atri occurs in the Rgveda as well as in the Epic and Puranic literature. (CDHM p. 32. Also refer SP (AITM) p. 2096; Linga (AITM) p. 624).
- Wife of Sage Atri. She is taken as a model for chastity. Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva incarnated as her son Dattātreya. (SP (AITM) p. 2095; Linga (AITM) p. 642.)
 - 4. Son of Hiranyakasipu.
- 5. He had the head of a deer and was killed by Vîrabhadra at Dakşa's sacrifice. According to the Harivamsa, he was raised to the planetary sphere by Brahmā, and made into the constellation Mṛga-Śiras. (CDHM p 371.)
 - 6. Father of Yajña and Daksina.
 - 7. A daughter of Manu Sväyambhuva and Satarūpā.
- Sväyambhuva was the first Manu and his period of reign is called Sväyambhuva.
- 9. Son of Vena. He milked the earth in the form of a cow and gave a new life to the creatures who were suffering on account of a famine. (For details, CDHM pp. 242-3.)
- 10. The period of the reign of the sixth Manu (SP (AITM) p. 2106; Linga (AITM) p. 800; SSED. p. 423; SED. p. 784; CDHM pp. 199-201 for Manu and Manuantara).
- 11. The seventh Manu, father of Ikşvāku etc. (SP (AITM) p 2106; Linga (AITM) p. 800; SSED. p. 423; SED p. 784; CDHM pp. 199-201).

- 24. In the eleventh incarnation the all-pervasive Lord took the form of a tortoise and bore the Mount Mandara¹ on his back while the gods and demons churned the ocean.
- 25. In his twelfth and thirteenth incarnations as Dhanvantaris and a woman Mohini respectively, the Lord gratified the gods and charmed others.
- 26. In the fourteenth incarnation as Man-Lion⁴ he tore the powerful demon with his fierce claws just as the mat-maker tears the willow-barks.
- 27. In his fifteenth incarnation, assuming the form of Vāmana⁵ he went to the sacrificial altar of Bali.⁶ Wishing to regain heaven, he begged of him three steps of space.
- 28. In his sixteenth incarnation as Parasurāma? secing the princes inimical to the brāhmaņas he became infuriated and made the earth devoid of ksatriyas twenty-one times.
- 29. In his seventeenth incarnation he was born of Satyavati⁸ and Parāśara. Seeing men deficient in intellect, he created branches of the tree of Veda.
- 30. After that in his eighteenth incarnation he became a Prince Rāma¹⁰ and, in his desire to do work of the gods, performed many deeds such as bridging the ocean.
 - 31. In his nineteenth and twentieth incarnations
- p. 2106; Linga (AITM) p. 799).

2. Dhanvantari-The deity of medicines, (SP (AITM) p. 101 fn. 82)

- 3. Mohini—a celestial nymph; according to the legend of Samudra manthana, Vişnu assumed the form of Mohini to cheat the demons of the distribution of nectar.
- 4. Vişnu assumed this form of half-man and half-lion to kill Hiranyakasipu who was empowered with a boon that neither men nor animals could kill him.

5. Vāmana—the dwarf. Linga (AITM) p. 514).

- 6. Bali—the celebrated king of the nether world (SP (AITM) p. 750; fn. 147, 955; Linga AITM) p. 514).
- 7. He vowed to destroy the Ksatriyas altogether from the earth (SP (AITM) p. 751 fns. 151-2 p. 1453; fn. 211).

8-9. The parents of sage Vyasa.

10. -A son of Dafaratha, the king of Ayodhyā; (SP (AITM), p. 751 fn', p. 1236 fn. p. 94, 1613; Linga (AITM) p. 118.)

obtaining birth as Balarama1 and Śrīkṛṣṇa,3 in the family of the Vṛṣṇis3 the Lord lessened the burden of the earth.

- 32. At the juncture of Kali⁴ era, in order to delude demons, he will be born in the Kikata⁵ country as the son of Jina⁶ and named as Buddha.⁷
- 33. Again in the eighth juncture (change of cycles) when all kings will be on the verge of extinction, the Lord of the universe will be born of Visnuyasas and named as Kalki.
- 34. Thus O Brāhmaņas! innumerable are the incarnations of Hari, the Omnipotent Lord.
- 35. From them originate creations etc. They have to be worshipped and propitiated by Vrata¹⁰ and other religious rites. Long ago, Vyāsa narrated to me this Garuda Purāņa.

CHAPTER TWO

Tradition of Garuda Purana

The sages said :

- 1. How did Vyasa narrate this Garuda Purana to you? Please elucidate this in full, for it is essentially based on the anecdotes of Vişnu.
- 1-2. Well-known brothers celebrated in Indian Literature. Krana killed Kamsa, the demonic ruler of Mathura. (SP (AITM) p. 2104)

3. Vṛṣṇi was a descendant of Yadu. His descendants were called Vṛṣṇis.

4. The last incarnation in the cycle of four eras (yugas), supposed to have begun after the Mahābhārata war. (SP (AITM) p. 2103, Linga (AITM) p. 798).

5. Kikaja-famous for Gaya, a holy place of the Hindus. It is identified with Magadha (modern South Bihar).

6. Jina—there seems to be some confusion here about the name of Buddha's father.

7. Son of Suddhodana. (SP (ATIM) 2098).

8-9. The last incarnation is yet to take place (SP (AITM) p. 2103).

10. Vratas means religious austerities. (Linga (AITM) p. 808).

Suta said :

- In the company of the sages I had been to Badarika Aśrama.¹ There I saw Vyāsa in deep contemplation on the Supreme Lord.
- 3. With due salutation to the great sage, I sat down there and asked him.

Suta said :

O sage Vyāsa, please explain the form of Hari and narrate the full process of creation of the universe.

4. Since you ponder over the all-pervasive Lord, I think you know him. Thus asked, what he said, the same O brāhma-nas! you learn from me.

Vyāsa said :

 O Sūta, hear. I shall narrate Garuḍa Purāṇa as it has been narrated to me by Brahmā, in the presence of Nārada, Dakṣa² and others.

Sūta said :

6. How did Brahmā narrate the holy Garuda Purāņa expounding all essential things—to you accompanied by Nārada, Dakṣa and others?

Vyāsa said :

- 7. Nārada, Dakṣa, I, Bhṛgu³ and others saluted Brahmā in his Brahmaloka and requested him to tell us what was essentially important.
- 1. A place sacred to Viṣṇu, on the Ganges in the Himālayas, particularly to Viṣṇu's dual form of Nara-Nārāyaṇa. Thus in the Mahā-bhārata, Śiva, addressing Arjuna, says, "you were Nara in the former body and, with Nārāyaṇa for your companion, you performed dreadful austerity at Badari for myriads of years". It is now known as Badarīnātha though this is properly a title of Viṣṇu, as Lord of Badarī. (Vide SP (AITM) p. 927 fn. 142; CDHM p. 39).

2. A son of Brahmā. (for details SP (AITM) p. 2099, Linga (AITM) p. 795).

3. A Vedic sage, one of the Prajapatis and founder of the race of the Bhrgus or Bhargavas. (SP (AITM) p. 2097; Linga (AITM) p. 794; CDHM pp. 54-55).

Brahmā said :

8. O Vyāsa, I shall narrate to you the story of Garuḍa Purāṇa just as narrated by Viṣṇu to me and Rudra in the company of the gods.

Vyāsa said :

9. O Brahman, How did Lord Harinarrate in the past the essence of Garuda Purāṇa, pregnant with meaning to Rudra accompanied by the gods?

Brahmā said :

- 10. I had been to the mount Kailāsa¹ accompanied by Indra and other gods. There I saw Rudra contemplating upon the highest state.
- 11-12. After due salutation, I asked him, O Lord Sankara, whom do you ponder over? Since I do not know of a greater god than you, please tell me the essential of all essentials. I am desirous of hearing along with the gods.

Rudra said :

It is Lord Vișnu whom I contemplate upon. He is the Supreme Soul, the Almighty.

- 13. He is the giver of everything, the omnipresent, the cosmic form, and present in the form of every living being. I have smeared the sacred ash all over my body. I have decorated my head with matted hair.
- 14. O Pitāmaha, this is the sacred rite I follow for the worship of Lord Viṣṇu. We shall go to him and ask him about the essence I have been contemplating upon.
- 15. Lord Viṣṇu known as Padmanābha and Hari is devoid of physical body and is ever victorious. He is pure, the source of purity, he is Supreme Soul, the Almighty, connected by the word Tad (in the Upaniṣads).2

1. Name of a mountain in the Himalaya-range. (Mbh iii 503; SP (AITM) p. 2103; Linga (AITM), p. 798, SED, p. 301).

2. The mystical and philosophical writings of the ancient Indian sages. These discuss the nature of Brahman the supreme soul, jivatman, the personal soul, worldly existence, human action (karma) etc. These are also called Vedanta. They generally form the last stage of the Vedic texts. Their number is plenty but Sankara has commented only upon ten Upanisads. (Vide details in CDHM pp. 325-6; GSL pp. 354-55).

16-17. Uniting myself with that universal Soul, I am meditating on that very God—The Lord of creatures, the uniting string, in whom the entire universe consisting of all living beings lies preserved and later on, becomes merged, like closely clustering beads in thread.

He who has thousand eyes, thousand feet, thousand thighs and a handsome face;

- 18. Who is the subtlest among the subtle, the stablest among the stable, the biggest among the big and the sublimest among the sublime.
- 19. Who is preserved in the sacred literature and the Upanişads, in sentences and phrases and the true Sāmans, as true and of true activities.
- 20. He is called purana purusa (the Primordial being), among the twice-born. He is spoken of as Brahmans and in the process of annihilation he is termed as Samkarşana. We adore that adorable one.
- 21. All the worlds quicken in him like the Sakula-fish in water. He who is Rta4 (the cosmic order) and the one-syllabled god, the syllable Om5, is beyond the existent and the non-existent.
- 1. The mantras of the Samaveda are called samans since they are meant for singing. Majority of them occur in the Rgveda.
 - 2. Vide P. 2, fn. 5.
- 3. Name of Balarāma. This conforms to the system of Paticarātra which enjoins the worship of Vişņu in five forms viz., Vāsudeva, Sankarşana, Pradyumna, Aniruddha and Nārāyana.
- 4. Rta is a significant term in the Vedic literature. It generally means 'cosmic order' 'divine law or truth', 'settled rule or sacred custom.'
- 5. Om is a word of solemn affirmation and respectful assent. It is generally placed at the beginning of a treatise, as a mark of auspiciousness. It appears in the Upanizads as a mystic monosyllable set forth as the object of profound religious meditation, the highest spiritual efficacy being attributed not only to the whole word but also to the three sounds a u m, of which it consists. In later times Om is the mystic name for the Hindu triad, and represents the union of the three gods; viz., a (Visqu) u (Siva), m (Brahmā); it may also be typical of the three Vedas. It is also called aksara or ekāksara, (Also refer SP (AITM), p. 2108; Linga (AITM) p. 801; SED p. 235).

- 22. Who is worshipped by the deities, Yakşas,1 Rākşasas2 and serpents, whose mouth is fire, crest the firmament, navel the horizon, feet the earth;
- 23. Eyes the sun and the moon. I am contemplating upon that lord, in whose belly are the three worlds and whose arms are the different directions.
- 24. I am contemplating upon that Lord whose breath is the wind, in whose hair are the clouds and in whose joints are the rivers.
- 25. I am contemplating upon that Lord whose belly are the oceans, who is beyond sacrifices and beyond the Existent and the Non-existent.
- 26. He is beginningless but the beginning of the universe can be traced to him. I am contemplating upon him. The moon has come out of his mind and the sun out of his eyes.
- 27. The fire has come out of his mouth. I am contemplating upon him. The earth has come out of his feet, the quarters out of his ears.
- 28-29. The heaven has come out of his head. I am contemplating upon him. The creation, the subsidiary creation, the lineage, the Manvantaras and the records of kings and great personages can all be traced to him. I am contemplating upon him. We shall go to him to see the True Essence on whom I contemplate.

Brahmā said :

30. Thus I was spoken to by Rudra who, having worshipped and bowed to Vişnu, the dweller of Svetadvipa³, stood by, along with the gods desirous of hearing the narrative.

31. From amongst us Rudra addressed Vişņu the almighty, the essence of essences and after due salutations asked him.

2. The demons (for details, SP (AITM), p. 2111; Linga (AITM) p. 802; CDHM, pp. 252-5).

3. Refer (SP (AITM) p. 2118; Linga (AITM) p. 806).

^{1.} A class of demi-gods. Attendants of Kubera, the deity of wealth, SP (AITM), p. 2120; (Linga (AITM) p. 808).

Brahmā said :

32. As Vyāsa asked me, so Lord Rudra asked Viṣṇu while the gods, along with other immortals stood listening.

Rudra said :

- 33. O Lord Vişnu, the foremost among gods, please tell us, who is the most powerful among gods? Who has to be contemplated upon? Who is the most worthy of our worship? By what sacred rites, is that great Lord propitiated?
- 34. With what sacred rituals, observations, pious worships and conduct of life can he be pleased? What is his divine form like?
- 35. Of what god is the universe born? Who protects it and by what sort of incarnations? In whom does the universe merge ultimately?
- 36. The creation, the subsidiary creation, the lineage, the Manvantaras—from what god do they proceed? In whom are these well-established?
- 37. O Hari! please narrate all this, and also if there is anything else. Then Lord Hari narrated to Rudra the glory of the almighty, the yogic means etc. and also the eighteen varieties of lores (vidyās).1

Hari said :

- 38. O Rudra, listen along with Brahmā and other gods. I shall tell you I am the God of gods, the master of all the worlds.
- 39. I am the most worthy of contemplation and worship.
 I am to be praised with prayers by the gods.
- 40. O Rudra, I award the loftiest of positions on being worshipped and gratified by sacred rites, observances and good conduct by men.
- 41. O Siva, I am the seed of the existence of the world. I am the creator of the world. I punish the wicked. I protect religion.
- Eighteen Vidyās constitute 4 Vedas, 4 Upa-Vedas, 6 Vedāngas, Purāņas, Mīmāmsā, Nyāya and Dharma.

- 42. I sustain the entire universe by my incarnations as fish etc. I am the sacred mantras and their purport. I am engaged in worship and contemplation.
- 43. I am the creator of Heaven and other worlds. Verily I am myself the heaven and other worlds. I am the first yogi and also the yoga. I am the Puranas.
- 44. I am the knower, the hearer, the thinker, the speaker and the object of speech. I am all. I am the soul of all. I am the highest god who bestow enjoyment and find beatitude.
- 45. O Rudra, verily I am the activity of contemplation, worship and offering. I am the mystical orbs³ and mythological epics.⁴ O Siva, I know everything.
- 46. OŚambhu, I am all knowledge. I am the universal soul. O Śiva, I am Brahmā. I am the entire universe. I am the inner soul of all gods.
- 47. Verily, I am the good conduct. I am the Vaisnavas cult. I am the castes and the asramas, and their ancient religion I am.
- 48. I am the various religions and moral curbs and observances. I am the different kinds of rites. O Rudra, I am the Sun, the Moon and the Mars etc.
- 49. In days of yore, Garuda propitiated me with penance which he undertook on the earth. Feeling gratified I said: "ask me a boon", and he chose a boon.

Garuda said :

- 50-52. O Hari, my mother Vinatae has been made a slave by serpents. Act thus, O god, that conquering them I may bring the nectar; that I, your carrier, may secure her release from bondage; that I may become strong, mighty, omniscient, destroyer of serpents and expounder of Purana Samhita.

Visnu said :

- O Garuda, everything shall happen as you have requested for.
- 53. You will secure the release of your mother, Vinata from her slavery to the serpents. Conquering the gods, you will bring the divine nectar.
- 54-55. You will be strong. You will be my carrier. You will be the devourer of poison. With my blessings you will know the Purāṇa glorifying me and expounding my divine form. By your name, it will be celebrated in the world as Garuḍa Purāṇa.
- 56. O son of Vinatā, just as I am known as the essential glory of all gods, so also Garuda Purāņa will attain the greatest fame among the Purāņas.
- 57. You too shall be glorified like me, O Garuda. O chief of birds, contemplating upon me propound this Garuda Purāņa.
- 58-59. Thus initiated by me, Garuda expounded this Purāņa to Kasyapa who sought it from him. By the power he received on hearing Garuda Purāṇa, he resuscitated a burnt tree. With his mind fixed on another, he revived others by means of this learning. Takşi om um svāhā. This is the sacred vidyā Gārudi. O Rudra, please hear the Garuda Purāṇa dealing with my personality and narrated by Garuda.

CHAPTER THREE

Statement of Contents

Sata said :

- Thus Rudra and Brahmä heard this from Vişnu, sage Vyāsa from Brahmā and I heard this from Vyāsa. I shall now narrate this to you, O Saunaka, in the sacred forest Naimişa.
- In this august audience consisting of sages, will be narrated the details of creation, the mode of worship of the gods, places of pilgrimage, the treasures of the world and the Manvantaras.
- 3-4. The rights and duties of the various classes of society and stages of life, the mode of gifts, the ways of administration by the King, conduct of life, sacred rites, the families, the medical science along with Pathology, the various ancillary subjects, pralaya¹ (dissolution), the perfect knowledge of virtue, wealth and love, how Lord Visnu had elaborated and annihilated the universe—all this is being told here.
- 5-7. In the Garuda Purāņa, Garuda is bhagavān, who acquiring inordinate ability by the favour of Lord Vāsudeva, becoming the vehicle of Hari, the cause of creation, conquering the gods, brought the divine nectar, whose hunger was appeared, whose brahmāṇḍas is in the belly of Hari, seeing whom or even remembering whom, the serpents etc perish.
- 8. Garuda is Lord Hari himself. Hence Kasyapa could resuscitate the burnt tree by the Garuda (-vidyā) mentioned by Garuda to Kasyapa.
- 9. That holy glorious Garuda Purāņa, when read, bestows everything. Bowing to Vyāsa, I shall narrate it to you. O Saunaka! listen now how it is so.

^{2.} Brahmanda, lit. the egg of Brahmen is generally used to denote Cosmos.

CHAPTER FOUR

Beginning of Creation

Rudra said :

 O Janārdana, please narrate to us the details of creation, subsidiary creation, lineage, manuantaras and records of kings and great personages.

Hari said:

- O Rudra, listen. I shall narrate the details of creation etc. which wipe off all sins. I shall describe the old sport of Lord Vişnu in creating, preserving and annihilating the universe.
- Un-sullied Lord Väsudeva, Nara-Näräyana is the Supreme Soul, the infinite Brahman, the creator and destroyer of the universe.
- 4. All this visible universe, with its manifest and unmanifest phases exists in the form of the great Purusa¹ and the primordial Time.²
- 5. Lord Vişnu is both manifest and un-manifest, the great Puruşa as well as primordial Time. Listen to his divine sport like that of a sportive child.
- 6-7. The creator, the limitless great Puruşa, is devoid of beginning and death. He created the un-manifest and from that the soul. From the soul evolved intellect and from it the mind. From mind was evolved firmament. From firmament air. From air the fire. From fire water. The earth evolved out of it.
- 8. O Rudra, there is a cosmic golden egg and within it the Lord takes for himself a physical body for the sake of creation.

1. In Staking Philosophy Purusa means soul, as opposed to Prakrii, (primordial matter) (SP (AITM), p. 2111; Litga (AITM), p. 802).

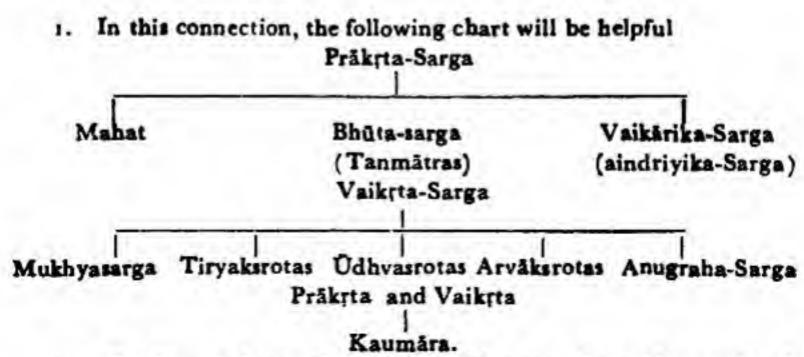

2. According to Indian thinkers, it is Time (kdle) alone that controls the universe. Its destructive powers are unsurpassed. According to the Villetikes, it is one of the nine drapes. (SP (AITM), p. 2118; Lings (AITM), p. 806),

- 9. With rajas1 element in profusion, the four-faced Brahmā takes a physical body and creates the movable and the immovable.
- 10. The creator creates himself along with the deities and human beings within the cosmic egg. He protects what is to be protected.
- 11. In the end, he destroys everything. The annihilator too is Lord himself, O Hara. Taking the form of Brahmā, Viṣṇu creates the universe. Hari himself maintains it.
- 12-13. At the end of the Kalpa, in the form of Rudra, he destroys the universe. At the time of creation Brahmā takes up the physical form of a boar and by means of curved teeth lifts up the earth, learning that it is submerged in water. O Sankara, listen: I shall briefly describe the process of creation of Gods and others.
- 14. The creation of mahat³ (the cosmically great) is the first one. It is a metamorphosis of Brahman. The second creation is called bhūta sarga, i.e. the creation of the intrinsic essences (tanmātras) of elements.
- 15. The third one is called vaikārika sarga (modificatory creation) or aindriyaka sarga (the creation of sense-organs). All these three together constitute the prākṛta sarga (natural creation) beginning with the cosmic intellect (the cosmic great).
- 16. The fourth creation is called mukhya sarga (the principal creation). The stationary things are called principal creatures. The fifth creation is that of the sub-human beings tiryak-yonayah) known as tiryaksrotas.
- 1. Rajas: the second of the three constituent qualities guess of all material substances (the other two being satton and tamas). Rajas is the cause of all activities pertaining to the creatures; it predominates in men, as satton predominates in deities and tamas predominates in demons. SSED p. 462.

 A fabulous period of time, a day of Brahmā (SP (AITM), p.1070 fn., p. 1364 fn. 160; Linga (AITM) p. 15 fn. 22, pp. 86 ff; SED p. 262).

3. The great principle, the intellect (distinguished from menes)
Linga (AITM) p. 799, SSED p. 429.

- 17. The creation of super-human gods is the sixth one known as archivasrotas. The creation of human beings is the seventh one known as arvāksrotas.
- 18. The eighth creation is what is known as anugraha sarga. It is both sattvika and tāmasika. These five constitute the vaikṛta sarga. I have already told you about the three that constitute the prākṛta sarga.
- 19. The ninth creation known as kaumāra is both prākṛta and vaikṛta.¹ O Rudra, thus there are four types of creation beginning with gods and ending with stationary things.
- 20-21-22. While engaged in this creation, the mānasa (mentally created) sons were born of Brahmā. Desirous of creating the fourfold beings—deities, demons, manes and human beings—and also these waters, he engaged himself in the task. When his self became evident then from the loins of Prajāpati who desired to create, came out the demons who increased through tamas. He then cast off that body preponderant with tamas.
- 23-24. O Saunaka, this discarded body preponderant with tames became the night. The yakşas and the demons found pleasure in that body. Then from the mouth of Brahmā were born the deities who increased in sattva, O Hara. This body with the preponderant sāttvika element was cast off evolving the day.

2. The Pitrs or deceased ancestors. They are of two classes, viz., the deceased father, grandfather and great grandfather of any particular person, and the progenitors of mankind generally; in bonour of both these classes rites called irāddhas are performed and oblations called pindas presented; they inhabit a peculiar region, which according to some, is the bhunas or region of the air. Sp (AITM) p. 286, pp. 1615-19; listga (AITM), p. 407; SED p. 626.

- 25. Hence, the demons are more powerful in the night and the gods during the day. The manes further evolved themselves by taking up the interspaces of Sāttvika element.
- 26. When that body was cast off, the twilight in between day and night was evolved, the human beings evolved themselves by taking up the inter-spaces of rajas-element.
- 27. That body being cast off became the moonlight or the twilight of the dawn (prak-sandhya). Thus his bodies are four, namely, the moonlight, the night, the day and the twilight.
- 28. By taking up rajas-element, hunger, darkness and anger were evolved. Then were created the giants (rākṣasas) emaciated with hunger and thirst, consumers of blood, called so on account of rakṣaṇa (protection).
- 29. Yaksas were created and known so on account of yaksana (eating). The serpents were created and they were known so on account of movement of hair (kesasarpana). By means of anger, bhūtas (the evil spirits) were created. Then the Gandharvas were born.
- 30. Gandharvas were born singing aloud and then Apsarasas. Brahmä created heaven and earth from his chest and the goats from his mouth.
- 31. Prajāpati created cows from his belly and sides. Horses, elephants, buffaloes, camels, sheep etc. were created from his feet.
- 32. From his hair were produced medicinal herbs and fruit-bearing plants. The cow, goat, ram, horses, mule, donkey—
- 33. These are the domestic animals already told; now I describe the wild ones. They are the beasts of prey, the cloven-hoofed, elephants and monkeys. The birds constitute the fifth creation (among lower animals).

- 34. The sixth is the creation of aquatic animals and the seventh that of reptiles. The Rgveda and other texts came out of his eastern and other mouths.
- 35. The brāhmaņas were born of his mouth. The kşatriyas originated from his arms. The vaisyas came out of his thighs and the sūdras out of his feet.
- 36. The world of Brahmā can be attained by the brāhmaņas, that of Sakra (Indra) by Ksatriyas. The goal of vaisyas is the world of the Maruts and that of sūdra is the world of Gandharvas.
- 37. Again those who are steady in the brahmacaryavrata (celibacy) attain brahmaloka1 and the householders steadfast in the performance of their ordained duties attain the Prājāpatya2 world.
- 38. The forest-dwellers (vanaprasthas) attain the world of the seven 15is. The sannyasins go at will to the imperishable region.

CHAPTER FIVE

Creation of Progenitors

Hari said :

- After mentally creating the order of things here and there at the time of Prajā-sarga, the Lord created the mental sons who were the progenitors of prajā.
- 1. The world of Brahman, the best of all the worlds. Having attained it one becomes free from re-birth. (Vide SP (AITM) p. 2098; GDHM pp. 179-80.)
 - 2. The world of Prajapatis.

- 2-3-4-5. The mind-created sons are Dharma, Rudra, Manu, Sanaka, Sanātana, Bhṛgu, Sanatkumāra, Ruci, Śraddhā Marīci, Atri, Aṅgiras, pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Vasiṣṭha, Nārada and the seven types of manes, namely, Barhiṣads, Agniṣvāttas, Kravyādas, Ajyapas, Sukālins, Upahūtas and Dīpyas of whom three are formless and four having forms. The Lotusborn Lord created Dakṣa from his right thumb; from his left thumb he created Dakṣa's wife.
- 6. Dakşa hegot meritorious daughters on her and gave them in marriage to the sons of Brahmā. Satī¹ was given to Rudra in marriage.
- 7. Rudra's sons were innumerable and very powerful. He gave his daughter Khyāti of un-rivalled grace to Bhṛgu's.
- 8. She gave birth to Dhātr and Vidhātr from Bhrgu. She also gave birth to Śrī, the wife of Nārāyaņa.
- 9. From her Hari himself begot Bala and Unmåda. Ayati and Niyati were the daughters of the high-souled Manu.
- 10. They became the wives of Dhatr and Vidhatr of whom two sons were born—Prana and Mrkandu. Markandeyas was the son of Mrkandu.
- 11. Sambhūti, the wife of Marīci, gave birth to Paurņamāsa. Virajas and Sarvaga were his sons.
- 12. Angiras begot on Smṛti many sons and daughters— Sinīvālī, Kuhū, Rākā and Anumati.
- 13. Anasūyā, the wife of Atri, gave birth to the sinless sons—Soma, Durvāsas and Dattātreya the yogin.
- 14-15. Pulastya begot on his wife Prīti a son Dattoli, Karmaşa, Arthavīra and Sahiṣṇu—these three sons were born of Kṣamā, the wife of Prajāpati Pulaha. Sumati, the wife of Kratu, gave birth to Bālakhilyas.
- 1. The first wife of Siva. His second wife was Pārvatī, the daughter of Himālaya.
- 2. The progenitor of the Bhargava race to which Parasurama be-
 - 3. Lakimi, godden of wealth.
 - 4. The progenitor of mankind.
 - 5. The author of the Markandeya-Purana.
 - 6. A well-known rage with a fiery temperament.
 - 7. The authors of the Balakhilya-hymns.

- 16. Sixty-thousand in number, resplendent like the blazing sun, though they were of the size of a thumb—They became sages of sublimated vitality.
- 17-18. Vasistha¹ begot on Ūrjā seven sons—Rajas, Gātra, Ūrdhvabāhu, Śaraṇa, Anagha, Sutapas and Śukra. They are known as the sinless Sapta-ṛṣis². Dakṣa gave his daughter Svāhā in marriage to God fire who had assumed body.
- 19. From him, O Hara, she got three sons, known as Pāvaka, pavamāna and Šuci, who were of exalted virility and habitually consuming water.
- 20-21-22-23. Svadhā who married the manes gave birth to Menā and Vaitaraņī both of whom became brahma-Vādinīs² (experts in the discussion of Brahman. From Menā, Himācala got a son Maināka⁴ and a daughter⁵ Gaurī who was Satī formerly. O Hara, Lord Brahmā appointed his son Svāyambhuva Manu, who was really Brahmā himself, in the task of preserving the subjects. Then the all-pervasive lord Svāyambhuva Manu married lady Śatarūpā who had destroyed her sins by ascetic austerities. Śatarūpā gave birth to two sons:
- 24. Priyavrata and Uttānapāda, and three daughters— Prasūti, Ākūti and Devahūti. Manu gave Ākūti in marriage to Ruci.
- 25. Prasūti to Dakşa and Devahūti to Kardama, Ruci's children were Dakṣiṇā and Yajña.
- 26. They had twelve sons, the powerful yāmas. Dakṣa had twenty-four daughters excellent in all respects.
- 1. The family of the Vasisthas was very illustrious one. The seventh Mandala of the Rgveda is ascribed to them. Vasistha was also the priest of Dasaratha and Ramacandra of Ayodhya.
 - 2. This list of the seven sages varies from the well-known list.
- 3. It proves that the women were not debarred from the Vedic studies.
- 4. A famous mountain. Opinions descr regarding its location. (Refer CDHM, p. 94)
 - 5. Well known as Parvati, the second wife of Siva.
- 6. The reference is to the great moral or religious duties of observances. \(\cap SSED\), p. 455).

27. They were Śraddhā (faith), Lakṣmī (wealth), Dhṛti, (fortitude), Tuṣṭi (satisfaction), Puṣṭi, (Nouishment), Medhā, (Retentiveness), Kriyā (Action), Buddhi (Intelligence), Lajjā (bashfulness), Vapuḥ (Beauty), Śānti (Peace) Rddhi (prosperity) and Kīrti (fame) the thirteenth.

28. Dharma married Dākṣāyaṇī the daughter of Dakṣa. The eleven other daughters were Khyati (praise), Sati (chastity) Sambhūti (production), Smṛti (Memory), Prīti (Affection), Kşamā (Forgiveness).

29. Sannati (Obeisance), Anasūyā (absence of malice) Ūrjā, (Energy) Svāhā¹ and Svadhā.² The great sages Bhṛgu, Bhava, Marīci, Angiras.

30-31. Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Atri, Vasistha, Vahni and the manes married respectively Khyāti and others. Śraddhā gave birth to Kāma (Desire), calā (Lakṣmī) to Darpa (Pride), Dhṛti to Niyama (Restraint).

32. Tuşţi to Santoşa (Contentment) and (Puşţi gave birth to Lobha (Greatness). Medhā gave birth to Śruta (knowledge) and Kriyā to three sons: Danda, (Punishment)

Laya (Adherence) and Vinaya (humanity).

33. Buddhi to Bodha (enlightenment) and Lajja to Vinaya (Humility). Vapus gave birth to the son Vyavasāya (Effort) and Śanti to Kṣema (Welfare).

34. Rddhi gave birth to Sukha (Happiness) and Kirti to Yasas (Renown). These are the sons of Dharma. Kāma's wife was Rati (Love) and their son Harşa (Joy).

35. Once Dakşa performed a horse-sacrifice to which all his sons-in-law were invited.

- 36. They were accompanied by their wives. Sati, though not invited, went there, without Rudra, and was disrespected by Daksa.
- 37. Satī cast off her body and was born again as the daughter of Menā and Himavān. She was then known as Gauri and she married Sambhu. She gave birth to Vināyaka (Gaņeśa).

38. And Kumāra, Rudra, the Lord of Bhrigins, (the attendants of Siva) and most powerful bearer of Pināka, (the famous bow of Siva) being infuriated destroyed the sacrifice and cursed Dakşa: "You will be born as a man in the line of Dhruva". (son of Uttānapāda).

CHAPTER SIX

Description of families

Hari said :

- Uttānapāda's son born of Suruci was Uttama. Another son of his born of Sunīti was Dhruva who attained a lofty position.
- Due to the favour of the sage (Nârada) and through the propitiation of Lord Janârdana, Dhruva's son was Ślişţi who was very powerful.
- His son was Prācīnabarhis whose son was Udāradhīḥ.
 His son was Divañjaya whose son was Ripu.
- Ripu's son was well-known as the glorious Căkşuşa
 Manu. Glorious Ruru was his son whose son was Anga.
- Anga's son was Vena who was a non-righteous atheist.
 The tyrant Vena was killed by the sages by means of the kusa grass.
- They churned his thigh for the sake of a son whereupon a purely dark-skinned boy was born. They asked him to sit down.
- He was then known as Nişāda and he took up his abode in the Vindhya mountains. The Brāhmaņas again churned Vena's right hand.
- 1. A son of Uttanapada. A great devotee of Vispu. The pole-star is known as Dhruva star after him. (Also CDHM, p. 91).

- 8. Therefrom a son bearing the mental image of Lord Vişnu was born. He became famous as Prthu. He (Vena) attained heaven.
- In order to resuscitate the subjects, the king (Pṛthu) milked the Earth. Pṛthu's son was Antardhāna whose son was Havirdhāna.
- 10. His son Prăcīnabarhis shone as the sole emperor of the world. He married Sămudri, the daughter of Lavaņa (the salt-ocean).
- Sāmudrī gave birth to ten sons, Prācīnabarhişas, who were known as Prācetasas. They were well-acquainted with the science of archery.
- 12. Performing sacred rites collectively, they practised great penance. They also submerged in water of the ocean for ten thousand years.
- 13. They attained the status of Prajāpati. They married Māriṣā. Dakṣa,¹ who had been cursed by Bhava, became her son.
- 14. He then mentally created four kinds of progeny. They did not flourish, because they were cursed by Lord Hara.
- 15. Thereupon Dakșa Prajāpati desired creation by means of physical intercourse. He married Asiknī, the daughter of Vīraņa Prajāpati.
- 16. Vairani (the daughter of Virana) gave birth to thousand sons. At the instigation of Naraua, they set out in search of the extremities of the world but never returned.
- 17. When the first set of thousand sons was thus lost, Dakşa begot another set of a thousand sons. Riding briddled horses, they too followed the footsteps of their elder brothers, O Hara.
- 18. This infuriated Dakşa who cursed Nārada, "You will be born in the world". Nārada was born as the son of Sage Kasyapa.
- 19. When formerly his sacrifice was destroyed by Siva, Dakşa cursed Siva furiously, "O Sankara, (those who, will praise and worship you with religious Performances,
 - 1. The first father-in-law of Siva.

- 20. Will perish even in another birth due to your enmity." Hence, nevershould one have the feeling of enmity. From Queen Asikni, Dakşa got daughters.
- 21. Sixty beautiful daughters, two of whom were given in marriage to Angiras, two to Kṛśāśva, ten to Dharma.
- 22. Fourteen to Kasyapa and twenty-eight to Indu. Suprabhā and Bhāminī were given to Bahuputra.
- 23. O Mahādeva, Dakṣa gave four of his daughters, Manoramā, Bhānumatī, Viśālā, and Bahudā to Ariṣṭanemi.
- 24-25. He gave Suprajā and Jayā to Krišāśva. Dharma's ten wives are Arundhatī, Vasu, Yāmī, Lambā, Marudvatī, Sankalpā, Muhūrtā, Sādhyā and Viśvā. Now I shall tell those of Kasyapa.
- 26. Aditi, Diti, Danu, Kālā, Anāyu, Simhikā, Muni, Kadrū, Sādhyā, Irā, Krodhā, Vinatā, Surabhi and Khagā.
- 27. Viśvā (wife of Dharma) gave birth to Viśvedevas¹, Sādhyā to Sādhyas². Marutvatī to Marutvans³ and Vasu to Vasus⁴.
- 28. O Rudra, Bhānu's sons were known as Bhānus⁸ Muhūrtā's Muhūrtas⁸. Lambā's son was Ghoṣa and Yāmī's son Nāgavīthi.
- 29. Arundhatī gave birth to all earthly objects and Sankalpā gave birth to Sankalpa present in everyone.
- 30. The Vasus are eight in number, namely, Apa, Dhruva, Soma, Dhava, Anila, Anala, Pratyūşa and Prabhāsa.
- 31. Āpa's sons are Vaitundi, Śrama, Śrānta and Dhvani. Dhruvā's son was Lord Kāla who organised the time-factor in the world.
- 32-33-34-35. Soma's son was Varcas instilling vigour in the world. Dhara begot of Manoharā the sons Druhiņa, Hutahavyavāha, Šiśira, Prāņa and Ramaņa. Anila begot of
 - 1. Literally "all the deities". (Vide details in DHM, p. 363).
 - 2. A class of inferior deities. (Vide details in CDHM p. 271).
 - 3. The clouds.
 - Eight minor deities, attendants upon Indra. (Vide details in DHM p. 342).
 - 5. The rays of light or the suns.
 - 6. Moments.

his wife Šiva two sons—Pulomajā and Avijfiātagati. Agni's son, Kumāra, born in the sara (willow)-grove, was otherwise called Kārttikeya, since he was nurtured by the Kṛttikās. Śākha, Viśākha and Naigameya were born after him.

36. Pratyūṣa's son was the sage Devala. Prabhāsa's son became famous as Viśvakarman, the architect of the gods.

37. Ajaikapāt, Ahirbudhnya, Tvaştr and Rudra the powerful were his other sons. Tvaştr's son was Viśvarūpa of great penance.

38-39. The eleven Rudras who became Lords of the three world's are, Hara, Bahurupa, Tryambaka, Aparājita, Vṛṣākapi, Śambhu, Kapardin, Raivata, Mṛgavyādha, Śarva and Kapālin, O sage.

40. The twelve suns (dvādaša Ādityas) born to Aditi and Kašyapa are—Viṣṇu, Śakra, Aryaman, Dhātṛ, Tvaṣṭṛ, Pūṣan.

41. Vivasvat, Savitr, Mitra, Varuna, Amsumat and Bhaga—These are the twelve sons known.

42. The twenty-seven wives of Soma (moon) are the twenty-seven constellations. Hiranyakasipu and Hiranyaksa were the sons of Diti.

43. A daughter was also born by name Simhikā who became the wife of Vipracitti. Hiraņyakašipu had four sons of great valour.

44. Anuhrāda, Hrāda, Prahrāda (Prahlāda) and Samhrāda (who was the last one). Among them Prahlāda was a great devotee of Viṣṇu.

45. Samhrāda's sons were Āyuşmat, Sivi and Bāşkala. Virocana was the son of Prahrāda. Bali¹ was the son of Virocana.

46. O Śiva! Bali had a hundred sons of whom the eldest was Bāņa³. All the sons of Hiraņyākṣa were very strong.

47. They are Utkura, Sakuni, Bhūtasantāpana, Mahānāga, Mahābāhu and Kālanābha.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Worship of Visnu and Vajranābha mandala

- 1-2. O Rudra! after the due bath Viṣṇu should be worshipped in the Maṇḍala (mystic diagram) prepared in a Maṇḍapa (consecrated temple or hall) on the ground. This mystic diagram should be drawn with powders of five colours and should consist of sixteen apartments. It is known as Vajranābha. The string should be first placed on the fourth and the fifth corners.
- The well-versed devotee should then extend the strings into those corners too, which are on either side of the original corners.
- 4. On the alternative corners too this should be done. In the interval juncture of the lines the first centre is to be taken.
- In all the interstices, there are such eight centres.
 The thread should be whirled round from the earlier and the middle centres.

- 6. O Siva, ! in the interstics the learned brāhmaṇa should whirl (the thread) about three fourth (in length). By this the hypotenuse of the central thread should be whirled.
- 7. The well-versed devotee should draw the filaments of the lotus in two parts on either side of the hypotenuse. The petals should be drawn on the top of it.
- 8. O you of firm vows, the instructor who knows reality should make the figure of lotuses in all the regions around the centres.
- 9. Openings should be made (drawn) in proportion to the first thread—length. The opening should be embellished about half way.
- 10. In the mystic diagram the colours chosen (for the powders) should be as follows—The hypotenuse in yellow, the filaments in white and red, the interstices in blue, the petals in black.
- and the five lines in the mystic diagram too likewise. White, red, yellow and black lines should be in this order. Having prepared the mystic diagram and after performing the nyāsal one should begin the worship of Hari.
- 13-14. The nyāsa (assignment) of Viṣṇu is in the middle of the heart, of Sankarṣaṇa in the throat, of Pradyumna in the head of Aniruddha in the tuft, of Brahmā in all the limbs and that of Śrīdhara in both the hands. After cotemplating "I am Viṣṇu" one should fix Hari in the pericarp of the lotus.
- 15. One should fix Sankarşana in the east, Pradyumna in the south, Aniruddha in the west and Brahmā in the north.
- 16. Śridhara is to be fixed in Rudra's Corner (Northeast), Indra and others should be fixed in the four quarters. Thereafter due worship by means of fragrant incense and other articles one attains the greatest status.

Assignment of the various parts of the body to different deities, which is usually accompanied with prayers and corresponding gesticulations. (SSED, p. 306.)

CHAPTER NINE

Visnu-diksā

- 1. The disciple, duly consecrated in proper time, should be blindfolded with a cloth. He should be made to offer oblations with the original mantra hundred and eight times.
- 2. If the consecration is for the acquisition of a son, the oblations offered are twice in number, if it is for a sādhaka (aspirant after spiritualism) it is thrice. O Rudra, if it is the case of a preceptor who had to attain salvation, it is four times.
- 3. If the consecration were to be omitted, it amounts to killing a preceptor, Vaiṣṇva brāhmaṇa and woman. The details of the consecration will now be narrated by me. The consecration destroys adharma.
- 4. After making the disciples sit outside, they should be made to contemplate. O Rudra, they should be considered as being dried up by a portion of wind.
- 5. They should be considered as being scorched by a portion of fire, and being inundated by a portion of water. Tejas will make that being one with it and then leave it out.
- 6. He should think upon Pranava¹ (the mystic syllable Om) as the cause in the heaven, the cause in the body being the other one. There he should unite one soul with another, that being the cause of the body.
- 7. Then having aroused, he should attach each one, O Sankara. If one is incompetent to worship Hari in the mystic diagram, one should adore him in contemplation.
- 8. This (adoration) should have four openings (doors) beginning with Brahmatīrtha in order. The hand is the lotus and the fingers are the petals.
- The palm is the pericarp and the nails are the filaments. He should adore, having contemplated Hari there in the midst of the sun, the moon and fire.
- 10. He, with due contemplation, should place the palm on the head of the disciple. Since there is Vişnu in the palm, this palm is that of Vișnu; and all sins perish on coming in contact with it.

^{1.} Vide fn. 5 on p. 9.

- 11. The teacher should honour the disciple, whose eyes are covered with a piece of cloth, and then keeping him face to face with the Lord should offer a flower so that it falls there where the head of Lord Visnu is.
- 12. He should give him a name. The names of ladies should be self-chosen. The learned preceptor shall fix the names of the Sūdras, ending with dāsa.

CHAPTER TEN

Worship of Laksmi

- 1. I shall narrate the worship of Sri and others in the altar for the sake of prosperity. Srim Hrim obeisance to Mahā-lakṣmi. Śrām Śrim Śrūm Śraim Śraum Śraim in order, the heart, the head, the tuft, the armour, the eyes, the weapon, the seat and the idol should be worshipped.
- 2-4. In the mystic diagram with the lotus drawn within, having four passages abounding in dust, (everything pervades the firmament, the eyes, the moon and the sun, in view of the subsistence on the sky, the Vedas and the moon) having sixty-four extremities and eight beginnings, he who wishes to fulfil his desires, should offer oblations in the sacrificial fire to Laksmi and her limbs in one corner and Durgā, Gaṇa the preceptor and the Ksetrapālai in another. Om Gham Tam Dam Ham obeisance to Mahālakṣmī.
- 5. With this (mantra) one should worship Laksmi with all the members of the family as narrated before. Om Saum obeisance to Sarasvati. Om Hrim Saum. Obeisance to Sarasvati.
- 6. Om Hrim say, say Vagvadini Svaha. Om Hrim obei-sance to Sarasvati.
 - 1. A tutelary deity; their number is given as 49. SED p. 332.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Nava-vyūha1 worship of Visnu

- I. I shall now narrate the procedure of Nava-vyūhārcana which had been mentioned to Kasyapa. Extricating the vital breath through the cerebral passage one should fix it in navel, in the sky.
- 2. Then with the mystic bijas ram the physical body shall be burnt. With the bija yam he should destroy ali.
- 3. With the bija lam all movable and immovable beings should be deluged. With the bija bam he should ponder over the ampta (the imperishable).
- Then, in the middle of the bubbles with the thought am yellow-clad, four-armed Vişnu' he should contemplate mentally.
- 5-6. He should then perform the three-fold mantra-nyāsa in the hands and the body with the bija consisting of twelve mystic syllables. Then with the help of aforesaid bijas and through six angas³ (limbs of the body) he should so perform that Hari is realised. Starting with the right thumb, he should place the centre of the thumb on the petal.
- 7. After fixing two mystic bijas in the centre, he should place them again on the anga. He should place them in heart, head, tuft, vital limbs, mouth, eyes, stomach, back,
- 8. Arms, hands, knees and feet. Keeping the hands shaped like lotus, he should place the thumb in the middle.
- And contemplate on Vişnu, the lord of all, the supreme entity. He should place these mystic bijas in the forefinger and other fingers.
- 10. Then on head, eyes, mouth, neck, heart, navel private part, knees and feet respectively.
 - 1. Vyūha—a form, manifestation, especially of Visnu.
- 2. Bija—a mystical letter or syllable which forms the essential part of the mantra of any deity.
- Six parts of the body: two thighs, two arms, head and the middle part. TSED. p. 569.

- 11. After placing the sadanga bijas in the hands he should place them over the body. Then the five bijas should be placed beginning with thumb and ending with the little finger.
- 12. The netra-bija should be placed in the middle of the hand, the same order is to be followed in anga-nyāsa. After placing the heart in the heart, the head should be placed on the head.
- 13. After placing the tuft on the tuft, the armour should be placed all over the body; the eyes should be placed over the eyes and the weapon in both the hands.
- 14. Binding all the quarters with that alone, he should begin the process of worship. At first with concentration, he should think of the yoga-pitha, (the sacred seat) in the heart.
- 15. He should place virtue, knowledge, renunciation and prosperity in the quarters beginning with the south-east respectively and un-righteousness etc. in the quarters beginning with the east.
- 16. Therefore he should place the infinite that had been well-covered by these, that identifies itself with them, that acts as the supporting seat and that is raised in the forepart.
- 17-18. Then contemplating on the white lotus born of the pond of vidyā, having eight similar petals in the form of the quarters, having a hundred leaves, and with the upper pericarp scattered about; he should think about the upper and upper zones of the sun, the moon, fire and soul by means of the Vedas and others.
- 19. Then he should place the eight-fold powers of Keśava, i.e. Vimalā and others, resting in the quarters beginning with the east; and also the ninth power vested in the pericarp.
- Contemplating thus and worshipping the yoga-pitha, he should thereafter place Lord Vişnu, the holder of the bow, invoking him mentally.
 - 21. Then he should place the eye in the middle, the
 - 1. The six bijas for the six parts of the body.

I.11.31. 37

astra-mantra in the corners, uniting the heart etc. with the four-petals of the four-quarters beginning with the east.

- 22. Uniting the bijas of Sankarşana and others with the east etc. in order, he should place Vainateya (garuda) in the eastern and western doors.
- 23. He should assign Sri to the south and Laksmi to the north, and Sudarsana with a thousand spokes to the southern door.
- 24. He should then place the conch in the corners after placing the club in the northern door. The intelligent devotee should place Śārnga-bow either on the right or on the left of the lord.
- 25. Similarly, he should place the sword and the discus (cakra) on either side and thereafter the guardians of the quarters (Indra and others) in accordance with their respect-tive quarters (east etc.)
- 26. In the same manner, he should place the weapons Vajra etc. Then he should contemplate Brahman above and Ananta¹ below.
- 27. After contemplating and worshipping them, all mudrās² (mystic signs) should be shown. The first mudrā is Añjali which propitiates the lord quickly.
- 28-29. Vandani is the next when placed on the heart with the right hand raised up. When the left fist is kept with the thumb lifted up and then locked up with the right thumb it is Ordhvānguṣṭha. These three are common. There are others according to the different forms of the idols.
- 30. With the use of the little finger (and other fingers) eight mudrăs are formed in order (five plus three). It should be borne in mind that the order is those of the eight bijas mentioned before.
- 31. Bending the three fingers ending with the little finger, with the thumb and keeping both the hands bent down, Narasimha-mudrā is formed.

1. Names of Vişnu, also of serpent Seşa, SED, p. 16.

 Name of particular positions or intertwinings of the fingers (24 in number). . Commonly practised in religious worship and supposed to possess an occult meaning and magical efficacy. Ibid., p. 822.

- Keeping the left hand raised up, whirl it slowly.
 This is the ninth one known as Varāha-mudrā.
- 33. Keeping both the fists raised up and straight, release them one by one and then again contract all. This is called Anga-mudrā.
- 34. Keeping both the fists tight one after another the mudras of the ten guardians of the quarters are formed in order.
- 35. The first vowel, the second, the penultimate and the final signify Vāsudeva, Bala, Kāma, and Aniruddha in due order.
- 36. Om, Tat Sat, Hum, Kşaum, Bhūḥ, these are the mantras for Nārāyaṇa, Brahmā, Viṣṇu, (Nara-) simha and the lordly Boar.
- 37. In view of the different hues, the names are ninefold—white, red, yellow, blue, black, purple, cloud-coloured, fire-coloured and honey-coloured.
- 38. Kam, Tam, Pam, Sam Garuda; Jam, Kham, Vam—Sudarsana; Ṣam, Cam, Pham, Ṣam—Gadā (the divine club); Vam, Lam, Mam, Kṣam—Conch;
- 39. Gham, Dham, Bham, Ham— Śrī; Gam, Jam, Vam, Śam —Puşţikā; Gham, Vam—Vanamālā; Dam—Sam—Śrivatsa;
- 40 Cham, Dam, Pam, Yam-Kaustubha and Ananta is I myself. Thus the limbs of the lord of lords are ten duly.
- 41. Garuda resembles the lotus in colour, the club has a black form, the halo (Pusti) has the colour of Sirtsa-flower; Laksmi has a golden complexion.
- 42. The conch resembles the full-moon, Kaustubha has red hue, the discus has the brilliance of a thousand suns and Srivatsa resembles white Kunda-flower.
- 43. The garland is of five colours, Ananta is like the cloud, the weapons have the forms of lightning which may not have been mentioned.
- 44. One should offer arghya and pādya in accordance with Puṇḍa ikākṣa-vidyā.

CHAPTER TWELVE

Order of worship

Hari said :

1. I shall describe the order in the procedure of worship for achieving its success. At first the remembrance of the Supreme Soul with Om Namah (obeisance).

2. Tam, Ram, Vam, Lam—thus the purification of the body. Om obeisance, thus the formation of caturbhuja- (four armed) soul.

- 5-6-7. In the havana-rites of these the word svāhā should be added at the end of these mantras. Thus repeating this hundred and eight times and giving arghya, obeisance should be made repeated with the mantra jitam teno, (he has won). Then the devotee well-versed in mantras should worship duly that god of gods, Acyuta, with, first having mentioned praṇava, his own bija, angas and the rest.
- 8. After kindling fire, he should keep it well in the sacred pit with the auspicious results thereof. After contemplating everything, he should meditate upon the mandala.
- Having performed havana, hundred and eight times with the principle called Vāsudeva, he should offer six oblations with Sankarṣaṇa—bija.
- 10. Three each time to the angas and one each to the guardians of the quarters. The pūrņāhuti² shou!d be made in the end.
 - Offering oblation into fire.
 - 2. The final offering into fire.

I.13.3-10 41

11. The soul should be merged with the greatest principle beyond the pale of speech. After sitting and showing the mudrās, he should bow down again.

- 12. This homa is called nitya; and naimittika requires twice this ritual. Go, I go to the greatest destination where there is Lord Niranjana (the unsullied one).
- 13. May the gods go back to their respective places. Sudarsana, Śri, Hari, Acyuta, Trivikrama.
- 14. Caturbhuja, Vāsudeva, Pradyumna, Sankarşana, Puruşa—these constitute the ten with the nine vyūhas.
- 15. Aniruddha, Dvādaśātmā, beyond that Anantaka these devas should be known as signified by the wheels begining with one.
- 16. They should be worshipped by me in a house marked with the wheels. Om Svāhā to Cakra. Om Svāhā to Vicakra. Om Svāhā to Sucakra. Om Svāhā to Mahācakra. Om Mahācakra the destroyer of demons, Hum Phat. Om Hum to the thousand-spoked, Hum Phat.
- This Dvārakā-cakra-pūjā in the house is auspicious and well-protecting.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Visnupanjarastotra

Hari Said:

- 1-2. I shall now expound Vișnu's auspicious Panjara (protective cage) Obeisance, obeisance to Thee, O, Govinda. Taking up the discus Sudarsana protect me in the east. O Vișnu, I seek refuge in Thee. O Padmanābha, take up the club Kaumodakī, obeisance to Thee.
- 3-10. O Viṣṇu, protect me in the South. I seek refuge in Thee. Taking up the plough-share Saunanda protect me in the west, O Puruṣottama, obeisance to Thee. I seek refuge in Thee. Taking up the destructive Mortar O Puṇḍarīkākṣa (lotus-eyed one) protect me in the north. O Jagannātha (lord of the universe) I seek refuge in Thee. Taking up the Sword the shield and the other weapons protect me, O Hari, killer of Rāksasas, in the north east, Obeisance to Thee. I have sought refuge in Thee. O Vișnu, taking up the great Conch Pancajanya1 and the lotus Anudbodha protect me in the South-east, O Boar, protect me. O Nrkesarin (Man-lion) of divine form, Taking up the sun and the moon and the Candramas a (Lunar Sword,) protect me in the South west. Taking up Vaijayanti and the necklace Srivatsa2 protect me in the north-west. O Lord Hayagrīva3, obeisance to Thee. Riding on Vainateya high over in the sky O Janardana, the unconquered, protect me always. O un-vanquished, obeisance to Thee. Riding on Visalakşa protect me in the nether worlds, obeisance to Thee O shoreless Ocean, Obeisance to Thee O Great Fish! O Truth! making the Bāhupañjara (Protective Cage of Arms) protect me in the hands, fingers, head and other parts. O Vișnu, foremost among men, obeisance to Thee. Thus was expounded to Sankara the Great Vaisnava Panjara formerly for the protection of Kātyāyanī,4 the wife of Isana. O Sankara, by this she destroyed Camara, Mahisasura the demon Rakta-bija and other enemies of gods. By reciting this with devotion a man always conquers his enemies.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Meditation

Hari Said:

- 1. I shall now expound Yoga conducive to enjoyment and final beatitude. Hari, the lord, is to be contemplated, so say the devotees who regularly contemplate.

3. According to some, Visnu took this form to save the Vedas. Refer CDHM p. 120.

4. A name of the goddess Durga.

2. O Isa listen, Vișnu, the lord of all, is infinite, remover of all sins, devoid of ground of rest for the feet.1

- 3. I am Vāsudeva, the lord of the universe, the soul of Brahman, the immanent soul, the eternal, free from all kinds of physical bodies.
- 4. Devoid of the attributes of the body, free from kşara (perishable) and Akşara (imperishable) presiding over the six types (of living beings), the seer, the hearer, the smeller and beyond the pale of the senses.
- Free from its attributes, the creator, devoid of name and race, the thinker residing in the mind, the lord free from mind.
- 6. Devoid of the attributes of the mind, he is the worldly knowledge, the spiritual knowledge, the knower the presiding being in the intellect, the omniscient witness devoid of (the attributes of) the intellect.
- 7. Free from the attributes of the intellect, all in-all, the omnipresent mind, free from all living beings, and devoid of the attributes of the vital breath.
- 8. The Vital breath of living beings, the quiet, devoid of fear, free from egotistic feelings and devoid of the attributes (of the ego).
- 9. The witness (of ego), the controller, (of ego), Bliss personified, the presiding being of (the three states of) wakefulness, dream and sleep, devoid of their attributes.
- 10. The fourth, the great Creator Dṛgrūpa (Having the form of the Vision), free from qualities, the independent, the enlightened, the unageing, the all-pervading, the Truth. I am the soul, the auspicious one.
- 11. Those men of knowledge who contemplate upon (me) and the lord thus, attain the great status and also that form; no doubt need be entertained.
- 12. O Śańkara of good vows, thus I have narrated to you the procedure of contemplation. He who reads this constantly attains to Viṣṇu's world.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Contemplation of Hari and Sun-worship

Rudra said :

 O Lord, the holder of conch, discus and club, please narrate to me further the process of contemplation on Lord Vişnu, the pure and the Supreme soul.

Hari said :

- 2-3. O Rudra, listen to the procedure in the contemplation of Lord Hari which destroys the tree of worldly existence. There is the great Brahman whose form is invisible, whose end cannot be seen, who is omnipresent, unborn, immutable, imperishable, all-pervasive, eternal the root-cause of the whole universe and the supreme lord of all.
- 4. He is seated in the heart of all living beings. He is the great lord of all creatures. He is the support of all. He is not supported by any thing else. He is the cause of all causes.
- 5-6. He is stainless, free from bondage, contemplated by sages who are emancipated. He has no gross body, he is devoid of eyes, vital airs and sense-organs, all qualities of living beings, organs of excretion and generation and all senses.
- 7. He is without mind as well as all its qualities. He is devoid of intellect and thought yet (functions as lord of all gods.
- 8-9. He is devoid of ego and functions of the intellect. He is free from Prāṇa¹ and Apāna²; he is without the vital air called Prāṇa³ and all its qualities. (Such a Brahman must be contemplated).

Hari said :

I shall expound again the process of worship of the Sun that had already been explained to Bhṛgu before.

- 1. The first of the five vital airs enumerated as prans, apans, samans, sydna and uddna. Prans has its seat in the beings, hence it means the breath.
 - One of the five vital airs which comes out of the arms.

10. Om khakholkāya namaḥ (Om salutation to the Sun, the meteoric planet of the sky). This is the Mūlamantra (the basic mystic verse) that gives worldly enjoyment and final beatitude (Mukti).

11. [Special Surya mantra] Om obeisance to lord Khakholka¹. Om in the rays that spread (vici) tha tha obeisance to the head.

Om that has unto the knowledge. Obeisance to the tust of hair. Om that has to the thousand-rayed, obeisance to the armour (amulet and mystic syllable).

- 12. Om tha tha to the lord of all brilliance, obeisance to the weapon. Om burn, burn, blaze, blaze tha tha obeisance.
- 13. This is the Sun's mantra of fiery species that destroys all sins.

[Sakalikarana mantra]

Om Adityāya Vidmahe Visvabhāvāya dhimahi Tannah Sūryah pracodayāt.

- 14. With this Gāyatrī (a particular metre) of the sun the worshipper should perform the Sakali-karaṇa (summing up). Then the salutation (special gesture with joined palms) to Dharma in the east, to Yama in the south.
- 15. To Dandanayaka and then to Vaivarna in the north. The dark-tawny (form) in the north-east and the Diksita in the south-east to be worshipped.
- 16. To Indra, the holder of thunderbolt in the hand, is to be worshipped in the South-west and the mystic syllables Bhūrbhuvah svah in the north-west.

To Bull-bannered Sańkara, the following should be worshipped in the eight directions beginning with east and ending with north-east. Om obeisance to the moon, the lord of stars. Om obeisance to Angaraka (Mars) the son of the Earth. Om obeisance to Budha (Mercury) the son of the moon. Om obeisance to the lord of speech (Brhaspati), the lord of all learning. Om obeisance to sage Sukra the son of Bhrgu. Om obeisance to Sanaiscara (Saturn) the son of the Sun. Om obeisance to Rāhu. Om obeisance to Ketu.

- 17. Om obeisance to Anūruka¹. Om obeisance to the Lord of Pramatha (goblins attending on Siva). Om obeisance to the enlightened.
- 18. O Lord! having rays measured all round, O Lord of the entire universe, having seven horses for vehicles, the four-armed one, giver of the great siddhis2 tawny in colour due to the flames, the gentle one! Come on, Come on. This is water-offering. Salutation unto the head. Take back the terrific form. O the un-naked, burn, burn tha tha obeisance.
- 19. With this mantra he should invoke the sun. He should discharge him with the mantra. Om salutation to the lord Aditya (sun) of thousand rays, go as you please, to come again.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Worship

Hari Said :

1. Next I shall expound the process of worship of the sun which had been explained to Dhanada (the lord of wealth—Kubera).

In a clean place the figure of a lotus with eight petals should be drawn with the pericarp.

Showing the mystical sign Avāhini (the invoking) with the fingers, the worshipper should invoke Hari. The Sun-god Khakholka should be placed in the middle in the form of a Yantra (mechanical device) and sprinkled with holy water.

^{1.} v.l. anūru.

^{2.} Superhuman faculty or power which is achieved by a sādhaka when he reaches the highest stage of sādhanā. The following are the names of the eight siddhis—animā, laghimā, mahimā, prāpti, prākāmya, tšitva, vašitva and, karmāvasāyitā. (ŠP (AITM) p. 2114; CSL p. 458).

- 3. O Siva, let him place the heart of the god in the southeastern direction. The head should be placed in the northeastern direction. Let him place the tuft in the South-west.
- 4. With the mind solely concentrated let him fix Dharma to the east, the eye to the north-west and the Astra (missile) to the west.
- 5. Let him place soma (Moon) in the north-east and Lohita (Mars) in the east. Moon's sun (Budha—Mercury) is to be placed in the south-east and Brhaspati (Jupiter) in the south.
- 6. The preceptor of demons (Sukra-Venus) is to be placed in the south-west and Sanaiscara (saturn) in the west. Let him place Ketu in the north-west and Rahu in the north.
- 7-8. In a second square the twelve suns should be worshipped. The twelve suns are Bhaga, Sūrya, Aryaman, Mitra, Varuṇa, Savitr, Dhātr, vivasvat the powerful, Tvaṣṭr, Pūṣan, Indra and the twelfth is Viṣnu.
- 9. Indra and other deities should be worshipped with reverence by the worshipper. (The four forms of the goddess Durgā, Jayā, Jayantī and Aparājitā should be worshipped. So also Śeṣa, Vāsuki and other serpents.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Worship of Amrtesa Mrtyunjaya

Sūta said :

- I shall now expound the process of worship of Mṛtyuñjaya (the conqueror of death) narrated to Kaśyapa by Garuḍa. It is holy, has redeeming features and covers all the deities.
- 2. Onkāra (The mystic syllable Om) should be placed first. Junkāra! (the syllable Jum) next. The third one is sa with a visarga (saḥ). This mantra (Om jum saḥ) suppresses death and poverty.

- 3. This mahāmantra is the lord of Nectar. It consists of three syllables. The recital and worship of this mantra are equally efficacious. By its recital people can become free from death and all kinds of sins.
- 4. By its recital a hundred times a man attains the fruits of the recital of Vedic passages or pilgrimage to holy places. By reciting it a hundred and eight times, three times during the day (dawn, midday and dusk) he can conquer death and enemies.
- 5. He should contemplate on the god Varada (giver of boons) as seated on a white lotus indicating fearlessness through gestures. The lord of Nectar should be thought of as holding the jar of nectar with both the hands.
- 6. He should think of the goddess of nectar, true of speech, as seated on his limb holding the jar in the right hand and the lotus in the left.
- 7. Reciting this mantra eight thousand times, three times a day, for a month he conquers old age, death, pestilence and enemies and accords peace and benevolence to all living beings.
- 8-11. A real worshipper must know all these things in detail—the site of a place of worship, the consecration (of an idol), the checking (of breath), the proximity, the placing, the water (for washing the feet), the water for ritualistic drink with the palm, the water for bathing, the materials of worship, the application of unguents, the holy lamp, the cloth, ornament, food offering and the water for drinking (offered to the deity), the mātrās or quantities, mystical signs and gesticulations, the gift for the priests, the ghee offerings in the fire, the prayer, playing on musical instruments, vocal music, dancing in attendance, assignment of fingers etc, the proper assemblage, going round in reverence, kneeling down, chanting of mystic syllables, sacrifices, offering obeisance, and Visarjana (the final summing up and conclusion)—this process of worship involving the use of six limbs (sadangas, viz., two thighs, two arms, head and heart (or navel) as mentioned in order and emanated from the mouth of the great Lord.
 - 12. First of all, arghya should be offered and pasarcana1 performed, then fanning is done with a piece of cloth. It is then purified with the kavaca mantras followed by the rite of Amptikarana.

^{1.} v.l. arghyapatrarcanam dadyadastrenaiva tutadanam.

- 13-14. Then follows the worship of Adhārašaktis (the presiding goddesses of the materials of worship), Prāṇāyāma¹ (holding the breath), yogic postures, purification of the Piṇḍa² (ballof food) for the manes by drying it up. Then remember the soul as in the form of god, assign the various gestures with fingers of the hand, pray to the soul in the form of refulgence in the middle of the lotus of the heart.
- 15. Then he should scatter brilliant flowers on the idol or on the ground all round. For the worship of its Dvāra (entrance-passage), the soul and the Adhāra-šaktis are worshipped.
- 16. Then follows sānnidhyakaraņa of the devas (invoking them to be near one) and the worship of the followers. For the pūjā³ of the six limbs the quarters are divided.
- 17. Dharma and others, Indra and others are duly worshipped along with their weapons and followers. Worship of the cycles, the Vedas and the muhūrtas yields enjoyment and salvation.4
- 18. The groups of Mothers Nandī and Gangā, Mahākāla and Yamunā are to be worshipped at the threshold.
- 19. Om obeisance to Bhairava the lord of Nectar. Similarly, Om juni sah obeisance to sun.
- 20. In the same manner he should perform the worship of Siva-Kṛṣṇa, Brahman, the Guṇas, Caṇḍikā⁸ Sarasvatī, Mahā-lakṣmī and others.
- 1. Exercising the breath. It is of three types -pūraka, kumbhaka and recaka.
 - 2. v.l. pithasuddhi.
 - 3. v.l. kartavyā ca vipascitaih.
 - 4. An association of, specially, attendants of Siva.
 - 5. v.l. hamsah.
 - 6. Durgā.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Pranesvari Vidya

Sūta said :

- 1. I shall now narrate the pranesvari rite of Garuda as explained by Siva. I shall at first mention the places where a person bitten by a cobra does not remain alive.
- If he is bitten in the funeral pyre, anthill, well, and the cavities of trees or if the marks of the bite are indistinct and there are three lines, he does not survive.
- 3-4. A person cannot survive the serpent bite if he is bitten on the sixth day of the fortnight or when the sun is in the Zodiac, Cancer or Aries, or the moon in the constellations Mūlā, Āśleṣā and Maghā; If he is bitten in the armpit, loins, throat, joints, temples, ears, belly, mouth, arms, neck or the back; If the messenger going to the physician is a man with a stick or a weapon, a mendicant or a naked person the patient is sure to die.
- 5-7. There are six vivartanas (or units of session) during the day and five vivartanas during the night. During the day the sun has the first session for a yāma¹, the other ten planets (adding Rāhu and Ketu also) have half yāma each. (10×½=5 sessions). During the night the serpents have their sessions (Seṣa one and eight other serpents together four, five sessions). Among serpents Seṣa is Sun, Phaṇipa is moon, Takṣaka is Mars, Karkoṭa is Jupiter, Padma and Mahāpadma (jointly) Venus and Śaṅkha is saturn. Rāhu and Kulika are themselves serpents and planets.²
- 8. When Jupiter presides during the day or in the night he is the slayer of even gods. Saturn is death by day. When Rāhu presides along with kulika at the hours of confluence of two half-yāmas, the period is destructive

g. This list of eight main serpents is somewhat different from that found elsewhere.

Tăma generally means one eighth part of a day, a period of three hours, (SSED p. 457)

9-11. The fifteen parts of the human body, viz—toes, feet, calves, knees, genital, navel, heart, breast tips, neck, nose-tip, eyes, ears, brows temples and the head are allotted a day each from pratipad (the first day of the fortnight). These parts are assigned, in order, to so many muhūrtas (one sixtieth of a day) as follows:—five to the toe, twelve to the feet, five to the calf, two to the knee, one to the genital, six to the navel, four to the breast tip, eight to the throat, fifteen to the nosetip and one each to the eyes, ears eye-brow, temple and the head.

- 12-13. If the moon presides over the right part of the man's body he may survive. In regard to a woman it is the left part of the body. Consciousness is restored by rubbing with the hand and setting the wind in motion. The great Bija (mystic seed) of the soul is called hamsa, it is as pure as crystal.
- 14. It is known as the queller of poison and sin. Its Bija is fourfold. The first Bija is Bindu (the point in Om). The second consists of five vowels; the third stands on the sixth and the fourth is with visarga.
 - 15. Om kuru Kundel Svāhā.

This Vidyā (mystical knowledge) was kept by Garuda formerly for the protection of the three worlds.

- 16. A man desirous of killing the serpents shall place Pranava (Om) in the mouth. The wise man shall place Kuru in the neck, Kunde² in the calves, Sväha in the feet. This nyāsa (placing) is called yugahā.
- 17. The house in which this mantra is written and placed is abandoned by serpents. After reciting this mantra a thousand times the sacred thread shall be placed on the ear.
- 18. Serpents leave off the house where sand particles are scattered after reciting this mantra. By reciting it seven lakhs of time³ siddhi has been obtained by Devas and Asuras.
- 19. Om svāhā unto the fowl-formed of golden lines (Om Suvarņarekhe kukkuţavigraharūpiņi svāhā), he should write, on a lotus of eight petals, two letters in each petal.

^{1.} v.l. kule.

^{2.} Ibid.

^{3.} Reading altered to saptalaksa from Japtalaksa.

20. The patient bitten by a serpent should be sprinkled with water of that lotus. He then leaves off the poison.

21. Om Paksi Svāhā

Reciting this mantra the fingers beginning with the thumb and ending with the little finger should be placed, (Nyāsa) in order, on the head, mouth, heart, genital and the feet.

- 22. Even in dreams the poisonous serpents do not step on his shadow. The person who recites this a hundred thousand times is competent to quell poison by a mere glance.
 - 23. Om Hrim Hraum Hrim Bhirundayai Svaha

This mantra recited into the ear of the patient removes poison.

24-25.	Nyasa
a	ā	to be placed	at the tip of the feet
i	ī	,,	calf
u	ũ	,,	knee
e	ai	,,	waist
0		11	navel
āu		,,	heart
19	am	,,	mouth
	aḥ	,,,	head

This Hamsa-mantra-nyāsa when recited, contemplated or worshipped removes poison.

- 26. 'I am Garuda'—meditating like this the process of destroying poison should be done. The Ham mantra with the nyasas on the body is said to be quelling poison.
- 27. Placing Hamsa on the left hand, the operator shall close nostrils and mouth. This mantra shall destroy poison in the skin as well as flesh.
- 28. He should draw out the poison of the patient by blowing the wind and place it over his body. He then shall remember the blue-throated God Siva and others.
- 29. The root of Pratyangirāh¹ drunk with rice water removes poison. The roots of Punarnavā² Phalini³ and Cakrajā⁴ are also like this.
 - Identity not clear.

Spreading Hogmeed, VN p. 233.

3. Also called priyangu—Callicarpa macrophylla, VN, p. 236.
4. υ.Ι. υακταjā. Sušruta describes a shrub called cakrakā. There is also a herb named τακτα (valleriana wallichii). GUDB, pp. 150 and 173.

- 30. The roots of white Brhati¹ and Karkoti² are also destructive of poison. Gairikamikā³ (a clod of earth) kneaded with water and mixed with ghee should be applied over the part bitten. The appliance of paste will remove poison.
- 31-32. If the patient drinks hot ghee, the poison does not spread. Five parts of the root of Sirlsu⁴ with one part of Grājana⁵ (red garlic) either drunk or applied over the body removes poison. The mantra Om Hrim removes the poison of Gonasa (a kind of snake).
- 33. When this mantra (Om Hrim) ending with visarga is contemplated in the heart and forehead it gives the power to influence every one. If this mantra is placed in the vaginal passage the girl comes under his influence, putting forth secretions of intoxication profusely.
- 34. Having recited this mantra 7×8 (fifty-six) thousand times, one becomes competent to go everywhere like Garuda, and a poet, well-read in Vedas and obtains a wife who will be under his control.

Indeed, the central theme of Sage Vyāsa story is destructive of poison.

CHAPTER TWENTY

Mantras for removing poison

Sata said :

- 1-2. I shall now expound the highly secret collection of mantras described by Siva. The usual weapons of a king are noose, bow, discus, heavy club (pestle), trident and spear.
 - Solanum indicum. GVDB, p. 277.
 - 2. Name of a kind of Karkojaka (momordica divica). GVDB, p. 81.
 - 3. Gairika generally means red chalk. SSED, p. 192
 - 4. Albizzia lebback. GVDB, p. 399.
 - 5. Allium ascalonicum. GVDB, p. 143.

With mantras, as with these weapons the king shall conquer his enemies.

- 3. In the lotus beginning with the petal towards the east and ending with the petal to the north-east (the eighth) a, ā etc. should be written as Mantroddhāra. They are Astavargas.
- 4. Omkāra shall be the Bija of Brahmā. Hrimkāra is Visņu himself. Hrimkāra should be written three times on the head of Siva and placed in order.
 - 5. Om Hrim Hrim

Taking up the trident by the hand, he should whirl it facing the sky. On seeing it, the evil planets and the serpents are destroyed.

- Holding the smoke-coloured bow in the middle of the hand he should contemplate over it in the sky. Evil planets, serpents, clouds and Rākṣasas are destroyed.
- 7. This mantra can protect the three worlds, not to speak of the land of mortals.
 - 8. Om Jum Sum Hum Phat

Eight pegs of Khadiral wood after the invocation with mantras shall be fixed up in the field. There can be no harm from thunderbolts or explosions in that place.

- Invoke the great mantra mentioned by Garuda over the eight pegs and dig the earth in the field twenty one times at night.
- 10. This wards off troubles from lightning, vats and thunderbolt.
- 11. Hara Kṣara Mala Vaṣat with the bindu (Oṁ) is always auspicious. Oṁ Hrām obeisance to Sadāśiva. He should then place the pinda (rice-ball) shining like the pomegranate flowers with the forefinger.
- 12. By only seeing it the evil clouds, lightnings, poisons, Rāksasas and goblins flee unto the ten quarters.
- 13. Om Hrim obeisance to Ganesa. Om Hrim obeisance to Stambhanādicakra. Om Aim Yāum obeisance to Trailokyadāmara.
- 14. This pinda is called Bhairava. It removes poisons and evil planets. It protects the field. It suppresses goblins (Raksasas) as well as others.

- 15. Om obeisance. Contemplating Indra's thunderbolt in the hand he can destroy evil clouds etc. By Vajramudrā poison, enemies and goblins are destroyed.
- 16. Om Ksum obeisance. One shall remember the noose on the left hand. Poisons, goblins etc are destroyed.

Om Hrām obeisance. By mere repetition the mantra shall remove poison, evil clouds and evil planets.

17. By contemplation it can burn even death as the whole world by means of splitting missiles.

Om Ksnam obcisance. By contemplating on Bhairava the mantra can be made to quell planets, goblins and poisons.

18. Om lasad dvijihvāksa Svāhā. This mantra prevents evil planets, goblins poison and birds affecting the field.

19. Om kṣām obeisance. After writing this mantra on a kettle drum with blood the names of planets should be inserted.

Om Mara Mara Māraya Māraya Svāhā

Om Hum Phat Svaha

20. The trident should be invoked eight hundred times mentally with the mantras. It destroys hosts of enemies.

The lower energies should be blunted and bent by the pouncing of higher energies.

21. The mantras should be practised in Pūraka (in-take of breath), well-invoked at the time of Kumbhaka (retention of breath) and well-developed with Pranava. Thus developed mantras yield fruits even as servants.

CHAPTER TWENTYONE

Worship of Pañca-vaktra Siva

Sūta said :

I shall now severally relate the worship of Pañcavaktra¹
 (Siva) which gives enjoyment and salvation.

It The five forms of Siva who has five faces are - Sadyojāta, Vāmadēva, Aghora, Tatpuruşa, and Isāna.

Om Bhūh obeisance to Viṣṇu, the primordial principle, the form that supports everything, Svāhā.

2. The invocation of Sadyojāta (Siva) should be made with this mantra at first.

Om obeisance to Sadyojāta. Of him the eight Kalās are well praised.

3. They are Siddhi (achievement), Rddhi (prosperity)
Dhṛti (courage), Lakṣmi (wealth), Medhā (intellect), Kānti (splendour) Svadhā (oblation) and Sthiti (sustenance).

Om Ham obeisance to Vamadeva.

His Kalas are thirteen.

- 4. Rājā (the king), Rakṣā (protection), Rati (love), Pālyā (that which should be preserved), Kānti (splendour), Tṛṣṇā (thirst), Mati (reflection), Kriyā (action), Kāmā (lust), Buddhi (Intellect), Rātri (Night), Trāsani, (that which terrifies) and Mohini (that which enchants).
- 5. There are eight terrific Kalās¹ viz Manonmanī (suppressing the mind), Aghorā (not awful), Mohā (delusion), Kṣudhā (hunger), Kalā (digit), Nidrā (sleep), Mṛtyu (death) and Māyā (illusion).
- 6. Om Hraim obeisance to Tatpuruşa alone. (His Kalās are) Nivṛtti (return), Pratiṣṭhā (Stabilization), Vidyā (learning) Sānti (Peace).
- 7. Om Hraum obeisance to Isāna. (His Kalās are) Niscalā (unmoving), Niranjanā (unsullied), Sasini, (bright) Anganā (woman), Marici (ray) and Jvālini (having flames),

CHAPTER TWENTYTWO

Worship of Siva

Sata said:

- 1. I shall now explain the process of worship of Siva which brings enjoyment and salvation. He is quiet, omnipresent, void and stationed in a diagram of twelve parts.
 - 1. These obviously belong to Aghora.

2. The five faces are short vowels. His limbs are long vowels with bindu.

His missile is represented by visarga. Above that the word Siva should be written.

3-4. In the sixth apartment the great mantra Haum should be written below. It bestows all wealth.

The great Mudrā is as follows. With both the hands grasp the feet. The head then shall be placed over the tips of the feet. Then perform Karānganyāsa (the placing of the fingers as a mystic ritual)

With the palm of the hand using the Astra mantra purify the back.

5. Then perform Angavinyasa beginning with the little finger and ending with the forefinger.

I shall now explain the worship in the pericarp of the lotus of the heart.

6. Perform arcanā1 of virtue, knowledge, unattachment, prosperity etc. with the heart.

With the heart offer the invocation, installation of the deity, the pādya and arghya.

7-8. The Acamana (mystical drinking of water), the bathing, and the worship of similar base should be performed.

I shall now narrate the rites in five Ullekhana-s (prodding with the tip) performed with the Sastra. With the coat of mail sprinkling should be made. Saktinyāsa should be made with the heart.

Throw fire either in the pit of Sakti or in the heart.

- 9. After performing Garbhādhāna and other rites (mystical conception), performing all activities with the heart he should perform Homa of Siva with all the Angas (parts).
- 10. Sambhu should be worshipped in the altar and in the Padma Garbha; let there be a mark of a cow.

The mandala (altar) of Svaksi, Svadhya and other things has eight in the beginning and sixty-four in the end.

11. Svāksi (one's own eye) goes up to Indra and Sun by means of fortyone vartanas (revolutions) in the whole sky,

The auspicious pit should be made in the south-east in the form of a crescent moon.

- 12. The groups of Sastra hṛdaya are devoted to the Sastra of five. Astra should be placed in the border of the quarters and Sadāśiva in the pericarp.
- 13. I shall now mention Diksā (preparation for sacred rite) and the ground, etc. settled in the five tattvas. Nivṛtti (returning) is the ground, then Pratisthā (establishing); learning is five; Sānti is the ray.
- 14. In the homa Santi goes beyond. After that the immutable is quiescent. For each there shall be a hundred homa. Thus homa shall be performed five times.
- 15-16. After giving the Pūrṇāhuti (the final ghee-offering) he should meditate upon Siva for his favour.

In order to purify the atonement each Ahuti should be gradually made with the Astrabija. Thus Dīkṣā is concluded.

Except the actual performance of the sacrifice all other rituals should be kept confidential.

17. If the devotee thus becomes purified ritualistically he attains to Sivahood, indeed.

CHAPTER TWENTYTHREE

Worship of Siva

Sūta said :

1-2. I shall now explain the worship of Siva conducive to the achievement of virtue and love etc. With the following three mantras, beginning with Om and ending with Svāhā, Acamana shall be performed.

Om Hām Ātmatattvāya2 Svāhā

Om Him Vidyātattvāya3 Svāhā

Om Hum Sivatattvaya4 Svaha

The salutation to the ears should be made with the heart.

1. v. l. vyoma.

2. To soul-element.

To knowledge-element.

4. To Siva-element.

- 3. For the bath of ashes and Tarpana¹ the mantras are Om Hām Yām Svāhā. For all devas, all sages the adoration is with the Mantra ending with Namah and Vausat².
- 4. For all the Pitrs and Pitāmahas (fathers and grand-fathers) the mantra should end with Svadhā.

Om Ham to the great-grand-fathers and maternal grand fathers as well.

- 5. Hām Namaḥ to all mothers. Then Prāṇāyāma should be performed. Ācamana and Mārjana³ should be made. Gāyatri⁴ be recited next.
- 6. Om Hām Tan Mahesāya Vidmahe | Vāgvisuddhāya Dhimahi | Tanno Rudrah Pracodayāt | 15
- 7. After Sūryopasthāpana (special recital of prayers with mystic gesticulations with the hand) he should begin worship with solar mantras.

Om Ham Him Hum Haim Haum Hah. Salutation to Siva-Sūrya. Om Ham obeisance to Khakolka, the form of Sun.

- 1. Presenting libations of water to the manes.
- 2. An exclamation uttered while offering oblations to the deities.
- 3. Gleansing, sprinkling water by means of hand or a blade of kusa grass.
- 4. Gāyatrī generally means a verse composed in the Vedic metre called Gāyatrī which is of 24 syllables, usually a triplet of eight syllables each.

But in the Indian culture it has assumed a specific meaning and the following Revedic Verse is popularly known as Gayatri (because it is also composed in the Gayatri metre).

> Tat savitur vareņyam bhargo devasya dhīmahi/ dhiyo yo naḥ pracodayāt// (RV 3.62.10)

Every caste Hindu is expected to repeat this verse during morning and evening devotions (sandhyā). As it is addressed to Savity, the sun, it is also called Sāvitrī.

Gāyatrī is also personified as a goddess and is said to be the wife of Brahmā and the mother of the four Vedas and the first three castes.

It is held very sacred and attributed with many mystical and philosophical potentialities. The Tantrikas have a number of mystical verses, each one attributed to a particular deity, and these are also known by the name of Gayatri. (Also Linga (AITM), p. 796, SED, p. 352; CDHM, pp. 111-2).

Nonetheless the verse given here beginning with Om ham is quite different to that one generally accepted as Gayatri and quoted above.

5. This verse, also composed in Gayatri metre, is addressed to Siva and seems to be composed on the model of the RV 3.62.10.

- 8. Om Hrām Hrim Sah obeisance to the sun. Dandin and Pingala and other Bhūtas should be systematically remembered. After propitiating the pure Isana in fire great pleasure shall be obtained.
- 9-10. He should worship Padmā with Rām; Diptā with Rim; Sūkṣmā with Rūm; Jayā with Rem; Bhadrā with Raim, Vibhūti with Rom; Vimalā and Amoghikā with Raim; Vidyutā with Ram in the eastern and other quarters; Rom in the middle, Sarvatomukhī with Ram; the sun's seat and the form of sun with Hrām and Hrūm; and the sun with Saḥ.
- 11. Om and Am for the sun in the heart; head and tuft of hair and Bhūḥ, Bhuvaḥ, Svaḥ, Om. Jvālini should be worshipped with Hrām. Coat of mail and weapon should be assigned duly.
- 12. The queen properly initiated should be worshipped with Sūrya-Hṛdaya Mantra. The planet Soma (Moon) should be worshipped with Som; Mangala (Mars) with Mam; Budha (Mercury) with Bam; Bṛhaspati (Jupiter) with Bṛ; Bhārgava (Sukra-venus) with Bham; the planet Sanaiscara (Saturn) with Sam.
- 13. Rāhu with Ram; Ketu with Kam and the fierce lustre should be worshipped with Om. After worshipping the sun and performing Acamana the Anganyāsa should be made beginning with the little finger.
- 14. Hām Him for the head; Hūm for the tuft, Haim for the coat of mail and Haum for the eyes. Huh for the weapon. Having fixed Sakti, Nyāsa should be made for the purification of elements.
- 15. Then making a vessel for Arghya it shall be sprinkled with holy water.
- 16. The Atman should be worshipped as seated on the lotus. With Haum Sivāya the exterior should be worshipped. Nandin¹ and Mahākāla² at the gate; Gangā, Yamunā, Sarasvatī,³.
- The bull of Siva. His image of white colour is always put before the idol of Siva in every temple of Siva. He is supposed to be the guardian of all four-footed animals. He is one of Siva's gapas and accompanies him during his tāndava dance.
 - 2. The chief of Siva's gapas (personal attendants).
 - 3. v.l. gauh.

- 17. Śrivatsa, Vāstvadhipati (presiding deity of the plot); Brahmā, Gaņa, preceptor, Šakti and Ananta—all these in the middle, Dharma¹ and others in the east;
- 18. Adharma² in the south-east; Vāmā and Jyesthā in the middle and in the pericarp of the lotus; Raudri, Kāli, Siva and Sītā in the east.
- 19-20. Om Haum obeisance to Kalavikariņi. The following should be worshipped in the middle of the scat in front of Siva. Balavikāriņi, Balapramathini Sarvabhūtānām damani & Manonmanī, the great form of Siva's seat and in its middle Siva.
- 21-23. All these rites should be performed duly—Āvāhana, Sthāpana, Sannidhāna, Nirodhana, Sakalīkaraņa, Mudrādarsana, Arghya, Pādya, Ācamana, Abhyanga, Udvarta, Snāna, Nirmañ-cana. Next he should offer garments, unguents, flowers, incense, lamp, food offerings, Ācamana, fragrant spices, betel leaves, water for washing hands, umbrella, chowries and sacred thread and perform Paramikaraņa.
- 24. After imagining the deity in its solitary form recital of prayers and the dedication thereof should be performed. This is called Nāmānga worship—i.e. prayer, kneeling etc. by means of the heart.
- 25. In the south-east, north-east, north-west and south-west, the worship mentioned for the east should be made in the middle. He should worship Indra and others and Nirmalya should be applied to Canda.
- 26-29. The prayer shall be:—O Lord Siva, thou art the protector of the secret of secrets. Please accept this chanting of prayer performed by us. Let there be successful achievement for me by thy grace in thy presence. Whatever sin I may
- 1. A personification of Religion or Righteousness or virtue.

 Dharma is also a name of Yama, the god of death. (SSED, p. 268).
- A personification of Vice. It is very peculiar that adhurma is also to be worshipped with dharma.
 - 3. Receiving or putting down together.
 - 4. Endorsing, covering up.
 - 5. Smearing with oily substances.
 - 6. Smearing with perfumes.
 - 7. v.l. nirmohana.

have committed do thou destroy that since I am in Siva's region. Thou art the giver of Renown. Siva is the giver, Siva is the enjoyer, Siva is this entire world, Siva is victorious everywhere. I am he who is Siva. Whatever I have done, whatever I will do let everything be sacred unto thee. O Siva thou art the saviour, the leader of the universe. I do not have any other lord."

30-35. I shall explain another method of worship of Siva. Beginning from the east these should be placed in the gates:—Gaṇa, Sarasvati, Nandi, Mahākāla, Gaṅgā, Yamunā, & Vāstvadhipa. Indra and others should be worshipped. The Tattvas (principles) should be worshipped viz:—Earth, Water, Fire, Wind, Ether, smell, taste, form, Sound, touch, speech, hands, feet, anus, penis, ears, skin, eyes, tongue, nose, mind, intellect, ego, Prakṛti, Puruṣa, Rāga, Dveṣa, Vidyā, Kāla, Akāla, Niyati, Māyā, pure learning, Iśvara, Sadāśiva, Śakti and Śiva. Having known all these he should become wise and liberated. He who is Śiva is Hari and Brahmā and I am Brahman due to liberation.

36-37. I shall explain the purification of elements, through which a man being purified becomes Siva. The mantra is in the lotus of the heart. The return is immediate. These two are the Nādis, (nerves) Idā and Pingalā. The two

- 1. Nature.
- 2. Passion.
- 3. Jealousy.
- 4. Obviously opposite of Kala (time).
- 5. Destiny.
- 6. Illusion, Deception. Illusion is personified as a female form of celestial origin, created for the purpose of beguiling some individual. In Vedānta philosophy, it means illusion by virtue of which one considers the unreal universe as really existent and as distinct from the supreme spirit. It is regarded as a power of God. Māyā is considered by some to be synonymous with Ajāāna or Avidyā which is the cause of false knowledge. In sāākhya philosophy it means the Pradhāna or Prakṛti. (Vide CDHM, p. 207; CSL, p. 437).
- 7. According to the Tantras, it is the principal nerve in the human nervous system, being on the left side of the body. (CSL, p. 446).
 - 8. The principal nerve on the right side of the body. (CSL, p. 446).

Prāņa and Apāna in the square Maṇḍala (diagram) shall be the bodies of Indra and Brahmā.

38-40. The mandala is marked by Vajra1 and illuminated. The arrows are of the quality of single stroke. The quiver in the place of heart is spacious and contains hundred chambers. Om Hrim Pratisthayai Hum Hah Phat; Om Hram Vidyāyai Hrām Hah Phat. The Bhūmi Tantra is eightysour crores in height. In its centre he should contemplate the Bhavavrksa (the tree of worldly existence) and the soul.

The Earth should then be thought of as with a face downwards. Then everything should be made pure.

- 41. Vāmā Devi is the Pratisthā (base). Susumņā,2 is dhārikā (the supporting prop). The deities are Samāna, Udāna and Varuņa. Visņu is the cause.
- 42. Udghātas (beginnings) are four times. The dhyāna is Šveta (white). The lotus of the neck should be made thus. The maṇdala (diagram) shall be called Ardhacandra (Crescent moon).
- 43. Marked by a lotus it shall extend to two hundred crores. The Atman ninetyfour (times) in height shall be thought of as with face downwards.
- 44. There are places and lotuses. The Aghora (non-terrific) shall be accompanied by learning.

Naga (Serpent) and the deity of fire are to be contemplated as the tongue of an elephant with the lips in the centre.

45. Rudra is the cause. The Udghāta is for three times. Its colour is that of blood. It is in the form of a blaze, triangular in shape. Its altitude and width are four hundred crores.

46-48. Rudra Tattva should be contemplated thus.

It is in the forehead that the Purusa has his Sakti. A grassy place with tortoise and partridge, O scholars. Vayu is the deity. Isvara is the cause.

The Vāyu Tattva should be contemplated as extending to fourteen crores. Udghāta is for two times. The mandala is haxagonal in shape called Vṛṣa. It is marked by a dot. The width and the altitude are eight crores.

^{1.} v.l.vakra.

^{2.} The most important nerve in the buman nervous system, being in the middle of the body. (CSL, p. 461.)

- 49. In a lotus of twelve ends the Isvaras are beyond. Santi (peace) Kuhū, Sankhini, Devadatta and Dhananjaya are the Nādis.
- 50. The cause is Sikhesāna and Sadāsiva. The Udghāta is for once only. It should be remembered as resembling bright glass.
- 51. The width is sixteen crores. The altitude is twenty five crores. Thus the abode should be contemplated is circular in shape. Bhūta Śuddhi has been explained thus.
- 52. Gaṇaguru, Bijaguru, Sakti, Ananta, Dharmaka, jñana, Vairāgya, Aisvarya—all these are in the petals beginning with that in the east.

- 27. Obeisance to the conqueror of all gods; obeisance to the omnipresent of great soul. Obeisance to the lord of all, honoured by Brahmā, Indra and Rudra.
- 28. Obeisance to the beneficiary of all worlds; obeisance to the presiding deity of the Universe; Obeisance to the protector of all; doer of all, destroyer of all.
- 29. Obeisance to the giver of boons; the quiet; the foremost. Obeisance, obeisance, to the refuge, to the self-formed and the giver of Virtue, love and wealth.
- 30. After singing the hymn, the devotee shall meditate in his heart on the imperishable in the form of Brahman, let him worship Vişnu with the root mantra, O Sankara.
- 31. Or, Let him recite the Mula mantra. He shall attain Hari. O Rudra, thus I have narrated the excellent worship of Vișnu.
- 32. This is to be kept as a great secret. It gives enjoyment and salvation. The scholar who reads this becomes a great devotee of Visnu. He who hears or recites to others attains the world of Visnu.

CHAPTER THIRTYTWO

Worship of Pañca-Tattoas1

Mahesvara said:

1. O! Lord! bearing sankha, cakra, and gadā! Please expound the Pañca-Tattvārcana (the worship of five principles) of worship by knowing which entirely a man attains the supreme region.

Hari said:

- 2. O Śańkara of splendid vows! I shall expound the worship of Pañca-Tattvas that is auspicious, divine, esoteric and yields all wishes.
- 3-4. It is holy and destructive of the bad effects of Kali age. Listen. Vāsudeva is the only eternal supreme soul, imperishable, tranquil, permanent, pure, omnipresent and unsullied. Hari himself by means of his Māyā stands five-fold.
- 5-6. To bless the Universe and destroy the wicked entirely. The five-fold forms are: Vāsudeva², Sankarṣaṇa,³ Pradyumna⁴, Aniruddha,⁵ and Nārāyaṇa⁶. Viṣṇu alone stands in all these forms.
- 7. O Vṛṣadhvaja! Listen to the mantras expressing these. Om Am obeisance to Vāsudeva; Om Ām obeisance to Sankar-ṣaṇa; Om Am obeisance to Pradyumna; Om obeisance to Aniruddha, Om obeisance to Nārāyaṇa.
- 8. Thus I have expounded the mantras expressing the five deities. They remove all sins, destroy all sicknesses. They are holy.
- 1. Here pañca-tattvas obviously mean the five-fold forms of Vişņu, namely, (i) Vāsudeva, (ii) Sankarşana, (iii) Pradyumna, (iv) Aniruddha and (v) Nārāyana. The worship of the five-fold forms of Viṣṇu is the basis of the Pāficarātra sect of Vaisnavism.
 - 2. Kṛṣṇa, a son of Vasudeva.
 - 3. Balarama, another son of Vasudeva.
 - 4. Son of Krana by Rukmini, father of Aniruddha.
 - 5. Son of Pradyumna. Grandson of Krana.
- 6. A common name for Visou. Literally it means the son of Nara, the primordial man.

- 9. Now I shall explain the auspicious worship of Pañcatattvas, by what all means it shall be performed and with what all mantras, O Śańkara.
- 10-11. The devotee shall first take his bath and then perform Sandhyā. Then going to the chamber of worship let him wash his hands and feet and perform Acamana. He shall then sit in a comfortable position as he wishes; then let him perform the rite of Sosaņa etc. (wiping dry) with the mantras Am Kṣraum Ram.
- By unhardening the Sāmans let him prepare an egg and breaking it meditate on the supreme god in the egg.
- 13-14. In the heart lotus of oneself he shall first meditate on Vāsudeva the lord of the universe, wearing the silken yellow robes, resplendent like a thousand suns, and with glittering earring shaped like Makara fish. Afterwards Sankarşana the lord of self shall be meditated upon.
- 15. Thereafter Pradyumna, Aniruddha and Śrimān¹ (prosperous)Nārāyaṇa shall be meditated upon. Then he should think of the gods Indra and others springing from that Lord of lords.
- 16. Then Nyāsa shall be performed on both the hands. The pervading Anganyāsa shall be with the root mantra and Angamantras.
- 17. Mahādeva of good vows! listen to those mantras. Om Am obeisance to the heart. Om Im obeisance to the head. Om Om obeisance to the tust. Om Aim obeisance to the Kavaca. Om Aum obeisance to the three eyes. Om Ah phat to the Astra.
- 18. Om obeisance to Acyuta² with all his followers; Om obeisance to Dhātṛ; Om obeisance to Vidhātṛ; Om obeisance to Ādhāra Sakti; Om obeisance to Kūrma³; Om obeisance to Adanta; Om obeisance to the earth; Om obeisance to Dharma; Om obeisance to Jāāna (knowledge); Om obeisance to Vairāgya (non-attachment); Om obeisance to Aisvarya (prosperity); Om obeisance to Adharma (evil); Om obeisance to Ajāāna (Ignorance); Om obeisance to Anaisvarya (impoverished State); Om obeisance to the solar zone; Om obeisance to Lunar zone; Om Mam obeisance to the fiery zone; Om Vam obeisance to Väsudeva the supreme Brahman, the auspicious, the lustre-featured, the pervading and the imperial lord of all deities. Om obeisance to Pāncajanya. Om obeisance to Sudarsana. Om obeisance to Gadā. Om obeisance to Padma. Om obeisance to Śri (prosperity); Om obeisance to Kriyā (action, rite); Om obeisance to Pusți (Nourishment); Om obeisance to Giti; Om obeisance to Sakti; Om obeisance to Priti (satisfaction); Om obeisance to Indra, Om obeisance to Agni (Fire-god). Om obeisance to Vama (God of Death); Om obeisance to Nirțti; Om obeisance to Varuna; Om obeisance to Vāyu (Wind-god); Om obeisance to Soma (Moon); Om obeisance to Isāna; Om obeisance to Ananta; Om obeisance to Brahman; Om obeisance to Vișvaksena; Om obeisance to Padma.

^{1.} Literally it means'with Laksmi'.

^{2.} Vişnu or Krana.

^{3.} The tortoise incarnation of Visnu.

19. O Rudra, I have succinctly expounded the Mantras. The worship has to be performed in such zones (mystic diagrams) as Svastika etc.

20. After performing Anganyasa all Mudras shall be shown. The Atman and Vasudeva the great lord shall be meditated upon.

21. The devotee shall then worship the seat after duly invoking it. O Vṛṣadhvaja, the worship of Dhātṛ and Vidhātṛ shall be performed at the doorway.

22. O Śańkara, in front of Vāsudeva the devotee shall worship Garuda and in the middle (all his paraphernalia) from Sankha to Padma shall be worshipped.

23. From east onwards (in the four quarters) Dharma, Jñāna, Vairāgya and Aisvarya shall be worshipped and in the four corner quarters beginning with south-east Adharma and the three others shall be worshipped.

24. The seat is fixed in the middle of the two Mandalas. Sankarsana and others are to be worshipped in the eastern and other petals.

25. In the pericarp Vāsudeva the great Lord shall be worshipped. Pāncajanya and others are to be worshipped as fixed in the north-east, etc.

I. The solar zone.

1.32.37

26. O Sankara! the Saktis of the god of gods are to be worshipped in the east. Indra and other guardians of quarters are to be worshipped fixed in their respective stations.

27. The Naga (Serpent) shall be worshipped below and the Brahma high above by the scholarly devotee. O Sankara!

The order of fixation shall be understood thus by you.

28. After invoking the Lord in the Mandala and performing his Nyāsa and showing the mudrā, O Śańkara, Pādya (water for washing feet) shall be given at the foot.

29. Bathing garment offering, Acamana, Namaskāra (bowing down), circular peregrination—all these shall be offered at the foot. Then the Japa shall be dedicated.

'30. Asterwards remembering Vāsudeva let this hymn be recited: Om obeisance unto Vāsudeva, obeisance unto Sankarṣaṇa.

- 31. Obeisance unto Pradyumna the first deity; obeisance to Aniruddha; obeisance to Nārāyaṇa the lord of men.
- 32. Obeisance, obeisance, unto the primordial Being, worthy of respect of men, of being glorified, of being honoured; the giver of boons and devoid of beginning and death.
- 33. Obeisance unto Him the creator and destroyer, the lord of Brahmā; obeisance unto Him who can be known through Vedas and who holds Śańkha and Cakra.
- 34. Obeisance unto the Lord of gods who destroys the sin of Kali-age, who cuts down the tree of worldly existence and who pierces Māyā (the ignorance, Illusion). Obeisance, obeisance.
- 35. Obeisance unto Him of diverse forms, the holy of holies, having the three Gunas, obeisance, obeisance. Obeisance to Him who awards salvation and who manifests Himself as Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Isvara¹. Obeisance, obeisance.
- 36. Obeisance unto him who is the path to salvation, who is virtue, who is the extinction (of bondage), who gives all desires, who has the form of Parabrahman².
- 37. O Lord of the Universe, save me deeply immersed in the ocean of worldly existence of terrific nature. Other than you there is no better saviour.

1. Siva.

^{2.} The Supreme Being, God.

- 38. I have sought refuge under you the omnipresent: release me from darkness by giving me the lamp of knowledge.
- 39. O Nilalohita (Siva)! for the destruction of all pain, the lord of gods shall be praised by means of this hymn and similar hymns from the Vedas.
- 40. The devotee shall meditate within his heart on Visnu accompanied by the Five Tattvas. Then the Visarjana shall be performed. Thus I have ex-pounded the worship.
- 41. By reciting this, O Sankara, the hymn shall award him all desires. He shall be having the satisfaction of having done his duty.
- 42. He who reads this worship entitled Pañcatattvārcana, he who hears this and he who repeats this shall attain the region of Vișnu.

CHAPTER THIRTYTHREE

Worship of Sudarsana

Rudra said :

- 1. O Lord holding Sankha, Cakra and Gada, please expound to me the worship of Sudarsana, by performing which the evil effects of planets, and illness are destroyed.

 Hari said:
- 2. O Vṛṣadhvaja, listen to the worship of Cakra Sudarsana. The devotee shall first take his bath and then worship Hari.
- 3. The Nyāsa is done by means of the Mūla mantra. Listen to it. It is Om Sahasrāram (having thousand spokes) Hum Phat obeisance (with the Praṇava in the beginning).
- 4. This piercing Mantra is said to be the destroyer of all wicked persons.

The devotee shall meditate in the lotus of his heart Sudarsana the hinings. I.33.16

- 5-6. Then after invoking the gentle deity wearing Sankha, Cakra, Gadā and Padma and coronet in the mystic diagram by means already mentioned, O Hara, let him worship Him with the offerings of fragrant flowers, etc. After worship the mantra is to be recited one hundred and eight times.
- 7. He who performs the excellent worship of the Cakra thus, shall be free from all sickness and shall attain the world of Vispu.
- 8. Thereafter let him recite the following hymn destructive of all diseases. Obeisance unto Sudarsana lustrous like a thousand suns.
- 9. Lighted by a series of flames and having a thousand spokes and eyes (obeisance unto Him) who destroys a'l the wicked, and suppresses all sins.
- 10. Obeisance unto Sucakra, Vicakra and piercer of all mantras. Obeisance unto the originator of the world, the sustainer of the world and the destroyer of the world.
- Obeisance unto the destroyer of all wicked demons for the protection of the world.

Obeisance, obeisance unto Him who is fierce and gentle and terrific in form.

12. Obeisance unto Him who is in the form of the eye of the world and who dispels the fear of worldly existence.

Obeisance unto Him who breaks asunder the cage of Māyā, obeisance, obeisance unto the benefactor.

13 Obeisance unto Him who is in the form of a planet and surpasses all the other planets. Obeisance to the lord of planets.

Obeisance, obeisance unto Him who is Time (Supreme) and Death and the terrific.

- 14. Obeisance to the blesser of devotees. Obeisance, obeisance to the protector of devotees. Obeisance unto Him who is in the form of Vişpu, who is tranquil, and who bears all weapons.
- 15. Again and again obeisance unto the weapon of Visnu; unto the Cakra obeisance. This hymn, highly meritorious of the Cakra that I explained to you shall be read with great devotion.
 - 16. He who does so attains the world of Vispu.

17. O Rudra! he who reads the scheme of the worship of the Cakra, with all the sense-organs under his control shall burn all sins to ashes and become competent to ascend to the world of Vispu.

CHAPTER THIRTYFOUR

Worship of Hayagriva1

Rudra said :

1. O Hṛṣīkeśa² (Viṣṇu) bearing the club! Please expound again the worship of the lord. The more you speak in detail about the worship the more I delight in hearing it. I am never satiated.

Hari said :

- I shall narrate the worship of Lord Hayagrīva whereby the lord of the universe Viṣṇu, is propitiated. Listen to it.
- 3. O Mahādeva, I shall explain the holy Mūla mantra expressing Hayagrīva. O Śańkara listen to that first.
- 4. Om haum Kşraum Sirase Namo haum. This mantra of nine syllables gives all learning.
- 5. O Mahādeva, Vṛṣadhvaja, listen to its limbs. Om Kṛrām obeisance to the heart. Om Hrim Svāhā to the head (Sirah is said to be attached with Svāhā). Kṛrūm Vaṣat is also likewise.
- 6. O Vṛṣadhvaja, the lord's tust is to be known as accompanied by Ohkāra. Om Kṣraim to the Kavaca. Hum is described as Kavaca.
- 7. Of Kşaut Vauşat to the three eyes. This is described as the lord's eye. Of Hah Phat to the Astra. This is described as the lord's weapon.
- 8. I shall explain the procedure of worship. Please listen to me as I narrate. First the devotee shall take his bath.
 - 1. Vişou (CDHM, p. 120).
 - 2. Literally, the lord or conqueror of the five sense-organs.

1.34.20

Then after performing Acamana he shall go to the chamber of Sacrifice.

- 9-10. After entering let him perform the mystical rite of Soṣaṇa (wiping dry). After creating the egg with the Bija mantras—Yam Kṣaum Ram Lam—and hardening it, let him split it with Onkāra itself. Let him meditate on Hayagrīva within his self in the middle of the egg.
- 11-13. (Hayagriva who is) as white as conch, moon and the flower Kunda, shining like the lotus stalk and silver, bearing Sankha, Cakra, Gadā and Padma in his four hands; Hayagriva wearing a crown, earrings and garland of wild flowers; he is crimson-coloured in his cheeks and wears yellow robes; after meditating on the all-pervasive noble soul accompanied by all deities let him perform the Nyāsa with the Anga mantras and the Mūla mantra.
- 14. Then O Śańkara, let him show the Mudrās of Śańkha, Padma, etc. Thereafter let him meditate upon and worship Viṣṇu by means of the Mūla mantra.
- 15. Let him then, O Rudra, invoke those deities who preside over the seats "Om O ye deities of the seat Hayagriva, come."
- 16. After invoking let him worship them in the Svastikas mandala. O Vṛṣadhvaja, the worship of Dhātṛ and Vidhātṛ shall be performed in the doorway.
- 17. "Obeisance to Acyuta with the entire attendants," saying so in the middle the worship shall be performed. Then the worship of Gangā.
- 18. Yamunā, Mahādevi and the two Nidhis Sankha and Padma and Garuḍa are to be worshipped in front. In the middle Sakti is to be worshipped.
- 19. The Sakti is called Adhāra Sakti. Then let him worship Kūrma. Afterwards let him worship Ananta and the earth. Then Dharma and Jāāna.
- 20. Let him worship Vairagya and Aisvarya in the corners south-east, etc.

Adharma, Ajñāna, Avairāgya and Anaisvarya are to be worshipped in the east.

- 21. Let him worship in the middle place Sattva, Rajas and Tamas. Let him worship Nanda, Nala and Padma only in the middle.
- 22. The worship of the mandalas of Sun, Moon and Fire shall be performed in the middle place. O Rudra, it is so narrated.
- 23. The Saktis and the following Vimala, Utkarşini Jhana. Kriya, yoga, Prahvi, Satya, isana and Anugraha.
- 24. The first eight Saktis are to be worshipped in the petals beginning with that in the east and Anugrahā in the pericarp by men who wish for lasting good.
- 25. The devotee shall worship the seat with these mantras keeping the names in the dative case, prefixing Pranava and ending with "Namah."
- 26. The worship of the seat shall be auspicious by duly offering bath, fragrant pastes, flowers, incense, light and the food offerings.
- 27. This is the scheme as adumbrated and is to be followed. Then he shall invoke Lord Hayagriva, lord of gods.
- 28. O Śańkara, the deity shall be meditated upon as entering through the left nostril. The Mūla mantra is to be employed while he arrives.
- 29. The invocation of the god of gods Sankhin (holding Sankha) shall then be performed. After invoking, the devotee shall cautiously perform the Nyasa in the Mandala.
- 30-31. After performing the Nyāsa let him think of the god seated there, Hayagrīva, the great god, bowed to by gods and demons, accompanied by the guardians of the quarters Indra and others, the imperishable Viṣṇu Himself. After the contemplation he shall show the auspicious Mudrās, Sankha, Cakra, etc.
- 32-33. Pādya, Arghya, Ācamaniya (water for Ācamana) shall be offered to Vişņu. Then the devotee shall bathe the lord Padmanābha free from illness. After fixing the lord duly, O Vṛṣadhvaja, he shall offer the garments, then Ācamana and the auspicious sacred thread.
- 34. Then he shall meditate on the great Lord in the mandals, O Rudra. After meditation he shall again give padya and other things to the deity, O Śańkara.

- 35. He shall give it to Bhairava-deva with the Mūlamantra. Om Kṣām obeisance to the heart. With this he shall worship the heart.
- 36. Om Ksim obeisance to the head, then the worship of the head. Om Ksüm obeisance to the tuft. With this let him worship the tuft.
- 37. Om Kşaim obeisance to the Kavaca; let him worship the Kavaca. Om Kşaum obeisance to the eye. With this let him worship the eye.
- 38. Om Ksah obeisance to the weapon. With this let him worship the weapon. (Thus let him worship) the heart, head, tuft and Kavaca.
- 39. In the places beginning with the east let him worship these. O Rudra, let him worship the Astra in the corners and the eye in the middle.
- 40. Let him worship the great goddess Laksmi, the auspicious giver of prosperity. He shall worship Sankha, Padma Cakra and Gadā beginning with the east.
- 41. O Rudra, let him worship the sword, pestle, noose, goad and the bow with the arrow from the east with these mantras with their own name.s
- 42-43. O Rudra, from the east itself let him worship Srivatsa, Kaustubha, garland, and the auspicious yellow garment. Then let him worship the deity bearing Sankha, Cakra and Gadā, Brahmā, Nārada, Siddhaguru (the preceptor with yogic achievements), and Paraguru (the supreme Preceptor). Similarly (let him worship) the sandals of the preceptor and the supreme preceptor.
- 44-45. O Vṛṣabhadhvaja, let him worship beginning with the east and ending with Urdhva (above) Indra along with his vehicle and followers Agni, Yama, Nirṛti, Varuṇa, Vāyu, Soma, Iśāna, Nāga and Brahmā.
- 46. Let him then worship the ten weapons Vajra (thunderbolt), Sakti, Danda, sword, noose, banner, trident, discus and lotus.
- 47. Let him worship then in the north-east, Visvaksena with these mantras, with the Pranava in the beginning and Namah in the end, O Vrsadhvaja.

48. Then let the worship of Ananta be performed O Vṛṣadhvaja. It is with the mūlamantra that the worship of the deity shall be done, O Vṛṣadhvaja.

49. Fragrant unguents, flowers, incense, lamp, oblations circular peregrinations, prostrations and Japyas (recital of prayers) shall be dedicated to him.

50. Let him sing this hymn with Pranava in the beginning. O Vṛṣadhvaja. Om obeisance to Hayasiras the presiding deity of learning.

51. Om obeisance to the deity who is of the form of learning and the giver of learning. Obeisance, obeisance.

Obeisance to the quiet lord, obeisance to the Atman of the three Gunas.

52. Obeisance to the destroyer of gods and demons and the slayer of the wicked.

Obeisance unto the deity who is the lord of all worlds, in the form of Brahmā.

- 53. Obeisance to the deity worthy of respect of isvara. Obeisance to the deity who bears Sankha and Cakra. Obeisance to the primordial deity, the fully controlled, conducive to the benefit of all living beings.
- 54. Devoid of three gunas and equipped with gunas in the form of Brahma, Rudra and Visnu, the doer, the destroyer, the lord of gods, obeisance to the omnipresent.
- 55-56. O Rudra, after singing the hymn he shall meditate on the god of gods in the pure lotus of the heart, the god bearing Sankha. Cakra and Gadā, refulgent like a crore of suns, beautiful in every limb, the great lord Hayagriva, the noble, Atman the imperishable.
- 57. O Śańkara, thus I have expounded to you the worship of Hayagriva. He who reads this with great devotion shall go to the supreme region.

CHAPTER THIRTYFIVE

Worship of Gayatri

Hari Said :

- 1. I shall expound the Nyāsa, etc. and the metre of Gāyatrī; Viśvāmitra is the sage; Savitr¹ is the deity.
- 2. It has Brahmā for its head, Rudra for its tuft, it is stationed in Viṣṇu's heart. The application is its eye. It is Sagotra (of the same family) with Kātyāyana.2
- 3. It must be known as having three worlds for its feet. It has the bowels of the earth for its base. Knowing it thus Gāyatri is to be repeated one million two hundred thousand times.
- 4. It has three feet of eight syllables each or four feet of six syllables for Japa (repetition); it is three-footed and for worship it is four-footed.
- 5. In Nyāsa Japa, Dhyāna (contemplation), Agnikārya (sacred rites in fire) and Arcana (worship) the devotee shall employ Gāyatri always. It dispels all sins.
- 6-7. The devotee shall assign the outline to the toes, insteps, calves, knees, thighs, private parts, scrotum, blood vessel, navel, belly, the nipples, the heart, throat, lips, mouth, palate, the shoulders, eyes, eyebrows, forehead, the four quarters and the head. I shall tell you the colours.
- 8-10. The sapphire colour, the colour of fire, yellow, deep black, tawny, white, lightning colour, silvery white, dark, crimson, darkblue, white, yellow, grey, ruby colour, conch colour, grey red as wine, sun colour, similar to the colour of the moon and white as the lustre of conch-shell.
- 11. Whatever the devotee touches with his hand and whatever he sees with his eyes it becomes pure. They know nothing superior to Gayatri.
- 1. Literally means the 'generator'. It is a solar deity and many hymns are addressed to him in the Rgveda.
- 2. A great sage. The Varttikas are ascribed to him. (CDHM p. 154; CSL p. 57).

CHAPTER THIRTYSIX

Method of performing Sandhya1

Hari said :

- 1. O Rudra, I shall explain the mode of performance of Sandhyā prayer. It destroys sins. Listen. After performing prāṇāyāma (holding of the breath) thrice, the devotee shall take the Sandhyā bath.
- 2. It is called prāṇāyāma when one repeats the Gāyatri along with praṇava and the Vyāhṛtis (Om Bhūḥ Bhuvaḥ Svaḥ Om) three times while holding the breath.
- A twice-born will be able to burn off all mental, verbal and physical defects by prāṇāyāma. Hence, he shall practise the same always.
- 4. The Acamana mantra during the evening Sandhyā is the Vedic Rk: Agnisca mā; during the morning it is Sūryasca mā; in the mid-day it is: Apaḥ punantu. Let him duly perform Upas-parsa² also.
- 5. He shall perform Mārjana (mystical wiping) with the Rk: Apo hi sthā and water by means of Kuša grass shall be sprinkled at every step with the recital of praṇava.
- 6. With these nine (three times daily three main rites) the devotee shall burn off the nine sorts of defects arising from Rajas, (passion) Tamas (ignorance), Moha (delusion) waking state, dreaming state and state of sound sleep, from speech, from thought and from actions.
- 7. Taking water in the joint palms (in the form of a cup) and reciting the mantra, Aghamarşana water shall be offered three, eight or twelve times.
- 8. The sun shall be worshipped with the two Rks Udu tyam and Citram. The sins committed during the day or night shall be destroyed instantly.

1. Morning. noon and evening prayers.

2. Bathing or rinsing the mouth, sipping and ejecting water as a religious act.

- 9. The Sandhyā prayer shall be recited in the morning standing and in the evening, sitting. The Gāyatri shall be recited with praṇava prefixed and accompanied by Mahāvyāhṛtis.1
- 10. If it is recited ten times Gāyatri removes the sin of this birth; if it is recited hundred times it destroys the sins of all previous births and if it is recited a thousand times it removes the sins of three yugas² (Ages i.e. Kṛta, Tretā and Dvāpara).

11. Gāyatrī is crimson-coloured. Sāvitrī³ is white-hued and Sarasvatī⁴ shall be known to be dark in colour. These are the three Sandhyās as explained.

12-13. After fixing Om Bhūh in the heart, Om Bhuvah shall be fixed on the head; Om Svah shall be in the tuft. The scholarly devotee shall fix the first pāda (group of six syllables, here) of Gāyatri in the Kavaca; the second in the eyes. The Anga-vinyāsa is to be done with the third (pāda) and he shall fix the fourth (pāda) all over (the body).

14. During the Sandhyās (morning, mid-day and evening)
Gāyatrī the mother of Vedas shall be recited after due Nyāsas.
He shall be blessed with welfare in all limbs if the Nyāsa is accompanied by pranayama too.

15. Gāyatri of three pādas (3×8 syllables) is identical with Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Maheśvara. The Japa shall be begun only after knowing the Viniyoga (application), Rsi (sage) and the Chandas (metre).

16. Then he shall be free from all sins and shall attain Brahmā's world. The fourth pāda (last group of six syllables) is mentioned to be the essence beyond all Rajas (passion).

17. The sun destroys the person who does not perform the Sandhyā prayer. The sage of the fourth pāda is "Nirmala".

18. The Chandas is Gāyatrī the divine; and the deity is paramātmā (the supreme soul).

1. Bhūr, bhurah and svah are called the Mahāryāhrtis.

2. According to the Post-Revedic Hindu traditions Time is divided into the cycle of four ages or yugas. They are Krta-yuga (also called Satyayuga), Tretayuga, Draparayuga and Kaliyuga. (Vide details in Linga (AITM) p. 809; CDHM, pp. 381-3).

3. Name of Gayatri, for the morning-worship.

4. It is note-worthy here that Sarasvati is a name of Gayatri and it is dark-coloured for the evening-worship.

CHAPTER THIRTYSEVEN

Gayatri Kalpa

Hari said :

- Gāyatri is the great goddess. All the great sins of the person who recites Gāyatri are destroyed.
- I shall now describe the Gāyatri Kalpa (eulogy of Gāyatri). It is conducive to enjoyment here and salvation hereafter. The devotee shall repeat it one thousand and eight times, or one hundred and eight times.
- 3. Thrice daily during the period of conjunctions he shall attain Brahmaloka. After repeating a hundred times he is allowed to take water. In the Sandhyā the divine deity destroying all sins shall be invoked and worshipped.
- 4. Along with twelve names with her own mantra: Bhūḥ Bhuvaḥ Svaḥ. Obeisance to Gāyatri; obeisance to Sāvitri; obeisance to Sarasvatī.
- 5. Obeisance to the mother of Vedas to Sānkṛti, to Brahmāṇi to Kauśiki, to Sādhvi, to Sarvārthasādhini (who can accomplish all desired objects), to Sahasrākṣī (having thousand eyes).
- 6-7. In the fire let the devoice offer the Ajya (melted ghee) and Havisyaka (food offering with Bhūḥ Bhuvaḥ Svaḥ). In order to get all virtues and desired objects he shall pour ghee (in the fire) one thousand and eight times or one hundred and eight times.

After worshipping the idol made of sandal wood or gold,

- 8. The devotee shall repeat it one hundred thousand times, taking only milk, bulbous roots and fruits. Pouring twenty thousand Ahutis he shall obtain all desires.
- 9. (The Visarjana mantra) is: "O Goddess, born in the land of northern Summit and permitted to stay on the Mountain by Brahma, please repair as please you".

CHAPTER THIRTYEIGHT

Worship of Durga

Hari said :

1. On Navami¹, the devotee shall worship Durgā with the mantra Hrim Durge Rakşiņi. O Mother, O excellent mother Goddess Durgā, the giver of all implements of love and wealth! Grant unto me all desires accepting this offering.

2-3. In the mārgasīrsa² month (Oct-Nov.) beginning with the third day of the lunar fortnight the devotee shall worship in order these goddesses:—Gauri, Kāli, Umā, Durgā, Bhadrā, Kānti, Sarasvati, Mangalā, Vijayā, Laksmī, Sivā and Nārāyanī. He will never have the sorrow of separation.

4-5. The devotee shall meditate on the goddess with eighteen hands bearing Khetaka (club), bell, mirror, Tarjanī (censuring symbol), bow, banner. Damaruka (small drum), axe, noose, Sakti (Javelin), pestle, Sūla (trident), Kapāla (skull), Vajraka (thunderbolt) goad, arrow, Cakra and a probe.

6. I shall now explain the process of Japa of Sri Bhagavatia along with the requisite mantras.

7. Om obeisance to Thee Goddess Cāmuṇḍā, living in the cremation ground, having a skull in the hand, riding on a great spirit having a cluster of mahāvimānas (aerial chariots) around Kālarātri (terrific like a nightmare), surrounded by a number of attendants, having a huge mouth and many arms, bearing bell, drum and kinkiṇi, loudly laughing with the sound kili-kili. Hum unto thee. O deity producing all sorts of sounds, body covered with the hide of an elephant, smeared with blood and flesh, having a terrific dangling tongue, O great Rākṣasī, terrific with hideous crooked teeth, laughing boisterously, effulgent like the glittering lightning, O Karālanetrā (having awful eyes) move on, move on. Hili-Hili. Hum unto Thee.

1. The ninth day in the lunar fortnight.

2. The ninth month of the Hindu calendar which now-a days begins with chitra.

3. Durgā.

4. A form of Durga who killed the demons Canda and Munda (CDHM, pp. 65-6).

Put both thy tongues into the mouth. O Bhrkutimukhi (with face having knit eyebrows), having Onkara for thy auspicious seat, wearing a garland of skulls, having matted hair crown and moon on the head, boisterously laughing Kili-Kili Hum Hum unto Thee. With thy hideous crooked teeth thou dost bring about a terrific darkness. O thou who dispellest all obstacles achieve this (such and such as specified) work. Do it quickly. Kaha Kaha allow me to enter along with the goad. Vanga! Vanga make him tremble, make him tremble, move on, move on, lead, lead. O deity fond of blood, flesh and wine ! kill, kill, pound, pound; cut, cut; strike, strike; let us speak requesting you to make the body adamantine; destroy all wicked persons in the three worlds, whether taken or not taken; make him enter, make him enter (thy presence); make him go ahead, make him go ahead; dance! dance! bind! bind! trot! trot. O deity with sunken eyes! with hair tied up; O owl-faced! having kinkinis in the hand. O deity having a garland of skeletons, burn!burn! cook! cook! grasp! grasp! make him enter the middle of the mandala, why dost thou delay? On oath unto Brahmā! on oath unto Viṣṇu, on oath unto sages, on oath unto Rudra. Inspire him! Inspire him Kili-Kili-Khili-Khilimili-mili cili-cili; O thou deformed deity! with body encircled by a black serpent! O Thou who takest in all planets, of lips drooping down, of nose sunken between eyebrows; of grim face, of grey matted hair! O Brāhmi! break! break! blaze! blaze, O Kālamukhi (having dark face) Khala! Khala! strike, strike down. O! thou red-eyed! roll them, make others roll them, fell them to the ground; hold, hold the head; opene open thy eyes; break, break; take, take, thy feet; show the mudras, Hum Hum phat unto thee. Pierce, pierce, tear, tear with the trident; kill, kill with the thunderbolt; strike, strike, with the baton, chop off, chop off with the cakra, pierce, pierce with the Sakti, chew, chew with the curved tooth; nail, nail with the pin; mince, mince with the scissors; catch hold of, catch hold of with the goad; release me from the fever recurring daily with headache; from the fever recurring every two days, three days, four days; release me from Pakiniskandagraha (the haunting of the spirit Dākini) catch Lala, Lala, lift up lift up? strike down, strike down to the ground; catch. O Brahmani, come, come. O Mahesvari come, come; O Kaumāri come, come; O Vărāhi come, come; O Aindri come, come; O Cămundă come, come; O Vaisnari come, come; O Nārasimhi come, come; O Svadūti come, come; O Kapālini come, come; O Mahākāli come, come; O Revati come come; O Suska Revati come, come; O Akāša Revati come, come; O Himavantacāriņi1 come, come; O Kailāsacāriņi2 come, come; cut, cut the enemies; mantra: Kili Kili Bimbe! O Aghora; O Camunda of terrific form originating from the fury of Rudra! O thou deity who makest Asuras dwindle in numbers and goest along the firmament; bind, bind with the noose the time! stop, stop, make it enter, make it enter the mandala; cause it to fall; cause it to fall; grasp it, grasp it; bind, bind its face (mouth); bind bind the eves, bind, bind the heart; bind, bind hands and feet; bind, bind all evil planets, bind, bind the quarters; bind, bind the corners; bind, bind above; bind, bind below; Inspire them with ashes, water, earth or with mustard seeds; strike them down, strike them down. O! Camunda Kili Kili Vicce, Hum phat Svaha.

8. This is the garland of one thousand eight letters in the form of mantras for repeated Japa. Each word (letter) is to be repeated eight thousand times. Then homa is to be performed eight thousand times with gingelly seeds coated with Trimadhura (three sweet things sugar, honey and clarified butter).

9. With the great flesh (human flesh) coated with the three sweet things homa shall be performed one thousand and eight times repeating each letter one thousand eight times. Or merely gingelly seeds coated with trimadhura can be used for homa.

10. In the case of war, by throwing water, mustard seed or ashes one's victory is assured.

11. The deity can be meditated upon as having twenty-eight, eighteen, twelve, eight or four arms.

12. One pair of hands has sword and club, the other mace and baton, the third bow and arrows and the fourth sword and pestle.

^{1.} Moving in the Himalayas.

^{2:} Moving in the Kailasa mountain.

- 13. Another pair of hands has Sankha and bell; another banner and pole; another pair axe and discus; and another pair small drum and mirror.
- 14. In one pair a hand holds Sakti and the other gesticulates; another pair has Musalas (pestles); another pair has noose and a long javelin; still another has Phakka and Paņava (two kinds of drums).
- 15. With one hand the goddess is threatening (the demons), with another she produces a tinkling sound; with one hand she shows the Abhaya Mudrā¹ and with the other the Svastika Mudrā.² Such is Mahisaghni (the slayer of the demon Mahisa) riding on a lion.
- 16. Victory unto thee, O goddess of goblins, surrounded by all spirits. Protect me from your spirits. Accept this oblation. Obeisance unto thee.

CHAPTER THIRTYNINE

Worship of the Sun

Rudra said

1. O Janardana, please expound again succinctly the worship of the Sun-god who is identical with Visuu. The worship that affords enjoyment in this world and salvation hereafter.

 - 22. O Sambhu, by thy will let it be holy.
- 23. Om fulfil, fulfil the sacrificial rite. Obeisance unto thee who art the lord of its control, who art identical (Sarvatattvātmaka), with all principles and Sarvakāraņapālita (protected by all reasons). Om Hām Him Hūm Haim Haum obeisance to Siva.
- 24. He who gives four Pavitrakas shall do so with this and the previous ones. After giving the Pavitra to the sacred fire, Daksinā shall be given to the preceptor.
- 25. The oblation shall then be given and the Brahmins fed. Finally Canda shall be discharged after worship.

CHAPTER FORTYTHREE

Pavitraropana of Visnu

Hari said :

- 1. I shall expound the rite of Pavitrāropaņa that yields worldly enjoyment and salvation. Formerly at the time of their war with the demons, Brahmā and others sought refuge in Hari.
- 2. Visnu gave them a banner and a necklace. Hari told them that they can overcome the demons by seeing them (the banner and necklace).
- When Viṣṇu said thus, the serpent, brother of Vāsuki said :
- "O Vṛṣadhvaja, I plead thee for the Pavitra; grant me this boon.
- 4. Let this necklace given by Hari be famous under his name." When he said thus, he granted that boon.
- 5. During the rainy season if they do not worship by means of Pavitrakas, the full year's worship of those men shall be fruitless.
 - 6. Hence, Pavitrāropoņa is essential for all deities.

Beginning with the first day and ending with Paurnamāsı (full moon), the deities shall be worshipped on their respective days.

- 7. O Hara, the worship of Vişnu shall be performed on the twelfth day, either during the bright half or during the dark half. During calamities, in Daksināyana¹, during Solar or Lunar eclipses.
- 8 When any rite for prosperity is performed, at the advent of the preceptor, this Pavitra rite for Viṣṇu has to be performed. During the rainy season it is essential.
- 9. The sacred thread can be made of silk, cotton or linen. For Brahmins it can be made of Kuśa grass. For kings it can be of red silk.
- 1. It means a period of six months during which the sun moves from the north to the south, as seen in India. Roughly 15th July to 15th January.

10. For Vaisyas it shall be woollen or silken; for Sūdras it shall be of fresh barks of trees. O Isvara, a sacred thread made of cotton or fibres of lotus stalk is praiseworthy in regard to all castes.

- 11. The thread spun by a brahmin lady and twisted three times three shall be used. The deities for the yarn are Onkāra, 2 Siva, Soma, Agni, Brahmā, Phaṇin, 3 Ravi.4
- 12. Vighnesas and Vișnu. The deities of the Tristitra are Brahmā, Vișnu and Rudra.
- 13. The thread shall be placed in a vessel of gold, silver, copper, bamboo or earth (clay). The best vessel is sixtyfour angulas large; the middling half of it.
- 14. And the smallest still half of it. The best thread is one hundred and eight angulas long; Madhyama half of it and the smallest still half as explained before.
- 15. The best knot shall be of the size of the thumb, the middling of the size of the middle finger and the smallest of the size of the little finger.
- 16. In length and in the size of the vessel this is the principle to be followed.
 - O Siva, the devotee shall place the thread on the idol.
- 17. Such that it passes through the chest, navel and thigh and resets on the knee.
- 18. The length of the thread may be one thousand and eight angulas. With four, thirtysix, twentyfour, or twelve knots.
- 19. The Pavitraka shall be dyed with Saffron turmeric or sandal paste.

The devotee who has observed fast shall consecrate the Pavitra.

- 20. He shall dedicate to Sankarşana in the east the twig and Kusa grass placed in a vessel made of banyan tree leaves in all the eight quarters.
 - 1. Variant: Sana-valkajam.
 - 2. Here we find deification of Om.
 - 3. Ananta or Śesa-naga.
 - 4. The sun.
 - 5. Gancia.

- 21-22. The same dyed with yellow pigment and saffron shall be dedicated to Pradyumna in the south. The devotee who is about to wage war shall for the sake of good results dedicate the Pavitra dyed with sandal, blue ashes, gingelly seeds and rice grains in a mixture, to Aniruddha in the west. He shall assign in the south-east and other directions the deities Sri, etc.
- 23. The devotee shall inspire the Pavitra with Vasudevamantra once, look at it and worship again. He shall then cover it with a cloth carefully.
- 24. And place it in front of the deity or in front of the mystic diagram of the idol. As before, let him place it in the west-south and north.
- 25. In order of Brāhmaņa, etc., and worship the pitcher. After making a Maṇdala with the Astra-mantra, let him offer the oblation (Naivedya).
- 26-27. After finishing the rite of Adhivāsa¹ to the Pavitra, he shall encircle the altar, the soul with Kalaśa (pitcher), sacrificial pit, Vimāna (the resting place of idols), maṇḍapa (the raised platform) and the house with three or nine (threads). He shall take one thread and place it on the head of the deity.
- 28. After that let him perform the worship of Mahesvara and recite this mantra—"O lord of gods Paramesvara! Thou hast been invoked for the worship.
- 29. I shall worship thee in the morning. Please be present near the materials got ready." The Adhivāsa rite shall thus be performed for one night or three nights.
- 30. He shall be awake throughout the night and in the morning after worshipping Kesava² he shall put the three Pavitrakas—the best, the middling and the smallest in order.
 - 31. He shall show incense and inspire with mantras.

Reciting the names of the knots he shall worship with flowers and other things.

- 32. It shall again be worshipped with Gayatri and then dedicated to the deity. Let the end of this sacred thread be held by his sons, wife, etc.
- Application of scents. Adhivasa or Adhivasana also means preliminary consecration of om image, making a divinity assume its abode in an image.
 - 2. Visnu.

- 33. "I am holding in front of you this beautiful Pavitraka with pure knots, destructive of the greatest iniquity, dispelling all sins."
- 34. (Having said so) the devotee shall place the three threads (best, middling and the smallest) in order. "This is the pure refulgence of Visnu that destroys all sins.
- 35. In order to acquire virtue, love and wealth I wear this round my neck."

After worshipping the garland of wild flowers he shall dedicate it with its own mantra.

- 36. After making various kinds of food-offerings, let him make oblations and offerings of flowers.
- 37. In a sacrificial pit twelve angulas in length let him worship fire and offer a Pavitra one hundred and eight angulas long. Let him first offer Arghya to the Sun and then a Pavitra.
- 38. Then O Hara, let him worship Visvaksena and the preceptor with Arghya, etc. Then let him recite this mantra in front of the deity, standing with the joined palms.
- 39. O Sureśvara, whether I know it completely or I am ignorant, I have completed the worship. Due to thy grace let it be fulfilled.
- 40. (As if it was) with jewels, corals and garlands of Mandāra² flowers, O Garudadhvaja,³ let this Sāmvatsari (Annual) worship be dedicated unto thee.
- 41. Just as thou wearest the Vanamala and Kaustubha always on thy chest, so also be pleased to wear this Pavitra the garland of threads too.
- 42. After worshipping and reciting the prayer thus, let him feed the brahmins and give them Daksinās and send them off in the evening.
- 43. The next day he shall say thus :— "O Pavitraka, after finishing the Samvatsari Pajā thou art discharged. Be pleased to go now to the world of Vişnu."
 - 1. Lord of the deities.
 - 2. Perhaps calotropis gigantea or C. procera VN, p. 32.
 - 3. (Vişnu) in whose banner is the image of Garuda.
- 4. An offering, as a fee or remuneration, to the preceptor or to the brahmanas.

CHAPTER FORTYFOUR

(Contemplation of Brahman or Visnu's form)

Hart said :

- 1. After worshipping with Pavitra, etc. if the devotee meditates deeply on Brahman he shall become identical with Hari. I shall now describe the meditation on Brahman destructive of the machine of Māyā (Illusion).
- 2. The intelligent shall restrict speech with the mind and the mind in the soul which is of the form of pure knowledge. The intellect shall be confined to the Mahat (the great principle) if one wishes for pure knowledge in the soul.
- 3-5. Samādhi¹ or Spiritual Trance is the realisation I am Brahman—the Brahman that is shorn of body, sense organs, mind, intellect, the vital airs, the ego, the subtle particles of the five elements, the three Guṇas, birth and feeding; the Brahman that is self-luminous, devoid of forms, beginningless and of the nature of perpetual Bliss; the Brahman that is eternal, pure, conscious, flourishing, true, blissful, without a second (real entity). It is the fourth imperishable Brahman the supreme position. (Fourth—beyond the trinity and the three Guṇas).
- 6. Know the Soul to be like a charioteer, the body is the chariot; know the intellect to be the driver and mind the rein; the sense-organs are the horses; the objects are subsidiary to senses.
- 7-9. The learned speak of the soul in conjunction with sense-organs and the mind as the Bhokty (Enjoyer of worldly experience). He who is endowed with the vehicle of Vijnāna (Real perception) and a full concentrated mind attains that supreme position. He is not born again. With real knowledge as the charioteer and mind as the rein the soul crosses the Divine Gangā. That is the supreme position of Viṣṇu. Non-violence etc. is called Yama (Restraint). Purity, etc. is called Niyama (religious ritual).
- 1. Samadhi means perfect absorption of thought into one subject of meditation, e.g. the supreme spirit.

1.44.15

10. The Yogic pastures of Padma (squatting posture) etc. are called Asanas. Full control over the breath is called Pranayama.

The withdrawal (of the senses from the objects) is called Jaya; Dhyāna is the meditation on the Lord.

- 11. The stabilisation of the mind is Dhāraṇā and Samādhi is the existence in Brahman. (i.e. Realisation that I am Brahman). If at first, it is not possible to concentrate the mind, then the devotee shall meditate on an idol.
- 12. In the middle of the pericarp of the lotus of the heart the form of Viṣṇu bearing Sankha, Cakra and Gadā shall be meditated upon endowed with Srivatsa (the indelible congenital mark) and the gem Kaustubha, refulgent with the glow of the garland of forest flowers.
- 13. He is the supreme Lord the eternal, the pure, the intelligent and known as Truth and Bliss. The devotee shall always be conscious—"I am the Atman, the supreme Brahman, the great Light."
- 14. Viṣṇu of twenty-four different forms¹ (incarnations) is seated on the Sālagrāma stone. Hari can also be meditated upon or worshipped as staying in Dvārakā,² etc.
- 15. The devotee shall acquire all desires and become Deva moving about in Vimana (aerial chariot). Contemplating on the idol, singing prayers and reciting the names, the devotee, free from desires, shall attain salvation.

2. Kṛṣṇa's capital in Gujrat sea-coast after the Yadavas migrated there from North India. There is a modern city of this name in Gujrat.

A stone held sacred and worshipped by the Vaisnavas, because its spirals are supposed to contain or to be typical of Vispu. It is an ammonite found in the river Gandaka, and is valued more or less highly according to the number of its spirals and perforations. (CDHM p. 275.)

CHAPTER FORTYSIX

Vāstu-pūjā1

Hari said :

- 1. I shall now briefly describe the Vāstu Pūjā (worship of the site) which destroys obstacles in the building of houses. Beginning from the north-east corner the worship shall extend to eighty-one feet.
- 2-3. The Vāstu Puruşa's² head is worshipped in the northeast; the feet in the south-west and the hands in the south-east and north-west. In building temporary sheds, houses, cities, villages, bazaars, palaces, parks, forts, temples and monasteries the twentytwo deities shall be worshipped outside the plot and thirteen within.
- 4-7. The deities are :—Isa, Parjanya, Jayanta, Kulisāyudha (Indra), Sūrya, Satya, Bhṛgu, Ākāsa (sky), Vāyu, Pūṣan, Vitatha, Graha, Kṣetra, the two Yamas, Gandharva, Bhṛgurāja,
- 1. Vastu means the site for building and also the house. Hence Vastupūjā means the worship of the site chosen for building a temple or a house. It is treated as a must for the safe and sound construction.
- 2. Vāstu-puruşa is the presiding deity of the site. According to a legend in the Matsya-purăņa, Lord Siva assumed a ferocious form to kill the demon, Andhaka. Drops of perspiration fell from Siva's forehead and therefrom a fierce ghost came out. He was given a boon by Siva. Thereafter he fell down covering the entire earth. Then he came to be worshipped. In Vedic literature, we come across Vāstospati, the Protector of Houses. (GPEA, p. 395; CDHM, p. 342).
- 3. A Revedic deity. He is the deity of the rains or the rains personified.
 - 4. Son of Indra.
 - 5. Truth (personified).
- A famous sage, progenitor of the Bhargavas. The planet Venus is also called Bhrgu.
 - 7. Falschood (personified).
- 8. The planet. It also means a class of demons supposed to seize upon children and produce convulsions. (SSED p. 195.)
 - 9. Field or ground.

- Mṛga,¹ Pitṛgaṇa, Dauvārika,² Sugrīva³, Puṣpadanta,⁴ Gaṇādhipa. Asura,⁵ the two Seṣapādas, Roga,⁶ Ahimukhya¹, Bhallāṭa, Soma, Sarpa³, Aditi, Diti—these thirty two are to be worshipped outside. Listen to the four to be worshipped within.
- 8. In the four corners beginning with the north-east, the four devas stationed therein shall be worshipped by the scholarly devotee. They are Apa, Sāvitra, Jaya and Rudra.
- 9. In the middle, Brahmā and his eight attendants all round shall be worshipped from the east. Their names are as follows:—
- 10. Aryaman10, Savitr, Vivasvān11, Vibudhādhipa12, Mitra, Rājayaşkmā13, Prthvidhara.
- 11. And the eighth Apavatsa. These are to be placed all round Brahmā. The group of deities beginning with north-east is called Durga.
- 12. And that beginning with south-east is called Durdhara. These Vāstudevas—Aditi, Himavanta¹⁴, Jayanta,
- 13. Nāyikā, Kālikā, Śakra¹⁵, and Gandharvaga shall first be worshipped and then only the work of building houses and palaces should be commenced.
- 14. The image of Brhaspati¹⁶ shall be installed in front. The kitchen shall be made in the south-east with a ventilator
 - 1. The constellation Mrgasiras.
 - 2. A door-keeper.
- 3. The monkey-chief mentioned in the Ramayana. He helped Rama in his war against Ravana. (CDHM, p. 306).
- 4. One of the attendants of Siva; Puspadanta is also the name of one of the guardian elephants.
- 5. Asura generally means a demon. However, it is also the name of Rahu.
 - 6. Disease (personified).
 - 7. Reference may be to Vasuki.
 - 8. Generally means a serpent.
 - 9. The sun.
 - 10. One of the Adityas.
 - 11. The sun.
 - 12. Indra.
 - 13. The disease called consumption.
 - 14. Himālaya.
 - 15. Indra.
- 16. Brhaspati is a Regredic deity. He is also called Brahmanaspati. He is invoked as the deity of the prayers. He is as well called Purchita. In just enough to let a monkey pass through. In the east, the sacrificial altar shall be erected.

- 15. The room for storing scents and flowers shall be made in the north-east paved with slabs. The store-room shall be made in the north and the cowshed in the north-west.
- 16. The water-shed (Bath room?) having windows is to be made in the west. The room for storing sacrificial twigs, Kusa-grass, fuel, weapons, etc. shall be constructed in the south-west.
- 17. The guest-room shall be in the south. It shall be furnished with beds, seats, sandals, water pots, fire, lamps, etc. It shall be beautifully laid out and servants shall be employed to look to their comfort.
- 18. Other houses shall be made fully bedecked with flowers of five colours, plantain trees, water sheds, etc.
- 19. An outer wall shall be erected five hastas (cubits) high. Thus Visnu-Asrama shall be made with gardens and parks.
- 20. In the case of palaces, etc., the Vāstu of sixty-four feet is to be worshipped. In the middle, Brahmā occupies four feet and Aryaman, etc., are to have two feet each.
- 21. In the hypoteunse Sikhi1 etc, are the Deities. Along with them the other deities shall have two feet each.
- 22. Thus it has been explained how the deities come to occupy sixty-four feet. Caraki, Vidāri, Pūtanā² and Pāparākṣasī,
- 23. Shall be worshipped in the north-east and other corners. Hetuka and others are to be adored outside—Hetuka, Tripurānta, Agni Vetālaka, Yama,
- 24. Agnijihva, Kālaka, Karāla, and Ekapādaka. In the north-east Bhimarūpa (Terrific in appearances) is to be worshipped; in Pātāla Pretanāyaka.

later mythology he is referred to more as the preceptor of the deities than as a deity. It is also the name of the planet Jupiter. (CDHM, pp. 63-4).

- 1. Fire.
- 2. A demoness who was killed by Kṛṣṇa when he was still a child.

- 25. And in the sky Gandhamālin. Then Kṣetrapālas are to be worshipped. The length divided by the width—that number is considered to be the Rāśi¹ of the Vāstu.
- 26. Divided by eight, the remainder is called Aya. Multiply it by eight and divide by seven. (Rksabhāga).
- 27-28. Consider what remains as Rksa. Multiply this by four. Then divide by nine. What remains is Vyaya according to Devala². If it is multiplied by eight it shall be Pinda.³ Divide it by sixty.
- 29. What remains is Jiva. The quotient is Marana (death). No one shall build houses behind the Vāstu. They are to be built inside the Vāstu.
- 30. He shall sleep on his left side. No hesitation in this matter. For persons born in the zodiacal sign of Simha, Kanyā, and Tulā the main door is good if made in the north.
- 31. For the persons born of Vṛścika,7 ctc. the door is advised in the east, south and west in order. The door shall have two units of length and one unit of width. There must be eight doors at least in a house.
- 32. If the bed is slanting to the south, death due to a serpent, issuelessness and impotency may result.
- 33. If it is slanting to the south-east, imprisonment is the result, if towards north-west, birth of a son and satisfaction; if it is to the north, harassment by the king, if towards west, sickness.
- 34-35. If the door is in the north then there is fear from king, death of infants, issuelessness, enmity, wealth, loss of wealth, faults, death of son. I shall now say about the eastern doors. Fear from fire, plenty of daughters, wealth and honour,
- 36. Death of king, sickness, these are the results if the door is in the east. In the north-east, etc., let it be in the east; in the south-east, etc., let it be in the south.
- 1. The numbers or figures put down for any arithmetical operation such as adding, multiplying, etc. (SSED, p. 469).

2. There are several men of this name. One was an astronomer. (CDHM p. 85).

3. Sum, total amount in arithmetic. (SSED p. 336.)

- 4. Leo. 5. Virgo.
- 6. Libra.
- 7. Scorpio.

- 37. In the south-west, etc. let it be in the west; in the north-west, etc. let it be in the north. When divided by eight, these are the results of doors.
- 38. If Aśvattha, Plaksa, Nyagrodha and Udumbara are planted in the east and Śālmali (Silk cotton tree) in the north-east and they are worshipped, it shall be beneficent to the house and palace.

CHAPTER FORTYSEVEN

Characteristics of Palaces

Sūta said :

- 1-2. I shall now describe the characteristic features of palaces. O Saunaka, listen to it. The plot shall be divided into sixty-four squares with the quarters distinctly marked. The doors are twelve in all. Fortyeight divisions are to be set apart for walls.
- 3. The Janghā (calf), i.e. the height of the plinth, shall be equal to the length of the platform above the ground and beyond that it shall be twice that. The Śukānghri, the height of the inner vault, shall be as large as its base.
- 4. The depressions on either side shall measure a third or a fifth of the chord of the inner vault, rising upto the half of the entire height of the pinnacle.
- 5. The whole height of the pinnacle shall be divided into four parts. The super-structure is over the third part and the ornamental figure edging the entire height shall be on the fourth part.
 - 1. Ficus religiosa. (GVDB, p. 29.)
 - 2. Ficus Lacor. (GVDB, p. 264.)
 - 3. Ficus bengalensis. (GVDB, p. 356.)
 - 4. Ficus racemosa. (GVDB, p. 51.)
 - 5. Salmalia malabarica. Bombax ceiba. (GVDB, p. 397.)

I.47.20 151

6-7. Or let the Vāstu be divided into sixteen equal parts and in the middle the inner vault be constructed over four parts. Over the remaining twelve parts, the wall shall be raised with the height well-proportioned.

- 8. The height of the pinnacle is twice the height of the wall. The circular verandah shall be one-fourth of the height of the pinnacle in width.
- 9-10. The outlets on the four sides shall be equal to a fifth of the vault in breadth. The Mukhamandapa or frontal edifice (protruding promontory) shall be equal to the inner vault from above.
- Il. This is the general feature of a palace (or a temple). I shall now mention the dimensions based on the size of the idol. The pedestal shall be as large as the idol.
- 12. O Saunaka, the sanctum sanctorum shall be twice that all round. The wall shall be of the same size and the calf (the height of the plinth) shall be half of it.
- 13-14. The pinnacle is twice the calf, O Saunaka; the vault covers the entire space occupied by the pedestal; the depressions and outlets as before. This is called Linga-Māna (dimensions in accordance with the size of the idol). I shall now mention Dvāra-Māna (where the dimensions are in accordance with the size of door-frames).
- 15. Multiply the total length upto the tip of the hand (of the idol) by four; and one-eighth of the same shall be the width of the door. If one wishes, it shall be twice that also.
- 16. Upto the half, the door is as usual and above that it contains holes. A part of the door is taken by the wall.
- 17. The plinth is equal to its width (width of the door); the pinnacle is twice that; the vault shall be made, as before, as high as the outlet.
- 18-19. I have described the mandapa-mana (measurement is accordance with the platform). I shall mention another type. The space occupied by the idols shall be multiplied by twelve which gives the exterior dimensions. The inner rim shall be one fourth in area, all round the temple on the inner side.
 - 20. The sanctum sanctorum shall be twice the area of the rim. The same is the height of the wall and the pinnacle is twice.

- 21-22. I shall mention the origin and dimensions of temples. There are five types of temples: 1) Vairāja, 2) Puspa-ka, 3) Kailāsa, 4) Mālikā, 5) Trivistapa. They are the sources (models) for all other temples. The first one is square in shape; the second is rectangular.
- 23. The third is circular; the fourth is oval and the fifth is octagonal in shape. All beautiful temples are built on the model of these). They are forty-five in all.
- 24-27. Temples built on the model of Vairāja are square in shape and consist of nine sorts, viz., Meru, Mandara, Vimāna, Bhadraka, Sarvatobhadra, Rucaka, Nandana, Nandivardhana and Śrivatsa. Temples built on the model of Puspaka and rectangular in shape are nine:—Valabhi, Grharāja, Śālāgrha, Mandira, Vimāna, Brahmamandira, Bharana, Uttambha and Śibikāveśma.
- 28-30. Temples built on the model of Kailāša, circular in shape, are ninc: viz. Valaya, Dundubhi, Padma, Mahāpadma, Mukuli, Usņisi, Sankha, Kalaša and Guvāvrksa. Temples built on the model of Manikā Mālikā, oval or globular in shape, are nine:—Gaja, Vṛṣabha, Hamsa, Garuḍa, Simha, Bhūmukha, Bhūdhara, Srijaya and Pṛthividhara.
- 31-33. Temples built on the model of Trivistapa, octagonal in shape, are nine:—viz. Vajra, Cakra, Mustika, Babhru, Vakra, Svastikabhanga, Gadā, Śrivrksa and Vijaya. Mandapas¹ are made in the forms of Triangles, Lotus, Crescent, Quadrilateral and Bi-octagonal. If the mandapa is triangular, the owner shall win a kingdom; if lotus-shaped, wealth; if crescent, longevity;
- 34. Quadrilateral, birth of a son and the bi-octagonal, women and prosperity. The banner shall be fixed, Garbha-grha or sanctum sanctorum shall be made at the entrance.
- 35. Mandapas equal in number and befitting the quality shall be made. Bhadra shall be made one-fourth of the mandapa.
- 36-37. It can have windows or not. In some places the mandapas are made equal to one and a half times or twice the length of the wall. Ornamental cornices shall be made on temples,

- 38-39. With spaces of unequal length of various shapes in between and lines of different lengths. The temple Meru is the best, a base of four doors bedecked with four mandapas and a hundred pinnacles or turrets. Cupolas can be constructed over them with three Bhadras (arches).
- 40. In structure, dimensions and shapes they differ variously. There are many with bases and some with no bases.
- 41-42. Due to the difference in images too, the temples differ. Due to the difference in consecration, structure, special characteristics of the deities, etc., there are varieties of temples. With regard to deities (images) of self-origin (not man-made) there is no rule governing the construction of temples.
- 43-44. They shall be made according to the dimensions set forth above. They can be square, rectangular, or quadrilateral with long terraces, turrets, etc. In front, small mandapas shall be made for the vehicles of the deities.
- 45-46. Dance-halls (for religious dances) shall be constructed in the proximity of the main door of the temple. In the temples Dvārapālas (watch and ward) shall be installed collectively or separately. The rest-houses of those who serve in the temple are to be made a little away from the temple.
- 47. Covered hedges shall be made containing fruits and flowers and profusely watered. The devotee shall worship the deities to be installed in the temples. Vāsudeva is the god of all. Persons who build his temples enjoy everything.

CHAPTER FORTYEIGHT

Installation of idols

Sūta said :

 I shall now succinctly explain the mode of installation of the idols of deities. On an auspicious day, the preceptor shall perform the installation rites.

- 2-3. Along with five or more Rtviks (sacrificial priests) a brahmin belonging to the central region shall be chosen as the main priest in accordance with the injunctions in his branch of Veda or simply by reciting the Pranava. They must be received with the offerings of Pādya and Arghya, mudrikās, garments, unguents, flowers, sandal pastes, etc.
- 4. The preceptor shall begin the rite after performing mantra-nyāsa. A mandapa shall be made ten hastas square in front of the temple.
- 5. Some make mandapas twelve cubits square. It must have sixteen pillars. In the middle there shall be the altar four cubits square. There shall be eight flags fitted to the pillars.
- 6-7. Sand taken from the confluence of two rivers shall be strewn over the altar. The sacrificial pits shall be made of various shapes—square, segment-shaped (bow-like), circular or in the form of a lotus. Or all of them shall be square. They must be five in all.
- 8. With the preliminary Santi rite (for peaceful completion of the main task) and for the achievement of all desires, the priest shall begin the homa (ghee-offering in the fire) at the head of the image.
- 9-10. Some desire that this be performed in the northeast after scrubbing the floor and applying a coat of cowdung paste. Four main doors shall be made. For festoons, poles of Nyagrodha, Udumbara, Aśvattha, Bilva, Palāśa and Khadira tree branches, five cubits long, shall be fixed and decorated with coloured cloths and flowers.
- 11. In the four main quarters four pits shall be made each a cubit deep. In the eastern gate the figure of the lion shall be installed; that of Uccaissravas (the divine horse) in the south.
- 12. That of a bull in the west and that of divine tiger in the north. The installation of lion shall be with the Vedic mantra—Agnimile³, etc.

^{1.} Aegle marmelos. (GVDB, p. 274.)

^{2.} Butea monosperma. (GVDB, p. 241.)

^{3.} RV. 1.1.1.

- 13. The installation of the horse in the south, shall be with the mantra—Ise tvā,1 etc., the installation of the bull in the west shall be with the mantra—Agna Ayāhi2, etc.
- 14. And the installation of the celestial tiger in the north shall be with the mantra—Sanno Devi³, etc. The flag in the east is cloud-coloured, that in the south-east is smoke-coloured.
- 15. That in the south is dark in colour, that in the south-west is dark-blue a greyish flag is to be hoisted in the west; that in the north-west shall be yellow.
- 16. The flag in the north is red-coloured and that in the north-east is white. In the middle, a flag of various colours shall be hoisted. The flag in the east is called Indra-vidyā.
- 17. The flag in the south-east shall be consecrated with Samsupti mantra. The flag in the south is called Yamonaga. The flag in the west should be worshipped with the mantra—Raksohanam.4
- 18. In the north the consecration is either with the mantra-Vāta⁵ etc. or Apyāyasva⁶ etc. In the north-east too is the same. In the middle—Visnornu kam.⁷
- 19. Near every one of the gates two pots shall be placed. They shall be covered with two cloths; bedecked with sandal-paste,
- 20. And many varieties of flowers. They shall be inspired with mantras. The guardian deities of the quarters shall be worshipped in the manner laid down in the Sāstras.
- 21-22. The efficient devotee shall use these mantras for the invocation of the guardian deities:—Trātāram Indram,8 Agnirmūrdhā;9 Asmin Vṛkṣe, Itascaiva Pracārī; Kincedadhāt; A ca tvā¹⁰ Abhi tvā Deva¹¹ and Imā Rudrāya.¹²

- 23. The various articles for homa with other ancillary objects shall be placed in the north-west. As laid down in sacred scriptures, the preceptor shall cast glances on and purify the white Sankhas.
- 24. There is no doubt in this that the sacrificial articles become purified by glances. Heart and other limbs shall be assigned by Pranava with the Vyāhṛtis.
- 25. Astra-mantra is also used in all assignments as is in vogue for all rites. Raw rice grains and other materials of sacrifice shall be inspired with Astra mantra.
- 26. The preceptor shall touch all the articles together with the Yagamandapa1 with the Kusa seat inspired with Astro mantra. The rice-grains shall be scattered all around after the purificatory rite.
- 27-28. Beginning with the east and ending with northeast, the rice grains shall be scattered. Then the mandapa shall be smeared with unguents. The preceptor shall assign the mantras to the Arghya-pot as well. With the water in the Arghyapot he shall sprinkle the Yāgamandapa.
- 29. The Kalaša (pot) of the deity to be installed shall be known after it and placed in the north-east and in the south the Vardhani (water jar with spout) shall be worshipped with Astra-mantra.
- 30. Just as Kalaśa and water jar so also the planets and Vāstospati too shall be worshipped. All these shall be placed in their respective seats and the preceptor shall recite Pranava.
- 31. And worship the Kalasa with the sacred thread round it and covered with an excellent cloth and smeared with all medicinal herbs and unguents.
- 32. The deity shall be worshipped in the Kalasa along with the Vardhani and the excellent cloth. Afterwards, let him whirl the Kalasa and Vardhani (water pot with a spout).
- 33. With water dripping from the Vardhani (water-pot with a spout) he shall sprinkle and place it in front. After worshipping again the Vardhani and the Kalasa, he shall worship the deity on the altarground.

^{1.} The mandapa prepared for the sacrifice.

- 34. Removing the Kalasa to the north-west he shall worship Ganesa in the north-east with the mantra Ganānām tvā1. He shall then worship Vāstupati with the mantra Vāstospati2 for suppressing the defects in the plot. To the east of the Kalasa, oblations shall be offered to the Bhūtas (living beings) and Ganadevas.
- 35. Let him read the Vidyās and perform Alambana (splitting evidently the twigs). With the mantra Yogeyoge³, etc. he shall spread the Kuša grass.
- 36-38. The preceptor in the company of the Rtviks shall place the deity on the pedestal for bath. Vedic mantras shall be sung in chorus (Brahmaghosa) and the image shall be placed in the Brahmaratha (chariot) with the Punyāha and Jayamangala mantras. The pedestal shall be brought to the north-east and placed in the mandapa by the preceptor.
- 39. The image shall be bathed with the mantra Bhadram kamebhih etc. He shall then put the sacred thread on the image and make the entrance, bowing low from far.
- 40-4!. The collyrium for the eye shall be placed in a bell-metal or copper vessel containing honey and ghee. Reciting Agnirjyoti⁶ mantra, the eyes shall be probed with golden probing twig and collyrium shall be applied. At this time the name of the deity shall be mentioned once by the Sthāpaka (the installer).
- 42. With the verse Imam me Gange? cooling operation of the eyes shall be performed and the dust from the Ant-hill shall be applied with the mantra—Agnirm wrdh & etc.
- 43-45. With the mantra Yayñāyajñāº the Kaṣāya (deco-

These medicinal herbs—Sahadevi, Balā, Satamūlt, Satāvari, Kumāri, Gudūci, Simhi and Vyāghri shall be soaked in water and the water shall be poured over the image with the mantra Yā oṣadhi etc.

- 46. Thereafter Phala-snāna (bathing with the fruit juice) is to be formed with the mantra—Yāḥ phalini⁸ etc. Udvartana (rubbing off) shall be done with the Mantra—Drupadādivā⁹, etc.
- 47. After placing gems, cereals and the herb Satapuspikā¹⁰ in the Kalasas beginning with the one in north.
- 48-49. The waters of the four oceans of pure water, curd, milk and ghee shall be assigned in the four quarters and the Kalasas shall be inspired with the mantras Apyāyasva etc. Dadhikrāvņo¹¹ etc. Yā oṣadhiḥ, etc. and Tejosi¹², etc.
- 50. Then giving the names of the oceans to the Kalasas, the image shall be bathed. After bathing and dressing, incense with Guggulu (gumresin) shall be shown.
- 51-52. For the final Abhiseka (bathing) different Tirthas (waters from the holy rivers) shall be put in pots separately. Whatever holy river there is in the world or whatever sea, the water from those shall be kept in different pots with the Mantra Yā oṣadhi, etc. those pots shall be inspired. Whoever takes his bath with that, water is freed from all sins.
- 53. After performing the Abhiseka with Samudra-mantras, Arghya shall be offered. Sweet scents shall be offered with the Mantra—Gandhadvārām¹ etc, and Nyāsa shall be performed with Vedic mantras.

- 54. Garments shall be offered with the mantras—Yavam vastra etc., in accordance with the injunctions of the scripture. Then the idol shall be taken to the Mandapa with the Mantra-Kavihau, etc.
- 55: With the mantra—Sam bhavāya etc., the idol shall be laid on the bed. The Sakala-Niskalam rite shall be performed with the mantra—Visvalas-caksuḥ.2
- 56. Staying in the Supreme Principle (God) mantranyāsa shall be done. As laid down in one's own branch of Vedas,
- 57. The deity is then covered with a sheet of cloth and worshipped. The Naivedyas (food offerings) shall be given at the foot.
- 58. The Kalasa inspired by Pranava, and covered with two cloths, along with the money (gold coin), shall be offered at the head.
- 59. Then the preceptor shall stand near the sacrificial pit and ignite fire, with the mantras laid down in his branch or general Vedic mantras.
- 60. He shall recite the following Mantras and hymns in the east:— Śrisūkta³, Pavamāna, Vāsa, Dāsya⁴ Ajina, Vṛṣākapi⁵, Mitra and Bahvṛca.
- 61. The Adhvaryu (The priest performing the sacrifice) shall recite in the south the following:—Rudra, Puruṣasūkta^a, Ślokādhyāya (chapter of verses prayers, Brahmā and Pitṛmaitra.
- 62. The Chandoga (Vedic School shall recite in the west, Vedavrata, Vāmadevya, Jyeşthasāma, Rathantara and Bherunda-sāmans.

- 63. Atharva (scholar specially well—versed in Atharva Veda) shall recite in the north Atharvasiras (principal portion in that Veda); Kumbha-sūkta Nilarudra and Maitra.
- 64-65. The preceptor shall sprinkle the pit first with Astramantra and then bring fire in a copper-vessel or mudpot, according to his position, and place it in front. He shall ignite the fire with Astra-mantra and envelop it with Kavacamantra.
- 66. The preceptor then shall perform the Amrtikarana rite with all mantras and holding the vessel with both of his hands whirl it round the pit.
- 67-68. Put in it Tejas with the Vaişņava-mantra. With the general mantra or that laid down in his own sacred literature he shall place the Brahma in the south and Prantā (sacrificial vessels) in the north. He shall then spread the Palāša twigs along with Kuša² grass in different quarters.
- 69. Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Hara and Isāna shall be worshipped with common mantras. The fire shall be placed in the Darbha's grass. Whatever is enveloped in Darbha grass,
- 70-71. Or sprinkled with Darbha water becomes pure even without mantra. Fire enveloped by uncut Kusa grasses with their tips turned towards east, north and west, comes near of its own accord. Persons well-versed in mantras shall do everything for the protection of the fire.
- 72. Some preceptors maintain that installation of fire shall be after Jātakarman (the rite consequent to the birth of a child). Wearing Pavitra, the Ajya (ghee) shall be consecrated.
- 73. The preceptor shall see and inspire with mantras the Nirājana (waving of lights before the idol). The Ajya should be taken just enough to last till the final Ahuti is made.
- 74. For each Ahuti five drops are poured into the leaf with which the Ahuti is then made. All the rites that one has to perform from the time of Garbhādhāna (conception) to Godāna (cutting of the forelocks of a child for the first time),

- 76. A fire thus maintained is conducive to all success in all rites. After performing the worship the fire shall be transferred to the pits.
- 77. To Indra and other gods one hundred Ahutis each shall be given. At the end of hundred Ahutis the Pūrņāhuti is performed for all gods.
- 78-80. The Hotz shall assign to the Kalasa his own Ahuti. Keeping to one's side all the deities, mantras, sacrificial fire and himself the Pūrṇāhuti shall be given. After extricating himself the preceptor shall offer oblations to the guardians of the quarters, spirits, gods, and to serpents by means of due rites. Gingelly seeds and sacrificial twigs are the two essential ingreendits.
- 81. Ghee is an auxiliary. The other articles are to be given after smearing them with ghee. Puruşas ūkta is to be used in the east. Rudra in the south.
- 82. Jyeşthasāman¹, Bhirunda and Tannayāmi to the west. Nilarudra is a great mantra. Kumbhasūkta is an important part of the Atharvaveda.
- 83. Each of the Devas shall be worshipped with Havana a thousand times at the head.
- 84-85. Similarly in the middle and at the foot. Then with Pūrņāhuti, on all those spots termed 'Head' of the image, the Ahutis shall be offered. The brahmin shall offer Ahutis in honour of the gods either with the principal mantras or the mantras of his own scriptural code or with the Gāyatri or with Gāyatri, Vyāhṛti and Praṇava.
- 86. Having thus performed the rite of Homa, the preceptor shall perform mantra-nyāsa:—at the feet with Agnimile mantra, at the ankles with Işe tvā mantra.
 - 87. At the calves the assignment is with the mantra

Agna āyāhi, etc. at the knee-joint Sanno devi mantra, at the thigh Brhadrathāntara and in the belly Svātila mantra.

- 88. For longevity the assignment is made in the heart Sris ca te¹ galake, at the chest Trātāram Indram, at the eyes Triyugmaka mantra.
- 89. At the top of the head Mūrdhā bhuvo² mantra. Thereafter, he shall raise the deity by saying "O lord of Brahman! rise".
- 90. Then reciting the Vedic Punyāha mantras he shall go round the temple with the mantra Devasya tvā³ he shall split the Pindikā.
- 91. And place the images of gods, gems, minerals, medicinal herbs and loha-bijas behind the deity.
- 92. The image is not to be placed exactly in the centre of the sanctum sanctorum or far removed from it. It shall be placed slightly away from the centre. There is no attendant defect therein.
- 93. It should be brought a little to the north. "Om obeisance, obeisance, be stable, be beneficent to all people."
- 94. To the six deities he shall make assignments with the mantra—Devasya tvā savitur vaḥ and reciting—"All the principles, Varṇas, and Kalās in the god having the world as his progeny.
- 95. After assigning all the six he shall inspire them with mantras with the Sampātakalasa the installed deity shall be bathed.
- 96. With lamps, incense and scented sticks he shall worship. After performing Arghya and bowing he shall pray for forgiveness.
- 97. To the Rtviks daksinā shall be given according to the capacity and articles, such as a vessel, a pair of cloths, umbrella, good rings, etc.
- 98. The householder shall then perform the fourth Homa, with full concentration. After offering hundred Ahutis, the Pūrnāhuti shall be offered.

 - 2. Mürdha bhano RV 10. 88.6.
 - 3. VS. 1.21 (Also DC. pp. 492-4).

99. The preceptor shall then come out and offer oblations to the guardians of the quarters. With flowers in his hands he shall say "Forgive" and scatter them.

100-101. At the end of the sacrifice, the householder shall give to ācārya a grey cow, chowrie, coronet, ear-rings, umbrella, bracelet, girdle, fan, villages, garments, etc., with all subsidiary things. He shall feed lavishly. By the god's grace he shall be liberated.

CHAPTER FORTYNINE

Four Varnas and asramas

Brohmā said :

- O Vy.isa, Hari is the creator of the world, etc. He has to be worshipped by Brahma the self-created and others. He has to be duly adored by Brahmanas and others according to their own duties. Please listen to those duties.
- Six duties are assigned to the Brāhmaņa; performing sacrifices for himself, performing them for others, giving gifts, accepting them, studying and teaching others.
- 3. The common duty of Kşatriya and Vaitya is giving gifts, studying and performing yajñas. The additional duty of a Kşatriya is maintaining law and order and that of a Vaitya is agriculture.
- Service of the twice-born is the main duty of Sūdras.
 Maintenance by means of various arts and crafts and pāka-yajña¹ is also their duty.
- The special duty of a Brahmacarin is begging for alms, service to the preceptor, study, sacrificial rites and renunciation.
- 6. There are two-fold conditions in all asramas. Brahmacarin becomes Upakurvaņa or Naisthika. This Naisthika is eager to realise Brahman.
 - 1. A simple or domestic sacrifice.

- 7. After studying the Vedas if he becomes a householder he is called Upakurvāņa. The Naiṣṭhika remains a Brahmacārin till death.
- 8. O best brahmin! the duties of a house-holder are in brief the preservation of the sacred fire, hospitality to the guests; performance of sacrifices, giving gifts, and worshipping gods.
- The householder is of two kinds: Udāsina and Sādhaka.
 The householder who endeavours to maintain the house is called Sādhaka.
- 10. After repaying the three debts (to sages, to gods and to the manes) and renouncing wife and wealth, he who seeks salvation alone, is called Udāsina.
- 11. The duty of a Vanavāsin (dealer in a forest) is lying on the ground, sustenance on fruits and roots, study, austerities and sharing of whatever he gets with others.
- 12. He is the best of ascetics who performs penance in the forest, worships gods, performs sacrifices and is devoted to the study.
- 13. He is to be considered a sage stationed in vānaprastha order who is very much emaciated due to penance and is extremely devoted to meditation.
- 14. The Bhiksu (mendicant) who is engaged in yogic practices always, aspires to rise up, controls his sense-organs and strives for knowledge is called a Pārames thika.
- 15. The sage delighting in communion with the soul, ever satiated, who practises yogic exercises and moves about with sandal paste applied all over his body is called Yogin.
- 16. In a Bhikşu these are the essential characteristics: beggary, Vedic study, vow of silence, austerities, special meditation, perfect knowledge and complete detachment from worldly affairs.
- 17. The Pāramesthika is of three types:— Some renounce jāāna. Others renounce Vedic Rites. The third renounces all sorts of activities.
- 18. Yogin is of three types Bhautika, Kşatra and Antyāframin who relies on the Toga-mūrti.

19. In the first Yogin the Bhāvanā (Imagination) is primary, in the second there is Duşkara (difficult) Bhāvanā in salvation and in the third there is Pāramešvarī (Godly) Bhāvanā.

- 20-24. From virtue, salvation is produced; from wealth, love issues forth. There are two types of Vedic rites that which is pursued with knowledge is Niviti (withdrawal of sense-organs), and Praviti is the performance of fire rites and godworship. These are the common characteristics of all Asramas:—Forgiveness, self-restraint, compassion, charity, absence of greed, straight-forwardness, want of jealousy, following great religious leaders, truthfulness, contentedness, theism, control of sense-organs, worship of deities, respecting Brahmins, non-violence, pleasant speech, absence of backbiting and refraining from harshness. I shall now describe the goal of the four castes. The Brāhmanas who maintain their sacred rites attain Prājāpatya (Brahmā's) region.
- 25. The Ksatriyas who never quit the battle ground in fear attain Indra's region. The Vaisyas who strictly adhere to their duties attain the region of the Maruts (Wind gods),
- 26-27. The Sūdras who serve others attain the region of Gandharvas. The region attained by the eightyeight thousand sages who have sublimated their sensual feelings can be attained by pupils who remain continuously with their preceptors. The region of the seven divine sages is obtained by forest-dweller.
- 28. The region from which the sage never returns, the the region of Brahman, the Blissful, is for the ascetics who control their minds, who renounce and who sublimate their base passions.
- 29. The region of Yogins is Amptasthana which is imperishable either, the blissful, the divine, from which the liberated soul never returns.
- 30-31. Salvation is to be attained by the knowledge of the eight constituents [yama etc. hereinafter explained]. I shall describe them in brief. Yama (restraint) is of five sorts, i.e. 1) Ahimsā which is not injuring any living being; 2) Satya which is the narration of facts beneficent to others, 3) Asteya is not taking anything (belonging to others); 4) Brahmacarya is refraining from sexual intercourse; 5) Aparigraha is the renunciation of all possessions.

- 32. Niyama (control) are of five sorts, Satya etc. It is both external and internal. 1) Sauca (purity) 2) Satya (truth-fulness) 3) Santoşa (contentment) 4) Tapas (penance) 5) Indriyanigraha (controlling sense-organs).
- 33. Svādhyāya is mastery of mantras. Praņidhāna is worship of God Viṣṇu. Āsana is the yogic posture Padmaka, etc. Prāṇāyāma is the mastery of breath.
- 34. In Prāṇāyāma the garbha is attended with meditation and repetition of mantras. Prāṇāyāma without this is agarbha. It is again of three varieties. Inhaling is Pūraka.
- 35. Retention is Kumbhaka. Exhaling is Recaka. Laghu or the simplest is of twelve seconds duration; the higher one is of twentyfour seconds' duration.
- 36. And the best is of thirty six seconds' duration. Pratyāhāra is the withdrawal of sense-organs from the objects. Dhyāna is the meditation over the identity of the supreme soul and the individual soul. Dhāraṇā is the steadying of the mind.
- 37. Samādhi is that state where one is conscious that I am Brahman and retains it. I am the Atman, the supreme Brahman, the truth, the knowledge, the endless,
- 38. Brahman, the specific knowledge of the bliss that you are. I am Brahman, without the body, sense-organs,
- 39. And free from mind, intellect, Mahat, ego, etc. I am the Light free from the three states of wakefulness, dream and dreamless sleep.
- 40. The permanent, the pure, the intelligent, Truth, Bliss, without second. The soul within the Sun is I myself, the unsevered. A brahmana who meditates over this becomes liberated from the bondage of worldly existence.

CHAPTER FIFTY

Daily routine for the aspirant

Brahmā said :

- 1. The aspirant who undertakes the following routine daily, without break is sure to achieve enlightenment. He should wake up from bed in the fourth quarter of the night and review his progress in the way of righteousness and prosperity.
- 2-3. He should meditate upon the joyous and unageing Visnu as seated in his heart on the filament of the lotus. After conducting the necessaries by way of purging himself he should take bath in the pure waters of the river, as this act, viz. bath, absolves him of all his sins.
- 4. A morning bath should be taken without negligence. The wise proclaim that a morning bath causes fruition of one's acts both perceptible and imperceptible.
- 5. A person in sound sleep is liable to fall prey to various sorts of pollutions. He should not begin any activity without taking a bath.
- 6. A morning bath removes sins of poverty, indisposition, bad dream and evil thought. One should not entertain any doubt about it.
- 7. He should not commence any ceremonious acts without first taking bath. In the performance of the ritual such as sacrifice, or the recitation of mantras a bath is inevitable.
- 8. When he is indisposed and weak he shall take bath down the neck (without pouring water over the head) or wipe the body with a wet cloth.
- 9. Purificatory bath is of six types: 1) Brāhma 2) Agneya, 3) Vāyavya, 4) Divya, 5) Vāruņa, 6) Yaugika.
- 10. The Brāhma bath means sprinkling the body with drops of water through the holy Kusa grass simultaneously chanting the holy mantras and rubbing the body. The Agneya bath means purifying the body by smearing the divine ashes from head to foot.
- 11. Smearing the body with the dust of dried cowdung is the excellent form in bath called Vāyavya. Taking bath in the rain when there is simultaneous sunshine is called the Divya bath.

- 12. Plunging into water (of tank rivers, etc.) is called Vāruņa bath. The Yaugika bath is the meditation on the Atman by Yogic means and mental dedication.
- 13. It is known as the Atmatirtha (the holy water of the Atman) and is resorted to by philosophers. Twigs for chewing (for cleaning the teeth) are excellent if they are of any of the following trees 1) Kşiravṛkṣa (one of the four trees Nyagrodha, Udumbara, Aśvattha or Madhūka¹), 2) Mālati²,
- 14. 3) Apāmārga³, 4) Bilva⁴ 5) Karavira.⁵ He shall face the north or the east while cleaning the teeth.
- 15. After chewing, the cleansing twig shall be washed and thrown carefully in a clean place. After duly finishing the Acamana (the ritualistic drinking of water) and bath, Tarpana (offering of water chanting Vedic Mantras) shall be performed for the gods, sages and the manes.
- 16-17. After that he shall silently perform Acamana once again. Let him sprinkle his body with drops of water by means of Kuśa grass⁸ chanting the Vedic mantras, Apo hi sthä etc. along with Sāvitrī mantras⁷ and Vāruņa mantras⁸. Let him then recite the Gāyatrī mantra prefixed with the mystic syllable Om. This mantra is the mother of all Vedic mantras.
- 18-19. He shall then fix his mind on the Sun and make water-offering unto him. The Sruti (Veda) has ordained that one should sit on the Kuśa grass with mental concentration, do Prāṇāvāma (hold the breath chanting the requisite mantra) and perform Sandhyā (repetition of Vedic mantras). This Sandhyā gives birth to the universe. It is free from taints. It is beyond Māyā (Illusion and ignorance).

20. It is the sole power of Isvara (the Almighty). It has sprung from the three Tattvas (Principles). After meditating on (Sandhyā) the crimson-coloured, the white and the dark (respectively at dawn, midday and dusk), the learned man shall repeat the Gāyatri.

21. The Brahmin shall always face the east when performing Sandhyopāsanā. The person who does not perform Sandhyā is impure and unfit for any other (holy) rite.

22-24. Whatever he does he shall not reap the fruit thereof. Brahmins who have mastered the Vedas and performed the Sandhyā with single-minded concentration have attained the highest goal. He may be the best of brahmins but if he neglects Sandhyā worship and exerts himself in other religious activities he goes to hell and remains there for ten thousand years. Hence, by all means Sandhyopāsanā should be performed.

- 25-27. Verily thereby the Almighty of yogic body, is being propitiated. A scholar, pure and controlling the senses, shall repeat the Gāyatrī everyday, facing the east, the maximum number of a thousand times, or a hundred times or at least ten times. Then with various kinds of essential mantras from Rg-veda, Yajurveda and Sāmaveda he shall propitiate the rising sun. After the worship of the sun, the god of gods, the giver of great fortune,
- 28. He shall prostrate the head touching the ground. He shall then recite this mantra. "Om obeisance to Khakholka, the quiet, the cause of three-fold causes.
- 29. I am dedicating myself unto you. Obeisance to thee in the form of knowledge. Thou art the great Brahman, the waters, the brilliant lustre, the essential juice, the nectar.
- 30. Thou art the earth; the upper region; the heaven; the Onkāra; all the eternal Rudras." Reciting this excellent prayer within the heart,
- 31. Prostrations shall be made unto the sun both in the morning and at midday. Then the brahmin shall return home and perform Acamana duly.
- 32. Then let him duly kindle the sacrificial fire and offer oblations to it. The priest, his son, wife, disciple or brother, __

- 33. After being permitted, shall offer special additional offerings of oblations. A religious rite without mantras is not conducive to good results either here or hereafter.
- 34. All deities shall be bowed to and food offerings made unto them. The preceptor shall be revered and what is beneficent to him be performed.
- 35. Thereafter, the brahmin shall proceed with the study of Vedas to the extent of his ability. Let him recite words of prayer, teach his disciples, ponder over the subjects discussed and retain them in his mind.
- 36. He shall go through *Dharma-śāstras*¹ and other sacred texts, Vedas and the six *Vedāngas*² (ancillary subjects) entirely.
- 37. He shall then approach the king (or a rich man) for the sake of Yogaksema (securing and preserving) and from him he shall receive different articles for the sake of his family.
- 38. Then at midday for the sake of his ablution he shall take with him a lump of clay, flowers, dry rice grains, gingelly seeds, kuśa grass and pure dry cowdung.
- 39. He shall take bath only in rivers, or natural lakes or tanks. He shall not bathe in another man's private tank.
- 40. Without offering the five rice balls (to the manes) the bath becomes imperfect With one part of the clay lump the head shall be wiped, the portion above the navel with two parts.
- 41. The nether regions with three parts and the feet shall be wiped with six parts. The clay-lump shall be as big as a ripe Amalaka³ (Myrobalan).
- 42. So also the cow-dung. The limbs are to be smeared with it. He then shall wash it and perform Acamana. Let him then take bath with all senses fully controlled.
- 43. The smearing with clay shall be done sitting on the bank and chanting the Linga-mantras (of Visnu). The water
- 1. Dharma-śāstra actually means the code-book of conduct. This encompasses the entire Hindu law. Generally the Smṛtis, or the sacred books ascribed to Manu, Yājhavalkya, etc. come under Dharma-śāstra, (Also CDHM, p.89) also shall be infused with Linga and Vāruņa mantras of very auspicious nature.

- 44. He shall remember God Visnu at the time of bath. Verily the waters are the Lord Nārāyaṇa. Looking at the Sun that is Onkāra itself let him dip himself in water three times.
- 45. After performing an Acamana (without mantra) let him do another Acamana with this mantra, the mantra-knower that he is. [Acamana mantra]: thou movest about in the inner cavities in the living beings facing all round.
- 46. Thou art the sacrifice, the mystic syllable Vasatkāra, thou art the waters, the lustre, the juice, the nectar. Or he shall repeat Drupadā mantra three times along with the Praņava and the Vyāhṛtis (Om Bhūḥ Bhuvaḥ Svaḥ).
- 47. Or he, the scholar, can repeat the Sāvitri or the Aghamarşana mantra. Then wiping shall be done with the mantras—Āpo hi sthā, etc.
- 48. Or Idam āpaḥ pravahata¹ along with vyāhṛtis. Then the water shall be infused with the mantras—Āpo hi sthā.
- 49. Inside water, he shall silently repeat thrice the mantra-Aghamarşana or Drupadā or Sāvitrī or Tad Viṣṇoḥ paramam padam².
- 50. Or he shall repeat the Pranava frequently. He shall remember Hari, the god of gods. If Mārjana (wiping) is done with water held in the palm and the mantra recited.
- 51. Or if that water is sprinkled on the head, he becomes free from all sins. After performing Sandhyā and Ācamana he shall always remember God.
- 52. Then he shall propitiate the Sun with lifted-up Puspānjali (handful of flowers). Scattering (the flowers he shall look at the rising sun with the mantras Na hanyate.
- 53. Udu tyam, Citram devānām, Taccakşuḥ devahitam etc. Then he shall repeat the mantras Hamsaḥ sucisad specially accompanied by the Sāvitri.

- 54. And other solar mantras mentioned in the Vedas and Gāyatrī too. Afterwards, sitting on a seat of kuša grass on the eastern bank.
- 55. He shall repeat various mantras with concentrated mind and look at the sun. He shall repeat the japas with rosary of beads made of glass, abjākṣa, Rudrākṣa or Putrañjīval in the interval.
- 56. If the devotee is wearing wet cloth he shall repeat the beads standing in water.
- 57. Or if he is wearing dry cloth he shall sit on the ground in a clean place on a mat of kuśa grass. The mind shall always be concentrated. After the circular perambulation he shall prostrate on the ground.
- 58. Then he shall perform Acamana and proceed with the study of Vedas to his capacity. Then Tarpana (water offering in propitiation) shall be made to devas, sages and the manes.
- 59. The deities, etc., shall be named with Oikāra prefixed to them and Namah (obeisance) and Tarpayāmi (I propitiate) added in the end. In the water-offerings to devas and to Brahminical sages there shall be rice grains in the water [and not gingelly seeds as in regard to the manes].
- 60. The process of offering shall be in accordance with the injunctions in one's own Sūtra [the branch of scriptural code one follows].
- 61. So also offering should be made to devarsis. While offering to deities the sacred thread is worn as usual; while offering to the sages it shall be worn like a garland.
- 62. While offering to the manes, the sacred thread shall be worn to the left side. After squeezing out the water from the cloth (worn at the time of bath) he shall perform Acamana silently.
- 63-64. Then the gods shall be worshipped with their respective mantras, with flowers, leaves and water. He shall worship all favourite gods Brahma, Sankara, Sun, slayer of Madhu (Viṣṇu) and other approved deities. Hara (Siva) is pleased with devotion. Or he shall offer flowers, etc. chanting Puruşa sākta.

^{1.} Putrañjiva roxburgh GVDB, p. 252.

- 65. The deities of waters may also be worshipped well. With the mind fully concentrated he shall prostrate chanting the Pranava,
- 66. And offer the flowers separately. Without the Arādhanā (propitiation), no vedic rite becomes meritorious.
- 67. Hence there, in the beginning, middle and the end, Hari shall be meditated upon. With the mantra Tad visnoh and the Purusa sūkta,
- 68. He shall dedicate himself to Visnu of pure effulgence. Repeating the mantras he shall remain meditating on God.
- 69. Then he shall perform the five yajñas, (sacrifices) to gods, to the living beings, to the manes, to men and to the Brahman.
- 70. If he has already performed Brahma yajña¹ before Tarpaṇa, he can proceed with his study of Vedas after performing manusya yajña² (the sacrifice to men
- 71. Vaisva deva (offering of oblations in the fire before meals, intended for all deities collectively) shall be performed—it is called Devayajña. The offering to Bhūtas—living beings or spirits is to be known as Bhūtayajña.
- 72. Food offerings are made to dogs, Svapacas (degraded people; outcastes), fallen people, on the ground outside (the house) as also to the birds.
- 73. The Pitryajña is conducive to the attainment of salvation. The best man shall feed a single brahmin bearing all the manes in mind. It has to be performed every day faithfully.
- 74. Or in accordance with one's capacity, he shall take a small quantity of food and offer that with the mind fully concentrated to a brahmin who is a scholar fully conversant with the meanings and principles of Veda.
- 75. A guest shall be worshipped always. A brahmin who comes to the house and is perfect in mind, speech and actions shall be bowed to and worshipped with words of welcome.

^{1.} One of the five daily rajhas or sacrifices to be performed by a householder; teaching and reciting the Vedas. Adhyapanam brahmayajhah, Manu. 3.70.

^{2.} In practice, hospitality, reception of guests.

- 76. If a mouthful of food is given, it is called Bhiksā. A handful is equivalent to four such mouthfuls and is considered sufficient for an Atithi (guest).
- 77. The guest shall wait for as much time as is necessary for milking a cow. The householder shall duly honour according to his ability, visitors and guests.
- 78. He shall duly give alms to a mendicant who is a Brahmacārin (unmarried student). Without greed, he shall give food to those who request for it, commensurate with his ability.
- 79. He shall partake of food along with kinsmen while taking food he shall be silent and by no means shall he criticise the food served. If a brahmin takes food without performing the five yajñas,
- 80. He is definitely foolish and shall be reborn as one of the low animals. He shall practise the study of the Vedas every day, even if he is unable to perform great sacrifices.
- 81. The worship of gods destroys all sins immediately. If he does not perform the worship of god out of delusion or lethargy,
- 82. And takes food, he goes to hell or is reborn as a boar. I shall now expound the special type of impurity called Asauca. Animpure man is ever a sinner.
- 83-84. Impurity is due to contact and purity by avoiding it. When people die or a child is born, all brahmins have to observe Asauca for ten days. The duration of Asauca when a child dies before its tonsure ceremony has been celebrated, is only one night.
- 85. If a child dies before the ceremony of investiture with the sacred thread, the duration of Asauca is for three nights. For deaths thereafter the Asauca is for ten nights. A Ksatriya is freed of this impurity in twelve days; a vaisya in fifteen days,
- 86. And a Sadra in a month. An ascetic has no such impurity. If abortion or still birth takes place, the freedom from impurity is in as many nights as months. (Abortion in the third month—3 nights of Asauca; Abortion in the fifth month nights of Asauca and so on].

CHAPTER FIFTYONE

Charity

Brahmā said:

- 1-2. I shall now describe the virtue of making charitable gifts than which there is nothing better. It has been mentioned by those who know it that charitable gift means handing over riches and articles with due faith to those who deserve the same. Charity yields enjoyment in this world and salvation after death. One shall acquire wealth by justifiable means. Its fruit shall be charity as well as enjoyment.
- 3. A brahmin's usual way of earning is by teaching, presiding over sacrifices and taking Daksinās. [If that is not possible] usury, agriculture and trade (shall be resorted to). Or he can earn by activities of a ksatriya (fighting).
- 4. The charity given to deserving persons is Sāttvika (of pure quality). Charity is of four types 1) Nitya (Daily gift), (2) Naimittika (casual), (3) Kāmya (Desiring a special result) and (4) Vimala (free from dirt).
- 5. The Nityadāna is the gift of any article or cash to a Brahmin who does not do anything in return. It shall be given every day without wishing for any result thereof.
- 6. The naimittika charity is performed by all good people. Something is given to scholars for wiping off sins.
- 7. The charity given, desiring for progeny, success, prosperity or heaven is called kāmya¹ by sages who think about dharma.
- 8. The charity given to persons with the knowledge of the Brahman with a Sattvika mind, just to please God is called Vimala². It is auspicious.
- The person who gives a land of flourishing sugarcane plants or barley or wheat to a Vedic Scholar has no rebirth in the world.
 - 10. There never was nor ever shall be a charity superior to the gift of lands. By giving the gift of Vidya¹ (by teaching) to a brahmin, the donor is highly revered in the Brahmaloka.

^{1.} With desire.

^{2.} Purc.

- 11. Everyday this shall be given to a Brahmacārin with sincerity. He shall then be freed of all sins and attain Brahmaloka.
- 12. A learned person should observe fast himself on the Full-moon day in the month of Vaisākha and honour twelve brahmins with honey, gingelly seeds and ghee.
- 13. Having worshipped with fragrant incense, etc., he shall say through someone or himself, "O Dharmaraja, be pleased as you like."
- 14-16. He can have all sins, committed throughout life, wiped off immediately. The person who gives gingelly seeds placed in a deer-skin to a brahmin along with gold, honey and glee to a brahmin crosses all evils. If a person gives cooked rice seasoned with glee, and water to brahmins, after offering the same to Dharmaraja, is freed from fear. This is specially done in Vaisakha. If after observing fast (the previous day) on the Dvādasi day (12th day in the lunar fortnight) he worships Viṣṇu, the destroyer of all sins,
- 17. He becomes free from all sins. Whatever deity he may wish to propitiate,
- 18. It is necessary that he should honour brahmins with great effort and feed women and then worship the gods. A person desiring progeny shall worship Indra always.
- 19. A person desiring brahminical splendour shall worship brahmins decidedly firm in the Brahman. A man desirous of health shall worship the sun; a man wishing for riches shall worship fire.
- 20. A man eager for the fulfilment of his affairs shall worship Vindyaka. A man who yearns for enjoyment shall worship the moon, a man wishing for strength shall worship the wind-god.
- 21. A man desiring freedom from the entanglement of worldly existence shall worship Lord Hari with sincere effort; a man desiring for all sorts of things or without desire at all shall worship Lord Gadadhara² (Viṣṇu).
 - 1. Knowledge or instruction.
 - 2. One who holds the club.

- 22. A man who gives cool water (to the thirsty) attains gratification. A man who gives cooked rice shall enjoy unending happiness. A man who gives gingelly seeds shall obtain wished-for progeny. A man who makes a gift of a lamp shall get keen vision.
- 23. A man who gifts away lands gets everything worthhaving. A man who gives gold obtains longevity. A man who gives house attains excellent worlds. A man who gives silver secures comely features.
- 24. A man who gives garments attains the world of the moon. A giver of horses gets to the region of Siva. A man who gifts away oxen obtains full scale prosperity and he who gives cows reaches the solar region.
- 25. The giver of vehicles and quilts secures a good wife. He who offers protection gets prosperity. The giver of grains gets permanent happiness. The giver of knowledge of the Vedas, attains the eternal Brahman.
- 26. He who imparts knowledge to Vedic scholars is honoured in heaven. He who gives grass to cows becomes free from sins.
- 27. He who gives fuels becomes brilliant like fire. He who gives medicines to remove the sickness of a patient and furnishes him with food and ghee,
- 28-29. Becomes happy, free from sickness and lives long. By giving umbrellas and sandals he will be able to cross Asipatravana—a forest in 'he hell where plenty of plants grow with leaves having edges as sharp as sword-edge and where the sunshine is fierce. Whatever is craved for in the world, whatever lovable thing he possesses in his house.
- 30. Shall be given to a man of good quality by a man who wishes an abundant supply of the same. What is given during any of the equinoxes, in solar or lunar eclipses,
- 31-32. Or during the migration of planets from one sign of zodiac to the other, becomes never-exhausting. There is no greater virtue to any of the living beings than the virtue of giving away (articles and cash) in holy places like Prayagal etc.

^{1.} The place where the Ganga and the Yamuna meet is known as Prayaga since ancient days.

or particularly at Gaya. Giving of any gift by a person desiring non-severance from heaven is conducive to the destruction of sins.

- 33. A sinful person, who prevents the offerings made to brahmins, or in fire or at the time of sacrifices, becomes reborn as a lower animal.
- 34. A person refraining from giving food at the time of famine, when brahmins die, becomes as despicable as a slayer of Brahmins.

CHAPTER FIFTYTWO

Prāyaścitta2

Brahmā said :

- 1-2. O Brahmins, hereafter I shall expound the process of atonement for sin. There are five great sinners:—the slayer of brahmins, the drunkard, the thief, defiler of preceptor's bed, and a person associating with any of these. The deities have mentioned the slaughter of cows, etc. as Upapāpa (subsidiary sin).
- The slayer of a brahmin shall stay in a hut in the forest for twelve years. He shall observe fast, fall from a great precipice,
- Jump into fire, or drown himself into water. Or he shall cast off his body for the sake of a brahmin or a cow.
- 5. By giving food to a scholar he can wipe off the evils of the slaughter of a brahmin. A brahmin (stayer of another brahmin) becomes free from the sin by bathing at the ceremonial bath after the horse-sacrifice.
- 6-7. Or he shall give away everything he possesses to a brahmin knowing Vedas. A brahmin shall fast for three nights
- A renowned place of pilgrimage in Bihar, sacred to the Hindus and the Bauddhas alike.
 - 2. A religious act to atone for one's sin.

and take bath thrice a day in the famous confluence of River Sarasvati¹. By taking bath at the Setubandha² (at Rāmesvara³ in the south).

- 8. Or in Kapālamocana at Vārāņasī a man is freed from the sin of slaughtering a brahmin. A brahmin guilty of drinking wine shall be freed from the sin by drinking hot boiling wine,
- 9. Milk, ghee or cow's urine. A thief stealing gold is freed from that sin if he is struck by the king with a pestle.
- 10. A brahmin guilty of stealing gold shall wear bark garments and perform the expiatory atonement of a slayer of brahmin. A brahmin who passionately embraces the preceptor's wife,
- 11. Shall expiate by embracing the redhot iron statue of a woman. All persons guilty of illegitimate intercourse with the preceptor's wife, shall perform the expiatory rites of a slayer of a brahmin.
- 12. Or he shall perform Cāndrāyaṇa vow nine times [Taking fifteen mouthfuls of food on the full moon and decreasing it daily, taking nothing on the new moon day. This is a Cāndrāyaṇa Vrata. This, he shall perform nine times]. A brahmin associating with any of the four sinners mentioned above,
- 13. Shall perform the due expiatory rites for the respective sins to ward off the evil results. Or he shall perform bodily mortification and austerity for a year without fail.
- 14. He shall offer all he possesses. He shall be freed from all sins. Due performance of Cāndrāyaṇa or bodily mortification,
- 15. Or going to holy places like Gaya is destructive of sin. He shall propitiate Lord Bhava (Siva).
- 16. After feeding brahmins on the new moon day he shall be freed from all sins.
- An important river in the Rgveda, flowed between Satadrū and Yamunā but, in later times, it was lost.
- A bridge mentioned in the Rămāyaņa; constructed by Rāma to cross the sea to invade Lankā.
- 3. According to the legends, Rama worshipped the Sive lings here. Now-a-days it is a place of pilgrimage situated on the island of Pambau.
 - 4. The modern Varanasi. It was also known as Kasi.

In the dark-half of the lunar month one shall observe fast on the fourteenth day.

- 17-18. And on the next day in the morning he shall take bath in a river and offer water libations with gingelly seeds seven times saying Yamāya (to Yama, Dharmarājāya (to Dharmarāja), Mṛṭyave (to Mṛṭyu) Antakāya (to Antaka), Vaivasvatāya (to Vaivasvata: Kālāya (to Kāla) and Sarvabhūtakṣayāya (to Sarvabhūtakṣayā). He shall then be freed from all sins.
- 19. In all Vratas (sacred rites) he shall be quiescent, of controlled mind and shall observe Brahmacarya (celibacy), fast and worship of brahmins and shall lie only on the ground (not on a cot).
- 20. He shall observe fast on the sixth day in the bright half of the lunar month and on the seventh day he shall worship God Sun with mental concentration. He shall be freed from all sins.
- 21. Observing fast on the eleventh day in the bright half of the lunar month and worshipping Janārdana on the twelfth day he shall be freed from great sins.
- 22. Austerity, recital of prayers, visit to holy places and worship of gods and brahmins on the occasion of eclipses, etc. are destructive of great sins.
- 23. Even though a person is guilty of all sins, if he were to die in holy places after due performance of rites, he shall be freed from all sins.
- 24. A woman can redeem her husband guilty of slaughter of a brahmin, or any other great sin, ingratitude, etc. if she ascends the funeral pyre of her husband.
- 24. If a woman is chaste and is devotedly attached to her husband, she has no sin whatsoever here in this world or hereafter.
- 26. As it is said that Sītā, celebrated in the three worlds, wife of Rāma the son of Daśaratha, subjugated even the lord of Rākṣasas.
- 27. Persons taking a dip in the holy river "Phalgu" (in Gayā), etc., shall reap the fruit of all good actions. Thus did Lord Vispu speak to me, O sages observing due rites!
 - 1. This river flows through the town of Gaya.

CHAPTER FIFTYTHREE

Eight nidhis

Sūta said:

- 1. After hearing from Hari, Brahmā described the eight Nidhis. These nidhis or treasures belong to Kubera. In the Tāntrika system they are described as attendants on Lakṣmī]. They are Padma (Lotus), Mahāpadma, Makara, (Crocodile), Kacchapa, (Tortoise),
- 2. Mukunda, Nanda, Nila and Sakiha. These Nidhis are conducive to the flourishing of qualities Sattva, etc. I shall now describe their special characteristics.
- 3. A man bearing the marks of Padma shall be Sattvika in quality. He shall be chivalrous. He will gather together gold,
- 4. Silver, etc., and will be offering the same to gods, ascetics and sacrificial priests. A person having the marks of Mahāpadma will be liberal in giving wealth and other things to the pious.
- 5. The two nidhis Padma and Mahāpaama are Sāttvika in characteristics. A person having the marks of makara gathers together swords, arrows, javelins, etc.
- 6. He will be a donor unto well-read persons and friendly with kings. He will be wasting his wealth and his enemies will kill him in battle.
- 7. Makara and Kacchapa these two nidhis are supposed to be tāmasika in characteristics. A person having the marks of Kacchapa does not have faith in any person. He neither enjoys his wealth nor gives it to anybody.
- 8. He will keep his wealth boarded in a deep pit in the ground. He will remain a single person (without any friend). The nidhi Mukunda is rājasika in characteristics. A person having the marks thereof collects realms.
- 9. He enjoys all good things in life and distributes wealth among musicians and courtesans. A person having the marks of
- 1. Treasures of Kubera, the god of Wealth. Nidhis are said to be nine also.
 - 2. -A lute. (SSED, p. 279).
 - 3. Conch.

- Nanda both tāmasika and rājasika shall be the vital support of his family.
- 10. He will be pleased by flattery: He will have many wives. He will lose interest in old friends and contract friendship with others.
- 11. A person having the marks of the nidhi Nila shall have sāttvika splendour. He will gather together garments, grains, etc:
- 12. He has the manliness and power of three persons. He will be making mango groves, tanks, etc. The nidhi Sankha indicates selfcentredness. He spends all his wealth in his own enjoyment.
- 13. His servants and kinsmen eat wretched food and do not wear good garments. The Sankhin (one bearing the marks of Sankha) is assiduous in nourishing himself. If, ever he gives anything to anybody it shall go in vain.
- 14. When the markings of different nidhis are present the results are mixed. Lord Hari had thus expounded to Hara and others the characteristics of the nidhis. I am expounding now as Hari had expounded them previously.

CHAPTER FIFTYFOUR

Bhuvana-Kosa

- Priyavrata¹ had ten sons. They were Agnīdhra, Agnībāhu, Vapuṣmān, Dyutimān, Medhā, Medhātithi², Bhavya, Śabala, Putra,
- And Jyotişman. Of these ten, the three, viz., Medha,

- 29. Eleventh day on Thursday and Friday; twelfth day on Wednesday; thirteenth day on Friday and Tuesday; four-teenth day on Saturday.
- 30. Full Moon and new Moon on Thursday are good. The sun burns the twelfth day of the lunar fortnight [Dvādašī falling on a Sunday is burnt (dagdha)]. The moon burns the eleventh day.
- 31. Mars burns the tenth day [Dašami on Tuesday]; Budha (Mercury) (Wednesday) burns the ninth day; Jupiter (Thurs day) burns the eighth day; Bhargava (Friday) burns the seventh day.
- 32-33. The Sun's son (Saturn) burns the sixth day. During these burnt days, one shall not travel. The undertaking of long journeys shall be avoided on the first, eighth, ninth and the fourteenth days of the lunar fortnight and on Wednesdays. The sixth day when the lagna (Ascendent) is Mesa (Aries) or Karkasaka (Cancer); the eighth day with the lagna Kanyā (Virgo) or Mithuna (Gemini).
- 34. The fourth day when the Lagna is Visa (Taurus) or Kumbha (Aquaris); the twelfth day when the lagna is Makara (Capricorn) or Tula (Libra); the tenth day, when the lagna is

I.59.49

Vṛścika (Scorpio) or Sinha (Leo) and the fourteenth day when the lagna is Dhanus (Sagittarius) or Mina (Pisces).

- 35-37. Times are also dagdha (burnt) and hence inauspicious for undertaking journeys. The following conjunctions are Autpātika (harmful). They may cause death, sickness, etc.: that of the Sun (Sunday) with Visākhā, Anurādhā or Jyeşthā; that of the Moon (Monday) with Pūrvāṣāḍhā, Uttarāṣāḍhā or Śravaṇa; that of Mars (Tuesday) with Śatabhiṣak, Dhaniṣthā, or Purvabhādrapada; that of Mercury (Wednesday) with Revatī, Asvinī or Bharaṇī; that of Jupiter (Thursday) with Rohiṇi Mṛgasiras or Ārdrā; that of Venus (Friday) with Puṣya, Āsleṣā or Maghā and that of Saturn with Uttarāphālguni, Hosta or Chitrā.
- 38-39. The following conjunctions are Amptayogas (Nectarlike) and hence conducive to the fulfilment of tasks undertaken:— The sun in Mūla, the moon in Śravaṇa, Mars in Uttarabhādrapada, Mercury in Kṛttikā; Jupiter in Punarvasu; Venus in Pūrvāphālguni, and Svāti in Saturn.
- 40. Add together the letters in the names of husband and wife. Divide by three. If two is the remainder, wife is harmed; if one or zero, husband is harmed.
- 41-43. There are certain yogas (conjunctions) bringing death. All auspicious activities shall be avoided then. In Viskambha—five hours; in Sūla—seven hours; in Ganda—six hours; in Atiganda six hours; in Vyāghāta and Vajra nine hours. In Vyatipātu, Parigha and Vaidhīta the whole day.
- 44-45. The following are Siddha yogas auspicious conjunctions when all evils are destroyed the Sun and Hasta Jupiter and Pusya, Anuradhā and Mercury, Rohini and Saturn, Mrgasiras and Moon, Revati and Venus, Asvini and Mars.
- 46-47. The following are Visayogas poisonous conjunctions. Bharani with Venus; Citrā with Moon, Uttarāṣāḍhā with Mars, Dhaniṣṭhā with Mercury, Śatabhiṣak with Jupiter; Rohini with Venus and Revati with Saturn.
- 48-49. The stars auspicious for the performance of postnatal religious rites are:—Pusya, Punarvasu, Revati, Citra, Śravaṇā, Dhanisthā, Hasta, Asvini, Mṛgaśiras and Śatabhisak. The following stars are very inauspicious for journey and if journey is undertaken at that time it will result in death: Visākhā, Uttarāphālguni, Uttarāṣāḍhā, Uttarabhādrapadā, Maghā, Ārdrā, Bharaṇi, Āsleṣā and Kṛttikā.

CHAPTER SIXTY

Astrology

- 1. The dasā (duration of the period of special influence) of the Sun is for six years; that of the Moon fifteen years; that of the Mars eight years; that of Mercury seventeen years.
- That of Saturn ten years; that of the Jupiter nineteen years; that of Rahu twelve years and that of Venus twenty-one years.
- The daśā of Sun yields misery and heart-burn and destroys kings. Moon's daśā yields prosperity, happiness and sumptuous food.
- 4. The dasā of Mars is miserable. It may cause deposition from the kingdom, etc. The dasā of Mercury gives women of divine charms and flourishing kingdom with ample treasury.
- 5. The dasā of saturn destroys kingdom and yields misery to kinsmen. The dasā of Jupiter provides happiness, virtue and flourishing kingdom.
- The dasā of Rāhu causes destruction of kingdoms and produces sickness and misery. The dasā of Venus provides elephants, horses, flourishing kingdom and women.
- 7. Meşa Rāśi is the house of Mars; Vṛṣa that of Venus; Mithuna that of Mercury; Karkaṭaka that of Moon.
- 8. Simha is the house of sun. Kanya that of Mercury; Tula that of Venus; Vršcika that of Mars;
- 9. Dhanus that of Jupiter; Makara and Kumbha both of Saturn and Mina that of Jupiter. Thus I have explained the houses of the planets.

I.60.23

10. If in the month of Aşādha there are two full moons and two pūrvāṣādhās, it is called Dvirāṣādha (having two Aṣādhas). Viṣṇu sleeps in Cancer then.

- 11-13. Auspicious stars for wearing ornaments are Asvini, Revatl, Citrā and Dhanişthā. At the time of starting on a journey the following animals seen on the right are auspicious:—deer, serpent, monkey, cat, dog, boar, birds, mungoose, and mouse. Seeing a Brahmin girl, dead body, conch, bugle, earth, bamboo, woman, and a pot full of water, at the time of starting on a journey is auspicious. A jackal, a camel, a mule, etc. when seen on the left side while proceeding on a journey are auspicious.
- 14. Seeing cotton, medicine, oil, burning embers, snakes, a woman with dishevelled hair, a garland of red flowers and a nude person is inauspicious.
- 15. I shall explain the implication of Hikkā (the sound of hiccough when heard). If it is heard from the east it produces great results from the south-east—sorrow and anxiety; from the south—loss.
- 16. From the south-west—sorrow and anxiety; from the west—sumptuous feast: from the north-west —money; from the north—quarrel.
- 17. From the north-east—death. Draw the solar circle and inscribe in it the picture of the sun in the form of a man.
- 18-20. Find out the asterism on which the Sun presides (at the time of the birth of a child). Write the names of the three stars beginning with that star on the head. The next three stars shall be assigned to the mouth; assign one star to each of the shoulders, arms, and palms. Assign five stars to the heart; one to the navel; one to the genital; one to each of the knees The remaining six stars to the feet.
- 21-23 If the star at the time of birth is one of those assigned to the feet, the child dies young; if it is one of those assigned to the knees—foreign travel; one at the genital—adulterer; one at the navel—he will be satisfied with what little he gets; one at the heart—he shall be a great lord; one at the palms—a thief; one at the arms he falls from high position; one at the shoulders—very wealthy; one in the mouth—gets sumptious feast; one at the head—he gets silk-clothes,

CHAPTER SIXTYONE

Astrology

Hari said :

 When the moon is on the ascendency after the seventh day in the bright half it is always favourable. Similarly the second, fifth and ninth days are also auspicious.

Being honoured by the world like Jupiter it is considered (also like him). There are twelve Avasthas (stages) of the moon. Hear them.

- 3-6. I shall explain them as they are situated in sets of three stars beginning with Aśvini [2½ Nakṣatras for each Avasthā.] The results are:—Pravāsa (exile), Punarnaṣṭa (repeated loss), Mṛṭyu (death), Jaya (success), Hāsa (being laughed at), Kriḍā (sexual sport) Pramoda (happiness), Viṣāda (sorrow), Bhoga (enjoyment), Jvara (fever and debility), Kampa (trembling), Svastha (being at ease). If the moon is in Janma Rāṭi (the sign of zodiac at the time of birth) it gives satisfaction; in the second, absense of mental satisfaction.
- 7. In the third—royal honour, in the fourth—quarrels with others; in the fifth—acquisition of wife.
- 8. In the sixth—acquisition of wealth and grains; in the seventh—enjoyment of sexual pleasure and praise of others; in the eighth—risk of life, in the ninth—accumulation of wealth.
- 9. In the tenth—successful fulfilment of activities; in the eleventh—sure success; in the twelfth—death is certain.
- 10. Making a journey to the east during the seven stars from Kṛttikā is fruitful; journey to the south can be made during the seven stars from Maghā, making journey to the west during the six stars from Anurādhā is good.
- 11. And journey to the north during the seven stars from Dhanistha is good. The stars Aśvini, Revati, Citra, and Dhanistha are auspicious for wearing ornaments.
- 12. For the performance of marriage, journey, installation of idols, etc. the auspicious stars are Mṛgaśiras, Aśvinī, Citrā, Puṣya, Mūla and Hasta.
 - 13. Venus and Moon are auspicious when they are in the Janma Rāśī or in the second house; Moon, Mercury, Venus and Jupiter in the third house are good.

- 14. Mars, Saturn, Moon, Sun and Mercury in the fourth house are good; Venus and Jupiter in the fifth house aspected by Moon and Ketu are good.
- 15. Saturn, Sun and Mars in the sixth; Jupiter and Moon in the seventh; Mercury and Venus in the eighth are good. Jupiter in the ninth is good.
- 16. Sun, Saturn and Moon in the tenth; All the planets in the eleventh; Mercury and Venus in twelfth are beneficent.
- 17-18. The şadstaka (being in the sixth and eighth mutually) is conducive to pleasure such as :—Simha with Makara, Kanyā with Meşa, Tulā with Mīna, Kumbha with Karkataka, Dhanuş with Vṛṣabha, Mithuna with Vṛścika.

CHAPTER SIXTYTWO

Astrology

- 1. At sunrise every day the sun is in his own Rāši. Then he begins his transit to the other Rāšis (signs of zodiac). He covers six Rāšis in the day-time and six in the night.
- 2. In Mina-lagna and Meşa-lagna he spends five ghatikās each (5+24=120 minutes=2 Hrs.) In Vṛṣa-lagna and Kumbha-lagna he spends four ghaṭikās each (96 mts). In Makara-lagna and Mithuna-lagna he spends three ghaṭikās each (1 Hr.—12 mts.); In Dhanur-lagna and Karkaṭuka-lagna he spends five ghaṭikāṣ each (2 Hrs.)
- 3. In Simha and Vṛścika-lagnas he spends six ghaṭikās each (2 Hrs. 24 mts.) and in Kanyā-lagna and Tulā-lagna he spends seven ghaṭikās each (2 Hrs. 48 mts.) Thus I explained the time spent in lagnas.
- 4. Meşa and Mina lagnas have six ghaţikās; other lagnas have six or four ghaţikās. Each and every lagna is circumscribed by its own ghaţikās. [The second part is not clear.]

- 5. A woman born in Mesa-lagna becomes barren; in Vṛṣa-lagna very passionate; in Mithuna-lagna—fortunate; in Karakaṭa-lagna—a prostitute.
- 6. In Simha-lagna—she will have very few children, in Kanyā-lagna—very beautiful and comely; in Tulā-lagna—beauty and prosperity; in Vṛścika-lagna—harsh of speech.
- 7. In Dhanur-lagna—endowed with good luck; in Makara-lagna—she will marry a baseborn; in Kumbha-lagna—very few children; and in Mina-lagna—detachment from the world.
- 8. The Rasis Tula, Karkataka, Mesa and Makara are called Cara rasis (moving).
- 9. The Rāsis—Simha, Vṛṣa, Kumbha and Vṛścika are Sthira; Kanyā, Dhanus, Mīna and Mithuna are of both characteristics.
- 10. Undertaking a journey and other activities involving motion are to be in the Cara Rātis. Entering a house and other affairs involving stabilisation are to be in Sthira Rātis.
- 11. Installation of idols, marriage and other activities involving motion and stabilization are to be in Dvisvabhāva Rāšis. The first, sixth and the eleventh days of lunar fortnight are called Nandā.
- 12. The second, seventh and the twelfth are called Bhadrā; the eighth, third and the thirteenth are called Jayā.
- 13. The fourth, ninth and the fourteenth are called Riktā, they are to be avoided; the fifth, the tenth and the full moon are called Pūrņā and they are auspicious.
- 14. Mercury is called Cara (moving); Jupiter—Ksipra (quick); Sukra— Mṛdu (soft); Sun—Dhruva (fixed); Saturn—Dāruṇa (terrific); Mars—Ugra (fierce); Moon—Sama (having equanimity).
- 15. Journey should be undertaken when Cara and Ksipra planets are ascendant. Entry of house, etc. when Mrdu and Dhruva planets are ascendant; war should be undertaken when Dāruņa and Ugra planets are ascendant, if victory is wished for.
- 16. The anointing of a king and activities with fire should be performed on Monday. House-building activities can be started in the ascendancy of Soma and Tula.

- 17. When Mars is ascendant, leading an army, war, practising of weapons can be undertaken; activities involving practice for yogic or mantra-siddhis and journeys can be undertaken when Mercury is ascendant.
- 18. When Jupiter is ascendant, study, worship of gods, wearing of garments and ornaments can be undertaken; marriage, riding an elephant, contract with women can be undertaken when Venus is ascendant.
- 19. An installation of idols, entry to a house, binding elephants, etc., are auspicious when Saturn is ascendant.

CHAPTER SIXTYTHREE

Physiogonomy

- 1. I shall now describe in brief the prominent characteristic features of men and women, O Sankara. If the palms are soft like the inner portion of a lotus and do not perspire.
- 2. If the fingers are close together; if the nails are copper-coloured, if the ankles are well shaped and free from protruding nerves: if the feet are plump and shaped like the back of a tortoise—the man is bound to become a king.
- Rough and yellow-coloured nails, face lifted up with protruding nerves, feet shaped like winnowing sieves, toes dry and fleshless.
- 4. All these indicate sorrow and poverty. There is no doubt about it. The calf resembling the trunk of an elephant with sparsely grown hairs—is an excellent sign.
- 5. To those who are destined to become great men or kings each pore has a hair growing out of it. To those who are destined to become great scholars and Vedic interpreters, two hairs grow out of each pore.
- 6. To those who are destined to become poor three hairs grow out of each pore. A sickly person has knee caps devoid of flesh. A man with a small penis is destined to be rich but without issues.

- 7. A man with a stout penis shall be poor. A man having a single scrotum will be miserable. A man having scrotums of different sizes shall become lecherous. If the scrotums are of equal size he shall be a king.
- 8. A man having scrotums hanging lose will not live long. A man having badly shaped scrotum shall be poor. Men become happy if the scrotums are pale coloured and dirty in appearance.
- 9. The man passing urine with a loud noise shall suffer from poverty. Men destined to become kings pass urine steadily without noise. Those destined to enjoy pleasures have even bellies. Pot-bellied persons are penurious.
- 10. A man destined to be poor has serpentine belly. Lines indicate the age of men. A man in whose forehead three straight parallel lines are seen,
- 11. Shall be happy with children and will live upto sixty years. Two lines indicate life-expectation upto forty years.
- 12. A single line extending upto the ears indicates a short life, say upto twenty years. Three lines extending upto the ears indicate a life expectation upto a hundred years.
- 13. A man having two such lines (extending upto ears) shall live upto seventy years. If the three lines are partly distinct and partly indistinct he shall live upto sixty years.
- 14. If the number of lines decreases, twenty years shall be reduced from the previous. If the lines are broken in the middle premature death is the result.
- 15. If the figure of a trident or a broad-edged spear appears on the forehead the man shall be endowed with children and wealth and shall live upto hundred years.
- 16. If the line of longevity comes upto the centre of the middle finger and index finger the man lives upto hundred years.
- 17. The first line from the thumb is the line of knowledge. The middle line goes upto the root (bottom) of the palm. Beyond that is the line of longevity.
- 18. If that line extends upto the little finger, broken or unbroken, he shall live a hundred years.

1.64.9

- 19. O Rudra, the line on the palm indicates the longevity as also the enjoyment of pleasures. There is no doubt.
- 20. Based on the little finger if the line of life reaches upto the middle finger the man shall live upto sixty years.

CHAPTER SIXTYFOUR

Physiognomy

- The girl whose locks are curly, face circular in shape and the navel curling to the right makes the family flourish.
- She whose complexion is golden and whose hands resemble red lotus is one in a thousand women famous for chastity.
- The woman with uneven hair and rotund eyes shall be unhappy everywhere and becomes widowed soon.
- 4. A girl with a face like the full moon and shining like the rising sun, having wide eyes and lips red like the Bimba fruit shall always be happy.
- 5. If a woman has many linear marks over her body she will suffer much; a few lines like that indicate poverty; red linear marks indicate happiness in life and black lines denote slavery.
- 6. A real wife is like a minister for the personal affairs of her husband; a friend in executing his tasks; in affectionate dealings she is like his mother and in his bed she is like a courtesan to him. Such a wife is auspicious.
- 7. The woman having lines in her palm resembling a goad, a circle or a wheel marries a king and gives birth to a son.
- 8. If the sides of a woman or her breasts contain plenty of hair and if her lips are high the husband dies soon.
- 9. If the lines on the palm of a woman resemble a fortwall or the entrance, she is destined to become a queen even if she is born of a poor family.

- 10. If a woman has brown hairs curling upwards over her body, she is destined to become a slave even if she is born a princess.
- 11. If the little finger and the thumb of a woman placed on the ground do not rest there, she is destined to be a widow and a woman of ill-repute.
- 12. A woman, who shakes the ground as she treads, kills her husband quickly and lives like a mleccha woman.
- 13. Smooth oily eyes indicate happy married life; oily teeth denote pleasure of food; oily skin indicates sexual pleasure and oily foot denotes possession of conveyances.
- 14. If the feet are beautiful and raised up with coppercoloured nails; if the soles have the lines resembling fish, goad and lotus, wheel and ploughshare.
- 15. And they do not perspire, the woman leads a happy life. The calves shall be free from hair, the thighs shall resemble the elephant's trunk.
- 16. The vagina shall be broad like the leaf of an Asvattha tree, the navel shall be deep curling to the right, the three curls of hair curling to the right, the chest and breasts shall be free from hair. These are all auspicious signs.

CHAPTER SIXTYFIVE

Physiognomy

Hari said :

- I shall now describe the auspicious characteristics of men and women as narrated by Samudra¹ (the sage who originally propounded this) by knowing which one can understand the past and future without difficulty.
- If the feet rarely perspire, have the soles as soft as the inner surface of a lotus, the toes adjoin one another, nails are copper-coloured, have sufficient warmth, are free from protruding nerves,
- 1. A legendary personality said to be the originator of samudrika sastra (palmistry).

- 3. The instep is arched like the back of a tortoise, the ankles are concealed, and the heels are fine, the man is destined to be a king. If the feet are flat and spreading like a winnowing fan, harsh of surface, uneven, have many protruding nerves,
- 4. Dry, the nails are greyish and the toes are detached too much, the man is destined to be poor. If the feet have the ridges lifted up, the man is destined to be a wanderer; if the feet are reddish brown,
- 5. The man brings about split in the family; if they are dart-like the man may slay even a brahmin. If both the calves are of equal length and have soft sparsely grown hair,
- 6. The thighs are like the trunk of an elephant and the knees are fleshy and even, the man is destined to be a king.
- 7. If the calves are like those of a fox and there is only a single hair growing from each pore the man is destined to be poor. If there are two hairs growing from each pore the man is destined to be a king or a great scholar and very prosperous.
- 8. If there are three or more hairs growing from each pore the man is destined to be poor, miserable and despised. Persons with curly hair are likely to die in exile.
- 9. If the knee has no flesh at all he will be lucky; if there is a little of flesh and that is depressed he is loved by women; if the knee is deformed, the man becomes poor and if it is plump and fleshy he will win a kingdom.
- 10. Great men say that a man with a short penis lives long and becomes rich; the man with a stout penis has no son and will be devoid of wealth.
- 11. If the penis is slanting to the left the man shall be devoid of sons and wealthy; if it is a bit curved he shall have sons; if it is depressed below, he will be poor.
- 12. If the penis is small, the man will not beget sons; if it has protruding nerves he shall be happy; if the bulb of the penis is stout, he will be blessed with sons, etc.
- 13. If the scrotum is well-hidden he becomes a king; if it is long and curved he is devoid of wealth; a man with a short penis will be strong and spirited in fight.
- 14. A man with a single scrotum is weak; if the two scrotums are unequal in size, he will be running after girls; if the scrotums are of equal size, he shall be a king; if the scrotums hang loose, he will live hundred years.

- 15. If the scrotums are lifted up the man shall be longlived; if they are rough the man becomes a lord; if they are grey the man is poor; if they are dirty in appearance, the man enjoys happiness.
- 16. If the urine comes out noisily and silently by turns, the man becomes poor; if the urine comes out evenly, or in two. three, four, five or six spurts
- 17. Or if the urine comes out curling to the right, the man becomes a king; If the urine comes out in scattered drops, he is poor; if it comes out in a single continous flow, it indicates happiness.
- 18. Persons passing urine in a single flow will enjoy women, persons having high, equal and oily scrotum will possess good women and riches; persons with scrotum depressed in the middle will beget daughters.
- 19. If the semen is very dry the man is destined to be poor and miserable; if the semen is fragrant like flowers, the man becomes a king; if the semen has the smell of honey the man will have plenty of wealth.
- 20. If the semen has the smell of fish the man begets sons; if the semen has no smell the man begets daughters; if the semen has the smell of meat the man will enjoy sexual pleasure: if the semen smells of ichor the man becomes a performer of sacrifices.
- 21. If the semen emits a salty smell the man is destined to be poor. A man who finishes coitus quickly, enjoys longevity; a man of prolonged coitus is short-lived; a man with stout buttocks is destined to be poor.
- 22. A man with fleshy buttocks is ever happy; a person with a lion's buttocks is destined to be a king. Similarly, if the hips are leonine the man becomes a king; a man with monkey-like hips is destined to be poor.
- 23. Persons with serpentine, pan-like or pot-like bellies are destined to be poor. Persons with broad sides are rich and those with depressed sides reddish in hue are poor.
- 24. Persons having arm-pits of equal size enjoy various objects of life; those with too depressed armpits are destined to be poor; those of elevated arm-pits become kings and those of unequal armpits are crooked in character.

- 25. Persons having fishlike bellies are destined to be wealthy; those with large and capacious navel are destined to be happy; if the navel is depressed the man will lead a miserable life.
- 26. If the navel is within a curly wrinkle, the man will suffer much; if the wrinkle is curling to the left, the man will achieve something; if to the right he will be intelligent.
- 27. If the wrinkle is long and spreads on either side, the man shall be longlived; if it is above the ground, the man is destined to be wealthy; if it goes downwards, the man will possess cows; if it has the shape of the pericarp of a lotus he shall become a king.
- 28. A man with a single wrinkle lives for hundred years; with two wrinkles enjoys prosperity; with three wrinkles he becomes a king or a preceptor; if the wrinkles are straight he enjoys happiness.
- 29. If the wrinkles are awry he will have illicit union with women of base character. If the sides are fleshy, soft and of equal size with curly locks of hair turning right, the man is destined to be a king.
- 30. If otherwise, he will be a slave to others, devoid of wealth and happiness. If the nipples are not protruding up, men become lucky.
- 31. If they are uneven or long or yellow in hue, they are destined to be poor. If the chest is stout and fleshy, of even height and unmoving.
- 32. He is destined to be a king; if full of hard hair and protruding nerves, the man is destined to be base. If both the sides of the chest are equal, stout and firm, the man becomes rich.
- 33. If of unequal size, he becomes poor and is doomed to die by means of a weapon. If the clavicle is rugged or inter-woven by bones, the man is destined to be poor.
- 34. If it is raised up, the man will enjoy life; if it is depressed the man becomes poor; if it is thick he becomes rich. If the neck is thin and flat the man is poor; if the throat is dry and nerves protrude, the man becomes happy.

- 35. If a man is buffalo-necked, he is destined to be a warrior; if he has the neck of a deer, he masters sacred literature. A man with a conch-like neck becomes a king and he with a long neck becomes a glutton.
- 36. A back devoid of hair and not stooping indicates auspiciousness; otherwise it is inauspicious. The armpit shaped like the leaf of the Asvattha (Holy fig) tree emitting sweet smell and having hair like those of a deer is an excellent sign.
- 37-38. Otherwise it indicates poverty. Plump, curling a little, and well joined hands are good. Well-rounded thick and long coming upto the knees indicate royalty. In poor people the hands are short and covered with hair. Good hands resemble the trunk of an elephant.
- 39. Fingers having ventilators are auspicious. Those of an intelligent person are short; those of servants are flat.
- 40. If the fingers are stout, the man is bound to be poor; if the fingers are very lean the man is sure to be humble. Persons with hands resembling those of a monkey are poor; with hands like those of a tiger are strong.
- 41. If the palm is depressed the ancestral property is doomed to be destroyed. If the wrists are well hidden and well knit, emitting sweet smell, the man is destined to be,
- 42. A king; persons destined to be poor have wrists that are noisy on being twisted. Persons destined to be rich have wrists depressed and well covered (with flesh).
- 43. If they are streched the man pays taxes always; if the wrists are unequal they are not good indications. If the palms and hands have the colour of the lac (red), the man is bound to be a lord.
- 44. If they are yellow, he is sure to be an adulterer; if they are rough he will be poor. If the nails resemble husks, the man is sure to be impotent, if the nails are split, he is bound to be crooked.
- 45. With nails of stunted growth, he is sure to be indigent; if the nails are pale the man is bound to be fond of verbal disputes. If the thumb has lines in the form of a barley grain and is copper-coloured he is destined to be a king.
- 46. If the marks of barley grain are at the root of the thumb, be will beget sons; if the joints of the fingers are well apart he will enjoy longevity and will be fortunate; if the fingers stand apart he will be indigent.

- 47. If they are close together he will be rich. If three lines start from the wrist and go up to the palm he will become a king.
- 48. If pictures of a yoke or a fish are formed by the lines in the palm, the man will perform sacrifices; lines resembling thunderbolt indicate wealth; those like the tail of a fish indicate scholarship.
- 49. Lines resembling Sankha, umbrella, tent, elephant or lotus indicate royal glory; those resembling pot, goad, banner or lotus stalk indicate affluence.
- 50. Lines resembling rope indicate possession of cows and cattle; those like the Svastika indicate royalty and lordship and lines in the shape of a wheel, sword iron club, bow or lance indicate royalty.
- 51. Lines in the shape of a mortar indicate performance of sacrifices; those resembling altar indicate the performance of Agnihotra; lines in the form of tank, temple or a triangle indicate virtuousness.
- 52. Lines at the foot of the thumb foretell happiness and birth of sons, small ones indicate wives. One starting from the foot of the little finger and going upto the index finger,
- 53. Indicates longevity for a hundred years; if it is broken in the middle the man over-comes danger. Having many lines indicates poverty. If the chin is thin the man becomes devoid of possessions.
- 54. If the chin is fleshy and plump the man becomes wealthy. If the lips are red the man becomes a king. The lips of a king resemble the Bimba³ fruit. If the lips are split, rough,
- 55. And uneven, the man becomes poor. Oily (smooth and shining) adjoining teeth are auspicious. Sharp teeth of equal size are good; tongue reddish in colour is auspicious.
- Maintenance of the sacred fire and offering oblations to it. SSED
 p. 4.

2. Variant : chinnayd taruto bhayam.

^{5.} The same as Coccinia indica, (GVDB p. 274)

- 56. A long and fine tongue is also auspicious. A white palate indicates destruction of riches. If the palate is rough and dark in colour and if the mouth is finely shaped,
- 57-58. It indicates royalty; the opposite indicates misery. A round face indicates prosperity; if it is of a lady she will beget a son; a long face indicates poverty, misfortune and great sorrow. A square face indicates that he is a coward, sinner and a rogue.
- 59-60. A depressed face indicates issuelessness; a short face indicates miserliness. Persons with shining moustache enjoy all luxuries; smooth soft thickly grown moustache is auspicious, if its tip is not broken. A man with a reddish moustache is a thief. Persons with slightly red rough moustache may be like Kama¹ (very liberal) but may have tragic sinful death.
- 61. If the ears are flat and less fleshy he will enjoy all luxuries; misers will have short ears; kings will have spear-shaped ears; ears covered with hair indicate shortage of the span of life.
- 62. Persons with big ears become kings or rich men; ears smooth, hanging down, fleshy and not firm indicate royalty.
- 63. A man with depressed cheeks enjoys all luxuries; well-formed plump cheeks indicate that the man will become a minister. A man with nose like that of a parrot is happy, a man of dry nose lives long.
- 64. A person with a nasal edge looking as if chiselled and deep nostrils will have intercourse with unworthy women. Good luck is indicated by a long nose. A thief has a curved nose.
- 65. Flat nose indicates death and misfortune; a long straight nose with small nostrils and well defined curvature at the tip indicates royalty.
- 66. The nose bent towards the right indicates cruelty. A sudden spasm of sneeze indicates strength; if it is continual it indicates delight and if resonant it indicates long life.
- The well known character of the Mahabharata. He was born to Kunti before she was married to Pandu: Indra, disguised as a brahmana, begged for his armour which he readily gave it to him. Hence he is known as a great donor.

- 67. If the eyes resemble petals of a lotus and are a little curved at the corners the men will be happy; A sinner has cat-like eyes and a wicked man has eyes tawny like honey.
- 68. Squint-eyed persons are ruthless; green-eyed men are sinful; valorous persons have oblique dim eyes and commanders of armies have eyes like those of an elephant.
- 69. Lordly persons have grave eyes, ministers have thick fleshy eyes; scholars have eyes like the blue lotus; good fortune is indicated by dark eyes.
- 70. Dark pupils and pupils protruding out and round eyes indicate a sinner, persons destined to be poor will have pitiable eyes.
- 71. Oily smooth skin indicates vast enjoyment of luxuries. If the navel is elevated the man is short-lived. Persons having wide elevated eyebrows are happy; persons with uneven eyebrows are indigent.
- 72. Long unattached eyebrows indicate wealth, beautiful crescent-shaped eyebrows indicate richness; persons with broken eye-brows and with those depressed in the middle,
- 73. Are devoted to unworthy women and become devoid of children and wealth. If the forehead is high, wide conchlike and rugged,
- 74. The man becomes poor and those with crescent shaped foreheads become wealthy. Persons with foreheads wide like oystershells become preceptors: those with sinewy foreheads are sinful.
- 75. Persons with high foreheads with Svastika-shaped sinews become rich. Persons with depressed foreheads are fond of cruel deeds and deserve imprisonment.
- 76. Persons with foreheads covered (by hair on the head) are misers; high foreheads indicate royalty. Tearless gentle cry without piteous toes is auspicious.
- 77. Shrill cry with profuse perspiration is inauspicious. Untrembling mild laughter is excellent; laughter with the eyes closed indicates sin.
- 78. Frequent laughter indicates defect and the onset of madness. Three lines along the forehead indicate longevity upto hundred years.
 - 1. The second part is not very clear.

- 79. If there are four lines, the man will become a king and live upto ninety-five years. If there is no line on the fore-head, the man lives upto ninety years. If the lines are broken, the man will be guilty of sodomy.
- 80. If the lines reach the hair on the head, the man lives upto eighty years. If there are five, six, seven or more lines, the span of life is fifty years.
- 81. If there are curved lines, the man lives upto forty years; if the lines go to the eyebrows the span of life is thirty years; if the lines are curved towards the left the span of life is for twenty years; if the lines are short the man is short-lived.
- 82. If the head is umbrella-shaped, the man becomes rich or a king. A flat head indicates father's death; a circular head indicates richness.
- 83. A man having a pot-like head takes delight in sinful activities and is devoid of wealth. Black smooth slightly curled hairs.
- 84. Not too thickly grown with the ends, not snapped indicate royalty. Hairs having many roots, uneven in length, with gross tips, tawny-coloured,
- 85. Thickly grown, bent down, dark-blue in colour, indicate poverty. Whatever may be the limb, if it is very rough, sinewy and lacks in flesh,
- 86. It is a very inauspicious sign; otherwise it is auspicious. Persons destined to be kings have three which shall be wide, grave and long; five which are very fine; six which shall be high; four which shall be short,
- 87. Four which shall be red and seven which shall be even. Navel, voice and understanding—these shall be deep and grave.
- 88. Forehead, face and chest—these three shall be wide for a man. Eyes, sides, teeth, nose, mouth and back of the neck—these six shall be elevated.
- 89. Calves, neck, penis and back—these four shall be short. The hand, palate, lips and nails—these four shall be red.

1.65.102

90. The corners of the eyes, feet, tongue and lips shall be short. There are five which shall be fine—teeth, knots of fingers, nail, hair and skin.

- 91. There shall be long—the space between the nipples, hands, teeth, eyes and nose. I have mentioned the characteristic signs of men. I shall now describe those of women.
- 92. The queen's feet are smooth and even, the soles and nails are red; the toes are adjoining one another, the tips are raised; he who marries her shall surely be a king.
- 93. The heels shall be well hidden and plump. The soles shall have the lustre of lotus; they shall rarely perspire, are smooth and contain the lines of fish, goad or banner.
- 94. Thunderbolt, lotus and ploughshare—these signs indicate that a woman is destined to be a queen; otherwise not. The calves are devoid of hair, well-rounded and devoid of sinews—these are auspicious.
- 95. The joints shall not be manifestly clear and the knees are even. The thighs resemble the trunk of an elephant and are devoid of hair.
- 96. The vagina is of the shape of the figleaf and is very wide. Loins, forehead and thigh shall be high and arched like the back of a tortoise.
- 97-98. The clitoris shall be hidden. The hips shall be big and heavy. All the above limbs shall be large. The navel shall be fleshy, and curling to the right. The middle portion shall be bedecked by three circular wrinkles. The breasts shall be equally developed, devoid of hair and well-grown and firm.
- 99. The neck shall be firm, overgrown with hair soft and resembling conch. Red lips are auspicious; so also a circular fleshy plump face,
- 100. Teeth like the Kunda-flower (white) and a sweet voice like that of a cuckoo. Simplicity and consideration for others and absence of stubbornness in the speech pleasant to hear like that of a swan.
- 101. And a nose beautiful in appearance with symmetrical curves at the tip—all these are auspicious in women. The eyes shall be like the blue lotus close to the nose.
- 102. The brows should not be very thick. They must resemble the crescent moon. The forehead shall not be high.

It should resemble the semi-circular moon and be devoid of hairs.

- 103. The ears shall not be fleshy. They must be smooth and of equal size. The hair shall be glossy, dark-blue and soft and slightly curling.
- 104. Symmetrical well-formed head is auspicious for women. The following marks should be present either in the palm or soles—horse, elephant, Śrivṛkṣa (the Sacred fig tree), sacrificial pole, arrow, barley grain, iron club.
- 105. Banner, Chowri¹, garland, a mount, earring, altar, Saikha, umbrella, lotus, fish, Svastika, a good chariot,
- 106. Goad etc. Women with these signs shall become consorts of princes. The wrists shall be well-formed and well-hidden (by flesh), the hands shall be soft like the inner part of a lotus.
- 107. The palms shall neither be depressed nor elevated. Linear marks (as hereinafter mentioned) shall indicate continued matrimonial bliss in women. The line starting from the wrist and going upto the middle finger
- 108. Or in the palm or in the upper part of the instep is auspicious. The husband shall be very happy and even win a kingdom.
- 109. The line arising from the foot of the little finger shall make her live upto hundred years. If there is a line between the index finger and the middle finger it indicates chastity in women.
- 110. The line from the foot of the thumb, if short, makes the woman short-lived; if long, blesses the woman with sons; if faded the woman shall be proud.
- 111. If that line is broken in many places the woman is shortlived; if it is long and unbroken the woman enjoys long-evity; all auspicious marks of woman have been mentioned; contrary signs are inauspicious.
- 112. If the palm is placed on the ground and the little finger and the ring finger do not touch the ground, she is
- Bushy tail of Cămara (Bos Grunniens) used as a fly-flap or fan, and reckoned as one of the insignia of royalty. SSED p. 206.

I.65.121 217

surely a whore. If the thumb goes beyond the root of the index finger that too is inauspicious similarly.

- 113. If the calves are elevated or have protruding sinews and are hairy and fleshy; if the belly resembles a pot.
- 114. And the private parts are curved to the left and a bit depressed the woman becomes unhappy. If the neck is short it indicates poverty; if it is very long—destruction of the family.
- 115. If it is very stout the woman becomes very fierce, there is no doubt about this. Squint in the eyes, dark blue or tawny in the eyes, roving eyes—these indicate absence of chastity.
- 116. If when she smiles two dimples are seen in the cheeks, she is surely one adultress. If the forehead hangs down the woman kills her brother-in-law.
- 117. If the belly hangs down she kills her father-in-law; and if the buttocks hang down, she kills her husband. A moustache-like growth of hair above the upper lip is inauspicious for the husband.
- 118. Hairy breasts are inauspicious and uneven ears too are inauspicious. Sharp and uneven teeth indicate misery.
- 119. If the gum is dark blue, she is a thief, if the teeth are long, she will bring about the death of her husband. If the hands resemble those of Rākṣasas, wolves or crows,
- 120. If they are sinewy, uneven and dry (wrinkled), the woman becomes poor. An elevated upper lip indicates quarrelsome nature and harshness in speech.
- 121. These defects are very great in ugly women. If there is beauty some of these defects can be ignored. I have mentioned the characteristics of men and women. Now I shall mention something informative.

CHAPTER SIXTYSIX

Astrology

Hari said :

- 1. An image without characteristic marks is better than worshipping one with circular signs thereon. The first image is Sudarsana; The next one is Lakşmi Nārāyaṇa.
- 2. The image of Acyuta has three Cakras; Caturbhuja (four armed) image has four Cakras; the fifth, sixth and the seventh are Vāsudeva, Pradyumna and Sankarşana.
- 3. Puruşottama is the eighth. Then Navavyūha and Dašātmaka. The eleventh is Aniruddha and Dvādašātmaka is the twelfth.
- 4. Beyond that is Ananta. These characteristics are the number of lines in the Cakra in order. If these Sudarsanas are duly worshipped they give all desires.
- 5. Where there is Sālagrāma stone, there Lord of Dvāravati (Viṣṇu) is also present. The coexistence of these two is conducive to salvation.

23. The names of Mṛtyuñjaya (Śiva), Gaṇa and Lakṣmi shall be written with Gorocanā (yellow pigment) on the Bhūrjāl leaf. This shall be worn round the neck or on the arm. It yields success.

CHAPTER SIXTYSEVEN

Svarodaya or Pavana-vijaya

Sūta said :

- 1. After hearing it from Hari, Hara told Gauri the knowledge of planets, etc. stationed in the body.
- The planets Mars, Sun, Earth and the gods fire, Sauri and water god and Rihu—all these permeate the body of a man through the vital airs and manifest through the pores on the right side.
- 3. Jupiter, Venus, Mercury and the Moon are stationed in the middle of the left Nādi's (nerves)
- 4. When the Cāra or movement is through the Nādi Idā auspicious actions shall be initiated such as occupying a resort, meditation, trade, visit to a king, etc.
- 5. When the right Nadi functions Sani (Saturn), Mars, and Rahu reign supreme.
- And at that time inauspicious actions are started.
 Finding out the auspicious and the inauspicious is based on the Svarodaya.
- 7-8. The Nādis or nerves functioning in the body are numerous and are of various forms. From the nerve-ganglion beneath the navel seventy-two thousand nerve-shoots come out and are coiled in the middle of the umbilicus. They carry the very vital existence of man.
- 9. Of them the one on the left, the one on the right and the one in the middle—these three are important. The one in the left is presided over by the moon and the one in the right resembles the sun.
 - 1. Betula attilis GVDB, p. 287.

- 10. The middle one is fire itself and is a great agent of destruction. The left one is nectar itself and saves the whole world.
- 11. The nerve on the right with the essence of Rudra dries up the whole world. If both the Nādis function death will result, all activities will be destroyed.
- 12. Activities involving going out are influenced by the left one and those involving entry are influenced by the one in the right. When the Idā or the left nerve presided over by Mercury, the moon and the sun is permeated by the Vital Air all auspicious activities are undertaken.
- 13. Cruel deeds are done when the vital air permeates the Pingalā or the right nerve. In journeys, big undertakings, removal of poison, etc. Idā is preferable.
- 14. In dinner, coitus, battle, etc Pingalā is fruitful. In acts of ostracism, killing and other activities Pingalā is to be used.
- In cohabitation, battle and dinner Pingalā is beneficent. In auspicious actions, journeys, poison undertakings,
- 16. Achievement of peace, salvation, etc. Idā should be followed by kings. If both the nerves function simultaneously both ruthless and gentle actions are avoided.
- 17. It shall be considered Visuva the equinox. A cautious man shall remember this. In gentle and auspicious activities in undertakings of profit and success in life,
- 18-19. In shifting, etc. the left nerve is always favoured. In war, etc., dinner, killing and sexual intercourse with women, the right nerve is good. In entries and minor activities too this is favoured. If one were to ask about auspicious and the inauspicious actions, profit and loss, success and failure, life and death,
- 20. The answer will not be correct, if the middle nādi is predominant. If the enquirer asks when the leader is in the cāra of the left or the right nerve,
- 21. There is no doubt about the siddhi (achievement). When the nādīs Vaicchanda or Vāmadeva flow in the body,

- 22. The siddhi is fruitless. If the Siva nadi flows either into the left or into the right,
- 23. The ruthless actions are fulfilled if the nādi is terrific and the results are neither good nor bad if it is gentle. If the Hamsa nādi proceeds partially through the two nādis it is called svaravāhini.
- 24-25. A yogin who is an expert in yoga shall understand that death will take place then. If the enquirer stands to the left and asks, the rise of the wind is from the left. If to the right, the rise of the wind is from the right. The left side is excellent if the enquiry is frontal and the right side is excellent if the enquiry is from behind.
- 26. When from the left, it is called Vāmā; when from the right, Dakṣiṇā. Vāmā is auspicious at left, Dakṣiṇā at right.
- 27. A life sustains itself by Jupiter. If any thing is devoid of its influence it is called Svara. If good signs of victory, etc. are aimed at,
- 28. They can be achieved in the Pürnanādī without exception. With respect to other nādīs three alternatives are possible.
- 29. If the enquiry is on the sixth day or a pūrnātithi of the lunar fortnight the first man will be victorious. If it is on a riktā-tithi, the second man will be victorious. This can be mentioned unhesitatingly.
- 30. The wind on par with the movement of the left nerve yields success in actions. If it begins to blow along the path to the right, which is uneven, it brings about uneven result.
- 31. If it blows elsewhere to the left, it brings about uneven result. Then the warrior who is in the middle of the battlefield, becomes victorious.
- 32. In the movement of the wind to the right if it results in even results then there is no doubt it can be traced to the middle of the nadī.
- 33. If the vital air permeates Pingala, he shall be victorious in the war that is to be tranquilised. If the movement is as long as the rise of the nadi, it shall be taken so far as that direction.
 - 34. He will not be competent to give. No hesitation is to be felt here. In the middle of a battle, where the nadī flows continuously,

1.67.43

- 35. That party shall be victorious. If it is void he can point out defeat. If the cara (movement) has taken place success can be known; if it is extinct he can be pointed out as dead.
- 36-37. He who knows victory and defeat is a real scholar. To the right or to the left wherever the nadi moves, stepping in that direction one obtains benefit. His journey is always auspicious. A battle shall be fought when the nadi presided over by the sun and the moon flows.
- 38. If the person therein enquires, he shall be surely successful. Where the wind blows there success is sure,
- 39. Even if Indra were to stand opposite. The ten nadīs Meșī, etc. are situated on the left and right.
- 40. If they are situated on a Cara (mobile) path they are also Cara. If they are situated on a Sthira (fixed) path they are also Sthira. If it comes out the nadi too comes out. If it is squeezed in, the nadi too is squeezed in.
- 41. After hearing the words of the enquirer, the diviner shall point out by means of the shape of the bell. O Gauri, the five elements too are situated either to the left or to the right.
- 42. The fire element is above; the water element is below; the wind element is sideways; the earth element is to be known stationed in the middle; the ether element is everywhere and always.
- 43. If (the nadi) goes up, death is the result; if it is below—peace; if it is sideways—the scholar shall avoid it; if it is in the middle—it shall be understood as a stunning situation; if it goes everywhere there is salvation always.

CHAPTER SIXTYEIGHT

On the test of gems-Diamond

Sata said :

- 1. I shall now expound the process of testing gems. There was a demon Bala. He conquered Indra and other gods. They could not reconquer him.
- Under the pretext of choosing a boon the gods requested Bala to be the animal at sacrifice, and he conceded their request. Though very powerful, he was killed as the sacrificial animal.
- 3-4. Since he was bound by his pledged words, he had suffered himself to be tied to the sacrificial column. For the benefit of the world and for doing good unto the gods his limbs became seeds of gems. This was due to his meritorious deeds as he was pure with Sāttvika virtues.
- A great tussle took place among gods, yakşas, siddhas and serpents over the seeds of gems.
- 6-8. When they were speeding in their aerial chariots in the sky here and there the seeds fell in the oceans, rivers, mountains or jungles. Wherever the seed fell, those places became the storehouses of gems. On account of their intrinsic merit some of them imbibed the power of quelling obstacles accruing from the influence of demons, poison, serpents and sickness, and others were devoid of any quality.
- 9-10. These are the different kinds of gems:—Vajra (diamond); Muktā (pearl), Mani (gems), Padmarāga (ruby) Marakata (Emerald), Indrantla (sapphire) Vaidūrya (Lapis Lazuli), Pusparāga (Topaz), Karketana (?) Pulaka, Rudhira (Blood red stone), Sphatika (crystal) and Vidruma (coral). Persons who know gems have classified them thus.
- 11. First the shape and the colour are to be tested; then its merits and defects are to be understood; its influence must then be known; after consultation with experts in gems who have studied technical literature on them the price shall be decided on.
- 12. Gems bought or first used in a bad lagna or inauspicious day become defective and lose even their merits.

- 13. Collection or wearing of only well-tested gems should be undertaken by a king who wishes for prosperity.
- 14. Only those who have studied the technical literature concerning them, and who habitually deal in them can be deemed to be the proper persons to know the price and quality of gems.
- 15. Experts have spoken of diamond as highly influential, hence our description also starts with a detailed description of diamond.
- 16. Indra wielding thunderbolt while moving about dropped little particles of bones from his weapon. These particles acquired various shapes in the various places as they fell.
- 17. Diamond is found in eight different places. They are: -Himālayas, Mātanga¹ territory Saurāstra, Paundra², Kaļinga, Kosalu³, Sauvira⁴ and the banks of the river Venvā⁵
- 18. Diamonds found in the Himālayan region are slightly copper-coloured; those found on the banks of the river Venvā have the lustre of the moon; those from Sauvira land resemble blue lotus and cloud; diamonds found in Saurāştra are light copper-coloured; those from Kalinga have the brilliant colour of gold; diamonds from Kosala are deep yellow in colour; diamonds from the Pundra territory are dark-blue and the diamonds found in Mātanga land are not too deep yellow in colour.
- 19. Really the deities will grace it with their presence if anywhere in the world even if a bit of a diamond with very sharp edges can be seen, which has a clear light shade and the usual good features, which is quite light, symmetrical in the sides and is free from the defects, such as scratches, patches, dark spots, crows, foot and Trasa (atom of dust found in a gem).
- 20. Idols of gods are prepared from diamonds of various colours. For different castes different colours in diamonds are
 - 1. A janapada in eastern India.
 - 2. The region around modern Santal Parganas.
- The ancient region around Ayodhyā, the capital in the Rāmāyaņa age.
 - 4. The region around modern Multan.
- 5. Either the Bina river, or the Wainganga river in Central India, or Vena river in South India.

assigned. Diamonds are classified also according to their colours.

- 21. Green diamonds are assigned to Lord Viṣṇu; white diamonds to Varuṇa; yellow diamonds to Indra; brown diamonds to Agni; blue diamonds to Yama and copper-coloured ones to the Maruts. All these colours are naturally beautiful.
- 22. Brāhmaņas shall use diamonds white like Śańkha, Kumuda¹ flower and crystal; Kṣatriyas shall use diamonds brown like the eyes of a rabbit; Vaiśyas shall use diamonds shining like the green leaves of a plantain tree and the Śūdras shall use diamonds refulgent like the fresh sharpened sword.
- 23. Two colours of diamonds are specially assigned to kings. They are not for the general public. One is the crimson colour of the Java flower (China Rose) or freshly cut coral and the other yellow like the turmeric juice.
- 24. In his capacity as the lord of all castes a king can wear good diamonds of any colour as he pleases but not the others.
- 25. The improper use of colours in diamonds by the different castes is more baneful than the mixture of castes resulting from the improper pursuit of one another's avocation.
- 26. A scholar shall not wear a diamond merely because it is assigned to him in view of the path chosen by him. A diamond having good qualities yields weal and wealth; otherwise it becomes the source of sorrow.
- 27. A diamond with even one of its horns (angles) broken or withered, scratched or shattered shall not be retained in the house by people wishing for prosperity even though it may have all other good qualities.
- 28. The diamond of which the apex is mutilated or withered by fire and the centre is vitiated by dirty spots and marks will induce the goddess of fortune to resort to others even if it happens to be the diamond of Indra.
- 29. The diamond that has impressions of scratches in any part or is painted with stripes of red will bring about the destruction of a person even if he has attained mastery over death.

30. The qualities of a diamond springing from the place of its origin are as follows. It must have six elevated tips, eight equal sides and twelve sharp edges.

31. A perfect diamond with these features is not easy of access. It has six fine tips, it is pure, the edges are clear and sharp. It has fine colour. It is light. Its sides are well smoothed. It has no defects. It sheds lustre all around like the thunderbolt of Indra.

- 32. He who, pure in body, wears a faultless diamond, bright and sharp-edged, shall flourish in life, blessed with wife, children, wealth, foodgrains and herds of cattle.
- 33. All sorts of fears arising from serpents, fires, poison, tigers, thieves and imprecatory and maledictory actions, the sorcery of the enemies shall not harass him.
- 34. Persons who know the science of diamonds and gerns say that a man shall wear a diamond free from all flaws weighing twenty Tandulas (rice grains). Its characteristic, features and price are twofold.
- 35-36. The price of a diamond weighing twelve Tandulas is taken as the standard. When the weight is reduced by two Tandulas the price is reduced by one third. For further reduction in weight the reduction in price is gradually by 1/13, 1/30, 1/80, 1/100 and 1/1000 upto a weight of one Tandula.
- 37. Diamonds are not weighed only by rice grains. Eight white mustard seeds constitute one Tandula.
- 38. If a diamond possesses all other qualities and floats in water, a man shall wear that alone although he may have all other precious gems in possession.
- 39. If a diamond is vitiated by a small defect visible or invisible to the eye, one shall get only one-tenth of its price.
- 40. If there are many defects small or great, not even one hundredth of its price need be offered.
- 41. A diamond, the defect of which is clearly seen is valued very low even if set in an ornament of gold.
- As the legends record, it was fashioned out of the bones of the sage Dadhiei.

- 42. A diamond may be flawless at the beginning; but while setting in an ornament it may acquire defects. A king shall not wear such an ornament. Defective diamonds are not to be used even in ornaments.
- 43. If a woman desires sons, she shall not wear even a flawless diamond. Otherwise she can wear elongated, flat and short ones, even devoid of good qualities.
- 44-45. Experts prepare imitation diamonds by using iron, Pusparaga (topaz), Gomedaka, Vaidurya (Lapis lazuli), Sphatika (crystal) and different kinds of glasses. They must be tested well by means of alkaline solutions and emery-wheel, etc.
- 46. A diamond can scratch all other gems and metals but it cannot be scratched by other gems or metals.
- 47. Weight is a criterion in the appraisal of other gems; but scholars say that in diamonds contrary is the case.
- 48. Vajra (diamond) and Kuruvinda (cyprus rotundus) can scratch similar or dissimilar materials. But Vajra alone can scratch another Vajra, nothing else.
- 49-50. Diamonds and pearls set in ornaments do not shed lustre upwards. If laterally cut, some diamonds may emit lustre upwards but then they do not emit lustre sideways.
- 51. A diamond scintillating with flashes of rain-bow blesses the wearer with wealth, food grain, and good children although the tip may be mutilated, or the diamond may have faded colour or may contain dots and scratches.
- 52. A king wearing a diamond dazzling with lightning flashes will surely enjoy the whole earth asserting his sway over the vassal kings and over-powering his enemies by means of his exploits.

CHAPTER SIXTYNINE

On the test of Gems - pearls

Sata said :

 Pearls are found in lordly elephants, clouds, wild boars, shells, fishes, cobras, oysters and the bamboos. Pearls in oysters are more abundant.

- Only these are valued as gems and only these and not the other ones can be bored through entirely—say the experts.
- Pearls found in bamboos, elephants, whales, and wild boars are usually devoid of lustre though reputed to be auspicious.
- 4. Of the eight varieties of pearls as the experts say those obtained from shells and temples of elephants are the poorest in quality.
- 5. Pearls found in shells have the same colour as the central portion of shells. They have big angles and weigh about a pala. Pearls from the temple of elephants have a slight yellowish colour without lustre.
- 6. The well-known conch (of Viṣṇu) rendered yellow by its clash with Śārnga (the bow of Viṣṇu) and elephants of good breed are the sources of yellowish circular pearls devoid of lustre.
- 7. Small light pearls are found in the mouths of the Pathina fish that usually frequent the middle of the vast ocean. They have the same colour as their back.
- 8. Pearls obtained from the curved teeth of wild boars having the same colour as their source are very rare and are prized like the Divine Boar (Viṣṇu).
- 9. Pearls found in the joints of bamboos resembling the hail stone in colour are very rare since these bamboos grow only in those places which noble virtuous men frequent and not in wild forests or public places.
- 10. Pearls found from the hoods of cobras are perfectly round like fish and have brilliant colour and lustre like a sword frequently sharpened and polished.
- 11. Only meritorious persons will have access to the cobra-pearl. Then they can get other gems of great brilliance, wealth, kingdom and grow brilliant.
- 12-13. The man possessing cobra-pearl should invite persons well-versed in sacred rites and perform Rakṣāvidhāna (Protection rites) during an auspicious hour and place it on the top of the mansion. Then the whole sky will be enveloped by rainbearing clouds hanging low. Sounds of thunder will be heard as resonant as the sound of drums. Flashes of lightning will illuminate the quarters.

- 14. He who has a cobra pearl in his treasury is never harassed by serpents, evil demons, foul diseases and defects of evil associations.
- 15. The Pearl with cloud as its origin rarely comes to the earth. Gods take it away from the sky. By the lustre it emits all round it illuminates the quarters. No one can gaze at its dazzling brilliance as no one can gaze at the disc of the sun.
- 16. This pearl outshines the brilliance of fire, moon, stars and planets. It is equally brilliant in the day as in the night enveloped by pitch darkness.
- 17. I am sure that the whole earth surrounded by four oceans overflowing with waters sparkling like gems is not an adequate price for this pearl even if the earth, the most beautiful of all worlds, is filled with gold.
- 18. Even if an indigent man were to obtain it as a result of his previous merits he will enjoy unrivalled lordship as long as the pearl remains in his possession.
- 19. It is capable of bestowing good fortune not only upon the meritorious king but also upon the subjects as well. It is capable of dispelling evil thousands of yojanas all round.
- 20. Scattered all round from heaven, the rows of teeth of the great demon Bala shining with its pure colour like the milky way, fell into the waters of the ocean of various colours.
- 21. The seed of the pure gem of great quality, having the lustre of full moon, found a place in the oyster where other seeds born of other sources also were present.
- 22. Where the seeds of beautiful pearl fell, the water from the clouds too fell and both together entered the oyster shell and were converted into pearls.
- 23. Pearls found at eight different places are called (1) Sairhhalika (of Ceylon), (2) Pāralaukika (Heavenly), (3) Saurāşṭrika (of Gujarat), (4) Tāmraparņa, (5) Pārašava (of Persian gulf), (6) Kaubera, (7) Pāṇḍyahāṭaka (of the Pāṇḍya country in South India), and (8) Hemaka.
- 24. In size, shape quality and lustre, the oyster pearls from Vardhana, Pārasīka, Pātāla and other worlds and Simhala are not inferior to any other pearl.

- 25. In the matter of pearls (from oyster) the source need not be taken into consideration. An expert shall note the features and the size. Pearls of all sizes and shapes can be found everywhere.
- 26. An oyster pearl ground well on the emery wheel can be priced five thousand three hundred silver pieces.
- 27. A pearl weighing half a Māṣaka¹ less shall be priced two fifths less $(5300 \times 2/5 = 2120 \text{ i.e. } 3180 \text{ silver pieces})$. The pearl weighing three Māṣakas is priced 2000 silver pieces as the maximum.
- 28. If the pearl weighs two and a half Māṣakas, its price is one thousand three hundred silver pieces. A pearl weighing two Māṣakas (if its quality is good) is priced 800 silver pieces.
- 29. A pearl weighing a Māṣaka and a half is priced three hundred and twenty five silver pieces. A pearl weighing six Guñjās² has the maximum price of two hundred silver pieces, thus say the experts. If it is ground well and has all merits, the price can be increased by a hundred and fifty silver pieces.
- 30. If there are not less than sixteen pearls in a Dharana (ten palas) it is called Darvika. Even a child will be paid a hundred and ten silver pieces for it.
- 31 If there are not less than twenty pearls in a Dharana (ten palas) experts call it Bhavaka. It can fetch seventy nine silver pieces if the pearls are not deficient in quality.
- 32. If a Dharana is complete with thirty pearls it is called Sikya. Its maximum price shall be forty.
- 33. Forty pearls together weighing a Dharana can be termed Siktha. Its price is thirty. Sixty pearls together weighing a dharana can be termed Nikarasirsa. Its price is fourteen.
- 34. Eighty or ninety pearls in a Dharana is called a Kūpyā. Its price is eleven and nine.
- 35. Gather together the pearls in a rice bowl and cook them well in the juice of Lemon. Rub them well with finely chopped carrot. Now the pearls can be bored quickly.
- 1. A measurement for weight. Twelve majakas make one told and 86 tolds make one kilogram.
 - 2. The fruits of Abrus precatorius used for weighing in ancient India.

- 36-37. Make a Matsyaputa covering the pearls with clay. [A puta is baking anything in a crucible]. Heat it well by means of the process Vitānapatti (covering the crucible, etc. with a canopy). Then cook the pearls, in milk first, then in water and then in lime water. Finally cook them in condensed milk, then rub them with a clean cloth. Now the pearls will begin to shine brilliantly. Vyāḍi¹, the great sage of wonderful powers, has mentioned this process of cleaning pearls out of consideration for the world and experts in gems.
- 38. A white pearl shining like glass together with gold one hundredth of it by weight shall be put in mercury for some time before using it as an ornament. Experts in Simhala do like this.
- 39-40. If there is a doubt to the artificiality of a pearl, put it in hot oil with a pinch of common salt. Then take it out and soak it in water for a whole night. The next day cover it with a dry cloth and rub it with grains of paddy. If the colour does not fade the pearl is genuine not artificial.
- 41. A white pearl of proper size smooth and heavy, pure and clean, circular in shape and brilliant is of good quality.
- 42. If a pearl delights even a person who does not want to buy it, if it is of proper size, if it sheds white rays, if it is white and circular, if the hole is of uniform width throughout we can say that it is of good quality.
- 43. If such a fine pearl with commendable features as described above is in one's possession he will be tree from all evils and faults.

CHAPTER SEVENTY

On the test of Gems-Ruby

Sūta said :

- Taking the blood of the mighty demon Bala, which contained seeds of excellent gems, the sun traversedt he sky and shone blue like a sword.
 - 1. He is also reputed as a grammarian somewhat later than Papinl.

- He was thwarted suddenly half way by Rāvaņa, King of Lańka, who appeared like another Rāhu, and was proud of his exploits such as the conquest of detties in battles many times before.
- Thereupon the sun dropped the blood in the excellent river whose banks were overgrown with Areca-palms and whose deep pools are constantly agitated by the beautiful thighs of the Simhala maidens.
- 4. Thenceforward the river became famous as Rāvaņa Gangā¹ since it acquired the same merits as the divine Gangā.
- 5. Ever since, its banks are strewn over with precious gems during nights and they appear as though they are pierced by shafts of gold, blazing inside as well as outside.
- 6. On its banks and waters, rubies began to appear resembling those found in Saugandhika, Kuruvinda, and Sphātika territories. All of them had great merits.
- 7. Some of these rubies have the colours of the Bandhūka³ flower, Guñjā, Indragopa (glowworm), Javā flower (China Rose) blood, pomegranate seeds and the Kimśuka³ flower. All of them have a shining lustre.
- 8. Some of the rubies have the colour of vermillion, red lotus and Saffron; some have the colour of Laksa juice; although the red colour is uniform throughout; their centre has a special manifest brilliance; the rubies are self-luminous.
- Some of these rubies of the Sphatika (crystal) variety, endowed with all good qualities, reflect and refract the rays of the sun illuminating all the surrounding objects.
- 10. Some of these rubies of the brilliance of the fresh blown red lotus have a mixture of blue colour like that of Kusumbha⁴; others have the lustre of Aruşkara⁵ and Kantakari⁶ flower and still others have the colour of Hingula (Asafoetida).
 - 11. Some of the rubies have the colour of the eyes of the
 - Not identifiable.

 - 3. Butea monosperma.
 - 4. Carthamus tinctorius.
 - 5. Semecarpus omacardium.
 - 6. Solanum xanthocarpum.

birds Cakora¹, Cuckoo or Sārasa;² others have the lustre of the Kokanada (Red Lotus) in full bloom.

- 12. In their influence, firmness and weight Saugandhika rubies are similar to crystalline rubies; but they have the colour of the fine red lotus with a slight bluish tinge.
- 13. The Kuruvindaja variety of rubies are red no doubt, but that redness is not akin to that of the crystalline variety. They are dull hued and the lustre remains within. Their influence too is not on par with that of the crystals.
- 14-15. In the beds of Rāvaṇaga igā some Kuruvindaka variety of rubies are produced which have the deep red hue of other varieties of rubies, but they have crystalline rays; in Āndhra they are not usually found; if at all some of them have the ruby colour they fetch only a less price.
- 16. Similarly, in the Tumburu³ territory too, some rubies. akin to the crystalline variety are found but are priced very low.
- 17. In brief, the good features of gems are profusion of colour, heaviness, smoothness, evenness, transparency, iridiscence and greatness.
- 18. Gems are not good if they are sandy, cracked within, and stained, if they are lustreless, rough and dull although they may have all the characteristic features of their family.
- 19. If any one wears a gem of many flaws out of ignorance, then grief, anxiety, sickness, death, loss of wealth and other evils torment him.
- 20. Inferior alien varieties of gems are usually substituted for the five genuine ones. The intelligent shall note this well.
- 21. The spurious ones alien to genuine rubies but akin to one another are (1) Kalaśapurodbhava, (2) Simhala, (3) Tumburudeśottha, (4) Muktapāṇīya and (5) Śripūrṇaka.
- 22-25. The first variety of Kalasa has the peculiarity of husky aspect. The second Simhala variety can be detected by its darkness. The third variety of Tumburudesottha has the tinge-of copper colour. The Muktapāṇīya type has the tinge of the sky and the Śrīpūrṇaka variety is devoid of lustre and brilliance. These characteristics show that they are alien. If one is called upon to distinguish between a genuine and a spurious ruby one shall note whether it has the copper tinge or husky aspect; whether it appears to be smeared with oil; whether on being rubbed it loses its lustre; or whether on placing two fingers on the top it casts dark shade on either side; or whether on being tossed up and caught hold of retains all the qualities. Of two gems put to test the one with more weight is genuine.

^{3.} Probably the Vindhya-region. GP., p. 158.

26. If the doubt is not removed, it shall be put on the emery-wheel or scratched with a similar gem and tested.

27. On ruby and sapphire no gem except diamond and Kuruvinda can make a scratch mark.

28. There are many spurious ones alien to the genuine ruby but of similar colour. Still here some are mentioned only to indicate their names and difference.

29. A gem belonging to an alien group devoid of virtue shall not be worn along with a genuine one endowed with all good points. Even with Kaustubha (the divine gem of Viṣṇu) an alien variety should not be worn by a scholar.

30. Even one Cāṇḍāla¹ can attack and kill a number of brahmins. Similarly a spurious alien gem can nullify the potency of many gems endowed with good qualities.

31. No evil can even touch the wearer of a Padmaraga of great potency even if he is caught amidst his deadly enemies or even if he errs habitually.

32. He who is mentally and bodily pure and wears Padmaraga whose crimson colour is heightened by its good qualities is never sullied by any sort of evil.

33. The price of a Tandula of well-cut, well-polished diamond is equal to that of a Māṣaka of purified Padmarāga of great potency.

34. A gem is prized for its colour and brilliancy. Hence any defect in these two qualities lowers the value.

CHAPTER SEVENTYONE

On the test of Gems-Emerald

Sūta said :

- Taking away the bile of the chief of demons, Bala, Vāsuki the king of Serpents was speeding across the sky as though he was cutting it into two.
- 2. He appeared like a bridge of silver across the sky illumined by the gem on his head.
- 3. Then Garuda began to attack the Serpent-king by his wings as if eager to destroy heaven and earth.
- 4. Suddenly the Serpent dropped it on the ridge of the excellent Māṇikya mountain, which is rendered fragrant by the Nalikā forest and where the Turuṣka¹ trees of good oozing juice grew abundantly.
- 5. The fallen bile immediately after the fall crossed the mountain Māṇikya and reached the shore of the ocean near Ramā (Goddess Lakṣmī) because of its faith in her and became the source of Marakata (Emerald).
- 6. Garuda caught hold of some of the falling bile but became unconscious. He then let out the stuff through his nostrils.
- 7. Emeralds that got their line and lustre from the tender neck of parrots, Śiriṣa² flower, back of the glow-worm, grassy plain, moss, Kalhāra³ flower, grass-blade and the wings of Garuda are auspicious.
- 8. The place on the mountain where the bile let loose by the Serpent-chief fell is inaccessible though endowed with all virtues.
 - 9. In the place of Marakata (i.e. near the sea where
- 1. 'Storax is the Turuşka of Ayurveda, which is a balsam obtained from foreign trees of Ligendamber (L. Orientalis Miller and L. Styraciflua Linn. A similar sort of inferior quality of balsam is found from an Indian species Attingia excelsa Naronha.'. GVDB, p. 188.

 - 3. A variety of utpala.

it finally came to) many things grow. Whatever is grown there is efficacious in subduing poison and sickness.

- 10. What cannot be cured by any mantras and medicinal herbs—the poison from the fangs of great cobras—is quelled by that.
- Whatever grows there free from defects is considered to be the holiest of holy things.
- 12-15. Experts in gems are inclined to say that the following types of emeralds are of good potency: Emerald that has dark green colour, a soft glow, that is highly complicated, hewn in different ways and appears to be stufied with gold dust; emerald that is endowed with qualities of shape, even shade all over it, sufficient heaviness and shoots diffusion of light when sun's rays fall on it; emerald the interior of which changes its natural shade and a dazling light becomes infused making it appear like a green meadow where lightning flashes spread and emerald that delights the mind at the very sight.
- 16-17. The emerald within which a sheet of transparent rays appears to spread on account of the profusion of colour; the sheet of rays is of the hue of the tender feathers of a peacock, pure, smooth and thick set and seems to be a great diffusion of light—this emerald is not as virtuous as the preceding one.
- 18. The emerald of variegated hues, very firm and rough, stained and sand-grained and encrusted with Silajatu (Bitumen) is of inferior quality.
- 19. The remnant of any gem other than emerald left over after fixture shall never be worn nor bought by those who wish for welfare.
- 20. Two spurious emeralds Bhallataki and Putrika have the colour of emerald but they are really alien to it.
- 21. The Putrikā substitute loses its brilliance when rubbed with a silken cloth. Glass substitute can be detected by its lightness alone.
- 22. The Bhallataka is a very close imitation of emerald in features, qualities and colour but its colour fades and changes when air is blown over it.

- 23. Diamonds, pearls and other gems of the alien species do not shoot up rays upward when not set in an ornament.
- 24. Some of them do shoot upwards if kept straight but when held horizontally the rays disappear.
- 25-27. Emerald devoid of flaws and endowed with potency shall be worn after setting it in gold at the following specified occasions:—At the time of bath, Acamana, recital of prayers, when charms and mantras are invoked; by those who give gifts of cow and gold; by those who practise austerities; when sacrificial rites are performed to gods, manes or special guests; when the preceptor is specially honoured; when the Tridosas (wind, bile and phlegm) are upset; when poisoned and when engaged in war.
- 28. An emerald endowed with virtues fetches more price than a ruby of equal weight.
- 29. Similarly, in case of defects, the depreciation in value of an emerald is more than that of ruby.

CHAPTER SEVENTYTWO

On the test of Gems-Sapphire

Sūta said :

- 1. Both the eyes of the demon Bala resplendent like the full blown lotus fell in a place where the Simhala maidens were busy culling the tender shoots and flowers of the creeper Lavali (Phyllanthus Longifoluis) with their tender fingers resembling tender shoots.
- 2. The marshy foreshore of the ocean hedged by the plant Ketaka¹ on which waves from either side lash shines brilliantly due to the abundance of Sapphires.
- 3. There the sapphire gems of bluish shades are found, just as :—the blue lotus, ploughshare section, honey bee,

1. Pandanus tectorius.

Vișnu's body, Siva's neck, Kaşaya flower and the flowers of Girikarnika1 (those which are not white).

- 4. Some have the colour of the waters of the clear blue sea; others resemble a flock of peacocks; some have the refulgence of bubbles coming from blue juice of indigo plant; and some have the colour of the neck of intoxicated cuckoo.
- 5. There many sapphire gems of great potency can be found; they are of uniform size, clear lustre and fine colour.
- 6. Defective sapphires are those encrusted with clay, rockbits and gravels, those with holes, those having the flaw of Trasa (tremulousness), and those impregnated with traces of mica. Some are defective in their colour.
- 7. Poets well versed in the sacred technical literature praise the genuine gems found there (Simhala).
- 8. Virtues resulting from wearing sapphire are the same as in the case of rubies.
- Three types of Rubies have been enumerated before based on their sources. The same applies to sapphires also without any difference.
- 10. The modes of testing the genuineness of sapphire are the same as those in the case of Rubies.
- 11. The sapphire stands the test of fire of a longer duration than the ruby. It can withstand a greater quantity of heat.
- 12. Still, under no circumstances, should any gem be subjected to the test of fire seeking more brilliancy.
- 13. While the test is being carried out some new defects due to the process of burning may enter the gems. This brings ill-luck to the owner, the man who conducts the test and the man who induced him to conduct it.
- 14. Spurious sapphires are akin to the genuine ones in colour but actually alien are glass, marble, Karavīra and crystals.
- 15. Heaviness and firmness increase in glass, etc. in order. This should be noted.
- 16. If a sapphire has a tinge of copper colour in it, it shall be preserved. So also Karavira and Upala marble if they have the copper tinge.

^{1.} Probably symphorema polyandrum, GVDB, p. 138.

- 17. That sapphire which has a brilliant flash like the thunderbolt in its centre is of great potency and very rare. It is the real Indranila.
- 18. The sapphire that turns milk hundred times its weight entirely blue is called Mahanila. This is because of the profusion of the colour.
- 19. The price of a Maşa of ruby is the same as that of four Maşas of sapphire of great virtue.

CHAPTER SEVENTYTHREE

On the test of Gems-Lapis Lazuli

Sūta said :

- The test of Vaidūrya (Lapis Lazuli) and Puşparāga (Topaz), Karketana and Bhīşmaka was first expounded by Brahmā and then repeated by Vyāsa.
- 2. From the loud shout of the demon Bala resonant like the shout of the ocean agitated at the end of a Kalpa¹ (the final dissolution after many a deluge²) Vaidūrya (Lapis Lazuli) was produced. It is of many colours and the brilliance of the different colours is pleasing and delightful.
- Not far from the lofty mountain of Vidura and very near the frontiers of Kāmabhūtika can be found the mine of the lapis lazuli gems.
- 4. Raised aloft by the loud shout of the demon, the mine of great virtues has virtually become an ornament for the three worlds.
- 5. Emitting the fine colours of the clouds of rainy season, lapis lazuli gems shot off flames as it were in tune with the shrill cry of the demon.
 - 1. SP (AITM), p. 2163.
- According to the Puranas, the universe is destroyed at the end of a Kalpa, and a new creation starts. References to such a Deluge we find in the story of Manu and Fish in the Satapatha Brahmana. The Bible also refers to the story of the Deluge and the Noah's Ark.

- 6. Lapis lazuli has the colours of all gems available on the earth, beginning from Ruby.
- 7. The chief of them is the blue one resembling the neck of a peacock or that which has the colour of the leaf of bamboo. Lapis lazuli gems that have the colour of the outer feathers of the Cāṣa (Blue jay) bird are not approved of by the experts in the technical literature of gems.
- 8 A lapis lazuli gem of commendable virtues brings good luck to its owner; if it has defects it brings ill-luck. Hence, it must be tested well (before buying and wearing).
- There are spurious gems resembling lapis lazuli, such as Girikāca, Šiśupāla, and glass crystals affected by smoky colour.
- 10. A glass piece can be detected by its inability to scratch; a Sisupāla by its light weight; a Girikāca by its lack of brilliance and a crystal by its great brilliance.
- 11. The price of two palas of lapis lazuli is equal to that of Sapphire of two gold pieces in weight and of very commendable virtues.
- 12. Although there are many spurious imitations of a gem of excellent quality, here some names can be indicated from which the varieties can be inferred.
- 13. An intelligent man can easily see the difference. A universal characteristic of alienness is glossy surface, lightness and softness of touch.
- 14. The price of lapis lazuli set in ornaments varies inasmuch as the purification and setting is executed by an expert or an incompetent person instilling it with virtue or defect as the case may be.
- 15. These gems set carefully by the jeweller, if free from defects, will outlive the present value and fetch even six times their price.
- 16. The price which the gems fresh from the mine or in towns on the sea-coast fetch is not current in other parts of the world.
- 17-19. According to Manu a Suvarņa weight is equivalent to sixteen Māṣakas. One seventh of it is called a Sanjñā.

A Śāṇa is four Māṣas and a Māṣaka is sive Kṛṣṇalas. A tenth of a Pala is Dharaṇa [According to others 10 palas make a Dharaṇa]. Thus the process of arriving at the price of gems has been explained.

CHAPTER SEVENTYFOUR

On the test of Gems-Topaz

Sūta said :

- 1. From the particles of the skin of demon Bala that fell on the top of the Himalaya mountain Pusparaga (Topaz) gems of great virtue have come up.
- A gem of this variety, yellowish grey in colour, is called Padmaraga (Ruby). If it is crimson-yellow it is called Kaurundaka.
- A transparent variety slightly red and yellow is called Kāṣāyaka; slightly blue and white in colour, glossy and commendable is called Somānaka.
- That which is of deep red colour is indeed Padmaraga (Ruby); if it is of deep blue colour, it is called Indranila (Sapphire).
- The price of this gem is fixed like that of Vaidūrya (Lapis Lazuli) by experts in Gems. The result is also similar but it blesses women with sons.

CHAPTER SEVENTYFIVE

On the test of Gems-Karketana

Sūta said:

- The wind in his delight gathered together the nails of the king of demons Bala and scattered them amid clusters of lotuses. Thereafter, Karketana¹ which is prized very much in the world cropped up.
 - I. What sort of gem it might be is not clear.

2. The best variety of Karketana has the copper colour of blood, the yellowish tinge of the moon, and burning fiery brilliance of honey. The other variety of rough surface bluish white in colour is not approved of since it brings about evils such as sickness, etc.

- Those Karketanas are very auspicious which are glossy, pure, of uniform reddish hue, of yellowish tinge, heavy, of diverse colours and free from defects, such as Trāsa, cracks, snakelike scratches, etc.
- 4. If, when it is set in an ornament of gold, it sheds brilliant rays as if heated in fire. Karketana removes sickness, dispels Kali defects and is conducive to longevity, flourishing family and general happiness.
- Those who wear Karketana of auspicious and commendable virtues for the sake of embellishments are highly honoured, rich, surrounded by many kinsmen and they prosper always enjoying all kinds of happiness.
- Some spurious Karketana gems of distorted untied aspect and pale blue colour and affected by pale red hue appear to have the shape of the genuine Karketana though devoid of brilliance and colourful effect.
- 7. If Karketana is scrupulously tested for its colour and features and found to be bright and brilliant like the rising sun, it is to be priced in accordance with its greatness. The price is based on weight, as expounded by experts in Gem-literature.

CHAPTER SEVENTYSIX

On the test of Gems-Bhismamani

Sūta said :

1. The Semen of the demon fell in the northern region of the Himalayas which became the source of the gems called Bhişma.

- Bhīşma stones, white like Sankha and lilies or Syonāka¹ (the white fruit of the tree of that name) are lustrous.
 There are some Bhīşma stones similar to a fairly big-sized diamond.
- The man who wears a pure Bhişma stone with reverence and faith round his neck after setting it in gold acquires wealth.
- Wild leopards, wolves, Sarabhas (the fabulous eightfooted monsters), elephants, lions, tigers, fly from him at the very sight.
- 5-6. He need not fear any one. He can wander like an unfettered elephant. Wearing this stone in the ring if one performs Pitrtarpana the manes will be satisfied for many years. Poisons of snakes, birds, mice and scorpion are ineffective. He has no fear from floods, fire, enemies or thieves.
- 7. An intelligent man must shun spurious Bhīşma stones of the colour of moss or clouds, rough of surface, lustreless or yellowish in tinge, or faded and dirty-coloured.
- 8. Scholars shall fix the price of Bhişma stones after observing the place of origin and according to the reason. If the stone comes from far, its price is more than that of one of local origin.

CHAPTER SEVENTYSEVEN

On the test of Gems-Pulaka

Sata said:

- The Serpents publicly worshipped the chief of demons, Bala, in a famous place and scattered his claws over various holy mountains, and other places and in rivers flowing in the northern region.
 - 1. Oroxylum indicum.

2. These famous Pulaka gems originated from those nails and claws in the territories: Dāśārņa¹ (Eastern part of modern Mālvā), Vāgadava, Mekala³, Kālaga. They have the colours of Guñja (a red-black berry), Añjana (collyrium), honey and lotus-stalk. They are brilliant like the musk-deer, fire and the plantain tree.

3. Pulakas of variegated colours of shell, lotus, honeybee and the Arka³ (Sun-plant) flowers free from scratches and lines are very holy and auspicious. They are conducive to increasing prosperity.

4. Pulaka stones carried here and there by crows, dogs, donkeys, jackals and fierce vultures in their mouths wet with blood and flesh bring about death and hence should be avoided. The price of a perfect Pulaka stone a pala in weight is five hundred silver pieces.

CHAPTER SEVENTYEIGHT

On the test of Gems-Bloodstone

Sūta said :

- The fire god carried the features of the demon Bala and deposited the same in the low-lyingmarshes of the river Narmada.
- From that did originate the gem Blood-stone of various forms and sizes, with colours like that of a glowworm, the beak of a parrot, etc, but of manifest uniform thickness throughout.
- 3. The Blood-stone which is grey like the moon in the centre is of the purest type with the same merits as those of Indranila (sapphire). It is productive of prosperity and munificence, when boiled it assumes the colour of the lightning flash.
 - 1. The region around Dhasana in Central India.
- 2. The region around Mount Mekala the source of the Narmada river also called Mekala-suta.
 - 3. Calotropis procers and C. gigantes. GVDB, p. 23.

CHAPTER SEVENTYNINE

On the test of Gems - Crystal

Sata said :

- Balarama exerted himself and scattered the fat of the demon Bala over the mountains Kavera and Vindhya and the lands of Yavana, China and Nepal.
- 2. Sphaţika (crystals) of different types originated therefrom: Ākāśaśuddha (as clear as the sky), Tailākhya (having the brilliance of oil) Mṛṇālaśańkhadhavala (white as lotus stalk and Śańkha) and others of various colours.
- 3. A gem destructive of sins, like Sphațika, does not exist. Cut and polished well, it will fetch a little tidy sum immediately.

CHAPTER EIGHTY

On the test of Gems - Coral

Sūta said :

- 1. Sesa (the Serpent king) carried the entrails of the demon Bala and deposited the same in Kerala and other places; there corals of great virtue are produced.
- 2. The most important of them is the one coloured like the blood of a hare, the Guñjā-berry or the China-rose. The foreign lands where corals abound are Sunīlaka, Devaka and Romaka. Corals found there are of deep crimson colour. Corals found elsewhere are not so important. The price of coral depends upon the efficiency of the artisan.
- 3. A coral of pleasing colour, soft and glossy, possessing deep crimson colour,
- 4. Is productive of wealth and food-grain in the world and dispels the fear of poison and sorrow. O Saunaka, knowledge of crystals and corals is necessary for the knowledge of gems.

1. Modern Rome.

CHAPTER EIGHTYONE

Sacred Places

Sūta said :

- 1-2. I shall enumerate the holy places and sacred rivers. Ganga is the holiest of the holy rivers. Ganga is easy of access everywhere but in three places it is of very difficult access, viz., in Haridvara¹ (at the source), Prayaga (at the confluence with Yamuna) and Gangasagarasangama (where it falls into the sea). Prayaga is a very holy place conducive of worldly enjoyments and salvation to those who die there.
- 3. By resorting to it (by taking a dip therein) it dispels sins; those to whom oblations are offered there enjoy all desires. Vārāṇasī is the holy place where Lord Keśava has taken the form of Viśveśa (Lord Śiva).
- 4. Kurukşetra is a holy place. By acts of charity at this place it is conducive to worldly enjoyment and salvation. Prabhāsa² is a very holy place. Lord Somanātha is installed there.
- 5. Dvārakā is a beautiful city. It affords worldly pleasures and salvation. The eastern Sarasvatī is holy. The surrounding territories known as Saptasārasvata are very holy.
- 6. Kedāra³ dispels all sins. Śambhala⁴ village is an excellent holy place. Nārāyaṇa is a great holy place. For salvation Badarikāśrama is the most suitable place.
- Švetadvipa, city of Māyānaimiṣa and Puṣkara are all great holy places. Ayodhyā, Āryatīrtha, Citrakūṭa⁵ and Gomatī are all holy.
 - 8. The holy place of Vaināyaka, and Rāmagiri-Āśrama6
 - 1. Spelt Haradvāra now-a-days.
- Prabhāsapattana in Gujrata. Recently the Somanātha temple has been re-built here.
 - 3. Modern Kedaranatha in the Himalayas.
 - 4. Modern Sambala in Uttara Pradesh.
 - 5. A town in the Banda district of Uttara Pradesh.
 - 6. The Ramtek-hill near Nagpur in the Maharastra State.

are sacred most places. The city of Kāñcī¹, the river Tungabhadrā, Śrīśailam² and Setubandhana are holy places.

9. Rāmeśvara is a great holy place, similarly Kārttikeya is an excellent holy place. Bhṛgutuṅga, Kāmatīrtha, and Amarakantaka3 are equally holy places.

CHAPTER EIGHTYTWO

Greatness of Gayā

Brahmā said :

- 1. O Vyāsa, listen. I shall narrate, in brief, the details of the greatness of Gayā.
- 2. There was a demon Gaya of great vitality. Once, he performed a terrible penance which scorched all living beings.
- 3-5. Devas, scorched extremely by his austerity, took refuge in Lord Vișnu.

Lord Visnu said :

"When my great body is felled, all of you shall be experiencing welfare within." The gods said "So be it." Thereafter, one day, he culled lotuses for worship of Siva from the Milk-ocean and brought them to Kikaṭa. The demon was deluded by Viṣṇu's Māyā and instead of proceeding with his worship he lay down and slept. Then Viṣṇu killed him with the mace.

- 6-7. Thenceforward, Lord Viṣṇu has been staying there with the mace lifted up, ready to offer salvation. Over the purified mortal remains of that demon, Lord Śiva, in the form of a linga (phallic emblem) and Viṣṇu and Brahmā too presided there. Lord Viṣṇu the primordial deity demarcated the boundaries of the place and proclaimed that it would be a holy place.
- 8. A man who performs sacrifices, Śrāddha, Pindadāna and ceremonial baths there will attain heaven and the world of Brahmā, never the hell.
- Understanding the holy character of Gayā, Brahmā himself performed a sacrifice there and honoured the brahmins who came there as Rtviks.
- 10. The Lord created a great stream of juice (of milk and milk products), ponds, etc. and different types of foodstuffs fruits, etc. He then created the divine Kāmadhenu¹.
- 11. The land 15 kilometres all round constituting the holy site of Gaya was given as gift to the Brahmins.
 - 1. The divine cow who fulfils all desires.

- The easy acquisition of the land gift made the brahmins complacent. Then the brahmins were cursed.
- 13. Your learning will not extend even to three generations. Your riches will not survive your successive third heir. The river will flow with water not milk. The mountains will be mere rocks (not fruits and other edibles).
- 14. The cursed brahmins pleaded and the lord relented and said: "Those who perform Śrāddha here, will attain holy worlds and Brahmā's abode. I will consider myself worshipped if they worship you."
- 15. Knowledge of the supreme Brahman, performance of Śrāddha at Gayā, death in a cowshed and residence in Kurukşetra—these are the four ways of attaining salvation.
- 16. Holy oceans, rivers, sacred ponds, wells and eddies go unto Gayatirtha for a holy dip. There is no doubt about this.
- 17. The five great sins, viz. the murder of a brahmin, drinking wine, stealing, illicit intercourse with the preceptor's wife and association with sinners are removed by performing Śrāddha at Gayā.
- 18. Those who die and are not cremated duly, those who are killed by animals and dacoits, and those who die due to snake-bite attain salvation if Gayāśrāddha is performed unto them.
- 19. It is difficult to explain in detail the greatness of the benefits accruing from offering food oblations at Gaya even in twenty crores of years.

CHAPTER EIGHTYTHREE

Greatness of Gaya

Brahma said :

 In the land of Kikaţa, Gayā is a great holy place: the forest of Rājagṛha and the places frequently watered by the river are very holy.

- 2-3. To the east of Gayā is the place Mundapṛṣṭha. In the west, south and north it extends to 4½ kilometres. The whole expanse of Gayākṣetra is 15 kilometres. The gift of oblations to the manes satiates as well as grants salvation. Even a visit to this place frees a person from the obligation to the manes. The Gayaśiras (the head of Gayā) is three kilometres long.
- 4. From the mount Janardana and the well known manasa is Gayasiras. It is called Phalgu-tīrtha.
- By offering pinda there, the manes are freed. Simply by going to Gayā one is freed of mane's debt.
- 6. The lord of lords Vişnu presides over Gaya in the form of Manes. By visiting his shrine one is freed of three debts (to gods, manes, sages and guests).
- 7. Seeing the main highway at Gaya and visiting the shrines of Rudra, Kalesvara and Kedara a man becomes free from the debts to the manes.
- 8. By visiting the shrine of Brahına one becomes free from all sins. By seeing the Prapitamaha (the primordial deity) one attains region free of sickness.
- After kneeling devoutly before the lord Gadadhara, Mādhava and Puruşottama, the man is not born again.
- 10. O Brahmin Sage (Vyāsa)! By visiting silently the shrines of Maunāditya and Kanakārka the noble, a man becomes free from debts to the manes. By worshipping Brahmā one attains Brahmā's world.
- 11. Getting up early in the morning if one performs Sandhyā and visits the shrine of Gāyatrī, one gets the fruit of visiting the shrines of all gods.
- By visiting the shrine of Savitri in the midday, one gets the fruit of all sacrifices.
- 13. By visiting the shrine of Sarasvati in the evening one gets the fruits of charitable gifts. By visiting the shrine of Isvara on the top of the mountain, one becomes free from debts to the manes.
- 14. By visiting lord Dharma in Dharmaranya the material debts are wiped off. Who is not freed from boudage by visiting the shrine of lord Grdhresvara?

- 15. By visiting the shrine of Cow in Dhenuvana one enables one's ancestors to attain Brahmaloka. By visiting lord Prabhasesa in the shrine Prabhasa one attains the highest goal.
- 16. By visiting the shrines of Koţiśvara and Aśvamedha the material debts are wiped off. By visiting the shrine of Svargadvāreśvara one is freed from the bondage of worldly existence.
- 17. By visiting the lord with the mace in the shrine of Rāmeśvara one attains to heaven. By visiting the shrine of Brahmeśvara one is freed from the sin of murdering a Brahmin.
- 18. By visiting the shrine of Mahācaṇḍī in the mountain Muṇḍapṛṣṭha one attains all desires. By visiting the shrines of Phalgvīśa, Phalgucaṇḍī, Gaurī, Maṅgalā, Gomaka and lord Gopati one becomes free from debts to the manes.
- 19. Similarly, by visiting the shrines of Angareśa, Siddheśa, Gayaditya, Gaja and Markandeycśvara one becomes free from debts to the manes.
- 20. A ceremonial bath in the holy pond of Phalgutīrtha and a visit to the shrine of Gadādhara,
- 21. Are these not sufficient for men of meritorious deeds?

 He makes his ancestors upto the twentyfirst remove attain Brahmaloka.

- 22. The holy rivers, oceans and lakes of the world will be coming to Phalgutirtha, once every day.
- 23. In the whole world, Gayā is the holiest; in Gayā, Gayāsīras is the holiest spot and in gayāsīras the Phalgutīrtha is the holiest since it constitutes the mouth of gods.
- 24. To the north of Kanaka river is Nabhitīrtha and in its middle is the holy Tīrtha called Brahmasadas. A bath therein enables one to attain Brahmaloka.
- 25. After offering Pinda (food-balls) etc. in the well one becomes free from indebtedness to the manes. Śrāddha at Akşayavata takes ancestors to Brahmaloka.
- 26. By taking the ceremonial bath in Hamsatīrtha a man becomes free from all sins. A person who performs Śrāddha in Koṭitīrtha, Gayāloka, Vaitaraṇī and in Gomaka takes ancestors upto the twenty first remove to the Brahmaloka.

1.83.38 255

27. A person who performs Śrāddha in Brahmatīrtha, Rāmatīrtha, Āgneyatīrtha, Somatīrtha or in Rāmahrada takes all ancestors to Brahmaloka.

- 28. A man who performs Śrāddha in the Uttara-Mānasa is not born again; and in the Dakṣiṇa Mānasa takes his ancestors to the Brahmaloka.
- 29. A man who performs Tarpana on the top of the hill Bhisma makes the manes cross hell. A person who performs Śraddha in Grdhreśvara becomes free from debts to the manes.
- 30. A person who after taking his bath, gifts away gingelly seeds and cows, visits the shrine of cow and performs Śrāddha in Dhenukāraņya, takes his ancestors to the Brahmaloka.
- 31. A person who performs Śrāddha in the Tīrthas Aindra, Nara, Vāsava and Vaiṣṇava and also in Mahānadī takes his ancestors to the Brahmaloka.
- 32. A person who performs ceremonial bath, Sandhya, Tarpana and Śraddha in the Tirthas—Gāyatra, Sāvitra (and Sārasvata takes his ancestors upto the hundred and first remove to the Brahmaloka.
- 33. With the mind absorbed in contemplating his ancestors the devotee shall pass through the cleft Brahmayoni. Then by performing Tarpana to the manes and gods he will be freed from the pangs of birth (i.e. he will not be born again).
- 34. By performing Tarpana in the Tirtha Kakajangha he satiates manes forever. A person who performs Śraddha in the holy pond of Matanga in Dharmaranya attains heaven.
- 35. By performing Śrāddha, etc. in Dharmayūpa and Kūpa one becomes free from debts to the manes.
- 36. He shall invoke gods by saying "O Gods! ye be the witness unto this. I have performed Sraddha for my ancestors today."
- 37. By taking the ceremonial bath in Ramatirtha and performing Śraddha on a rock in Prabhasa, the manes though long departed can be made liberated.
- 38. A person who performs Śrāddha in the holy Tīrtha Svapuṣṭā shall uplift his ancestors upto the twentyfirst remove. A person who performs Śrāddha on the hill Mundapṛṣṭha shall lead his ancestors to the Brahmaloka.

- 39. There is no spot in Gayā which is not a holy Tīrtha. A person who offers Piṇḍa anywhere in Gayākṣetra, shall reap everlasting benefit and take his ancestors to Brahmaloka.
- 40. The pilgrim shall place the Pinda in the hand of Janardana (the idol) saying
- 41. "O Janardana, I have offered the Pinda in thy hand. When I go to the other world let everlasting liberation bless me."
- 42. It is certain that he will attain Brahmaloka along with his manes. The oblations offered to the manes in Dharmapṛṣṭha, and Brahmasaras, in Gayā and in
- 43. Akṣayavaṭa in Gayāsīrṣa shall be everlasting. The act of visiting Tīrthas, Dharmāraṇya, Dharmapṛṣṭha and Dhenukāraṇya,
- 44. And performing Arghya to the manes uplifts twenty generations. Brahmāraņya is to the west of the river Maya while in the east are Brahmasadas, Nāgādri and Bharatāśrama.
- 45-47. Śrāddha shall be performed in the region of Matanga in the Āśrama of Bharata. There is the holy place called Campakavana to the south of Gayāśira and to the west of Mahānadī. There Pāṇḍuśilā is situated. If one performs Śrāddha there in the zone of Niścirā on the third day of the lunar fortnight or in the sacred eddy of Kauśikī everlasting benefit is secured.
- 48. To the north of Vaitarani is the sacred pond called Trtiya. There the sacred spot Krauncapada is situated. One who performs Śrāddha there shall take his ancestors to the Heaven.
- 49. To the north of Krauncapada is the sacred pond Niścira. Even a single visit to Gaya and offering of Pinda once is rarely secured, then what of those who stay there permanently?
- 50. If the pilgrim performs Tarpana in Mahanadi for the manes and gods he shall attain everlasting worlds and uplift his family.
- 51. If Sandhyā is performed in the Savitratīrtha the benefit of performing the same for twelve years shall be acquired.
 - 52. He who stays for two fortnights (the bright and the dark) in Gaya purifies his family upto the seventh generation.

I.83.64 257

There is no doubt in this.

- 53. By seeing the three mountains Mundaprstha, Aravinda and Krauncapada, the pilgrim is freed from all sins.
- 54. When solar or lunar eclipse occurs in the month of Makara (January—February) Pinda shall be offered in Gaya. It bestows rare merits and is highly beneficent to the people.
- 55. A Śrāddha performed in Mahāhrada (great-eddy) of Kauśikī, in Mūlakṣetra and in the cave of Grdhrakūţa is seven times fruitful.
- 56. A person who performs Śrāddha where the river Māheśvarī flows shall be freed from material debts. By visiting the holy river Viśālā famous in the three worlds a man obtains the fruits of Agniṣṭoma sacrifice. By performing Śrāddha he shall go to heaven.
- 57. A person who takes bath and performs Śrāddha in Somapada shall derive the fruits of Vājapeya sacrifice.
- 58. By offering Pindas in Ravipada the fallen souls shall be uplifted. The manes consider themselves blessed with a son if he goes to Gaya and offers food oblations.
- 59. Fathers desire for sons in their fear of falling into Hell thinking, "One of them will go to Gaya and uplift us". On seeing the son who has reached Gaya the manes are excessively jubilant.
- 60. They will think like this: "Either the son or some one else at some time or other shall offer us water at least by wading through it in Gayakūpa."
- 61. A pilgrim takes any one with that name to the eternal Brahman by repeating which he offers the Pinda. A person who visits Koţitirtha shall attain the Vişnuloka called Pundarīka.
- 62. The river which is renowned in the three worlds as Vaitarani has incarnated in Gayakşetra for the uplift of the manes.
- 63. There is no doubt in this that a person who performs Śrāddha, offers Piṇḍa and makes a gift of a cow uplifts his ancestors to twenty one generations.
 - 64. If a son goes to Gaya sometime (after the death of his father) he shall feed the local brahmins who had been allotted that right by Brahma.

- 65. Their post is Brahmasadas. The same is the post of Somapas (drinkers of Soma juice).
- 66. The worship, Śrāddha, etc. shall be in the place assigned by Brahmā and the Brahmins also shall be those mentioned by Brahmā. If they are honoured, honoured shall all the deities be along with the manes.
- 67. The pilgrim shall propitiate the Brahmins at Gayā according to Sāstraic injunctions by means of Havyas and Kavyas (sacrificial foodstuffs). The best place for shedding the mortal body is Gayā.
- 68. There is no doubt in this that he who makes the gift of a bull in Gayākṣetra, the unrivalled holy place, derives the merit of a hundred Agniṣṭomas.
- 69. An intelligent man can offer Pinda unto himself as unto others at Gaya but without using gingelly seeds.
- 70. O Vyasa, Pindas shall be offered to all at Gaya, whether cousins, ancestors kinsmen or friends in accordance with Sastras.
- 71. By taking the ceremonial bath at Rāmatīrtha a man obtains the benefit of a gift of hundred cows. By taking the bath at Matanga pond he shall get the benefit of the gift of a thousand cows.
- 72. By taking the ceremonial bath at the confluence of Niścirà a man takes his ancestors to Brahmaloka; at Vasiṣṭha's hermitage the benefit of Vājapeya.
- 73. And by staying in Mahakośi for a year he gets the fruit of Aśvamedha (Horse sacrifice).
- 74. There is a holy river flowing from Brahmasaras which sanctifies the whole world. It is famous as Agnidhārā and is on a par with Kapilā (the divine cow that grants all booms). A person performing Śrāddha here derives the fruit of Agnistoma and by taking bath here one feels as if one has fulfilled all tasks.
- 75. By performing Śrāddha in Kumaradhārā one gets the fruit of Asvamedha. Having reached Lord Subrahmanya he will attain salvation.

76. By taking the ceremonial bath in Somakunda a man goes to the moon's world. A person giving Pindas in the sacred pond of Samvarta shall be highly lucky.

77-78. A man offering Pindas in Pretakunda shall wash off all his sins. Those who offer Pindas in the Tirthas, Devanadi, Lelihana, Mathana, Janugartaka and others shall uplift all ancestors. By bowing to lord Vasisthesa all accumulated material debts shall be liquidated.

CHAPTER EIGHTYFOUR

Greatness of Gaya

Brahmā said :

- 1-2. If a person wishes to proceed to Gaya, he shall first perform Śrāddha according to Śāstraic injunctions. He shall then disguise himself and go round his village. Then proceeding to another village he shall take in only what is left over after Śrāddha. He shall go round that village as well. During his journey to Gaya he shall never take Pratigraha (money by way of charity).
- 3-4. Every step that he takes after leaving his house towards Gayà enables his ancestors to ascend a step towards heaven. With regard to other holy places the injunction of tonsure and fasting holds good; but in the case of Kurukşetra, Viśālā, Virajā and Gayā it does not. Śrāddha can be performed at Gayā during the day or night.
- 5-6. A person performing Śrāddha in Vārāṇasī, Śoṇanada and frequently in Mahānadī shall take his ancestors to heaven.
- 7. By going to Uttaramānasa unrivalled achievement is acquired. The pilgrim who takes bath and performs Śrāddha there shall acquire all his desires mundane and divine and also the means to achieve salvation.

- After reaching the Dakşinamanasa he shall offer Pinda, etc. silently. At that place he shall wipe off the threefold debts.
- 9-10. To the north of Mundapretha there is the holy place named Kanakhala famous in the three worlds, frequented by devas and sages and infested by illustrious serpents pleasing to the Siddhas and terrific to the sinners, horrible in appearance and putting out their unsplit tongues.
- 11. By taking bath there one goes to heaven; the Śrād-dha performed there is everlasting. After bowing to the Sun and performing Pindadāna and other holy rites he shall say like this:
- 12-13. "O ye deities of manes, Kavyavāha, Agnişvāttas, Barhişads, Somapas, Soma, Yama and Aryaman, do come, you noble Sirs; with your protection I have come here to Gayā desiring to offer Pindas to all of my ancestors and to all kinsmen born in the family."
- 14. After offering Pindas in Phalgutirtha he shall visit lord Pitamaha and then Gadadhara. He shall be freed from indebtedness to the manes.
- 15. By taking bath in Phalgutirtha and visiting lord Gadadhara the devotee shall immediately save himself, ten generations gone before and ten generations yet to come.
- 16. I have mentioned the programme for the first day. On the second day he shall go to Dharmaranya and perform Pindadana, etc. in the sacred pond of Matanga.
- 17. By visiting Dharmaranya he will derive the fruit of Vajapeya.
- 18. In the holy Tirtha of Brahmā he will derive the fruit of Rājasūya and Aśvamedha.
- 19. Śrāddha and Piņdodaka in the middle of Kūpa and Yūpa shall be done with the water of the well. What is offered to the manes shall be endless.
- 20. On the third day he shall go to Brahmasadas, take bath and perform Tarpaņa, Śrāddha and Piņdadāna in the middle of Kūpa (well) and Yūpa (Sacrificial stake).
- 21. The brahmins ordained by Brahma are staying near Gopracara. By honouring and serving them the manes shall attain salvation. After going round the sacrificial stake he shall derive the fruit of Vajapeya.

- 22-23. On the fourth day he shall take bath, perform Tarpaṇa and Śrāddha in Gayāśira in the temple of Lord Rudra etc. Then O Vyāsa, he shall offer Piṇḍas in Pañcāgni (five fires) and worship the three gods Sūrya, (Sun) Indu (Moon) and Kārttikeya. The Śrāddha thus performed shall be everlasting.
- 24-25. The Śrāddha may be for nine deities or twelve deities. During the Anvaṣṭakā days (i. e. the ninth day of the lunar fortnights in Pauṣa, Māgha and Phālguna months), during Vṛddhi (i. e. in the bright fortnights) or on the day of death separate Śrāddha is performed here for the mother. At other places the Śrāddha has to be performed alongwith father's.
- 26. By taking bath in Daśāśvamedha and visiting Lord Pitāmaha and touching the feet of Rudra a man is not born again.
- 27. By performing Śrāddha in Gayāśira a man obtains the same as obtained by making a gift of a land endowed with the three kinds of wealth (fertility, nearness to water, and good soil).
- 28. At Gayāśira, the balls of oblation shall be of the size of a Śamīpatra (the leaf of Śamī tree). Then the manes become gods. No one need worry about this.
- 29. Lord Mahadeva of great intellect has set foot on the hill Mundaprstha. By performing even a small penance he shall acquire great merit.
- 30. Those who are in hell will go to heaven and those in heaven attain liberation if he names them and offers Pindas in Gayasira.
- 31. On the fifth day he shall take his bath in Gadālola and offer Pindas at the foot of the Banyan tree. He shall thereby enable the entire family of his ancestors to cross heli.
- 32. At the root of the Banyan tree even if a single brahmin is fed with vegetable dishes and hot water it is as good as feeding a crore.
 - 33. At Akşayavata he shall perform Sraddha and see the Primordial deity. He shall attain everlasting worlds and uplift a hundred generations.

- 34. Many sons are to be wished for. At least one of them may go to Gaya or perform Asvamedha or make a gift of a dark bull.
- 35. A ghost once addressed a certain merchant—"Please ffer Pindas in my name at Gayasira. I shall be liberated from the state of a ghost and the giver of the Pindas shall attain heaven."
- 36. The merchant on hearing that offered Pinda to the chief of ghosts and thereafter offered the same to his manes alongwith the younger brothers.
- 37. All of them were liberated and Visala the offerer of Pindas was blessed with a son. There was a prince in the country of Visala named Visala. He addressed the Brahmins.
- 38. "How can I have sons?" The brahmins replied, "By offering Pindas in Gaya you will have sons". The prince Visala offered Pindas in Gaya and was blessed with sons.
- 39. He saw in the sky three human shapes white, red and black in colour and said "Who are you?". The white one from among them replied to Visala.
- 40. "I am the white one, your father. I attained Indraloka due to meritorious deeds. My son, this red one is my father. He is a great sinner, a murderer of a Brahmin.
- 41. This black one is my grandfather. Some sages had been killed by him. Both of them had fallen into the hell Avici (Rayless). Now that you have offered the Pindas both of them have been liberated.
- 42. Now that we have been liberated, we are proceeding to Heaven." Visala who was satisfied ruled the kingdom (for some time) and attained heaven.
- 43-48. [The devotee shall repeat thus]. "Let all the manes in our family who had been deprived of Pinda and Udaka (water) rites, who died in infancy without the rite of Cūdā (ceremonial cutting of forelocks), who had been still born, who had not been duly cremated and who had died in flames, be satisfied with the Pindas offered in the Earth and attain salvation. Let these Pindas deliver everlastingly all these:— Father, grandfather, great grandfather, mother, paternal grand mother, paternal great-grand mother maternal grandfather, maternal great grandfather maternal great-great grand father, maternal grand mother, maternal great grandmother, maternal great great grandmother and other kinsmen.

CHAPTER EIGHTYFIVE

Greatness of Gaya

Brahmā said :

- 1. After taking bath in Pretasila, etc., with the nectar (holy water) of Varunatirtha the pilgrim shall invoke the manes with the following mantras and offer Pindas.
- "With gingelly seeds and holy water, I invoke on this Darbha grass all those in our family who have not attained salvation after death.
- 3. I offer this Pinda to uplift all those who died in my father's family and mother's family.
- 4. I offer this Pinda to uplift all those in my maternal grandfather's family who have not attained salvation.
- I offer this Pinda to uplift all those who died in infancy without cutting the first tooth or who were still born.
- 6. This Pinda is assigned to those kinsmen whose names and Gotra (spiritual clan) are forgotten whether in my gotra or others.
- I offer this Pinda to those who committed suicide by hanging themselves or by other means or poisoned to death or killed with any weapon.
- I offer this Pinda to those who died in an incident of arson, or were killed by lions or tigers or sharp-teethed animals or horned beasts.
- I offer this Pinda to those who were cremated or not, who were electrocuted or killed by dacoits.
- 10. I offer this Pinda to uplift those who have been consigned to the hells—Raurava, Andhatāmisra and Kālasūtra after death.

- I offer this Pinda to uplift those who have been confined to the terrible hells Asipatravana and Kumbhīpāka after death.
- I offer this Pinda to uplift those who are being tortured and tormented (by Yama) in the Pretaloka (Infernal region).
- 13. I offer this Pinda to those who have been born as beasts, birds, worms, reptiles or trees.
- 14. I offer this Pinda to uplift those who are being tortured and tormented in innumerable ways at the bidding of Yama.
- 15. I offer this Pinda to those to whom birth in human society has become difficult of access due to their actions and who are born and reborn in countless other species.
- 16. Let all those be satiated with this offer of Pinda forever whether kinsmen or not or whether they were kinsmen in my previous birth or not.
- 17. Let all those ancestors of mine be satiated forever by this offer of Pinda and those who are still in the state of Ghosts.
- 18-20. Let this Pinda offered by me go for endless benefit unto all those who were born in my father's family, mother's family or those of preceptor's, father-in-law or kinsmen or other kinsmen who are dead, those who have been deprived of Pindadana, those who had no sons or wives, those who had not performed any rites, those who had been born blind, those who were lame, those who were deformed or those who died in the womb whether known to me or not.
- 21-22. Let Devas bear witness, let Brahmå, Isana and others bear witness. I have come to Gaya and have performed the obsequies. O Gadadhara, for performing the rites for manes I have come to Gaya. Be my witness today. I am now absolved of my three debts."
- 23. In Gayā, the sanctity of Mahānadī, Brahmasaras Akṣayavaṭa Prabhāsa, Gayāśiras, Sarasvatī, Dharmāraṇya, Dhenupṛṣṭha, of all these holy spots, is equal to that of Kurukṣetra.

CHAPTER EIGHTYSIX

Greatness of Gaya

Brahma said :

- 1-2. The spot famous as Pretasila has three sections in Prabhasa, Pretakunda and Gayasurasiras. This rocky promontory is held aloft by Dharma and is called Pretasila because it is conducive to the prosperity and uplift of those men, their friends or kinsmen who become ghosts. It is presided over by all devas.
- 3. Hence, here sages, kings and queens perform Śrāddha on that rock. They have attained Brahmaloka too.
- 4. The rock at the place where the skull of the demon Gayasura fell is known as Mundapretha. It is also presided over by all devas.
- At the foot of the mountain Mundapṛṣṭha there are ponds Brahmasaras etc. overgrown and partially hidden by Aravinda forest.
- 6. The hill in Aravinda forest marked by the feet of a Krauñca bird (akin to heron) is called Krauñcapada which enables the pilgrim to attain Brahmaloka.
- 7. The primordial deities Gadadhara and others are latent in the stone idols. Hence, the rock is saturated with divine presence.
- 8-9. The idol of Gadādhara buried under its heavy weight the head of the demon Gaya and gradually the beginningless and endless lord Hari in the company of Mahārudra and other devas became manifest in it for the preservation of virtue and destruction of evil.
- 10-11. The Lord Viṣṇu took the incarnations of Matsya (fish), Kūrma (tortoise), Varāha (boar) Nṛhari (Man-lion), Vāmana (Dwarf) the powerful Paraśurāma, Rāma son of Daśaratha Kṛṣṇa, Buddha and Kalki for the destruction of demons and ogres. In the same way the manifest and unmanifest form of the primordial Gadādhara.
- 12. The deity Gadādhara is called Ādi (primordial) because he had been worshipped by lords Brahmà and others with Pādya, fragrant flowers in the beginning.

- 13-18. He who, after visiting the shrine of the primordial Gadādhara along with the other gods, makes an offering of Arghya, Pādya, fragrant flowers, incense, lamp, Naivedya (food offerings) of the highest sort, different sorts of garlands, clothes, crown, bell, chowries, mirrors, ornaments, Pinda and various foodstuffs, is sure to get wealth, grains, longevity, health, blessings of sons and children, all kinds of riches, learning, all desires, good wife, enjoyment in heaven and after the return from heaven a flourishing kingdom, nobility of birth, Sāttvika qualities, defeat of enemies in the battle, freedom from murder and bondage and finally will attain liberation. Those who perform Śrāddha and offer Piṇḍa will go to Brahmaloka along with their ancestors.
- 19. Those who worship Balabhadra and Subhadra shall acquire strength, welfare, knowledge, wealth and children and attain Purusottama.
- Offering of Pinda to the manes in front of Purușottamarāja, the Sun and Gaņeśa yields Brahmaloka to the ancestors.
- 21. By bowing down to Kapardin (Siva), and Vighnesa (Gaņesa) one is freed from all obstacles. By worshipping Karttikeya he shall attain Brahmaloka.
- 22. By worshipping twelve suns one is freed from all sickness. By worshipping Vaisvanara one gets an excellent brilliance.
- 23. By adoring Revanta the pilgrim obtains excellent horses; by worshipping Indra—great riches and by worshipping Gauri—good fortune.
- 24. By worshipping learning, Sarasvatī, Lakṣmī, Śrī and Garuḍa one is extricated from numerous obstacles.
- 25. By worshipping Kşetrapâla one is freed from evil planets and by worshipping Mundapṛṣṭha one shall obtain all desires.
- 26. By worshipping the eight serpents one will not be affected by serpent bite; by worshipping Brahmā one shall attain Brahmaloka.
- 27. By worshipping Balabhadra one shall get strength and health: by worshipping Subhadra one gets good luck.

I.86.40

- 28. By worshipping Purusottama one obtains all desires. By worshipping Nārāyaṇa one becomes lord of men.
- 29. By touching the idol of Narasimha and worshipping it one becomes victorious in battle. By worshipping Varaha (the divine Boar) one acquires suzerainty over the whole Earth.
- 30. By touching idols of two Vidyādharas whoever one may be, becomes a Vidyādhara. By worshipping the primordial Gadādhara one attains all desires.
- 31. By worshipping Somanatha one obtains Sivaloka. By bowing Rudresvara one is honoured in Rudraloka.
- 32. By bowing to Rāmeśvara a man becomes delightful to others like Lord Rāma. By worshipping Brahmeśvara and reciting prayers one becomes competent to be in Brahmaloka.
- 33. By worshipping Kaleśvara a man conquers the god of death; by worshipping Kedara one is honoured in Śivaloka. By worshipping Siddheśvara one shall become a Siddha and go to Brahmapura.
- 34. By visiting the Primordial Gadadhara along with the primordial Rudra and others a man is able to uplift a hundred generations and lead them to Brahmapura.
- 35-36. By worshipping the primordial Gadadhara a man desirous of Dharma (virtue) shall acquire it; a man desirous of wealth shall acquire wealth; a passionate man shall acquire love; a man desirous of salvation shall acquire salvation; a man desirous of a kingdom shall acquire a realm and a man desirous of tranquillity shall acquire it.
- 37. By approaching and worshipping the primordial Gadādhara a woman desirous of sons shall get sons; a woman desirous of blissful married life shall acquire it and a woman desirous of a flourishing family shall attain it.
- 38. By worshipping the primordial Gadādhara one obtains the Brahmaloka even as by Śrāddha, Pindadāna, gift of food and gift of cool water.
- 39-40. Just as Gayapuri is the most excellent of all Tirthas in the world so also Gadadhara is the most excellent of all sacred idols. Since Gadadhara is the entire world if Gadadhara is seen the entire sacred spot and all idols are virtually seen.

CHAPTER EIGHTYSEVEN

The fourteen Manus

Hari said:

1. I shall enumerate the fourteen Manus and their sons such as Suka. Sväyambhuva Manu is the first among the Manus. Agnīdhra and others are his sons.

2. The seven sages are Marīci, Atri, Āngiras, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu and the brilliant Vasistha.

 These four are called Somapāyins (drinkers of Soma juice): Jaya, Amita, Śuka and Yāma. The foregoing twelve are collectively called Dvādaśaka Gaņa.

4. Vāmadeva who enjoyed the entire universe was elected Indra (during this Manvantara i.e. period of regime of Manu and his dynasty). The demon Bāşkali was his enemy. He was killed by Visnu with his Sudarsana discus.

5-7. The second Manu was Svārocişa. His sons were Mandalesvara, Caitraka, Vinata, Karnanta, Vidyuta, Ravi, Brhadguna, and Nabha of great strength and exploit. The seven sages were Ürja, Stamba, Prana, Rşabha, Nicula, Dambholi and Arvavira. The Tuşitas and Paravatas together constituted the Dvadasaka Gana.

8. Vipaścit was elected as Indra of the devas. His enemy was the demon Purukṛtsara whom Lord Madhusūdana killed in the guise of an elephant.

9. The sons of the third Manu, Auttama were : Aja Paraśu, Vinīta, Suketu, Sumitra, Subala, Śuci, Deva, Deva-vṛdha, Mahotsāha and Ajita, O Rudra.

10. The seven sages during his regime were: Rathaujas, Urdhvabahu, Sarana, Anagha, Muni, Sutapas and Sanku.

- 11. The Five Deva gaņas were Vaśavarti, Svadhāmans, Śivas, Satyas and Pratardanas. These with the seven sages constituted the Dvadaśaka Gaņa.
- 12. Svašānti was elected Indra during this regime and his enemy was the demon Pralamba. Lord Viṣṇu in his incarnation as fish killed him.
- 13-16. The sons of the fourth Manu named Tāmasa were :- Jānujangha, Nirbhaya, Navakhyāti. Naya, Priyabhṛtya, Vivikşipa, Havuşkadhi, Prastalākşa, Krtabandhu and Krta. The seven sages were Jyotirdhārā, Dhṛṣṭakāvya, Caitra, Cetāgni, Hemaka, Surāga and Svadhiya. The four Haris together with others constituted the twentyfive Devatāgaņas. Šibi was elected Indra and his enemy was the giant Bhīmaratha. This giant Bhīmaratha was killed by Lord Viṣṇu in His incarnation as Tortoise.

17-18. The sons of the fifth Manu Raivata were Mahāprāṇa, Sādhaka, Vanabandhu, Niramitra, Pratyaṅga, Parahā, Śuci, Dṛḍhavrata and Ketuśṛṅga.

 The seven sages were Vedaśri, Vedabāhu, Urdhvabāhu, Hiraņyaroman, Parjanya, Satyanāman and Svadhāman.

- 20-21. The four Devatā gaņas were Abhūtarajas, Devāśvamedhas, Vaikuņţha and Amṛta. These were altogether fourteen in the Gaṇa. Vibhu of great exploits was elected Indra. The demon Śāntaśatru was killed by Viṣṇu in the guise of a Swan.
- 22-23. The sons of the sixth Manu Cākşuṣa were:—Ūru, Pūru of great strength, Śatadyumna who performed penances, Satyabāhu, Kṛti, Agniṣṇu, Atirātra, Sudyumna and Nara. The seven sages were: Haviṣmān, Sutanu the glorious, Svadhāman, Viraja, Abhimana, Sahiṣṇu and Madhuśrī.
- 24. There were five ganas each with eight deities. They were Āryas, Prasūtas, Bhāvyas, Lekhas and Pṛthukas.
- 25. Manojava was elected Indra and his enemy was Mahākāla of long arms. He was killed by Lord Vişņu in the guise of a horse.
- 26-28. The sons of the seventh Manu Vaivasvata who were great devotees of Viṣṇu were : Ikṣvāku, Nābha, Viṣṭi, Śaryāti, Haviṣyanta, Pāmśu, Nabhas, Nediṣṭha, Karūṣa, Pṛṣadhra and Sudyumna. The seven sages were Atri, Vasiṣṭha the dignified, Jamadagni, Kaśyapa,
- 29. Gautama, Bharadvaja and Viśvamitra. There were fortynine Maruts.
- 30. The Adityas, Vasus and Sadhyas together constituted the Dvadasaka Gaņa.
- 31. The Rudras were eleven in number, Vasus were eight; the Aśvins are stipulated as two and Viśvedevas were ten in number. The Angiras were also ten and nine Devagaņas.

- 32. Tejasvin was elected Indra. Hiraņyākşa was his enemy. This demon was killed by Lord Viṣṇu in His incarnation as the Boar.
- 33. I shall now enumerate the future Manus (and their sons and followers). The sons of the eighth Manu named Sāvarņi will be Vijaya, Arvavīra, Nirdeha, Satyavāk, Kṛti, Variṣṭha, Gariṣṭha, Vāca and Sangati.
- 34. The seven sages will be: Aśvatthāmā, Kṛpa, Vyāsa, Gālava, Dīptimān, Rṣyaśṛṅga and Rāma.
- 35. The chief deities will be Sutapas and Amrtabhas; their ganas are twenty in each.
 - 36. Virocana's son Bali will be elected Indra.
- 37. After giving his realm to Vişnu who will be begging for three steps, he will forsake his Indra-hood and achieve salvation.
- 38. Listen to the names of the sons of Daksasavarņi descendant of Varuņa. He will be the ninth of Manus. The sons will be: Dhṛṣṭiketu, Dīptiketu, Pañcahasta, Nirākṛti, Pṛthuśravas, Bṛhaddyumna, Rcīka, Bṛhata and Guṇa.
- 39-40. The seven sages will be Medhātithi, Dyuti, Sabala, Vasu, Jyotişmān, Havya and Kavya. Vibhu, Marīci and Garbha will be elected Indra. The three will be strictly observing their duties. Kālakākṣa will be the enemy of gods. Lord Padmanābha will kill him.
- 41-42. Listen to the names of the sons of the tenth Manu, Dharmaputra. They will be Sukşetra, Uttamaujas, Bhūriśrenya the virile, Śatānīka who will have no enemies, Vṛṣasena, Jayadratha, Bhūridyumna and Suvarcas. Śānti will be elected Indra. He will be valorous.
- The seven sages will be :—Apomūrti, Havişmān, Sukṛta, Avyaya, Lābhaga, Apratima and Saurabha.
- 44. The hundred Pranas will constitute the Devataganas.
 Bali will be the enemy whom lord Hari will kill with his mace.
- 45-48. I shall tell you the names of the sons of Kudraputra the eleventh Manu. They will be Sarvatraga, Suśarman, Devānīka, Puru, Guru, Kṣetravarṇa, Dṛḍheṣu, Ārdraka and Putraka. The sages will be Haviṣmān, Haviṣya, Varuṇa, Viśva, Vistara, Viṣṇu and Agnitejas. Vihaṅgamas (skywanderers) Kāmagamas (Going as they pleased) Nirmāṇarucis and

1.87.64 271

Ekaikarucis will constitute the Ganas. Vṛṣa will be elected as Indra. Daśagriva will be the enemy. The lord Śrirūpin will kill him.

- 49-50. Listen to the names of the sons of Dakşaputra, the twelfth Manu. They will be Devavan, Upadeva, Devaśrestha, Vidūratha, Mitravan, Mitradeva, Mitrabindu the virile, Mitravan vaha and Pravaha.
- 51. The seven sages will be Tapasvin, Sutapas, Tapomūrti, Taporati, Tapodhrti, Tapodyuti and Tapodhana.
- 52. Sutapas who will be observing the duties, Harita, Rohita, and Suraris constitute the ganas each consisting of ten.
- 53. Rtadhaman will be elected as their noble Indra. Taraka will be their enemy. Lord Hari assuming the form of a eunuch will kill him, O Sankara.
- 54-57. Know from me the names of the sons of Raucya the thirteenth Manu. They will be Citrasena, Vicitra, Tapodharmarata, Dhṛti, Sunetra and Kṣetravṛtti. The seven sages will be Dharmapa the firm or steady, Dhṛtimān, Avyaya, Niśārūpa, Nirutsuka, Nirmāṇa, and Tattvadarśin. The gaṇas will be constituted by Svaromans, Svadharmans, Svakarmans and Amaras consisting of thirtythree sections. Divaspati will be elected Indra and the enemy will be Iṣṭibha the great demon.
- 58. Lord Mādhava will kill him in the guise of a peacock. Listen to the names of the sons of Bhautya the four-teenth Manu from me.
- 59. They will be: Uru, Gabhīra, Dhṛṣṭa, Tarasvin, Grāha, Abhimanin, Pravīra, Jiṣṇu, Samkrandana, Tejasvin, and Durlabha.
- 60. The seven sages will be:—Agnīdhra, Agnībāhu, Māgadha, Šuci, Ajita, Mukta and Šukra.
- These five constitute the gaņas Cākṣuṣas, Karmaniṣthas, Pavitras, Bhrājins and Vācāvṛthas, each having seven sections.
- 62-64. Suci will be elected Indra. His enemy will be the demon Mahadaitya. Lord Hari will Himself kill him. Lord Vișpu though single by Himself will assume the form as Vyasa and write the Purăņas and propagate them. Eighteen lores constitute the six Angas, the four Vedas, Mimāmsā, Nyāyavistara, Purāṇas, Dharmaśāstras, Āyurveda, Arthaśāstra, Dhanurveda and Gāndharva (musicology).

CHAPTER EIGHTYEIGHT

Story of Ruci

Sūta said :

1. Lord Hari narrated the Manvantaras to Lord Siva, Brahmā and others. The sage Mārkaņdeya narrated to Krauncuki the hymn of the Manes. Listen to that.

Markandeya said :

- Formerly, Ruci, an elderly sage, free from attachment to the world, devoid of egotism and for whom Maya (Ignorance) was well-nigh put to rest, was roaming about in the world here and there.
- 3. Seeing the sage not nursing the sacrificial fires, not staying in a permanent abode, not fulfilling the duties of (householder's) Aśrama (stage in life) and satisfied with a single meal (anywhere), his ancestors addressed him.

The Manes said :

- 4-5. "Dear Son, wherefore has the holy wedlock not been entered into by you? Of course it is a binding fetter since it is the bridge that unites Heaven and earth. Hence, a householder performing due and deserving hospitality to deities, manes, sages and suppliants without meat, shall attain the higher worlds.
- 6. By repeating Svaha, the householder propitiates the deities; by repeating Svadha he propitiates the manes, by gifts of food he propitiates servants and guests.

- O mortal Sage! You too have fallen into a bondage by incurring debts to gods, to us and to all living beings day after day.
- 8. Without begetting sons, without performing Tarpanas to the manes and without shaving off your head (in Sannyāsa) how can you wish for heaven?
- 9. O son, know that only pain will befall you and that too by your unjustifiable act. If you die, either you go to hell or suffer pain in the next birth.

Ruci said :

- Wedlock is conducive to greater distress, sin or fall.
 Hence I did not marry sire.
- 11. One is held in suspense by a momentary consultation; there seems to be no way out for salvation; this will be the result if I enter into matrimony.
- 12-13. The soul which is tarnished by the multifarious acts of innumerable births has to be washed by the water of knowledge of reality with a full curb on the sense-organs. A soul free from the ties of wedlock may still be tainted with the feeling of "my-ness"—an obsession of possession. Yet it is better and easier to wash it off by the water of learning.

The Manes said :

- 14. "Dear son, no doubt, the soul has to be scrubbed of its impurities by curbing the sense-organs. Yet the path you have chosen as the remedy is not the suitable one.
- 15-16. Dispelling the effects of good and bad actions of the previous births by means of five sacrifices (Pañca-yajñas) austerities and charitable gifts and performing the duties (enjoined by sacred circles) one is not fettered by that action like the one resulting from transgressing the same. There will never be any obstacle.
- 17. Dear son, sin, or merit accumulated by previous actions is wasted away steadily when one experiences the fruits thereof whether pleasure or sorrow.
- 18. It is thus that intelligent men wash off their souls and save them from bondage. If they protect themselves with discretion they are not sullied by the taint of sin.

Ruci said :

19. Noble sires! The paths of activities are condemned in the Vedas as the sequel of ignorance. Still, wherefore do you enjoin the same on me?

The Manes said :

- 20. It is wrong to say that everything is the result of ignorance and actions constitute the cause of the same. But there is no doubt that action is the cause of extension of learning (or true knowledge).
- 21. The good never invite trouble by not doing the rites mandatorily enjoined. A self-restraint coupled with it is conducive to salvation, otherwise it leads to fall.
- 22. What you consider to be the excellent way out with the attitude "O I am washing off" (is wrong); you will be burnt by the sins of dereliction of duty.
- 23. Even the illusion, like poison (which nullifies other poisons and helps) is conducive to good; as a means for the performance of duties it is not fettering though capable of it.
- 24. Hence, dear son, find out a suitable girl and marry her. Let not your life be in vain without the assurance of attaining the other world and its benefit.

Ruci said :

25. O sires, I am now an old man. Who will provide me with a wife? It is difficult for a poor wretch to go in for marriage.

The Manes said :

- 26. O son, If you do not appreciate our advice, our degradation and your fall is certain. You should render our advice into practice.
- 27. After saying this, O noble sage (Krauncuki), the manes suddenly vanished like lamps blown out by the wind, even as Ruci stood gazing at them.
- 28. Thus Markandeya narrated to Krauncuki the entire episode of Ruci involving his conversation with the manes.

CHAPTER EIGHTYNINE

Story of Ruci

Sūta said :

- 1-2. When requested by Krauncuki Markandeya continued the story: Ruci became worried and anxious on hearing the last utterance of the Manes. In his search for a wife the brahmin sage wandered over the world. He could not get any girl. The utterance of the manes kindled him. He became agitated and excited and began to ruminate.
- 3. "O what shall I do? Where shall I go? How can I secure a wife? How is it possible to uplift myself and my ancestors quickly?"
- 4. Thus ruminating he thought of an idea. "O I shall propitiate Brahmā the lotus-born god by means of penance!"
- 5. He stayed in a forest for a long time leading a disciplined life and propitiating (Brahmā). With a concentrated mind he performed divine austerities for full one hundred years.
- 6. Brahmå the patriarch of worlds revealed himself to the sage and said—"I am pleased. Let me hear what you desire."
- 7. Thereupon the sage bowed down and told Brahma the ultimate refuge of the universe what he was desirous of doing at the bidding of the manes.

Brahmā said :

- 8-9. You shall be a Prajapati (a progenitor of children). O Brahmin, after begetting children and performing sacred rites, you shall achieve the desired results. Hence, go ahead in your attempt to secure a wife as advised by the manes.
- 10. With desire in your mind worship the manes who being duly propitiated, will bestow upon you what you desire. Won't they, your grandfathers when propitiated provide you with a wife and sons?

Markandeya said:

-11. After hearing the words of Brahma born of the un-manifest, the sage Ruci performed Tarpana unto the manes on the sacred banks of a river.

12. With reverence he thought of the manes with pure and concentrated mind and stooping his shoulders with due devotion the brahmin adored the manes by means of the following verses in prayer.

Ruci said :

- 13. "I bow unto the manes with devotion—the manes who reside amidst the deities and who are propitiated by the deities during Śrāddhas, with mantras ending with 'Svadhā.'
- 14. I bow unto the manes who are propitiated by the sages in the heaven desirous of devotion and salvation by Śrāddha performed mentally with great devotion.
- 15. I bow unto the manes whom the Siddhas in heaven propitiate during Śrāddhas by means of unrivalled divine offerings.
- 16. I bow unto the manes who are worshipped with devotion by the Guhyakas¹ in heaven who desire an identical prosperity that is the utmost possible.
- 17. I bow unto the manes who are worshipped by men in the world during Śrāddhas with perfect faith and who bestow full nourishment of the desired world.
- 18. I bow unto the manes who are worshipped by the brahmins in the world for the acquisition of the object of desire as they are the bestowers of Prajapatya (State of being a Progenitor).
- 19. I bow unto the manes who are propitiated by the dwellers in the forest who exercise full control over their diet and who have dispelled their sins by penance, in their Śrāddhas with articles produced in the forest.
- 20. I bow unto the manes who are propitiated by Samadhis (mystic trances) by brahmins of great self discipline, righteous activities and self-control over the senses.
- 21. I bow unto the manes whom the great kings propitiate during Śrāddhas with every kind of Kavyas (food oblations) as they are the bestowers of fruits of both the worlds.
 - 1. Attendants of Kubera and guards of his treasury.

- 22. I bow unto the manes who are worshipped by Vaisyas devoted to their special functions and who use flowers, incense, foodstuffs and water for the worship.
- 23. I bow unto the manes famous throughout the world as Sukālins and worshipped by even Sūdras with great devotion.
- 24. I bow unto the manes who have nectar for their diet and who are propitiated in Pātāla by the demons who have forsaken their haughtiness and pride.
- 25. I bow unto the manes who are worshipped in Rasatala during Śraddhas by the Nagas desirous of attaining cherished wishes, by means of offerings not leaving anything.
- 26. I bow unto the manes who are duly propitiated there itself (in Rasatala) by Sarpas (Serpents) fully equipped with riches, mantras and all food offerings.
- 27. I bow unto the manes directly who reside either in heaven or on the Earth or in Ether worthy of being worshipped even by Rākṣasas. Let them accept what is offered by me.
- 28. I bow unto the manes who retain their reality and who stay in their aerial chariots in airy unembodied forms and whom the Yogiśvaras (great yogins) worship in their unsullied minds the manes who cause the removal of all pains.
- 29. I bow unto the manes in heaven the Svadhadieted embodied ones, who are capable of bestowing all wishes in case the devotee has any charished desire and who are competent to bestow salvation if the devotee has no special desire.
- 30. Let the manes be propitiated with the Tarpana ceremony. The manes bestow the desired objects upon those who desire the lordship of deities, devahood or even greater things or elephants, horses, gems or great mansions.
- 31. Those who stay in the rays of the moon, or in the disc of the sun or in a white aerial chariot for ever shall be propitiated by this. Let those manes be nourished by the food oblations, water and fragrance.
- 32. May the manes be propitiated by food and water in sacred rite the manes who are satiated when the Havis is offered in the fire, who take in food by staying in the bodies of the brahmins and who are delighted by the offerings of Pinda.

- 33. By this sacred rite delighted may the manes be who are sought to be pleased by gods with the flesh of the Rhinoceros, the black gingelly seeds, of divine origin and pleasing appearance, and by great sages with Kāla Śāka (Black vegetable).
- 34. Let those Kavyas (food offerings) which delight the manes worthy of my respect, be present, in their entirety, in these flowers, fragrant water and food offerings prepared by me.
- 35. Let this sacred rite offer satisfaction to the different manes who receive worship daily, who are to be worshipped at the end of every month, or on Astakas (the 7th, 8th and 9th days of the lunar fortnight), or at the end of a year or on special occasions of prosperity or victory.
- 36-37. Some manes white like the moon or the Kunda flower are to be worshipped by brahmins; the manes coloured like the fire and the Sun are to be worshipped by the Kṣatriyas; the manes of golden hue are to be worshipped by the Vaiśyas and the manes coloured like the indigo are to be worshipped by the Śūdras. Let these manes be delighted and satiated by my offerings of flowers, incense, water and foodstuffs as well as by Agnihoma. I bow unto those manes always.
- 38. Let those manes be delighted with this rite the manes who partake of the Kavyas, auspiciously offered for their satiation after giving precedence to the deities and who when delighted create prosperity. I bow unto them.
- 39. Let the primordial manes of the deities worthy of worship even by Indra, be satisfied with this sacred rite and let them remove all evil spirits, bad ghosts, goblins of fierce type and miseries of the people. I bow unto them.
- 40. Let the different types of manes, viz. Agnişvāttas, Barhişads, Ājyapas and Somapas be propitiated by this Śrāddha. I have offered Tarpaṇa unto them.
- 41. Let the groups of manes Agnişvāttas, protect the eastern side; let the manes, Barhişads, protect the southern side; Ajyapas west and Somapas the north.
- 42. Let the manes accord me protection from evil spirits, ghosts, geni, goblins, all round.

1.89.57

43-48. Let the thirty one sets of manes by whom the entire universe is pervaded be satisfied with what I have offered. The sets are as follows:—The nine sets are these:—Viśvas, Viśvabhuks, Ārādhyas, Dharmas, Dhanyas, Śubhānanas Bhūtidas, Bhūtikṛts and Bhūtis. The six sets are these:—Kalyāṇas, Kalyadas, Kartṛs, Kalyas, Kalyatarāśrayas and the sinless Kalyatāhetus. The seven sets are these:—Varas, Vareṇyas, Varadas, Tuṣṭidas, Puṣṭidas, Viśvapātṛs, and Dhātṛs. The five sets dispelling sins are:—Mahāns, Mahītmans, Mahitas, Mahimāvāns and Mahābalas. The four sets are:—Sukhadas, Dhanadas."

Mārkandeya said :

- 49. As he (Ruci) was repeating this prayer, a high column of brilliant light came into view suddenly spreading over the sky.
- 50. On seeing that column of brilliant light enveloping the world, Ruci knelt on the ground and sang this hymn.

Ruci said :

- 51. I offer my salutations to the manes who are worshipped, disembodied, of brilliant splendour, endowed with divine vision and engaged in meditation.
- 52. I offer my salutations to the manes who bestow cherished desires and who are the leaders of Indra and other gods, Dakşa and Mārīca and of the seven sages and others.
- 53. I offer my salutations to the manes who are the leaders of Manu and others, the sun and the moon. He (Manu) uplifted even the manes?
- 54. With palms joined together I offer my salutations to the manes of stars, planets, wind, fire, sky, heaven and Earth.
- 55. With joined palms I offer salutations unto Kasyapa Prajapati, Soma, Varuna and all Yogesvaras.
- 56. I make obeisance to the seven ganas in the seven worlds. I offer salutations to Brahman the self-originated and endowed with yogic vision.
- 57. I offer salutations to the groups of manes called Somadharas, Yogamurtidharas, and the moon the father of worlds:

- 58. I make obeisance to the manes who have assumed the form of fire and others as well. The universe is permeated by fire and the moon and it is meet that I make my obeisance to them.
- 59-60. Those who are in the Cosmic fire, those who have assumed the forms of the moon, sun and fire, those who have assumed the form of the Universe and those who have assumed the form of Brahman obeisance, obeisance, obeisance unto all those Yogins and manes. I have purified my mind. Let manes, whose diet is Svadhā, be delighted."

Markandeya said :

- 61. Thus glorified by him (Ruci) those excellent sages, the manes, came out of that brilliant column of light illuminating the quarters.
- 62. He saw them standing in front smeared and embellished with flowers and fragrant unguents offered by him.
- 63. Kneeling and then with palms joined in reverence the devout Ruci said like this with respect "Obeisance to you all, obeisance to you all."
- 64. The delighted manes said to the sage, "Choose your boon". Ruci with stooping shoulders said:

Ruci said :

65. "Brahmå has entrusted me with the task of initiating the creation of a new set of people. I wish for a wife satisfactory in every respect, divine in origin and capable of conceiving."

The manes said:

- 66. "O noble sage, presently, here itself a very comely maiden shall be your wife. You will beget of her a son too.
- 67. O Ruci, he will be renowned as Raucya. He will be the founder of a Manvantara named after him.
- 68. Many sons will be born to him who will be endowed with strength and valour. They will be noble souls reigning over the world.
- 69. You will become a Prajapati and create four sorts of people. When your power wanes you will achieve the final goal, well versed in Dharma that you are.

- 70-71. We will be pleased with the man who will adore us with devotion with this hymn. We will bestow on him the gift of sons, enjoyments, interest in meditation, longevity, health, wealth and a flourishing family. Hence, we are to be adored with this hymn for ever by those who wish for these.
- 72-73. If any one recites this hymn that delights us in Śrāddhas in front of excellent Brahmins taking food we shall be present there delighted by hearing this hymn. Then, undoubtedly the Śrāddha shall be everlasting in benefits.
- 74-76. Even if a Śrāddha were to be Aśrotriya (not presided over by a Vedic Scholar), even if it be defective, or performed with the money acquired by illegal means, even if the materials used are unworthy of Śrāddha, if it is performed untimely, if it is performed in an unworthy place, if it is performed breaking the rules and canons, if it is performed without faith or if the persons performing it are haughty (in spite of all these defects) the Śrāddha shall be delightful to us if this hymn is recited.
- 77. Our satisfaction will last for twelve years if in a Śrād-dha this hymn pleasing to us is recited.
- 78-79. This hymn will delight us for twelve years if the Śrāddha is in the season of Hemanta (early winter) and for twentyfour years—in Śiśira (late winter). It will give us satisfaction for sixteen years if the recitation is in Vasanta or Grisma (spring and summer).
- 80. O Ruci! even if the Śrāddha is incomplete our satisfaction will be endless if in the rainy season this hymn is recited.
- 81. If this hymn is read by men at the time of Śrāddha in the season of Śarad (autumn) it will give us delight lasting for fifteen years.
- 82. We will grace with our presence that house in which this hymn is written and preserved, whenever Śrāddha is performed.
- 83. Hence you, O fortunate one, shall recite this hymn elevating us, at the time of Śrāddha, in front of brahmins taking food there."

CHAPTER NINETY

Story of Ruci

Markandeya said :

- 1. Then from the middle of the river rose up Manorama (a comely maiden). The celestial damsel Pramloca was nearby...
- Making obeisance to Ruci again and again the celestial damsel Pramloca addressed Ruci the noble soul in sweet words.
- The noble soul Puşkara, son of Varuna, begot a beautiful girl due to my favour.
- 4. Accept this beautiful girl for wife. Your son will beborn of her who will become a Manu of great intellect. Markandeya said:
- Ruci accepted the offer by saying "so be it" and it was as it were he lifted up a woman of good body and mind out of the river.
- On the banks of that river the noble sage took the hand of the girl duly.
- 7. The son of Ruci was born of that lady. He became famous as Raucya as narrated by me before.

CHAPTER NINETYONE

Worship of Hari

Sūta said :

- Sages Svåyambhuva Manu and others meditated on Hari. They became devoted to regular rituals, worship, good conduct, meditation, prayer and recital of names.
- 2. Hari who is devoid of body, sense organs, mind, intellect, vital breath, ego. (Hari) who is devoid of Ether and fiery essence.

3. Free from water and its attributes, free from Earth, devoid of all living beings.

- 4. The presiding deity of all living beings, the enlightened, the controller, the lord, the extensive, the sentient, presiding deity of everything, the unsullied.
- Free from attachment, the great lord, worshipped by all deities, the brilliant, free from Sattva quality, devoid of Tamas quality.
- Free from Rajas; aloof from three qualities, devoid of all colours, devoid of Kartrtva (the state of being the doer) etc.
- Free from Vāsanās (impressions and evil propensities) the pure, free from all defects devoid of thirst, free from sorrow and delusion.
- 8. Free from old age and death, the steady, devoid of delusions, having no birth, having no dissolution.
- Devoid of all conduct of life, the true, the untainted, the supreme lord, free from the states of wakefulness, dream, sound slumber, devoid of names.
- 10. Presiding deity of the states of wakefulness, of tranquil form, lord of gods, stationed in wakefulness, the everlasting, free from causes and effects.
- 11-12. Observed by all, the embodied, the subtle, still subtler, endowed with the vision of knowledge, knowing through the ears, the blissful in form, free from the three cosmic forms of Visva, Taijasa and Prājña, the fourth imperishable entity.
- 13. Protector of all, destroyer of all, having the form of the soul of all living beings, free from the attributes of intellect, devoid of support identical with Siva and Hari.
- 14. Free from disintegration, known and realised through Vedanta (metaphysics), of the form of Vedas, the supreme living being, the auspicious beyond the sense organs.
- 15-16. Devoid of primary attributes of Sound, Taste, Touch, Colour essence, Colour and Smell, the beginningless, the Brahman, the end of the hole I am the Brahman.
- 17. O Mahadeva, a man of controlled sense-organs shall meditate thus. He who meditates thus becomes identical with Brahman.

18. O Vṛṣadhvaja, thus I have expounded the meditation of the supreme god, what else shall I expound to you now?

CHAPTER NINETYTWO

Meditation on Visnu

Rudra said :

1. O the bearer of Śańkha, Cakra and Gada, please expound again the process of meditation of Viṣṇu, a knowledge whereof makes a man happy in having fulfilled his task.

Hari said :

- I shall expound the meditation on Hari that suppresses the machinations of Māyā. O Hara, the meditation is of two kinds, one on the embodied and the other on the unembodied.
- 3-4. The one on the unembodied has already been explained. I shall expound the one on the embodied. By those who seek salvation Hari has to be meditated as refulgent like a crore of suns, the victorious, uniformly resplendent, white as the Kunda flower and cow's milk, endowed with the large gentle Sankha.
- Endowed with the discus resembling a thousand suns, fierce with a series of shooting flames, the tranquil, of auspicious face, having the mace in his hand.
- 6. Equipped with the priceless crown brilliant with gems, having weapons, the omnipresent, the shining, holding the lotus.
- 7. Wearing the garland of wild flowers, the pure, of even shoulders, having golden ornaments, good garments, of pure body, having good ears, stationed in the lotus.

8. Of golden body having good necklaces, good bracclets, the armlet, equipped with the garland of wild flowers.

9. Having the mark Śrīvatsa and the gem Kaustubha, Lakşmī's eyes fixed on him, equipped with the qualities such as Anima, the originator and the destroyer.

- 10. Worthy of meditation of the sages, the deities and the asuras, extremely beautiful, stationed in the hearts of living beings from Brahmā to a blade of grass.
- 11. The eternal, the imperishable, the pure, the lord blessing all, Nārāyaṇa the great God with his earrings shaped like the Makara fish shining profusely.
- 12. Destroyer of all harassments, worthy of worship, the auspicious, destroyer of the wicked, the immanent soul of all, omniformed, omnipresent, destroyer of evil influence of planets.
- 13. Having beautiful rings, and shining nails, worthy of being approached as refuge, the pleasing, of gentle form, the great lord.
- 14. Having all ornaments, smeared with sweet sandal paste, accompanied by all Devas, the doer of what is pleasant to the gods.
- 15. Seeking the benefit of all worlds, the lord of all, conceiver of all, stationed in the sphere of the Sun, Fire, and Water.
- 16. Väsudeva, the sole meditator of the universe, should be meditated upon by those who seek salvation "I am Väsudeva", thus shall the soul be meditated upon Hari.
- 17-18. Those who meditate like this on Viṣṇu attain the final goal. Formerly, the sage Yājñavalkya meditated on the supreme lord of gods Viṣṇu, attained the position of the law-giver and finally the supreme region. O Śańkara, lord of gods, you also contemplate over Viṣṇu.
- 19. Those who recite this Visnudhyana attain the final goal, viz., liberation

CHAPTER NINETYTHREE

Teachings of Yajñavalkya1

Mahesvara said :

1. O Hari, the destroyer of Keśin, how was virtue expounded by Yājñavalkya formerly. Please explain to me as the facts are, O Mādhava.

Hari said :

 After making obeisance to Yājñavalkya who was staying in Mithilā, the sages asked him about the various duties of different castes. With due meditation on Viṣṇu the sage of controlled senses expounded the same to them.

Yājāavalkya said :

- 3-6. The virtue expounded hereafter is current in that country where the black deer roam about fearlessly. The Vedas in addition to Puranas, Nyāya, Mīmāmsā, Dharmasāstra, etc. are the basic lore for all kinds of learning and virtue. They are four-teen in number. The expounders of law are:—Manu, Viṣṇu², Yama², Angiras⁴, Vasiṣṭha⁵, Dakṣa, Samvarta, Śātātapa⁶,
- 1. A famous personality in Indian Literature. He is said to be a sage present in the court of King Janaka of Mithilä. He is also mentioned in the Mahābhārata. His name is closely connected with the Sukla-Yajurveda. Some hold that the Vājasaneyi Samhitā of the Sukla Yajurveda is known after his surname Vājasaneya. The Yājñavalkya-Smṛti is also known after his name. This Smṛti seems to be later than Manusmṛti. but is widely acknowledged as a Code of Hindu Law. The interpretation of the Mitākṣarā commentary by Vijñāneśvara on this Smṛti, is generally accepted by Indian Law Courts.
 - 2. Author of Vişnu-Dharma-Sütra.
 - 3. Author of Yama-smrti.
 - 4. Author of Angirasa-smrti or Brhad-angirasa-smrti.
 - 5. Author of the Vasistha-dharma-sûtra.
 - 6. Author of several smrti-works, Karma-vipāka, etc.

Parāśara¹, Āpastamba², Uśanas³, Vyāsa⁴, Kātyāyana⁵, Bṛhaspati⁶, Gautama⁷, Śaṅkha⁸, Likhita⁹, Hārīta¹⁰, and Atri¹¹. All these ever engaged in meditation of Viṣṇu have become expounders of law.

- 7. Whatever material or wealth is given at the proper time and place with due faith to the deserving is conducive to virtue.
- 8. Acting in a way pleasing to others, control of mind, non-violence, charity, self-study of the Vedas, realisation of Atman by means of Yoga—all these are Dharmas.
- Scholars in Vedic lore enumerate four and some say three. Whatever that may be those who are engaged in the worship of devas and have realised the soul maintain their own duties.
- 10. The four castes are Brahmins, Kşatriyas, Vaisyas and Sūdras. The first three are Dvijas (Twice born). The rites from Nişeka (sprinkling) to the cremation ground are performed with mantras.
- 11. The Garbhādhāna¹³ rite (conception) is after the menstruation; Purnsavana¹³ rite before the throbbing of the child in the womb; Sīmanta¹⁴ in the sixth or eighth month. The Prasava (delivery) and Jātakarma¹⁵ (birth) and
 - 1. Author of Parasara-smrti.
 - 2. Author of Apastamba-dharma-sūtra.
 - 3. Author of Ausanasa-dharmasastra
 - 4. Author of Vyasa-siddhanta.
 - 5. Various references to him are found in Sanskrit Literature.
- And profusely quoted as the author of a Smrti. Mentioned by Kautilya.
 - Author of Gautama-dharma-sūtra.
 - 8. Author of Sankha-smrti. Also mentioned in the Mahabharata.
- According to the Mahābhārata, the brother of Śańkha. The coauthor of Śańkha Likhita smrti.
 - 10. An oft-quoted author, who flourished before 600 A.D.
 - 11. Author of Atreya-dharma-sastra. Also mentioned in Manu-smrti.
 - 12. Authorities hold different views about its time.
 - 13. The aim is to beget a male child.
 - 14. Literally means parting (the child's) hair.
 - 15. This rite is performed to ensure the child's welfare.

12-13. Nămakaraṇa (naming) rites the eleventh day. Nişkrama¹ (coming out of the house) in the fourth month. The Annaprăśana³ (feeding with solid food) in the sixth month and Cūdākaraṇa³ (ceremonial cutting of the forelock) as per practice in the family. Thus the sin of seed and conception is nullified. To girls these rites are performed without reciting the mantras) but marriage is performed by reciting the mantras.

CHAPTER NINETYFOUR

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yājñavalkya said :

- 1. The sacred thread investiture of a brahmin shall be performed in the eighth year from conception or nativity; that of a Kşatriya in the eleventh year and that of Vaisya in the twelfth year or according to some, as is the convention in the family.
- After duly investing the disciple with the holy thread the preceptor shall teach him the Vedas along with the Mahavyāhṛti. He shall duly instruct him in the rules of hygiene and good behaviour.
- 3. He shall pass urine and evacuate his bowels with the sacred thread turned round his right ear facing the north if it is during the day or in the Sandhyas i.e. dawn, midday and dusk or facing the south if it is during the night.
- 4. The brahmin or others strictly adhering to the sacred rites shall hold the penis and stand up and wash it with earth and water till the bad smell and stickiness are removed.
- 5-7. A twice-born shall perform the purificatory ceremony thus. He shall sit on a clean ground facing
 - 1. In this rite, the child is taken out of the house for the first time.
 - 2. In this rite the child is fed for the first time with solid food.
- 3. In this rite, for the first time the child's hair is cut, but cade (a tuft of hair) is left on the head; hence the name cadakarans.

I.94.17. 289

north or east and perform Upasparsa (ceremonial touching) with the Brahmatirtha (pure water) between his knees. He shall touch the roots of the little finger, index finger, and the thumb and the tip of the hand respectively called Prajapatitirtha, Pitrtirtha, Brahmatirtha and Daivatirtha. He shall perform Acamana thrice and Unmarjana (wiping off) twice. He shall touch mouth, etc. ritualistically. The water shall be undisturbed and free from bubbles.

- 8. The brahmin shall be pure if the water reaches the heart; the Kşatriya if it reaches the throat and the Vaisya if it reaches the palate. A woman and a Sūdra shall become pure if the water touches the inner parts once.
- Bath, Mārjanam with the divine mantras, Prāṇāyāma, Sūryopasthāna (worship of the sun) and Gāyatrījapa shall be performed every day.
- 10. Gāyatrī should always be recited with its Śiras (head) and with the Vyāhṛti prefixed. Prāṇāyāma with the Praṇava is for three times (for every unit of japa).
- 11-12 The purity of Pranayama is in the three Rks that constitute the mantra and its deity. In the evening the Savitri shall be recited squatting down till the rise of stars. In the morning the Gayatri shall be recited standing facing the east till the sun rises. Thereafter both in the morning and evening sacrificial rites in fire shall be performed.
- 13. Then elders shall be bowed to saying "asau aham," etc. He shall then with great concentration and faith approach the preceptor for the study of Vedas.
- 14. He shall recite the Vedas when called upon to do so. He shall give the preceptor whatever he has and serve him with mind, body and speech activities.
- 15. The sacred staff, deer skin, thread and gitdle shall be worn. For sustenance let him beg alms of worthy brahmins.
- 16. In the morning, midday and the evening the alms shall be sought from brahmins, Kşatriyas and Śūdras.
- 17. After performing the rites in fine he shell take his food with the permission of the preceptor, duly taking in water in the-ritualistic way. He shall never find fault with the food served.

- 18. A student observing Brahmacarya shall take varieties of food if there is no risk. At the time of a Śrāddha, a brahmin can eat as he pleases but without prejudice to his Vrata.
- He shall avoid wine and meat and steam cooked food, etc.

He is called a preceptor who makes him do all rites and teaches him Veda.

- 20. He is Ācārya who initiates him with the investiture of sacred thread. He who teaches a portion of Vedas is Upādhyāya. The performer of sacrifice is called Rtvik.
- 21. All these people are to be honoured duly. One's own mother is superior to all these. For each Veda, the duration of study is for five or twelve years.
- 22-23. Some hold that the study shall continue till full comprehension. The Keśanta (cutting off hair) is at sixteen. The time limit for the investiture with the sacred thread is sixteen years for brahmins, twentytwo for Ksatriyas and twentyfour for Vaiśyas. If it is not performed during this period they become deprived of all virtues. The persons who become degraded by non-observance of Savitrī are called Vratyas. Sacrifices are to be performed without including the Vratyas.
- 24. The first three castes are called Dvijas (twice born) because after the first birth from mother they are born again with the sacred girdle girting round their body.
- 25. Vedas alone are indispensable for sacrifices, penances and sacred rites. They are conducive to the highest salvation.
- 26-27. The twice-born shall propitiate the deities with honey and milk and the manes with honey and ghee. Every day, the twiceborn shall recite the rk mantras, yajus, sāman and atharvāngiras mantras. With ghee and holy water he shall propitiate the manes and the deities.
- 28-29. The reciters shall not decry the Vedic passages or Puranas. Those who read and study the Vedas and epics every day according to capacity and propitiate the deities and manes shall be blessed with all desired objects when they are satisfied.
- 30. The regular study of different portions in the Vedas dealing with the diverse sacrifices shall bless him with the fruits thereof. The twice-born will reap the fruits of gifts of land and penances by study alone.

31-32. The Naisthika (life-long) Brahmacarin shall remain by the side of the preceptor or in his absence, of his son, wife or the sacrificial fire. He shall control his sense organs and lead a pure life finally attaining Brahmaloka never to be born again.

CHAPTER NINETYFIVE

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yājñavalkya said :

- 1-3. O sages, listen to the various duties of the house-holder. After giving fees to the preceptor and taking the ritualistic bath with his permission and concluding his student stage he shall marry a girl endowed with good characteristics. She shall be a virgin, younger in age, not sickly, having brothers not of the same rsi, lineage or Gotra¹, beyond the fifth remove on the mother's side, and the seventh remove on the father's and hence asapinda (unrelated).
- 4. A brahmin bridegroom must belong to the reputed ninety families of great Vedic Scholars or their own relation, a scholar without defects.
- 5. I do not approve of a brahmin's marriage with a Sūdra girl, for virtually he is born again of her (when he begets a son).
- A brahmin can marry a girl belonging to any of the first three castes; a kṣatriya can marry a girl belonging to two
- 1. Generally the Hindus trace their descent to a common male ancestor. Such a descent is called gotra. The prominent gotras were eight but they multiplied later on. "Gotra occurs several times in the Rgveda in the account of the mythic exploits of Indra. Roth interprets the word as 'cowstall', while Geldner thinks that 'herd' is meant. The latter sense seems to explain best the employment which the term shows in the later literature as denoting the 'family' or 'clan', and which is found in the Chandogya Upanisad. In the Grhya Sütras stress is laid on the prohibition of marriage within a Gotra, or with a Sapinda of the mother of the bridegroom—that is to say, roughly, with agnates and cognates." (VINS, p. 235-6).

castes and a vaisya only one, a sudra girl shall never be married by any of these.

- 7. There are many types of marriages among them; the Brāhma type is that in which the bridegroom is invited and a girl bedecked according to capacity is given in marriage. A son born of that girl sanctifies twentyone generations on either side.
- 8. The Daiva type of marriage is that in which the Rtvik in a sacrifice is chosen as the bridegroom. A son born of that wedlock sanctifies fourteen generations. If two cows are taken along with the bride the type of marriage is Arşa, the son born of that wedlock sanctifies six generations.
- 9. A marriage in which the advice, "both of you carry on your sacred duties together" is given, is called Sakāma (with love) marriage. A son born of that wedlock sanctifies six generations including himself.
- 10. In the Asura form of marriage, money is taken; in the Gandharva marriage, mutual love and consent is the criterion; in the Raksasa marriage, the bride is taken forcibly after a fight and in the Paisaca marriage, the girl is duped and married.
- 11. The first four types of marriage are recommended for brahmins; the Gandharva and the Raksasa type for kings; the Asura type for vaisyas and the despicable last type for the śūdras.
- 12. If a brahmin marries a brahmin girl, the hands are clasped together; if a kṣatriya girl, she catches hold of an arrow the other end of which is held by the bridegroom; the vaisya girl holds a goad.
- 13. The father, the grandfather, brother, a kinsman or the mother gives away the girl in marriage; the latter in case the former is not available.
- 14. A father not giving a daughter in marriage, incurs the sin of Bhrūṇahatyā (murder of the foetus) at every menstrual period. If no one gives her away in marriage, the girl is at liberty to choose her own lover.
- 15. A girl can be given in marriage only once; a person who abducts a girl should be punished like a thief; if an unsullied girl is forsaken he should be punished. A fallen girl should be forsaken at once.

1.95.28.

16-17. For producing a son and a heir in the family the brother-in-law or a cousin or a person of the same clan can have intercourse with an issueless widow till she conceives. If he touches her after that he becomes degraded. The son born thus is the legitimate son of the deceased husband.

- 18. A wife found guilty of adultery shall be compelled to wear dirty garments, shall be given only a single morsel daily, shall be rebuked and forced to lie on the bare ground.
- 19. The moon god has blessed women with purity; Gandharva has blessed them with sweet speech. Fire is always pure and women are always pure.
- 20. If a woman subjects herself to abortion, except in the case of adultery and for purposes of expiation, she becomes guilty of two great sins the murder of the foetus and the murder of her husband.
- 21. A wife addicted to wine, suffering from incurable diseases or inimically inclined can be forsaken. A wife of sweet speech should be maintained. Otherwise, O sages, great sin will result.
- 22-23. If there is no discord or dispute between the husband and wife, virtue, love and wealth flourish there. If the wife survives the husband but remains unmarried, she is praised in the world. After death she becomes delighted with goddess Umā. If a man divorces a chaste virtuous woman he shall give her a third of her ornaments back.
- 24-26. The highest duty of a woman is to carry out the behests of her husband. Sixteen nights subsequent to the monthly menstrual flow are the nights of rut for women. The husband shall restrain himself during the parvan (full moonnew moon days) when the stars maghā and Mūlā are ascendant and on the first four nights. Thereafter, on even nights, he can have intercourse with her. Thereby, he will be able to beget a healthy son of auspicious traits. If the woman is in a mood to receive him on any night he should satisfy her remembering that lust in women is terrible.
- 27-28. The husband should be loyal to his wife. Since women are to be well protected the husband, his brothers, father, mother or kinsmen should honour her with ornaments, raiments and foodstuffs. The wife should be able to maintain the household with a modicum of requisite things. She should be skilful, pleased with the minimum and reluctant to spend lavishly.

- 29-31. She should pay respects to her mother-in-law and father-in-law by touching their feet. A woman whose husband is away shall forsake sports, decoration of the body, attending festivities, boisterous laughter, visits to other people's house. During childhood the father shall protect the girl; during her youth the husband shall do so and during old age the son. If these are not available, kinsmen shall protect her. Whether during day or during night, a woman shall not stay outside her house without her husband.
- 32-33. Only the senior wife is entitled to take part in religious rites not the junior ones. If the wife had been of good conduct she should be cremated duly by the husband with Agnihotra rites. He can remarry duly for the preservation of Agnihotra. A woman who had been dutiful shall earn good name here and repair to heaven after death.

CHAPTER NINETYSIX

Teachings of lajñavalkya

Yājnavalkya said :

1-5. I shall enumerate the mixed castes and also the duties of the householders. A brahmin father and a kşatriya mother beget a Mürdhābhişikta. Similarly

Brahmin father + Vaisya mother > Ambaştha

" + Śūdrā " > Niṣāda, Parvata

Ksatriya father + Vaisya " > Mahisya

" + Śūdrā " > Mleccha

Vaisya father + Sudrā ,, > Karaņa

Kşatriya " + Brahmin " > Süta

Vaisya " + " " > Vaidehaka

Śūdra " + " " > Cāṇḍāla (Lowliest of all)

Vaisya Father + Kşatriya Mother > Magadha Sūdra ,, , , , > Kşattr Sūdra ,, + Vaisya ,, > Āyogava Mahisya ,, + Karanı ,, > Rathakara

- 6-7. These mixed castes are unprivileged ones whether Anulomaja (higher caste father and lower caste mother) or Pratilomaja (higher caste mother and lower caste father). On account of the intrinsic lostiness, they will have the rights of their original caste in the seventh generation if the duty has undergone change or in the fifth generation if the duty is the same. A householder shall perform everyday the rites according to the Smrtis in the fire first lighted on the occasion of marriage.
- 8-9. All rites laid down in the Vedas, except that of charitable gifts, shall also be performed in the marital fire. After answering the calls of nature and observing the requisite toilet and washing the teeth he should perform Sandhyā in the morning. After the fire sacrifice he should recite the Sūrya mantras with due faith.
- 10. He should understand the meaning of Vedic passages and the various Sastras. He should go to the temple of God for the acquisition and preservation of his desired objects.
- and worship the gods and the manes. According to capacity he shall read Vedas, Purāṇas and Itihāsas. In order to achieve the full result of Japas and Yajñas (sacrifice) spiritual Vidyā shall be practised. Oblations, Svadhāhoma, study of Vedas and reception of guests should be duly observed. The great sacrifices for ghosts, manes, Brahman and human beings shall be duly performed.
- 14. For Candalas and crows, cooked rice should be strewn on the ground. Cooked rice should be offered with water every day to the manes and human beings.
- day. Food shall not be cooked for one's own use exclusively. All children, elderly people, pregnant women, invalids, girls shall be fed duly and thereafter guests should be fed. Then the couple should partake of what is left over. With Prāṇāgnihoma (ritualistic taking in of a few grains) he should take his meal without finding fault with the food served.

- 17. Only after feeding the boys should he take in moderate quantities wholesome food after due digestion. The earlier part of the meal and the later one should be taken after drinking water.
- 18. The food should be taken in relishingly in a covered place. Charity should be given according to capacity to the guests and to people of all castes.
- 19. No such thought shall be entertained as "This guest is not worthy of bowing to", "This is the same as that one" with regard to guests. Even by reducing other expenses, alms should be given to mendicants and persons of good rites.
- 20-21. Whoever happens to come should be fed. A great bull should be consecrated and a Vedic scholar shall be fed thereby once in a year. Snātakas (those who perform ritualistic ablutions after sacrifices) preceptors, kings, friends, boys eligible for marriage, persons in anguish—all these shall be honoured and respected. All wayfarers are guests. A Śrotriya is a person who has mastered the Vedas.
- 22. These two (the guest and Vedic Scholar) should be honoured if a householder wishes to attain Brahmaloka. A householder shall never yearn for another man's food unless invited and unless it is what is not censurable.
- 23. He shall avoid the misuse of speech, hands and feet and over-eating. When the guest and the Vedic Scholar are fully satiated he shall accompany them up to the boundary of the village.
- 24-25. The remaining part of the day he shall spend in the company of good men, friends and relations. After performing the evening prayer, offering of ghee in the fire, etc., he should take food. Consulting the learned he should decide what is to be done for his own progress. He must get up in the Brahma muhūrta (before sunrise). A brahmin should be honoured with money, gifts, etc.
- 26-27. To the aged, grief-stricken and burden-bearers he should be a support leading the way. The common duties of the twice-born, the brahmins, vaisyas and kṣatriyas are sacrifice, study of the Vedas, charity, etc. The additional duties of a brahmin are acceptance of fees, presiding over sacrifices and teaching of the Vedas. The special duties of a kṣatriya are the administration of kingdom and the protection of the people.

- 28. Usury, agriculture, trading and cattle-breeding are the duties of a vaisya. The duties of a sudra are service to the - twice-born. A twice-born shall never neglect sacrifice.
- 29. The common qualities of the castes for the preservation of virtue constitute non-violence, truthfulness, non-stealing, purity, control of sense-organs, control of the mind, patience, straightforwardness, liberal-mindedness, equality and activities devoid of crookedness or deceit (roguery).
- 30. Those who have food-grains in stock lasting for more than three years can perform the Soma sacrifice and drink the Soma juice. Those who have in stock food-grains lasting for a year shall perform the preliminary rites of Soma sacrifice.
- 31. Every year, he shall perform the rites of Soma Sacrifice as well as Pasupratyayana, Grahaņesti and Caturmāsyarites carefully.
- 32. If these rites are not possible, the twice-born shall perform the sacrifice Vaisvanari. No sacrifice shall be performed with deficiency in the materials used. If the full complement of the materials are duly used, the sacrifice becomes fruitful.
- 33. If a sacrifice is performed utilising the money begged of a Sudra, the sacrificer becomes a Candala. A person pilfering articles gathered for a sacrifice becomes a crow or a vulture.
- 34. A person sustaining himself by gleaning rice grains has a better spiritual life than the one with a day's supply. He in turn is better than one with three days' supply. He is still better than one with a pot, full of grain who is himself better than one with a granary under his command.
- 35. A brahmin never craves for wealth that would interfere with his daily study of the Vedas. He should not seek it from any and every place. If he is terribly harassed by hunger he can seek money from a king, his pupil or a person of his clan. He should not earn by resorting to haughtiness, hypocrisy or cunning.

- 36. A householder should preferably wear a white cloth. Hair, moustache and nails shall be kept always clean. He should not take food unless supervised by his wife.
- 37. He should never speak unpleasant words. He should always be humble with the sacred thread on. While going round the idols in a temple he should hold the holy staff and water pot.
- 38. He should never pass urine in riverbeds, shady groves, ashes, cowsheds, running water, facing fire, sun, moon, cows, water, women and brahmins, or at the evening hours.
- 39. He should never gaze at fire, sun, a nude woman, a woman engaged in the sexual act, wine, saeces, etc. He should never sleep with his head to the west.
- 40. He should never spit in water nor pour blood, urine, faeces or poison in water. Feet should not be shown to fire for warming, nor should be jump across fire.
- 41. He should not drink water off his cupped palms nor should be waken up a sleeping person. He should not gamble with dishonest gamblers nor should he share the bed with a sick person.
- 42. All adverse activities should be eschewed. So also the smoke from a funeral pyre, river banks, the burning hair and husk and its ashes. He should never sit on a broken jar.
- 43. He should never pull a suckling cow, never enter a place except by the proper door. He should never accept bees from a miserly king decrying scriptures.
- 44-45. The annual Upākarma rite (Revising of Vedic study and expiatory rites) should be performed on the full moon day in the month of Śrāvaṇa, on Hasta asterism or fifth day of the bright fortnight, or on Rohiṇī asterism in the month of Pauṣa or on Aṣṭakā (7th, 8th or 9th) days. The Utsarga rite should be duly performed outside near a place where there is natural water.
- 46. (There are thirty seven Anadhyaya days (Holidays for Vedic Study) when any one of these—a disciple, a preceptor, a kinsman or a Rtvik dies three days are Anadhyāya, so also after the Upākarma and Utsarga rites, when a Vedic scholar of one's own branch of Veda dies.

- 47. At the Sandhyā hours, when thunder rumbles, when there is an earthquake, fall of a comet or a meteor, Vedic recital should be stopped and Āraņyaka portion is read.
- 48. The eighth, sourteenth and sisteenth days of the lunar half month, the eclipse days, the junctions of Rtus (seasons) and after taking a meal or accepting sees in a Sraddha,
- 49. When any animal—frog, mungoose, dog, snake, cat or pig walks between the teacher and the pupil, when the owl falls or flies up (Anadhyāya for the day).
- 50. When the sound of the barking dogs, howling jackals, braying asses, hooting owls, crying children or groaning sick patients is heard (Vedic Study is stopped). Where there is excreta, dead body or a Sudra nearby or cremation ground or a fallen sinner (cessation of Vedic study).
- 51. In an unclean place, on the highway, when there is thunder and lightning, when the man is having the hand still wet after taking meals, in the middle of two watery places, in the middle of the night or when there is a sandstorm (Anadhyāya).
- 52. When the quarters burn (when the sun blazes), when dust is raised during snowfall, when the preceptor is running, when there is foul smell of something rotting, when a "very important person" visits the house,
- 53. When mounting a mule, camel, cart, elephant, horse, boat, tree or a hill. These are the thirty seven Anadhya-yas or cessation of Vedic Study for special reasons for the nonce.
- 54. What is prohibited by the Vedas should not be performed. The preceptor's or king's shadow shall not be treaded on. Another man's wife should not be transgressed. Blood, faeces, urine, spit or vomited matter, etc. should not be treaded on.
- 55. Brahmins Serpents, Kşatriyas and the Atman should never be slighted. Leavings of food partaken, excreta, etc. should be kept far even from the extremity of the foot.

- 56. The acts enjoined by Vedas and Smrtis should be performed in faith. No one should be hit in vulnerable parts. No one should be censured or beaten. Only a son and a disciple can be beaten.
- 57. All virtues should be practised; nothing contrary to them. A householder should never have verbal disputes with his mother, father or a guest.
- 58. Without offering the five pindas he shall not take bath in another man's pond or well. A bath is better taken in a river, fountains and natural puddles and eddies.
- 59. The use of another man's bed and personal belongings should be avoided. Unless there is danger to life, food offered by a miser, enemy or a man without sacred fire should be refused.
- 60-64. Food offered by these people should never be eaten :-- a bamboo-worker, a calumniated person, a person practising usury, a person acting as priest of prostitutes and their flock, physicians to the low class people, eunuchs, professional stagers of plays, cruel, fierce, fallen Vrātyas, haughty people, persons partaking of other people's leavings after food, persons who misuse sacred texts, henpecked husbands, village priests, wicked kings, washermen, ungrateful, hangsmen, liars, backbiters, wine-merchants, bards, goldsmiths, etc. Meat should not be taken without consecration. Food mixed with hair or germs should not be taken. Food cooked more than twelve hours before, partaken by another, sniffed at by a dog, sprinkled over by a sinner, touched by a woman in her monthlycourse, squeezed or kneaded by others should be avoided. Insufficient food should also be avoided [or unlimited quantity of food should also be avoided]. Similarly, food sniffed at by a cow or a bird or trampled by anyone should be avoided.
- 65. Among Śūdras, these persons can serve food :— Dāsas¹, Gopālas², Kulamitras, Ardhasīrins, Nāpita³ and one who has dedicated himself to the task.
 - 66. Food cooked a day before can be taken if it has been seasoned with oil or ghee. No food prepared with wheat or barley should be taken after the lapse of a day unless it is fried in oil or ghee.

^{2.} A cowherd.

^{3.} A barber.

67. Milk of a camel, a single-hoofed animal (such as mare) and that of women should be avoided. The flesh of carnivorous animals, birds, Dâtyūha (gallinule), and parrots should be avoided.

68-71. After eating Sărasas, single-hoofed animal's flesh, swans, cranes, storks, swallows, unconsecrated Kṛsaras, Saṁyāvas, Pāyasas [all puddings], Apūpas, Śaṣkulis (fried macaronis)¹ the flesh of Kurara Jālapāda, Khañjarīṭa, Cāṣa (Jay) and other birds, fish, red-footed animals, the man should atone for the sin by fasting three days.

72. By eating garlic and onion one becomes sinful and as atonement one should perform Candrayana. If one takes meat after worshipping deities and manes in Śraddha one does not acquire sin.

73. If one kills animals otherwise (and eats their flesh) he will fall into hell and remain there for as many days as there are hairs on that animal. Eschewing flesh a devotee attains God Hari after due prayer.

CHAPTER NINETYSEVEN

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yejñavalkya said :

- 1. O good Sirs, I shall now expound the process of cleaning articles. Articles such as gold, silver, pearls, Śańkha, ropes, leather (?) seats (wooden) and vessels are cleaned with water.
- 2-3. The purification of sacrificial ladles is by hot water; that of grains by mere sprinkling; that of wooden and horn articles by paring and that of sacrificial vessel by scrubbing. Woollen or silken stuff is purified by a mixture of fresh cow's urine and hot water. Articles received as alms become pure when the mendicant sees his wife's face. A mud pot becomes pure by keeping it over fire.

I. A wag-tail.

4. If food is defiled by a cow sniffing at it or by hair, flies or worms it can be purified by sprinkling holy ashes over it. The ground is purified by sweeping or scrubbing.

5. Vessels made of brass, lead and copper are cleaned by acid solution or tamarind water. Iron and bell metel vessels are cleaned by ashes and water. A vessel not known to be impure is pure.

6. If a vessel is contaminated by faeces it shall be cleaned by clay and water till the bad smell and stickiness are removed. Natural water gladly drunk by cows is pure.

7. A piece of flesh dropped down by a dog, a caṇḍāla or a carnivorous animal is naturally pure. The sun's rays, fire, the shadow of a goat or a cow, the ground—all these are naturally pure.

8-10. The foam and froth of horses and goats are pure, their dung is also pure. After bath or a drink, after sneezing, sleep, taking food, traversing a street, and changing clothes one should perform Acamana twice. After sneezing, spitting, sleeping, shedding tears or changing clothes, if he does not perform Acamana he should touch his right ear. Gods of Fire, etc. stay in the right ear of a brahmin.

CHAPTER NINETYEIGHT

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yajñavalkya said :

1-2. I shall now expound the process of making gifts. Please listen, O noble sirs of excellent rites. Brahmins are superior to others and those who regularly observe rituals are still better. The person who has realised Brahman is superior to them. Know him to be the deserving person as he is endowed with penance. Cows, plots of land, gold, etc. should be given to deserving persons after duly honouring them.

1.98.13

- 3. A gift should never be taken by a person devoid of learning and austerity. By taking it he degrades the giver as well as himself.
- 4. Every day, gifts should be given to deserving persons particularly on festive or special occasions; when request is made, a gift should be given with reverence and according to one's ability.
- A milch cow with its horns cased in gold, hoofs in silver, should be given along with clothes, a bell-metal vessel and sufficient money.
- 6. Each horn is to be cased in a pala weight of gold; and each of the hoofs in seven pala weights of silver; the bell-metal vessel should be fifty palas in weight. The details of the calf are as mentioned before.
- 7. The calf may be a bull or a cow-calf. It should be given with a gold or silver vessel. The calf should be that of the cow itself and free from sickness.
- 8. The giver remains in heaven for as many years as there are hairs on the body of that cow. If the cow is tawny, it enables his seven generations to cross hell.
- 9. A cow in the act of delivery with two feet and the face of the calf protruding from the vagina is on a par with Earth.
- 10. A person who gives a cow free from sickness whether yielding milk or not, with or without the articles. should be honoured in heaven.
- 11. The massaging of the feet of a weary wayfarer, nursing a sick person, worship of god, washing the feet of brahmins, and scrubbing the place where brahmins have taken food—all these are on a par with the gift of a cow.
- 12. By giving a brahmin what he desires one attains heaven. By giving grounds, lamps, food, raiments and butter one attains prosperity.
- 13. By giving house,-grains, umbrella, necklace, trees, carts, butter, cool water, bed, and unguents, one is honoured in heaven.

- 14. The giver of the Vedas (in Manuscript) attains the region of Brahma not accessible even to the gods. Those who transcribe the Vedas with meanings, yajña śāstras, Dharma Śāstras, on payment, also, attain the region of Brahma.
- 15. Since God has created the universe with Vedas as the basis, collection of Vedic texts with bhasyas (commentories) should be done with effort.
- 16. He who transcribes Itihasas1 (Epics) or Puranas or makes a gift of them,
- Attains merit equal to that of gifting Vedic text or even twice the fruit.
- 18. A twice-born shall never listen to materialistic discourses, false arguments, speeches in prakrit² or foreign³ tongues, since these degrade him.
- 19. A deserving person who desists from accepting gifts attains the world of the giver of gifts. An offering of Kuśa grass, water, vegetables, milk and fragrant unguents shall never be refused.
- 20. For the propitiation of gods or guests or the manes whatever one gets without solicitation should be accepted even from a man of evil deeds except a prostitute, an impotent person, a fallen man or an enemy.

CHAPTER NINETYNINE

Teachings of Yajnavalkya

Yajñavalkya said :

- 1-2. I shall expound Śrāddha, the performance of which removes sins. The opportune time for Śrāddha is any of the following:—The New moon day, Aşţakā days (7th, 8th, 9th days in Pauşa, Māgha and Phālguna) any special prosperous occasion
 - 1. The term is especially applied to the Mahabharata. CDHM, p. 128.
 - 2. Prakṛtas generally meant the regional dialects.
 - 3. The reference is perhaps to the foreign languages.

1.99.14

of windfall, the Pretapakṣa (dark half of Bhādrapada) the two Saṅkrānti days (when the sun transits to capricorn and cancer) when one has sufficient wealth, when deserving brahmins are available, the equinoxes, the Vyatīpāta (deviation of planets), Gajacchāyā (thirteenth day in the dark half combined with Maghā star), solar eclipse, lunar eclipse, and a desire to perform Śrāddha.

- 3-5. The brahmins constituting the deities of Śrāddha should be from among these. A Great Śrotriya (Vedic Scholar) young man, a good astrologer, a man of Trimadhus, a Trisavarnika, a sister's son, Rtvik, son-in-law, preceptor, father-in-law, maternal uncle, a Trināciketa, daughter's son, a disciple, relatives, kinsmen, Brahmins scrupulously observing rituals, the Pañcāgni Brahmacārins and persons devoted to their mothers and fathers.
- 6-7. The following should not be entertained. A sickly person, a person deficient in limbs or having additional appendages, a one-eyed man, son of a widow after remarriage, a fallen sinner like Avakīrņa and those who do not conform to conventions, and an a-Vaiṣṇava (non-believer in Viṣṇu). These are not worthy of being invited for Śrāddha. They (the deserving brahmins) shall be invited the day before when they shall observe celibacy.
- 8. On the day of Śrāddha early in the morning they should perform Ācamana and sit in their respective seats called Daiva and Pitrya. If it is not possible to provide seats, on the ground itself.
- 9. In the Daiva (divine) seats two brahmins shall be seated facing east. In the Pitrya seats (of the manes) three brahmins shall be seated facing north.
- 10. The arrangement for maternal grandfathers also is the same but the mantras will be the same as in Vaiśvadeva Śrāddha. Water should be given for washing hands and Kuśa grass for seats.
- 11. Avahana—Invocation and Anujña (permission) with the Rk mantras of Visvedevas shall be performed.
- in a peculiar way) he should strew barley grains. With the mantra Sanno Devi, water should be sprinkled. With the mantra Yavosi barley grains shall be strewn. With the mantra Yā divyā they should be given in the hands. Similarly, scents, water, Pavitra and incense should be given. To the manes the offerings shall be made from right to left and water shall be sprinkled anticlockwise. Twice the number of Kuśa blades shall then be given. Pitṛs (manes) shall be invoked with the Rk Ušantas tvā. With the permission of the brahmins the house-holder should repeat the mantra Ayantu naḥ. The purpose of barley grains can be served with gingelly seeds. Arghya and other things shall be performed as before.

- 15. After giving Arghya he should duly make promise to the brahmins. With the mantra Pitrbhyah sthānam asi he should bend the vessel.
- 16-20. He should hold the cooked food soaked in butter and reciting the mantra Agnau karispe he shall obtain the permission and place it in fire. He shall then recite Gāyatri¹ with Vyāhṛti and Rks Madhu vātā, etc. and say Yathāsukham (as convenient to you). They should take food silently. Whatever food and Haviṣya they require shall be served them without anger.
- 21-23. Till the brahmins are fully satiated he shall be reciting holy mantras and the previous japas. He shall ask the brahmins Tṛpṭāḥ stha (are you fully satiated?) The brahmins shall reply: Tṛpṭāḥ smaḥ we are fully satiated. The cooked rice left over should be strewn on the ground slowly. After taking cooked rice with gingelly seeds he shall face the south and offer Piṇḍas near the place where the brahmins took their food. To maternal grandfathers also the same procedure gives Ācamana after that.
- 24. Then Svasti (hail thee) should be mentioned. Then the Akşayya Udaka (ever fruitful water) shall be offered to the brahmins along with the fee according to capacity. After that he shall proceed for Svadhākāra.
- 25. When the brahmins permit by saying Vācyatām (let it be recited) he shall say Pitrbhyah Svadhā (svadhā unto the manes) when the brahmins repeat it he should sprinkle water on the ground.

1.99.38

26-27. He shall say Visve devah priyantām (Let all devas be pleased) and offer water. "May those who give us flourish. Let Vedas flourish. Let not faith forsake us. Let us have much to give." Thus addressed by the brahmins he should bid them farewell with sweet words and salutation.

- 28. While bidding farewell he should recite Vaje Vaje. The Arghya patra in which the promise had been invoked before should be placed in proper position and the brahmins should be formally dismissed.
- 29. After going round in Pradakşina and prayer he should partake of the leavings of Pitrs along with his wife.
- 30. He shall remain celibate that night. At the ceremony of attaining prosperity the rites as well as fee are similar but with Nandi rites in addition the Pindas will be mixed with barley grains and Karkandhu¹ (cucumber) fruits.
- 31. The Ekoddista form of Śrāddha performed for a single mane in view has no seat assigned for Daiva. Only Pavitra is used. One dish is prepared.
- 32. It is devoid of Āvāhana (invocation) and Agnīkaraṇa (placing the Haviṣya in fire). There also the procedure is anticlockwise. In the place of ever fruitful water Upatiṣṭhatām (may you approach) is used at the time of farewell. *Abhi*ramyatām (may you be delighted) is also said when they reply Abhiratāḥ smaḥ (we are delighted).
- 33-34. In Sapindikarana ceremony four vessels with scents, water and gingelly seeds shall be used. For Arghya the Pitrpātra is kept covered with Pretapātra. Two mantras beginning with Ye samānā, etc. shall be recited. The other items are as in the previous.
- 35. The Ekoddişţa can be performed for the deceased women also. If Sapindîkarana is performed, a year after death,
- 36. Cooked rice with water pot (sodakumbha) should be offered at the end of the year. The Pindas can be given to cows, goats or brahmins or deposited in fire or water.
- 37-38. In that annual Sraddha in the first month let him offer Havişyanna (rice cooked with vegetables and soaked in ghee), in the second month milk pudding and in the succeeding month he should offer fish, or the flesh of deer, goats, bird, Ram, Prsata, Ena, Ruru, boar or rabbit. The grandfathers shall be satisfied with this offer with increasing relish every month.

^{1.} Zizyphus nummularia.

- 39-42. In the rainy month on the thirteenth day when there is Maghā star also, if any one dies being wounded by an arrow Śrāddha is performed from the first to the fourteenth day. He will obtain daughters, gold, children, valour, fields, strength prosperity, excellent sons, health, fame, freedom from sorrow, salvation, wealth, learning, fluency of speech, metallic wealth, cattle horses, if he duly performs the Śrāddha.
- 43-45. Similarly, when the manes of a brāhmaņa or a twice born are gratified under the stars Kṛttikā to Bharaṇī they give to him long life, progeny, wealth, learning, heaven or salvation or kingdom on earth.

- 1-3. Please listen and understand the symptoms of a person harassed by Vināyaka (Lord of impediments and obstacles]. The Victim suffers from hallucinations and dreams as if he or she plunges into deep waters and sees headless trunks and shaven heads. All enterprises being impeded and fruitless he becomes morose and exhausted without any apparent reason. The king is not restored to his kingdom, the virgin does not get a husband, and the pregnant woman does not get a son. The atonement and remedy is thus:— On an auspicious day he should be bathed duly. White mustard seeds and sandal paste should be ground together and kneaded with ghee. All medicinal herbs and fragrant essences should be mixed and the admixture smeared over the patient's head.
- 4-5. The patient is seated on an auspicious soft leather cushion red in colour. Brahmins are requested to recite Svastivācana mantras. Four pitchers of the same shape and colour are filled with water from the same pool. Clay, Rocana

(yellow pigment), sandal paste, and Guggulu (gum resin) are respectively put into them.

- 6-9. The brahmins then recite thus:—"The thousandeyed, hundred-currented flow which the sages drank deep is being poured over you. May the Pāvamānī (purificatory) hymns sanctify you. Let God Varuṇa the king Soma (moon) the sun, the planet Jupiter, the god Indra, the wind god and the seven sages resuscitate your lost splendour. Let ill luck sticking to your locks of hair, the line of parting hair, the head, the forehead, the ears, and the eyes be dispelled for ever."
- 10. After the ablution, Kuśa grass soaked in ghee shall be held round his head, and mustard oil be poured into his ears and over his forehead drop by drop.
- 11. With fire ignited in the public road invoked by Svāhā mantras, the evil spirits of Kūṣmāṇḍa¹ and Rājaputra shall be measured and bound.
- 12-14. In the Catuşpatha (where four roads meet) Kuśa grass shall be spread on the ground. Various kinds of cooked and uncooked food, flowers of various colours, sweet scents, wine of three kinds, curd, milk pudding, cooked food, ghee, jaggery sweets shall be placed on the ground. The preceptor then prays to the goddess Ambikā and offers the food offering with joined palms.
- 15. With Dūrvā grass and mustard seeds he shall perform "Svastyayana" (Bon-voyage) rites and pray to Ambikā for the birth of sons.
- 16. "Give me beauty. Give me fame, O Goddess, give me good luck. Give me sons, give me wealth. Give me all desired objects."
- 17. He shall delight the brahmins with white cloth and unguents. The preceptor shall be given a pair of cloths. The planets are then to be worshipped.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWO

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yajnava!kya said :

- 1. O sages, I shall expound the Vanaprastha (Retired life in Hermitage). The person who wishes to take to it shall go to the forest either alone or with his wife. If he goes alone he leaves his wife to the care of his son.
- A Vănaprastha observes celibacy, fosters the sacred fire, exercises control over mind and sense-organs, is patient, honours brahmins who keep sacred fire as also the manes, deities and guests.
- 3. He shall gratify even the servants. He shall grow long hair, beard and moustaches. He shall be perfectly self-controlled. He shall take three baths a day. He should not accept money charities.
- 4. He shall continue Vedic studies. He shall regularly meditate. He shall be engaged in what is beneficent to all living beings. He shall attend to his personal needs once or twice a month.
- 5-6. He shall lie on the bare ground. He shall do everything without worrying over the results. In summer he shall stand in the midst of five fires and in the rainy season he shall lie on the bare ground. In the winter he shall wear wet clothes. During the day he shall perform Yogic Exercises. He shall not be angry with anyone. He shall be contented with himself.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THREE

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yajnavalkya said :

1-2. I shall mention the duties of mendicants. O Noble Sirs, know them. After returning from the forest he shall first perform the sacrifice Sarva-Veda-Pradakṣiṇā and then the Prājāpatya Vrata. At the end of the rites he shall assimilate the fiery splendour in himself. He shall wish good for all living beings and be tranquil. Bearing three staffs and holding the water pot he shall resort to the village seeking alms and discard all physical labour for remuneration.

- Without erring he shall continue seeking alms. He should not be seen in the evening along with other mendicants roaming about in the village, or he may do simple journeys without being ever ambitious.
- 4. He should become a Paramahamsa (great saint) with a single staff and self control. When he finally achieves the yogic accomplishment and sheds the mortal body he will attain immortality.
- 5. By a regular practice of yogic exercises and taking food in small quantities he will have the great achievement. A donor, a person fond of guests, a householder who performs Śrāddha and knower (Jñānin) becomes liberated.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FOUR

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yājñavalkya said :

- A person who murders a Brahmin first falls into hell.
 When his sin has all but vanished he is born as a dog, a mule, a camel, etc., and finally when he is born as a man he is bound to become dumb.
- 2. The person who steals gold becomes a germ and a worm and a blade of grass. The person who sleeps with his preceptor's wife becomes a tuberculosis patient or one with black teeth and swollen nails or a leper. These bad results shall befall the children of the murderer.
- 3. The person who steals food grain becomes one who cannot eat at all. A person who steals the musical notes and instruments becomes a dumb man. A person who steals money has a surplus appendage of limbs. A back-biter becomes one whose nostrils begin to rot and putrefy.

- 4. A person who steals oil becomes one who drinks the same.
- 5-6. One who purchases a girl, becomes a demon in the forest; who steals a gem, becomes a base-born; who steals vegetables, becomes a peacock; thief of pearl-necklace becomes a strew; of grains, a rat; of fruit, a monkey; of animals, a goat; of water, a crow; of meat, an eagle; of cloth, a leper; and of salt, a ragged one.
- 7-9. A malicious person becomes one whose mouth is putrid or he is born devoid of good traits, poor, or base man. Persons with good conduct are born wealthy and endowed with food grains.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FIVE

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yajñavalkya said :

- A person is degraded when he fails to do what he is enjoined to do and does what is forbidden and also by not curbing his sense organs.
- 2. Hence expiatory acts have to be performed with great care for purification. Thereby his conscience becomes clear and the world he attains becomes pure.
- 3-6. The whole world becomes happy if he performs atonement whereby his sins are dispelled. Those who never do atonement and repent fall into hell, according to the gravity of sins. The names of different hells are:—Tāmisra, Lohaśańku (Iron bolted), Pūtigandha Samākula (agitated by putrefying smell), Hamsābha, Lohitoda, Sanjīvana, Nadīpatha, Mahānilaya, Kākolam, Andhatāmisra, Avīcī and Kumbha Pāka, a murderer of brahmins, a wine-drinker, a stealer of gold, a defiler of preceptor's bed and a person who associates with any of these—these and similar sinners fall into hell.
- 7-8. Decrying Vedas and despising preceptors are equivalent to the sin of murdering a brahmin in gravity. Taking food prohibited, low and base acts, and drinking the honey off the lips of a maiden in her monthly course are all akin to drinking of wine. Stealing of a horse is on a par with stealing of gold.

- 9. Coitus with a friend's wife, a virgin, a woman of a low caste, a woman of the same clan or one who gave birth to oneself-all these are sins akin to defiling of preceptor's wife.
- 10-12. Illegitimate intimacy with father's sister, mother's sister, aunt, one's own sister, mother's co-wife, her sister, preceptor's daughter and wife and one's own daughter—all these, are on a par with defiling preceptor's bed. The guilty man's penis should be cut off and he should be killed. The woman too shall be killed if she had been a willing partner in the illegal intercourse.
- 13-20. There are many Upapatakas (minor sins and turpitudes). They are :-slaughtering of a cow, stealing a brahmin's personal effects, non payment of debts, not maintaining sacred fires, trading, the younger brother's marrying when the elder brother is still a bachelor, learning from a servant, teaching a boss, adultery, abetment of Parivedana, Usury, sale of salt, killing of a good Śūdra, Vaiśya or Ksatriya, infamous livelihood, misappropriation of a deposit, breaking of a vow, sale of meet, sale of a cow, abandonment of father, mother or a friend, sale of tanks and parks, selling of daughter's ornaments, giving the post of the presiding priest in a sacrifice to a man guilty of Parivedana, giving one's daughter to such a man, crookedness, causing break in the vow of others, selfish ventures, cohabitation with a wine-drinking woman, forsaking of one's study of Vedas, sacred fires, son, and kinsmen, perusal of illegal and unholy literature, selling of oneself or one's own wife, all these are Upapātakas. Now know the process of atonement. A brahmin-slayer shall hold a broken skull over his head, loudly proclaim his guilt, beg for alms for sustenance and roam about for twelve years taking only very little food. He will thus be purified. Or in the alternative he shall perform some sacrifice or Graha Homa with the respective mantras-"Somebhyah Svāhā," "Lobhavān," etc. Thus also a sin of slaying a brahmin can be atoned for.

- 21-22. If a brahmin or a cow was killed for the sake of a brahmin, without much cruelty, the murderer shall read Vedasamhita three times residing in a forest in a holy atmosphere. Or he shall pray to Goddess Sarasvatī and deposit a pot of coins in the river Sarasvatī. If one kills a Kṣatriya or a Vaiśya in the act of performing a sacrifice, he too shall perform the expiatory rites of a brahmin-slayer.
- 23-25. The man guilty of abortion shall perform the Vrata "Trayīniṣūdana" according to the caste of the child killed. If a brahmin engaged in Savana is the victim of an attempted murder the would-be slayer should perform the Vrata twice. The expiatory rite for drinking wine is the drinking of red hot wine, ghee water and cow's urine. If the man does not die by drinking the hot liquid he shall perform the expiatory rite of a brahmin-slayer wearing barks of trees and matted hair, he now becomes pure. But he must have all brahminical rites all over again.
- 26. A brahmin woman drinking wine should similarly perform expiatory rite by drinking semen, faeces and cow's urine. Otherwise, she becomes fallen from husband's world (Patiloka) and is born as a vulture, pig or bitch.
- 27. A brahmin stealing gold should hand over a pestle to the king proclaiming his guilt. If the king strikes him with it the brahmin becomes pure. Or he should give the king enough gold equal in weight to himself. He thus becomes pure.
- 28-29. If a man rapes a woman sleeping in her own bed, his penis and scrotum should be cut off and thrown in the south west quarter.
- 30. The wicked defiler of the preceptor's bed should perform the Prajapatya Krcchra Vrata or the Candrayana Vrata or should read Veda Samhita for three months.
- 31. A slayer of cow shall remain celibate for a month, lie down in the cowshed for the night and during the day he should serve the cow following it like a shadow and finally make a gift of it. He shall be pure.

^{1.} An expiation of four periods of three days.

^{2.} Bodily mortification.

- 32. Expiation for all Upapatakas is by Candrayana Vrata. Or he should live on milk alone for a month or perform Paraka (Twelve days' fast) rite.
- 33. The killer of a Kşatriya should make a gift of one bull or a thousand cows. Or he should perform the expiatory rite of a brahmin-slayer for three years.
- 34. The slayer of a Vaisya should perform it for a year or make a gift of a hundred cows. A slayer of a Sūdra should perform the rite for six months or make a gift of ten cows. A slayer of an undefiled woman shall perform the expiatory rite of a slayer of a Sūdra.
- 35. A slayer of a cat, mungoose, alligator, a frog or any other animal shall drink only milk for three days and perform Krechra Vrata.
- 36. A slayer of an elephant should atone for it by making a gift of five blue bulls and a calf white in colour and two years old. If a mule goat or sheep is killed a bull should be given. If a Krauñca bird is killed a three year old bull should be given.
- 37-38. For felling and cutting down trees, hedges and creepers the expiation is the recital of a hundred Rks. A Brahmacārin embracing a woman will become the breaker of vows. If he touches an ass he should recite a Nairrta mantra. For the sin of taking wine and meat the rites of Krechra Sesa shall be performed.
- 39. If the disciple dies running an errand the preceptor should perform the Krechra rite. If the disciple acts, contrary to the interests of the preceptor, he should propitiate him and crave forgiveness. He will be free from sin.
- 40. If the enemy is wounded he shall be taken care of by giving food and affectionate treatment. If a brahmin dies when being treated there is no sin.
- 41. After committing a major sin or a minor turpitude if a person utters falsehood he should expiate by remaining in exile for a month without begging anyone and exercising self-control.

- 42. Without the formal sanction of the elders, if a younger brother indulges in sexual intercourse with the wife of the elder brother he shall perform Candrayana. To expiate for the sin of cohabiting with a woman in her menses he should drink ghee at the end of three days' fast.
- 43. To expiate for the sin of accepting a gift from an undeserving person, he should stay in a cowshed for a month drinking milk, leading a celibate life and chanting Gayatri mantra. He should be free from the sin.
- 44. For the sin of not sheltering a person seeking refuge the atonement is reading the Vedas upto capacity. If a Vratya is employed in sacrifice both shall expiate by performing the Krechra rite thrice.
- 45. If a man is forced to travel in a mule cart or a camel cart he should do Pranayama thrice. If a man indulges in sexual intercourse with his wife during the day, he shall bathe naked to atone for the sin.
- 46. O sages, the sin resulting from being rude or using abusive language to the preceptor or by defeating a brahmin in an argument shall be wiped off by craving his indulgence and observing fast for a day.
- 47. For the sin of brandishing a staff at a brahmin the expiation is Kṛcchra; for the sin of beating, the atonement is Atikṛcchra. Whenever atonement is mentioned the facts of time, place, age, strength and the gravity of the sin should be taken into consideration before deciding the way of expiation.
- 48. Wilful abortion and hatred of the husband are great sins in women without any expiation. Hence, she shall be shunned from a distance.
- 49. If the guilt has become public the expiation shall be done as prescribed by the preceptor, in public view. If it is not publicised the Vrata shall be performed secretly.
- 50. A slayer of a brahmin shall give a milch cow after fasting for three days.
- 51-52. And he shall repeat Aghamarşana mantra standing in water. He shall stand in water for a day, only breathing (i.e. without taking food) and performing homa with the mantra "Somebhyah Svaha" for forty times using ghee. A drinker of wine or a stealer of gold shall remain standing in water reciting

I.105.63

"Rudra" mantras and shall afterwards perform homa with ghee with the "Kūṣmāṇḍa" mantra and observe fast for three days.

- 53. A defiler of preceptor's bed shall be expiated by reciting Sahasrasirsā1 mantra.
- To expiate for any sin committed, one shall perform Prāṇāyāma a hundred times.
- 55. By unwittingly swallowing faeces, semen and wine a brahmin incurs impurity, which shall be wiped off by fasting for the day and drinking water in the evening with Onkara.
- 56. O Brahmins, the destruction of all sins inadvertently committed is possible when Sandhyā prayers are offered thrice in the day. All sins should be dispelled if Rudra mantra is recited eleven times.
- 57. No sir defiles a brahmin regularly studying Vedas and performing the five sacrifices. Excepting the sin of slaying a brahmin all sins are removed by reciting Gâyatrī, a thousand times.
- 58. The Yamas (restraints) are :- Celibacy, mercy, patience, meditation, truthfulness, contentment, nonviolence, non stealing, sweetness, and mental control.
- 59. The Niyamas (Suppressions) are bathing, silence, fasting, sacrifices Vedic study, control of sense organs, austerity, non-furiousness, devotion to the preceptor, and physical purity.
- 60. O Brahmins, the Pañcagavya consists of cow's milk, ghee, curd, urine and dung. The expiator should swallow these and fast for the next day. This is called Santapana Krechra.
- 61. Six days' fast after taking in one of the articles constituting the Santapana and Krechra for the seventh day. This is called Mahasantapana.
- 62. The leaves of Udumbara, Rajiva (lotus) Bilva and water from Kuśa Grass—cach of these is taken once every day. This is Parņakrcchra.
- 63. Boiled milk, water, curd—either of these is taken every day and fasting for the night. This is the holy Taptakr-cchra.

^{1.} RV. 10.90.1.

- 64g One unsolicited morsel one night, and fast for the next—This is called Pādakrcchra.
- 65. Any of the above practised three times is called Prajapatya. If one takes only a palmcupful of water along with the previous, it is called Atikrcchra.
- 65. Krcchra and Atikrcchra alternatively for twenty one days and fast for twelve days—This is called Paraka.
- 67. One morsel of Pinyāka (oil cake), whey, and powdered barley is taken one day and fasting for the next—This is called Krcchrasāma.
- 68. The rite for fifteen days when each one of the Krcchras mentioned above is practised for three days, is called Tulapuruşa.
- 69. In the bright half of the lunar month on the first day, a morsel of food of the size of a peacock's egg is taken; on the second day two morsels are taken. Thus the number is increased up to fifteen. In the dark half the number is gradually reduced. This is called Candrayana.
- 70. Another type of Candrayana is taking in two hundred and forty morsels of food in the course of a month without any stipulation on the number for any day.
- 71. This Pinda Candrayana is to be performed after Trisavanasnana (plunging into water for three times). Gayatri mantra shall be repeated over the pindas.
- 72-73. In sins known, or unknown there is purification by Candrayana. Those who practise this only for the sake of virtue attain to Candraloka. Those who practise Krechra similarly attain grea, prosperity.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND SIX

Teachings of Yajñavalkya

Yājňavalkya said :

1. O noble Sirs, maintaining Vratas, I shall now describe the Pretasauca, i.e. the obsequies and the impurity subsequent to the death of persons. If a child who has not completed its two 1.106.10 321 years dies, the corpse is simply buried (not cremated). No Udaka rites (offering of water, etc.) in that case.

- 2. The corpse shall be borne upto the cremation ground by kinsmen reciting Yamasükta. For ordinary men ordinary fire may be used. If the dead man is an Ahitagni (person regularly maintaining sacred fires) the same shall be used for cremation.
- Kinsmen upto the seventh or tenth degree shall perform Udakakriya facing the south and reciting the mantra apa naḥ śośucadagham¹, etc.
- 4. The Udakakriya for maternal grandfather, preceptor and one's own wife is also the same. In the case of sons, friends, sister's sons, father-in-law (all being brahmins) the water is sprinkled once proclaiming the name of the dead man and his Gotra but otherwise remaining silent.
- No water-offering is made to the heretics, sinful persons, Vrātyas (persons not duly invested with sacred thread, etc. Brahmacārins, and wives without fidelity.
- 6. Those addicted to drinking of wine and those who had committed suicide need not be honoured with the water offering or observation of Aśauca. A dead man shall not be bewailed after the water-offering. Indeed, the existence of all living beings in the world is never permanent.
- 7-8. All rites are to be performed upto the utmost extent of one's ability. Thereafter, they shall proceed homeward. At the door of the stallion, torn leaves of the Nimba² tree (Margosa) shall be strewn. They shall step slowly on a rock first and perform Acamana and touch fire, water, cowdung and white mustard seeds before entering the house formally.
- 9. Those who have touched the corpse must purify themselves by these rites and the final formal entry into the house. Those who had merely witnessed the rites do not require any formal purificatory rites. They are pure at the close of the rites. Others become pure after bath. They should remain celibate for the next three days.
- 10. There should be no cooking of food in the house. They shall take food bought or received from others. They shall sleep on the ground away from one another. To the departed soul a rice-ball (pinda) is given for three days.

^{1.} RV. 1.97.1.

^{2.} Azadirachta indica.

- 11. Milk and water should be kept in a mud pot out in the open. Sacrificial rites enjoined by the Vedas should also be performed.
- 12. If a child dies before cutting its first tooth there is no impurity; if a child dies before the tonsure (cutting of the forelocks) rite is performed, the impurity is for a night only; if a child dies before the sacred thread investiture, the impurity is for three days; thereafter the impurity lasts for ten days.
- 13. In brief, the impurity due to death lasts for three or ten days. If two children die not two years old, the impurity is for the mother alone. If two impurities due to birth and death overlap, at the close of the latter, everyone becomes pure.
- 14. The impurity due to death has to be observed by the four castes for ten days, twelve days, fifteen days and thirty days respectively.
- 15-16. If a girl dies before being given in marriage or a son, a preceptor, a disciple, person continuing Vedic studies, an uncle, a Vedic Scholar, a son not one's own but of the wife who has had intercourse with others, or if an unpopular king dies, the impurity is for a day only.
- 17. There is no impurity at all on the death due to king's orders, attack of a cow or a brahmin or due to suicide in secret, or due to poison.
- 18-20. On the death of a sacrificer, a person performing Vratas, Brahmacarins, donors and those who have realised Brahman there is no impurity. In the case of those who die at the time of charity, marriage, sacrifice, battle, civic commotion or any other calamity there is no impurity at all. Lapse of time, rites in fire, lump of clay, wind, mind, knowledge austerities, recital of prayers, repentence, fasting—all these are agents for purification. Charity purifies a person committing an unworthy act and the current itself purifies the river.
- 21-23. In cases of emergency a brahmin shall pursue a kşatriya's duties (taking part in wars) or a vaisya's activities. But these articles he shall not sell:—Fruits, soma, silk, medicinal creepers, curd, milk, ghee, water, gingelly seeds, cooked rice, mercury, acids and alkalis, honey, lac, requisites of homas, cloth, stone, utensils flowers, vegetables, clay, leather shoes, deer-skin, silk, salt, meat, oil cakes, roots and perfumes. If it is for the purpose of religious observances, some of the articles mentioned above can be sold along with gingelly seeds and grains.

- 24. Even in dire necessity a brahmin should not sell salt, etc. He should rather pursue cultivation. Horses should never be sold.
- 25. A brahmin oppressed by great poverty shall fast for three days (and approach the king for help). The king on seeing the brahmin devoid of a means of support shall provide him with one.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND SEVEN

Teachings of Parasara

Sūta said :

 Parăśara¹ narrated to Vyāsa the various duties of the different castes and stages in life. At the end of every Kalpa there is dissolution and a new creation. But the unborn god does not perish.

2. Śrutis (Vedas), Smṛtis and the conduct of the good not repugnant to the Vedas (are to be followed by all). At first Brahmā remembered the Vedas (and jtaught Manu and others). Manu and others propagated Dharma through their Smṛtis.

- 3. In the Kali age charity is the main virtue. Other virtues are likely to forsake the doer. Sinful deeds are perpetrated only in the Kali age. A curse uttered bears fruit in a year.
- 1. Parăsara is known as the author of some hymns in the Rgveda. He is also said to have taught Viṣṇu Purāṇa. According to the statement of the Mahābhārata, he is known as the father of Kṛṣṇa Dvaipāyana Vyāsa. His writings on Dharma are often quoted in Hindu law-texts.

- 4. By strictly adhering to the performance of six rites every day man obtains everything. They are—taking bath, sandhyā prayers, recital of mantras, homas, worship of gods and hospitality to guests.
- 5. Brahmins observing all rites properly will be rare then (in the Kali age); sages will be rare. A kṣatriya shall conquer the enemie's army and protect the earth. Business transactions and agriculture shall be the duties of vaisyas and devotion to the twice-born that of the Śūdras.
- By eating forbidden food, by stealing, and by approaching unworthy women a man becomes degraded. A twice-born engaged in cultivation shall not employ tired bullocks in ploughing,
- 7. Upto midday one shall be engaged in religious rites such as bathing, yogic rites and then feed brahmins. The five sacrifices shall be performed. The cruel shall be treated with contempt.
- 8. A brahmin shall not sell gingelly seeds and clarified butter. He shall become sinful if sūnāyajña is performed. A man engaged in agriculture shall not be sullied if he gives a sixth of the produce to the king, one-twentieth to the gods and one-thirtythird to the brahmins.
- 9. A kṣatriya, a vaiśya and a śūdra engaged in agriculture shall be considered a thief if he does not give the tax mentioned before. A pure brahmin shall be cleansed of the impurity of death in three days.
- 10. A kşatriya becomes pure in ten days, a vaisya in twelve days and a sūdra in a month. If proper rites are not maintained a brahmin shall become pure in ten days and a kşatriya in twelve days.
- 12. In the event of birth and death such kinsmen shall observe inpurity. If the kinsmen are removed to the fourth degree the impurity lasts for ten days; if they are of the fifth remove the impurity is for six days.
- 13. If they are removed to the sixth degree the impurity is for four days; if they are of the seventh remove the impurity is for three days. If a person dies in a foreign land or if an ascetic dies, there is no impurity.

I.107.24 325

- 14-15. No cremation, no offering of rice-ball and no offering of water for children dying before cutting teeth or still born. In regard to still-birth and abortion the impurity is for as
- many days as the number of months of pregnancy.
- 16. If the child dies before the naming ceremony, there is no impurity; if it dies before the rite of first cutting of the forelock, the impurity is for one day and night; if he dies before the holy rite of investiture with the sacred thread, the impurity is for three days, beyond that the impurity is for ten days only.
- 17. Abortion usually occurs within four months and miscarriage and still births in the fifth and sixth months. No impurity in case these are observed strictly—celibacy rites in fire and abstention from evil association.
- 18. Artisans, craftsmen, physicians, servants, a Vedic scholar maintaining holy fire, the king—all these are of immediate purity (i.e. no impurity is observed on their death).
- 19. After the birth of a child the mother becomes pure after ten days and the father by taking bath. The impurity due to birth is removed by touching water.
- 20. In the rites of marriage, festivals and sacrifices, interrupted by the impurity of death or birth, all further rites shall be given up except what had been already undertaken.
- 21. If a child dies within the period of impurity, both the impurities cease with the former. If anyone dies in a cowshed the impurity is only for a day.
- 22. By carrying the corpse of an unknown person the impurity incurred is very little and that very little is removed by Praṇayama. If the dead man is a Sūdra, the impurity is for three nights.
- 23. No purificatory rite is necessary in case the death is due to self-immolation, poison, hanging or insect bite. The man who touches a person killed by a cow or bitten by an insect becomes pure by means of krechravrata.
- 24. If a person forsakes an undefiled undegraded wife in the prime of her youth he shall be born as a woman in seven successive births and suffer widowhood over and over again.

- 25. If a man does not cohabit with his wife after the fourth day from menstruation he shall incur the sin of infanticide. A woman not allowing her husband to have intercourse during those days shall be born as a sow. Unworthy women though they perform Vratas have no right for a rice-ball or water-offerings.
- 26. The son legitimately born or after Niyoga¹ in one's wife through another, shall offer a rice-ball to the legal father. A person committing the minor sin of Parivedana² shall perform Kṛcchra and the girl who marries him too shall perform Kṛcchra.
- 27. The man who gives his daughter in a Parivedana marriage and the priest who officiates in the same shall perform Atikrcchra and Candrayana respectively. If the elder brother is dwarfish, hunch-backed, stammerer, idiotic, blind, deaf or dumb, Parivedana is no offence at all.
- 28. If the husband is untraceable, dead, or has renounced the world or is impotent or degraded—in these cases of emergency a woman can remarry.
- 29. A wife who dies in the company of her husband shall remain in heaven as many years as there are hairs on his person.
- 30. If a person is bit by a dog he shall become pure by reciting Gāyatrī mantra. A brahmin killed by a cānḍāla or others shall be cremated with ordinary fire. If he has maintained sacrificial fires his corpse shall be i athed in milk and cremated with those sacred fires with mantras.
- 31-35. If a man dies in a foreign land the obsequies are done as follows:—On a deer skin six hundred Palāśa twigs are spread making the contours of a human body. A Śamī twig is placed in the spot where penis should be, the Arani wood is placed in the spot of scrotum; a pot is placed at the right hand and a sacrificial pitcher at the left; mortar at the sides, a threshing rod at the back, the sacrificial slab at the thighs, rice grains, ghee and gingelly seeds in the mouth, the vessel of holy water at the ears and the vessel for ghee at the eyes; small bits of gold shall be dropped into the ears, eyes, mouth and nostrils. An effigy of the man made of kuśa grass is placed over this and burnt. The Ahuti is offered with the mantra Asau svargāya lokāya svēhā slowly once. Since all the requisites of an Agnihotra are used he will surely attain Brahmaloka.

2. The act of one's marrying before one's elder brother. CSL, p. 445.

^{1.} This term is used to denote the legally permitted intercourse of a married woman to obtain a son with a male other than her husband, generally her brother-in-law i.e. her husband's younger brother.

- 36. A person who kills Swans, Sārasas, Krauñcas, Cakravākas, hens, peacocks and sheep becomes pure in a day and night.
- 37. The killer of any bird becomes pure in a day and night. After killing quadrupeds one shall observe fast for a day and night and perform Japa.
- 38. After killing a śūdra, the rite of Krcchra shall be performed; if a vaiśya is killed atikrcchra shall be performed. If a kṣatriya is killed Cāndrāyaṇa shall be performed twenty times and if a brahmin is killed it is performed thirty times.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHT

Brhaspati-niti-Sara

Sata said :

- 1. Now I shall explain the essence of Polity based on Economics for the benefit of kings and others. It is holy and conducive to longevity, heavenly bliss, etc.
- 2. A person wishing for success and achievement should always associate with good men: never with the wicked; it is good neither for this nor for the other world.
- One should always avoid arguments with mean-minded base people and shun even the very sight of the wicked. He should avoid enmity with friends and intimacy with persons serving the enemy.
- 4. Even a scholar comes to grief by trying to advise a foolish disciple, by supporting a wicked wife and by keeping the company of wicked men.

- One should keep aloof from a brahmin foolishly puerile, a kṣatriya averse to fighting, a vaisya sluggish and inactive and a sūdra hot-headed and vain due to complete, defective study.
- 6. Alliance with an enemy or estrangement with a friend should be indulged in at proper time. A true scholar bides his time after a careful consideration of causes and effects.
- 7. Time allows all living beings to mature, time brings the dissolution of all people. Even when people are asleep, time is watchful and awake, it is difficult to transgress time.
- 8. The semen virile flows out at proper time and develops itself in the womb. It is time that causes creation and it is time again that effects the dissolution.
- The passage of time is incomprehensible. It has twofold functions, an apparent gross movement at one place and a subtle invisible movement at another.
- 10. The divine preceptor Brhaspati expounded the essence of polity to god Indra which got him omniscience and heavenly glory after killing the asuras.
- 11. The worship of gods, brahmins, etc. should be performed by saintly kings and brahmins. They should also perform the horse-sacrifice to wipe off their sins both small and great.
- 12. A person never comes to grief if he associates with good people, conducts discourses with scholars and contracts intimate friendship with persons devoid of greed.
- 13. Illicit contact with or gay revelries in the company of another man's wife, desire for another man's wealth or residence in another man's house shall never be pursued.
- 14. A well-intentioned enemy is actually a kinsman and a kinsman acting against one's interests is an enemy. Sickness in the body is inimical and a herb in the forest is friendly and beneficial.
- 15. He is a kinsman who works to our benefit; he is the real father who nurtures and nourishes us; he is a friend where confidence can be placed; it is the native land where sustenance is available.
- 16. He is the true servant who is loyal and obedient; it is the real seed that germinates well; she is the real wife who speaks pleasantly and he is the real son who lives to the family tradition.

- 17. His life is perfect who has virtues and good qualities; fruitless, indeed, is the life of a man devoid of these two.
- 18. A true wife manages the household affairs skilfully, speaks sweet pleasant words, solely dedicates herself to her husband and is loyally devoted to him.
- 19-21. The man who has a wife endowed with these qualities is no less than Indra the lord of heaven. He is no ordinary man. The good wife takes her daily bath, applies sweet scents to her body, speaks sweetly, is satisfied with limited quantity of food, is not garrulous, has always auspicious things around her, is very scrupulous in virtuous activities, exhibits her love to her husband by every action and is pleased to surrender herself to his dalliance after the four days of the menstrual flow. She enhances the good luck of everyone.
- 22-23. What we call old age is not so dispiriting as a wife devoid of good qualities and possessing all bad traits—ugly-eyed, slovenly, quarrelsome, argumentative, visiting other people's house frequently, depending on other people's help, evil in actions and devoid of shame.
- 24. A wife who appreciates good qualities, devoted to her husband, and satisfied with the minimum in everything is the real beloved.
- 25. It is death indeed if one has a wicked wife, a rogue as a friend, a servant who answers back and serpents infesting his house.
- 26. Forsake the contact with wicked people, resort to the assembly of the good; do meritorious acts day and night and remember the unstability of everything.
- 27. A woman devoice of love, terrific in appearance, ferocious by nature, more horrible than a serpent round the neck, tigerlike in having ruddy eyes, appearing to spit fire desirous of visiting other houses and cities should never be approached.
- 28. Devotion in the son, good deed in the ungrateful, coldness in the fire may occur sometime by God's grace; but love in a prostitute is never come across.

29. Who can be complacent and carefree if serpents infest the house wherever we cast our eyes, if sickness cannot be cured with all appliances of treatment and if death is ever ready to pounce on the body at every age from infancy to old age?

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND NINE

Brhaspati-niti-sāra

Sūta said :

- Money should be saved for emergency; wife should be protected by spending hoarded wealth and one's own self should be saved even at the risk of preserved assets and wife.
- One should sacrifice oneself to save the family; a family should be sacrificed to save the village; a village should be secrificed for the safety of the land and the land should be sacrificed to save one's soul.
- 3. The residence in hell is better than that in a house of evil conduct. By the former, one's sins are washed away whereas there is no redemption from the latter.
- 4. The intelligent man fixes one foot firmly and moves with the other. Without testing the new place well, the old place of resort should not be abandoned.
- One should unhesitatingly abandon a country infested with men of evil conduct, a residence of harassing environment, a king of miserly temperament, and a friend of deceptive disposition.
- 6. What purpose can be served by the riches in the hands of a miser? Of what avail to men can that knowledge be that is tarnished by a roguish disposition? Of what avail is beauty bereft of good qualities and valour? Of what value is a friend who turns his face away at the time of misfortune?
- Many persons unknown to him before will flock round a person occupying a high post as his friends and assistants.

I.109.15

Time being adverse, if he loses his wealth and is dismissed from his post even his kinsmen become his enemies.

- 8. A friend can be found out if he is genuine or otherwise in times of danger; the test of valour is the battlefield; the test of purity of a man is his conduct in isolated places. Loss of wealth puts fidelity of the wife to a test and famine provides an opportunity to test whether a man is fond of entertaining a guest or otherwise.
- 9. Birds leave off the tree when the fiuits are exhausted; the Sārasa quits the lake when it is dried up; the courtesan turns out the man who has no money in his pockets; ministers bid good-bye to the king who has lost his throne; honeybees never touch the flower that is faded and withered; the deer flee the forest consumed by fire—So, it is evident that people take delight in things that delight them. Who takes interest in others otherwise?
- 10. One should propitiate a greedy man by giving him money; a praiseworthy man by reverence with joined palms; a fool by allowing him to do as he pleases and the scholar by a clear statement of facts.
- 11. Devas, good people and brahmins are pleased with genuine good nature; the ordinary vulgar people by an offer of something to eat or drink and the learned scholars by due honour and fitting rewards.
- 12. The noblest can be won over by humility and submission; the rogue with a threat; the vulgar with small gifts and concessions and men of equal status by exhibiting an equal strength and valour.
- 13. An intelligent man must penetrate deep into the innermost recesses of every one's heart and speak and act befitting his nature and inclination and win him over to his side.
- 14. Implicit trust in rivers, clawed beasts, horned animals, armed men, women and scions of royal families is never to be encouraged.
- 15. Men of sense will never disclose loss of wealth, mental anguish, illicit actions in the house, deception (of which they had been the victim) and disrespect.

- 16. The following are the activities that bring about the destruction of chastity and good conduct in women:— Association with base and wicked people, a long separation from the husband, too much of consideration and love shown to them (by the would-be defiler) and residence in another man's house.
- 17. Which family is devoid of defects? Who is not distressed by sickness? Who is not oppressed by vices and calamities? Who enjoys continuous blessings of the goddess of fortune?
- 18. Who is the man in the wide world who does not become haughty on attaining wealth? Who has escaped miseries in his life? Whose mind is not ripped asunder by maidens? Who has been a favourite of kings for ever? Who is it that has remained out of sight of the god of Death? Who is that suppliant who has won honour and respect? Who is that fortunate fellow who has escaped unscathed after having once fallen into the wily nets of the wicked?
- 19. He who has no friends, relatives or kinsmen to advise him and he who has no intrinsic intellect in himself suffers certainly. How can a wise man pursue that activity which does not produce any tangible result even when completed successfully but which necessarily ushers in great sorrow when left incomplete?
- 20. One should leave off that land where no one honours him or loves him; where there is no kinsman, and where there are no amenities for higher learning.
- Earn that wealth to which there is no danger from kings or robbers and which does not leave you even after your death.
- 22. The wealth that a man acquires by putting in exertions risking his own life is divided among themselves by his successors after his death. Only the sin that he commits in his eagerness to earn remains his exclusive property.
- 23. Amassed and deposited wealth of the miser is ransacked by others frequently like that of the mouse and is conducive to sorrow.
 - 24. Beggars roaming the streets, naked, grief-stricken, rough and armed with broken bowls point out to the world that the fruits the non-charitable persons reap are like these.

1.109.35

- 25. O misers! the beggars who request you saying "Please give" really teach you that this is the result of not giving. Do not become like them.
- 26. A miser's hoarded wealth is not being employed in hundreds of sacrifices (i.e. for good purposes) nor is it being given in charity to the deserving; but in the end, it is utilised in the houses of robbers or put in the king's treasury.
- 27. The wealth of the miser does not go unto the deities, brahmins, relatives or to himself but it goes unto the robbers or kings or is consumed by fire.
- 28. Let those riches be not thine—the riches acquired with great deal of toil, by transgressing the curbs of virtue or by falling at the feet of the enemy.
- 29. A blow of destruction to learning is absence of practice; wearing rags is a blow unto the goddess of wealth; eating after digestion is a blow to sickness; and craftiness is a blow to the enemy.
- 30. A fitting punishment to the thief is the death sentence; being reserved is the best punishment for a false friend; lying on a separate bed is a punishment for women, and non invitation in sacrifice is a punishment for brahmins.
- 31. Wicked persons, artisans, slaves, defiled ones, drums and women are softened by being beaten; they do not deserve gentle handling.
- 32. By sending them on errands the ability of servants can be known; sincerity of kinsmen can be known by their behaviour during our adversity; the genuine friendship can be understood when some mishap occurs and the fidelity of the wife is known when one's fortune dwindles.
- 33. The diet of a woman is twice as much as that of a man; shrewdness four times, energy is six times and amorousness is eight times as much as that of a man.
- 34. It is impossible to overcome sleep by sleeping it off; to overpower a woman by loving her; to smother a flame by adding fuel and to quench thirst by drinking wine.
 - 35. A delicious fatty meat diet, pleasing dress, glowing wine, fragrant scented pastes, and sweet smelling flowers kindle passion in women.

- 36. It can be said with certainty that even during the period of celibacy the god of love is busily active. On seeing a man pleasing to her heart the vagina of a woman becomes wet with profuse secretion.
- 37. O Saunaka, it is true, definitely true that the vaginal passage of a woman begins to secrete profusely on seeing a well dressed man whether a brother or a son.
- 38. Rivers and women are of similar nature in their love of freedom to choose their own course. The rivers erode the banks and the women undermine their own families.
- 39. The river undermines the banks and the woman causes the fall of the family. The course of rivers and women is wayward and cannot be checked.
- 40. A blazing fire cannot be satiated with sufficient supply of fuel; the ocean can never be filled to satiety by rivers flowing into it; the god of death is never satiated by the living beings (whom he smites) and a passionate woman is never satiated with man.
- 41. It is impossible to be satiated with the company of good men, friends, men of delightful conversation, and pleasures, sons, life and boons.
- 42. A king is never gratified with his ambitious activity of amassing wealth; a sea is never gratified with a perennial flow of water into it; a scholar is never satiated with the talks and speeches given by him; no layman's eye is satiated with the glimpses of the king that he gets.
- 43. They maintain themselves by what they earn by doing their duties; they are devoted to the sacred scriptures; they are fond of their own wives; they have subjugated the unreasonable wanderings of the sense-organs; they are delighted in serving guests; they attain salvation at their very doors; they are the excellent among men.
- 44. If the wife is after your heart, if she is attractive, well bedecked and delightful, if you live in your own house it is heaven indeed which can be obtained only by good deeds performed in previous birth.

45. Women are incorrigible; they can never be brought round by making a gift, or offering respect, or a straight forward dealing, or repeated service. They can neither be threatened with a weapon nor asked to be quiet by citing scriptural codes.

- 46. Five things should be pursued slowly and cautiously. Learning, riches, ascending the mountain, amorous approach to women, and assimilation of virtuous conduct.
- 47. Worship to gods is of permanent benefit; a present to a brahmin leaves a permanent blessing behind; a thoroughly good learning has an everlasting beneficent result and a good bosom friend is a permanent asset.
- 48. Those who have not acquired enough learning during studentship and those who have not secured a decent wife and sufficient wealth during youth are to be pitied for ever. They are no better than beasts, but have a human form.
- 49. A person devoted to the scriptural codes shall not worry over the meal. He must ponder over a regular study. A man seeking knowledge must be prepared to go a long way with the speed of Garuda.
- 50. Those who had been unmindful of studies during studentship and those who had wasted their wealth during youth in pursuit of lust fall into a miserable plight during old age slighted by others and burning within like the lotuses in the winter season.
- 51. Arguments are never stable and irrefutable; Vedas are wide and varied; there is no sage who has not mentioned something different from others. Still the central theme of virtue is hidden in a cave, as it were. Hence, the path traversed by great men should be taken as the correct one.
- 52. The inner workings of a man's mind should be inferred from his facial reflexes, behaviour, gestures, movements, speech and the contractions and distortions of his eyes and lips.
- 53. A spoken word is understood by even a beast. Horses and elephants carry out the orders given. But a scholar infers what is not expressly stated. Intellect is fruitful in being able to comprehend other's gestures.

54. Deprived of wealth one should go on a pilgrimage; going astray from truth one cannot but fall into the hell Raurava; though failing in the initial attempt in the Yogic practice one shall continue to be strictly truthful; a king divested of his royal splendour has no other alternative but go ahunting.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TEN

Brhaspati-niti-sāra

Stata said :

- 1. If a person forsakes things of sure results in his pursuit of things of uncertain results he loses both—the certain as well as the uncertain.
- No thrilling pleasure is felt by a man bereft of the mechanism of speech though he may be learned as in the case of a coward holding the sword in his hand or of a blind man wedded to a beautiful wife.
- 3. It is the fruit of no small penance to possess both delicious foodstuffs and good appetite; sexual virility and healthy as well as handsome wives, extensive wealth and desire to give it to others.
- 4. The aim of the study of Vedas is the ability to perform Agnihotra; everything auspicious should have the invariable results of good conduct and purposeful life; a good wife must yield perfect sexual pleasure and good offsprings and wealth is for both charity and personal enjoyment.
- 5. An intelligent man should marry a girl of noble family though not very beautiful; he shall not marry a girl of low descent though she may be beautiful and have developed hips.
- 6. Of what avail is the wealth which brings disaster in its wake? Who will dare to remove the crest-jewel of a serpent embedded in its hood?
- 7. Butter for sacrificial purposes can be taken even from the family of wicked persons; a wise saying uttered by even a child shall be listened to; gold can be taken even from the heap of rubbish and a jewel of a girl can be brought even from a mean family.

I.110.18 337

- 8. Nectar may be taken from even a poison-infested spot; gold can be taken even from a heap of rubbish; good learning may be received even from a mean-minded person and a girl of low parentage can be wedded if she has good qualities.
- 9. Friendship with a king is an impossibility; a scrpent devoid of poison is unheard of; a household cannot remain pure if too many women flock there together.
- 10. A devoted servant should be engaged in household duties; a son should be engaged in study; an enemy should be employed in acts of vice and a friend in virtuous acts.
- 11. Servants and ornaments should be put in proper places; a crest-jewel worn on the foot will never shine.
- 12. Crest-jewel, ocean, fire, bell, the vast expanse of the firmament and a king—these have to be at the head; it is wrong to keep them at the foot.
- 13. A man of stuff will have access to one of the two goals like a bunch of flowers. Either he is at the head of everyone or he fades in a forest.
- 14. If a fine jewel worthy of being set in a fine earring is worn on the foot it will not take away the brilliance. It is only the wearer who will be criticised by others.
- 15. Great is the difference between any two members of each of these:—horses, elephants, iron, wood, stone, cloth, women, men and water.
- 16. It is impossible to deprive a courageous man of his good qualities though he may be tortured and tormented. Even if it is suppressed by a rogue the flame of a fire does not shoot downwards.
- 17. A horse of good breed does not brook a cut from the whip; a lion cannot bear to hear the trumpeting sound of an elephant. A true hero does not coolly listen to the loud boasts of his enemy.
- 18. None shall deign to serve the wicked or the base even if unfortunately deprived of wealth or fallen from a high position. Even though oppressed by hunger the lion does not stoop to graze the grass. It is satisfied only when it drinks the hot blood of elephants.

- 19. He who tries to cultivate again the friendship of one who has once deceived him really seeks his own death like the she-mule that conceives.
- 20. The children of an enemy shall never be neglected or treated with indifference by sane men in spite of the fact that they may be speaking sweet words. After the lapse of some time they may be very dangerous and terrible like vessels of poison.
- 21. If a thorn pricks the foot, another thorn is held in the hand with which the former one is removed. Similarly, an enemy should be wiped off by another enemy whose help for the nonce can be secured by an act of gratification.
- 22. None need worry about a man who constantly harasses him. Such people will fall off themselves like the trees on the banks of rivers.
- 23. When fate is adverse, disastrous harmful things may seem to be auspicious and vice versa. This attitude shall eventually bring destruction too.
- 24. If the fate is favourable, naturally, good fruitful thoughts befitting the matter on hand occur to everyone everywhere.
- 25. Unnecessary bashfulness and reserve need not be felt in monetary transactions, acquisition of knowledge, taking food and dealings (with the wife in the bed chamber).
- 26. None shall stay in a place where these five do not live, viz:—rich men, Vedic scholar, king, river and a physician.
- 27. Even a day's stay shall be avoided in places where means of livelihood, fear of law, sense of shame, courteousness and liberal-mindedness are not available.
- 28. One shall not think of staying permanently in a place where these five are not available:—An astrologer, a Vedic scholar, a king, a river and a saint.
- 29. O Saunaka, knowledge is not the monopoly of any one. All do not know everything; there is no omniscient being anywhere.

30. In this world we cannot find an omniscient man nor a person utterly foolish. A man can be considered base, middling, or highly intelligent in accordance with the type of knowledge he possesses.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND ELEVEN

Brhaspatt's nitisāra

Sūta said :

- 1. I should now mention the characteristic features of the king as well as the servants. A king should examine the following carefully.
- He should protect the kingdom with devotion to truth and virtue. He should righteously rule over the earth after conquering the enemy.
- 3. A florist collects flower after flower but does not uproot the plant. The king should also do likewise but not like the maker of charcoal who burns the entire tree in the forest.
- 4. Those who milk the cow and drink milk do not do so if it is turned sour. So also the king should not defile the king-dom of the enemy which is expected to be enjoyed.
- 5. The man who wants cow's milk does not cut off its udders. He draws the milk no doubt. Similarly, the king who wants to tap the resources of a kingdom shall avoid injury to the same.
- 6. Hence, the king should rule over the earth with care and exertion. In that case the earth, the fame, longevity, renown and strength shall all be truly his.
- 7. The king of well controlled sense-organs will be able to protect the subjects only if his rule is righteous and if he worships Lord Vişnu and is eager to render service to cows and brahmins.
- 8. After acquiring prosperity which is not permanent it is essential that a king should turn his attention to virtue. All riches will perish in a moment but not the wealth of the soul.

- 9. Indeed, it is pleasing to gratify the lust. It is true that riches are highly pleasant. But life is as fickle as the roving glances of a winsome maiden.
- 10 Threatening us like the tigress, old age is waiting for an attack on us. Diseases like enemies crop up all over the body. Life flows out like water from a broken pot. Still no one in the world does ever think of redeeming the soul.
- 11. O Men! do service unto others. Do what will be beneficent, later on. Why do you rejoice now, without any suspicion whatsoever, along with the bevy of beautiful damsels, smitten by the arrows of Cupid, with your eyes very slow (to see what is in store for you)? Do not commit sins. Taking brahmins and Lord Viṣṇu as your refuge begin worship. Your life is slowly coming to an end like water in a pot. In the guise of death a great spirit will pounce upon you.
- 12. He is a wise man who regards another man's wife as his mother, another man's wealth as a lump of clay and all living beings like himself.
- 13. It is for this that brahmins wish their kings to be rich, that in all their rites their words should be heeded and never slighted.
- 14. It is for this that kings board wealth that after serving themselves they shall give unto the brahmins what is left over.
- 15. The king in whose realm the sound of Om uttered by the brahmins is resonant, flourishes. Getting whatever he wants he is never tormented by sickness.
- 16. Even the apparently incompetent sages can gather riches and articles of daily use. Then why cannot a king who protects his subjects like his children?
- 17. He who has riches has many friends. He who has riches has many kins. People consider him who has riches fit to be called a Man and a Scholar.
- 18. Friends, sons, wives and relatives abandon a man devoid of wealth. When he regains his lost wealth they come back to him. Hence, wealth alone is a man's kith and kin and none other.
 - 19 The king who has discarded the Sacred Code is no better than a blind man. A blind man may well see through spies but not so a man devoid of sacred codes.

I.111.29 341

- 20. The kingdom of that king is indeed unstable whose sons, servants, ministers, priests and sense-organs are not active and alert but always asleep.
- 21. He who has acquired the valuable support of the three sons, servants and kins has actually conquered the earth girdled by the four oceans along with the kings.
- 22. The king who transgresses the injunctions of scriptures and the dictates of reason perishes here in this world and forfeits the right to Heaven.
- 23. A king surrounded by calamities should not lose heart. He should maintain equanimity both in happiness and sorrow and should never lose enlightened delight of the soul.
- 24. Courageous souls never become grief-stricken when mishaps occur. Does not the moon rise again though gobbled up by Rāhu?
- 25. Fie, Fie upon men who yearn for the pleasures of body. Do not grieve over the thinness of body or loss of wealth. It is well known that the sons of Pāṇḍu¹ and their wife suffered poverty for some time but came unscathed through it and were happy for ever.
- 26. A king should maintain teams of courtesans and patronize their arts of music and dance. He should give sufficient protection to the science of archery and Economics too.
- 27. The king who becomes angry with his servants without sufficient cause actually takes in the poison vomited by a black serpent.
- 28. A king should avoid fickleness and false utterances towards all men and especially to Vedic Scholars and his personal attendants.
- 29. Proud of his servants and kinsmen, if a king remains complacent and begins sports and dalliance he is sure to be outwitted by the enemy.
- The son of Vicitra-Virya and the brother of Dhrtarăştra. His five sons are known as Păndavas—Yudhişthira, Bhima, Arjuna, Nakula and Sahadeva.

- 30. It is despicable on his part to fret and fume without faults in others. He who punishes servants unjustifiably becomes a victim of the enemie's attack.
- 31. A king should abandon sensuous enjoyments and pleasures. Such people become easy targets of enemies who are always on the alert.
- 32. Enterprise, adventurousness, courage, intellect, prowess and valour—he who possesses these six is viewed with suspicious awe even by Devas.
- 33. Where results are not remarkable even after energetic exertion it is due to an adverse fate. Still man should put up endeavour and take resort to fruitful activities.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWELVE

Bṛhaspati's nitisāra

Sūta said :

- 1. Servants are of various types—the excellent, the middling and the base. They should be employed befittingly in the three types of jobs.
- 2. I shall narrate the mode of test for servants and the qualities necessary for different jobs as narrated by authorities on them.
- 3. Just as gold is tested in the four ways by rubbing on the touchstone, cutting, beating and melting, so also a servant is tested by his appearance, conduct, parentage and activities.
- 4. A man of noble family, endowed with good character and qualities, truthful and virtuous, handsome and pleasantmannered should be appointed as the officer-in-charge of the Treasury.
- 5. He who can appraise the value, shape and size, (of gold, gems, etc.) should be appointed as the chief jeweller. A man who can understand strength and weakness of the soldiers should be appointed as the Commander-in-Chief.

I.112.17 343

 The chief of watch and ward should be a mind-reader who can understand each and every gesture, is strong, comely to look at, unerring and competent to strike a timely blow.

- 7. The chief secretary to the king should be intelligent, clever in conversation shrewd, truthful in speech, with sense-organs under his control, and acquainted with all Sastras.
- 8. The chief Ambassador should be intelligent, sensible, a reader of others' minds, ruthless and blunt in speaking facts.
- 9. The officer-in-charge virtue should be well versed in Smrti texts, a scholar of great erudition, with good control over his sense-organs and equipped with the qualities of heroism, valour and other good qualities.
- 10. The Head Cook should be a man whose father and grandfather had served in a similar capacity. He should be skilful, truthful and acquainted with Sastras. He should be clean in person and capable of hard work.
- 11. The Royal physician shall be well-versed in Ayurveda¹ with enough practical experience. He should have all the qualities of a decent man and look comely in appearance.
- 12. The Royal Priest should be a great scholar in Vedas and their ancillaries. He should be observing Japas and Homas. He should readily bless everyone.
- 13. Whether he is a writer, or a reciter, an accountant or a chief executive, if any one is found to be lazy, he should at once be dismissed.
- 14. The mouths of a wicked man and a serpent are sources of distress—since they are double-tongued, causing pain, ruthless and terrific.
- 15. A wicked man should be avoided even if he happens to be a scholar. Is not a serpent terrific though its head is bedecked with a precious gem?
- 16. Who is not afraid of the wicked? Who is furious without provocation? It is the wicked from whose mouth the poison of a great serpent in the form of unbearable words flows out continuously.
- 17. If a salaried servant of the king becomes so rich as to vie with him, is of equal competency, who knows his inner 1. The ancient Indian medical science propagated and practised by Caraka, Suíruta, Vägbhata and others is still recognized by Indian Government and put to use by the people in India.

secrets and vulnerable points, who is very industrious and puts up a claim to half of his kingdom there is no harm if the king puts him to death.

- 18. Those servants are not to be retained who were at first valorous, slow and gentle of speech, truthful and self-controlled but later on proved to be otherwise.
- 19. Servants of this type are very rare—servants who are not lazy, who are satisfied, who can be easily roused from sleep in emergency, who have the equanimity in happiness and sorrow and who are courageous.
- 20. A servant suffering from all these bad points or from any one of them should be summarily dismissed—devoid of patience, dishonest, cruel-tempered, speaking ill of others, haughty, gluttonous, roguish, greedy inefficient and cowardly.
- 21. The king shall keep in his fort strong weapons of all types and then try to conquer his enemies.
- 22. If he is not well-equipped he should make peace with his enemy for a period of six months or a year and when he is well equipped he shall attack the enemy.
- 23. If a king engages foolish persons in various offices the results will be ignominy, loss of wealth and hell after death.
- 24. Whatever the king does himself or whatever his servants do meritorious or sinful acts, the king has to reap the fruits thereof. He will flourish or fall as the case may be.
- 25. Hence, a king should employ intelligent and capable men in offices of virtue or wealth for the welfare of cows and brahmins in the State.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTEEN

Brhaspati's nitisāra

Sula said :

 One should employ only the capable servant and not the inefficient. All good qualities can be found in a scholar and all faults in a fool.

- One should always sit in the company of the good and associate with them. Discussions and friendship should ever be with the good and not with the wicked.
- 3. Even in a prison one should associate only with the learned, the humble, the virtuous and the truthful. Outside, he should never associate with the wicked.
- Completing all works left unfinished he shall become wealthy. He should make it a point to complete un-finished tasks.
- 5. Like the honey bee that sucks honey but does not cause the fall of the flower the king should take revenue from the realm without harming it. The cowherd leaves something for the calf and milks the rest. Similarly, the king should milk the earth but leave plenty for the calves i. e. the subjects.
- 6. Just as the honeybee collects honey from a number of flowers so the king shall gather wealth taking a little from each.
- 7. The anthill, honey, the moon in the bright half and alms wax little by little.
- 8. Seeing that collyrium and ink, used though very little every day, become exhausted after some time, and that the anthill flourishes day by day, one should be careful in not wasting one's time. One should engage oneself in activities of charity or self-study.
- 9. A vicious and lustful man shall find hundreds of obstacles even in a forest; but if he can control his five senses he can practise penance even in his house. He who is engaged in activities not censurable and he who is free from passion can make his house a hermitage.
- Virtue is protected by truth. Knowledge by further acquisition; a pot by frequent cleaning and a family by good conduct.
- 11. It is better to stay in the forest of Vindhya, to die without partaking of food; it is better to sleep in a spot infested by serpents or to leap into a well; it is better to plunge into a whirlpool or a dangerous water current, than to say "Please give" or beg for a sum of money from one's own kindred.
- Riches dwindle when fortune dwindles and not by enjoyment; if merit had been acquired before, riches will never perish.

- 13. Knowledge is an ornament to a brahmin; a king is the beautifier of the world; the moon is an ornament of the sky; a good conduct is an ornament to every one.
- 14. Bhīma, Arjuna and others were born as princes, they were pleasing and delightful like the moon; they were valorous, truthful, brilliant like the sun and were kindly protected by Lord Kṛṣṇa. Even they were subjected to abject misery by the influence of evil planets; they had to beg for alms.; if fate is adverse who is capable of what? The current of previous actions tosses every one about.
- 15. Obeisance to Karma which forces Brahmā to work like a potter in the bowls of cosmos by which Viṣṇu was cast into distress of ten incarnations; by which Rudra was compelled to beg for alms with a skull in his hand and at the behest of which the sun goes round and round in the sky.
- 16. The donor was King Bali, the receiver Lord Vişnu himself, the gift consisted of whole Earth and that too in the presence of learned brahmins. What did he get in return? Only bondage. O Fate! obeisance to Thee—who workest as it pleasest thee.
- 17. The mother is Goddess Laksmi herself; the father is Lord Visnu; still if the son (cupid) were to be of crooked mind, who is to be punished for the same?
- 18. Man enjoys only the fruits of his previous actions; whatever he has done in the previous births has its reactions now.
- 19. The happiness is enjoined by oneself, the sorrow too is enjoined by eneself; even the womb selected by him is in accordance with the action of the previous birth.
- 20. A man can never forsake the action done by him far into the sky, or deep into the sea or high on the mountain; whether he is held by his mother on her head or kept in her lap.
- 21. Even Răvaņa perished at the hands of Time. Răvaņa whose fortress was the mountain Trikūţa¹, the moat—the very ocean; soldiers—Rākṣasas; the action of the highest order; and the Sāstra propounded by Uśanas.
 - 1. The mountain on which the city of Lanka was situated.

22. Everything happens in the age, time, day, night, hour or moment as is ordained beforehand; not otherwise.

- 23. Whether people go up in the sky, or deep in the nether world; whether they traverse all quarters, they will not get what is not given by Karma.
- 24. The learning of by-gone-days, the money made over as gift and the actions done before—these run ahead of a person who walks at speed.
- 25. Actions alone are of consequence. See Jānakī (Sītā), whose marriage was celebrated when the stars and planets were ascendant and the lagna (i.e. auspicious hour) was decided by sage Vasiṣṭha himself, had to undergo miseries.
- 26. Auspicious signs, characteristic marks are of no avail when Karma comes into clash; for Rāma who had stout muscular calves, Lakṣmaṇa who was as swift as sound and Sītā who had thickly grown glossy hair—all these had to suffer a lot.
- 27-28. Neither the son with Pinda-dana and other rites nor the father with various rites for the welfare of the son can ward off the adverse influence of Karma. In the physical bodies born as a result of Karma, different kinds of illness physical or mental fall in quick succession like the shafts discharged by a skilful archer. Hence, a courageous man should view objects in the light of Sastraic injunctions and not otherwise.
- 29. In every birth, a man reaps the fruits of his previous merits and demerits in the respective ages of infancy, youth or old age at which the actions had been performed.
- 30. Just as a gale blows a boat, the Karma drags a man against his wish even from foreign countries to the place where he has to reap the fruits.
- 31. A man necessarily gets what he is destined to get. Even a god is incapable of stopping it. Hence, I do not bewail or am not surprised at the events. The line of fate cannot be erased.
- 32. When chased, a serpent escapes into a well; an elephant to the trunk (to which it can be tethered); a mouse to its hole; but who can fly from Karma which is quicker than all these?
 - 33. A well-assimilated knowledge never diminishes; it increases on being imparted to others like the water in a well which increases when water is drawn out.

- 34. Riches acquired virtuously become stable; they flourish still more with virtue. Hence, when you aim at riches, remember this and seek virtue. You thus become great in the world.
- 35. None becomes miserable if, seeking virtue, he undergoes the same hardships as a poor layman does seeking food.
- 36. Of all purities, purity of food is excellent. If a man incurs impurity by taking unwholesome food, he cannot be cleansed with clay or water or any other substance of cleanliness.
- 37. There are five cleansing agents—truthfulness, pure mind, suppression of sense-organs, sympathy with all living beings and water the fifth of the series.
- 38. He who maintains truthfulness and purity finds an easy access to heaven. Truthfulness is superior to even Horse-sacrifice.
- 39. A man habitually wicked in deeds, with his conscience benumbed with evil thoughts cannot be cleansed with a thousand lumps of clay or a hundred pots of water.
- 40. He who keeps his hands and feet clean, his mind under perfect control, and acquires learning penance and fame reaps the fruit of pilgrimage.
- 41. The characteristics of a saintly man are :—he is not elated much when honoured, he does not become angry when slighted, he does not speak harsh words in anger.
- 42. No one feels satisfied at the outset on hearing wholesome advice at the proper time from a poor man though intelligent and sweet-voiced.
- 43. What men are not destined to get cannot be secured by them through mantras, strength, valour, intellect or manliness. What is there to lament over?
- 44. I have secured something unsolicited. When I sent it back, it went away from where it had come. What is there to lament over?
 - 45. During nights birds flock together on a tree for rest.

I.113.58 349

In the mornings they go to different quarters. What is there to lament over?

- 46. All have the same destination. All are proceeding there. If one among them goes more quickly what is there to lament over?
- 47. O Saunaka, the living beings arise from the unmanifest; at their death they dissolve themselves in the unmanifest. In between they remain manifest. What is there to lament over?
- 48. If the time of death has not been reached no one dies even if pierced with a hundred arrows. If the same has arrived he does not survive even a slight prick with the tip of a Kuśa grass.
- 49. A man gets only those things he is destined to get; he goes only to those places where he has to go (at the behest of Karma) and whether misery or pleasure he gets only what he has to get.
- 50. A man gets things from Karma only. Why should he shout and cry? Even if prodded, flowers and fruits do not transgress their stipulated time [they do not come out earlier or later]. So is the case with Karma of the previous birth.
- 51. Neither conduct, nor parentage, neither learning nor knowledge, neither the qualities nor the purity of seed fructifies in man. As in the case of trees, good deeds acquired by austerities fructify in men.
- 52. A man meets with death where there is a slayer or riches where there is plenty. Goaded by Karma a man goes to the respective places.
- 53-56. Just as a calf can recognize its mother in the midst of a thousand cows, the previous Karma approaches the doer. Enjoy your merits, O fool! Why should you feel aggrieved? What you do now will certainly follow you hereafter whether good or bad.
- 57. The vicious and the mean observe other's faults, be they so little as the mustard seeds. They see but pretend not to see their own faults as big as Bilva fruits.
- 58. O Brahmin! Nowhere can they find happiness, who are defiled by lust and hatred. After careful consideration-I see that there is pleasure where there is enlightened bliss.

- 59. Attachment is a cause of misery; since apprehension follows in the wake of attachment. If, therefore, attachment is eschewed one should be happy.
- 60. The body is the base for misery and happiness. Life and body are born together.
- 61. Pleasure and pain can be defined briefly. Whatever goes in the possession of others is misery, whatever remains in one's own possession is pleasure.
- 62. After pleasure comes the pain and after pain comes the pleasure. Pleasure and pain whirl like wheels in human life.
- 63. What has passed has gone for ever; if anything is to happen it is still far off. He who minds the present alone is not afflicted by sorrow.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FOURTEEN

Brhaspati's instructions

Sūta said :

- 1. None is friend or enemy to any other person by nature. Friendship and enmity arise from special causes.
- 2. The two syllables "Mitram" (Friend) signify solace in sorrow, freedom from fear and prescriation of love and confidence. By whom has this jewel been created?
- 3. If any one says for once the two letters "Hari" he has everything made ready for his journey to salvation.
- 4. Men cannot have as much confidence in mothers, wives, brothers or sons as in a friend of kindred nature.
- 5. If you wish for a prolonged friendship, avoid the following three, gambling with him, monetary transactions with him and seeing his wife in his absence.
- 6. One should not sit in the same seat with one's mother, sister and daughter in an isolated place. The powerful sense-organs can drag even an erudite man (into the mire of lust). What of common men?

- 7. God of love compels persons to turn their attention to such spots as provide risks, death, and punishments and not to one's own? [i.e. People do not love their wives but run after other women risking even death].
- 8. It is easier to gauge the velocity of the hailstorm at the time of the final dissolution, the speed of the racing horse and the depth of the great ocean than the heart of the person who does not love.
- O Saunaka, if there is no opportune moment, if there is no privacy and if there is no one to make overtures women shall preserve chastity.
- She serves one man but cherishes love for another.
 In the absence of man a woman can very well be chaste.
- 11. A mother moved by passion may commit some misdeeds. Though the sons may disapprove of the conduct yet they shall not worry much about them.
- 12. The body of a courtesan is prized in the world; the body that is held at stake always with the neck torn by the hoofs of debauches and hence always agitated and anxious. Her sleep is dependent on others' convenience; she has to follow the wishes of others and without a show of sorrow she has to laugh and sport always.
- 13. Fire, water, women, fools, serpents and Royal households—these are to be resorted to by others always, ye' they take away one's life all of a sudden.
- 14. What is there to wonder at, if a brahmin well versed in grammar becomes a great scholar? What is there to wonder at if a king well versed in polity and administration becomes a virtuous king? What is there to wonder at if a young woman endowed with beauty and charms errs from chastity? What is there to wonder at if a poor man begins to commit sins sometimes.
- 15. Do not allow others to see your vulnerable points; but note others carefully like a tortoise that keeps all its limbs safe in its shell.
- 16. Women may be confined to the nether worlds or may be imprisoned with high walls all round. Still if there is no moving glossy tuft of hair who can see them? [Using her long tresses she will escape from these places].

- 17. One's own kinsman pursuing the same activities and knowing his vulnerable points is the fiercest foe. Even an enemy standing outside cannot injure so much.
- 18. He is the real scholar who pleases children with sweets, the good people with humility, the women with wealth, the deities with penance, and people for their welfare.
- 19. They are not wise who try to win over a friend by deception, to secure virtue through sins, to attain wealth by harassing others, to learn with pleasure, and to secure a lady's love through harshness.
- 20. Even a pure action may be defiled and defective when the root is cut off. It is only the senseless man who will cut off a tree laden with fruits in order to secure the fruits.
- 21. O brahmin, I do not believe that a man with necessary things can become a saint even if he tries. How can a woman drinking wine be chaste as well?
- 22. One shall not place trust in a person not trustworthy. Even friends are not to be trusted. Some time later if he is angry the friend may publicise his secrets.
- 23. A general confidence in all living beings is Sattvika but the main characteristic of a saintly man is to keep his feelings a secret for ever.
- 24. Whatever action is done it follows the doer. Whatever may be your action, do not leave off your courage and intellect.
- 25. An intelligent man shall avoid these six: Old women (for sexual purposes), fresh wine, dry meat, carrot, curd in the night and sleep during the day.
- 26. To a poor man a party of guests is poison (involving expenses); to an old man a woman in the prime of her youth is poison; an ill assimilated knowledge is poison; eating before digestion is poison.
- 27. To a man of undaunted spirit honour is pleasing; overthrow of administration is pleasing to the vile; to a poor man a charitable gift is pleasing and a woman in the prime of her youth is pleasing to a young man.
- 28. The six main reasons for sickness in men are: Excessive drinking of water; eating hard indigestible foodstuffs; wastage of semen virile; holding up of faeces and urine (not evacuating them immediately); sleep during the day and keeping awake at night.

I.114.37

- 29. Early morning rays of the sun, excessive indulgence in sexual intercourse, the smoke column rising from the cremation ground, warming of the palms, and the constant sight of the face of a woman in her menses—all these reduce the long-evity of a man.
- 30. The following six take away one's life immediately: dry meat, old women (if cohabited with), the early morning sun, very sour curd, sleeping and having sexual intercourse in the morning.
- 31. These six things instil more vitality into the human organism: Fresh melted butter, grapes, cohabitation with a woman in the prime of her youth, a milk diet, hot water and the shade of a spreading tree.
- 32. The water in a well, the shade of a banyan tree and the well-rounded breasts of a young woman—these three are warm in winter and cool in summer.
- 33. The three instantaneously invigorating things are: a young woman, oil bath and a wholesome food. The three instantaneously debilitating things are: a hazardous journey, sexual intercourse and fever.
- 34. Dry meat watered down with milk shall not be taken in the company of wife, friends or the king. If taken, an immediate separation from them is inevitable.
- 35. Goddess of wealth forsakes a man habitually wearing dirty clothes, allowing dirt to accumulate on the teeth, eating too much, habitually speaking harsh words and sleeping at sunrise and sunset, even if he happens to be Viṣṇu.
- 36. Cutting of grass frequently, writing on the ground with the toes, chafing of the feet, neglect of the cleaning of teeth, wearing dirty clothes, keeping the hair rough, sleeping at dawn and dusk, lying down naked, cating and laughing excessively, drumming on one's own limbs or on the seat—these may destroy the affluence of even Lord Vişnu.
- 37. These six bring back one's wealth long lost: keeping the head cleaned and washed, keeping the feet spotlessly pure, keeping the company of excellent women, taking food in limited.

quantities, lying on the bed without stripping, and sexual intercourse excluding the festival nights.

- 38. Ill luck and misfortune can be warded off by wearing a flower on the head and especially the white one.
- 39. Ill luck frequently resides in the back shadow of a lamp, the shadow of the cot, the shadow of a seat and the water used by washermen.
- 40. The rays of the early morning sun, the column of smoke rising from a funeral pyre, intercourse with an old woman, very sour curd and the dust from a broom should not be resorted to by those who wish for longevity.
- 41. The dust of elephants, horses, chariots, grains and cows is auspicious. That from ass, camel, goat and sheep is inauspicious.
- 42. The dust of cows, the dust of grains and the dust from the limbs of one's own son—these are very holy, they destroy even the great sins.
- 43. The dust of a goat, the dust of an ass and the dust from a broom—these are unholy and conducive to great sin.
- 44. The wind blowing from the winnowing basket, the water dripping from the nails, the water from the cloth and pot used for bathing, the dust from the broom and the water dripping from hair—all these destroy merits previously acquired.
- 45. One shall never walk between two brahmins, a brahmin and fire, a husband and wife, two masters, two horses and two bulls.
- 46. What wise man will have confidence in women, kings, fires, serpents, studies, the enemy, worldly enjoyment, etc.?
- 47. Do not trust the incredulous; do not place too much of confidence even in the trust-worthy; there is a lurking danger in reposing trust; it may uproot one.
- 48. He who remains complacent after making peace with the enemy has actually gone to sleep atop the tree, he will wake up after his fall.
- 49. One should never be too soft nor too cruel in action. The soft would be crushed with the soft and the ruthless with the ruthless.

I.114.62 355

50. One should never be too straightforward nor too soft. Straight trees are cut in a forest and the crooked trees remain as they were.

- 51. Meritorious persons bow down like the fruit-laden trees. Dry trees and fools would rather break than bend at all.
- 52. Miseries come unsolicited; they go away as they come. Just as the cat pounces upon its prey, man seeking things shall pounce on happiness.
- 53. Riches go before and after the noble but not so in the case of ignoble. You can do as you please.
- 54. A counsel in six ears (discussed among three persons) is leaked out immediately; that in four ears is kept for some time but the one in two ears cannot be understood even by Brahmā.
- 55. Of what avail is the cow which neither yields the milk nor becomes pregnant? Of what purpose is a son who is neither virtuous nor scholarly.
- 56. The whole family is lit up by a single good son endowed with learning, intelligence and valour like the sky with the moon.
- 57. The whole forest is rendered fragrant by a single tree in full bloom like the family by a virtuous son.
- 58. One good son alone is preserable to a hundred ones devoid of good qualities. The moon alone dispels darkness and not the stars in their thousands.
- 59. The son should be fondled for five years and thrashed for the next ten years; when he reaches the sixteenth year he should be treated like a friend.
- 60. You cannot find an enemy like a son—on being born the son takes away one's wife from one [when a son is born mother's attention is more to the son than to her husband]; while growing up he takes away wealth and if by chance he dies he takes away the life of the father too.
- 61. In the world some men are like tigers with the mouth of a deer and some like deer with the mouth of a tiger. In order to know them fully distrust at every step is the only way.
 - 62. There is only one fault in men of forbearance and patience. There is no second fault. People take him to be powerless.

- 63. All enjoyments are transitory. If this alone is permitted (it would have been better) that the inclinations of the skilful be unaffected towards their friends.
- 64. O Saunaka I when the father passes away, the eldest brother takes his place. He should maintain everyone being a father unto them.
- 65. He shall be impartial to his younger brothers and give them the same pleasures as they received from their father.
- 66. The collection of a number of even insignificant things may be terrific in their effect. A number of blades of grass twisted into a rope may be strong enough to bind even an elephant.
- 67. The man who robs some one though he uses the money to make a charitable gift goes to hell. The fruit of the meritorious deed goes to the original owner of wealth.
- 68. Families are faced with fall by the destruction of temple property, looting of brahmins and showing them disrespect.
- 69. Sages have prescribed expiatory rites for the slayer of a brahmin, a drinker of wine, a thief and a breaker of vows; but there is no atonement for an ungrateful wretch.
- 70. Gods and manes do not accept oblations of the mean-minded fellow who keeps a woman of low caste as his concubine, who is a slave to his wife and who allows his wife to enjoy the company of a paramour in his own house.
- 71. An ungrateful fellow, a person of ignoble qualities, a person who nurses a grouse for a long time and a man of crooked nature—these four are the real Candalas and the fifth is one born as such.
- 72. Even an insignificant enemy of evil intentions should not be neglected carelessly. Even a tiny spark of fire, if not put out immediately consumes the entire world.
- 73. He who is quiet and tranquil in the boisterous age of blooming youth deserves the credit for being tranquil. Who does not become naturally quiet and tranquil when all his vital forces are spent out?

I.115.5 357

74. O foremost among brahmins, riches, like the public thoroughfare are common to everyone. Do not be elated and haughty thinking "This is mine."

75. The body that is dependent on the vital secretions is dependent on the mind too. If the mind is disarranged the vital secretions are destroyed. Hence, mind shall be preserved always. If the mind is in perfect order the vital secretions function properly.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN

Brhaspati's nitisāra

Sūta Said :

- One should keep oneself far away from a false wife, a deceitful friend, a tyrannous king, a disobedient son, a defiled daughter and a turbulent territory.
- 2. Alas, life in the Kali age is troublesome indeed. For, virtue has taken to renunciation, penance has started its long sojourn, truth is in exile in a foreign land, earth has become barren, people are fradulent; brahmins have become greedy, men are uxorious, women are fickle and wayward and base men are raised to high position. Blessed indeed are they who ar dead.
- Blessed are they who do not witness the destruction of their family, ruin of their lands, the sexual dalliance of their wives with other men and the infamous indulgence of their sons in vice.
- 4. None can be delighted with their vicious sons; how can one feel a thrilling rapture in the company of a disloyal wife? There is no question of confiding in a deceptive friend and no peaceful life is possible in a trouble-infested land.
- Food doled out by others, money robbed from others, defiling of another man's bed, sexual dalliance with another man's wife and a residence in another man's house will strip even Indra of his glory.

- 6. Sin spreads from man to man slowly by conversation, mutual touch, frequent association, taking food together, sitting together, lying together, and travelling together.
- 7. Women perish due to their beauty, penance due to fury, the way due to an undue length and pious brahmin by taking Sūdra's food.
- 8. By sitting together, sharing the same bed, taking food together, and jumbling up the row: sin is transmitted from man to man like water from pot to pot.
- There are many defects in fondling and many benefits in thrashing. Hence, a disciple and the son are to be thrashed, not fondled.
- 10. A long way is old age to men; water is old age to mountains; abstention from sexual intercourse is old age to women and sunlight is old age to clothes.
- 11. Base men desire strife, the middling desire reconciliation and the noble desire high honour. Verily, honour is prized by the great as the greatest asset.
- 12. Honour is at the root of wealth; if honour is secured of what avail is wealth; if one has lost honour and dignity, of what avail is wealth or longevity?
- 13. The base and the mean desire for riches; the middling desire for riches and honour and the excellent desire for honour. Verily, honour is an asset of the great.
- 14. In the forest, the lions do not bend their ears (in supplication); even when they are hungry they do not look to a share. Men of noble birth never stoop to meanness, even when they are deprived of their wealth.
- 15. The lion is neither anointed nor consecrated. The lordship of animals comes to it naturally as it has inherent valour.
- 16. No great task can be achieved by any of these:—An erring merchant; a highly proud servant, an easy going mendicant, an impoverished debaucher, a Helan of a girl bitter in speech.
- 17. Five incongruent things that we meet in the world are:—the poverty of the benevolent, the opulence of the miser, disobedience in a son, compulsion to serve a wicked man and death of persons engaged in helping others.

- 18. There are five things which burn without fire:—
 Separation from wife; insult from kins, balance of debt yet to be discharged, service to a low and base master and desertion of friends in poverty.
- 19. Among the thousand worries that agitate the mind four are very severe—nay, they are the sharp edges of a sword:—Insult at the hands of a low born person, the starving wife, cold reception by the beloved, and harassment from brothers.
- 20. The five uproot all miseries:—An obedient son, a remunerative knowledge, freedom from sickness, the companionship of the good and a loving wife surrendering herself.
- 21. The deer, the elephant, the moth, the honeybee and the fish—these five are destroyed due to addiction to their five sense-organs.1
- 22. Five types of brahmins, though as learned as Brhaspati are never honoured:—the impatient, the harsh, the haughty, the ill-clad and the uninvited.
- 23 These five are clearly defined and decided even when a child is born:—Its span of life, its activities in later life, its character, learning and the time of death.
- 24. Help rendered to those who suffer when climbing a mountain, from imminent drowning in water, attack of cows and bulls, seizure by the wicked and a spiritual fall are very commendable.

1. Victim	Sense-Organ	Object
Dear	Ears	Listens to sweet music and gets caught by the hunter.
Elephant	Sense of touch	It is caught through she-ele- phants.
moth	Eyes	It is attracted by the colour of the flame and is burnt. Attracted honeybee	Nose	by the fragrance of lotus it gets caught within.
Fish	Sense of taste	It nibbles at the bait and gets caught.

Even one of the sense-organs is destructive. How is it possible that man who uses all the five will escape destruction?

- 25. These five are never stable or long-standing:—the shadow of clouds, pleasant attitude of a wicked man; intimacy with another man's wife, youth and riches.
- 26. Life is unstable in the world, youth and riches are unstable, sons and wives are unstable; but virtue, fame and renown are permanent.
- 27. Even a life for a hundred years is too short. Half that period is taken up by nights. The remaining half is rendered fruitless by sickness, sorrow, old age and exertions.
- 28. It is said that man's span of life is a hundred years. It is too short. Half of that period is spent as nights. Half of the remaining half is spent in infancy and childhood or grieving over the separation or death of kinsmen or in service rendered to the king. The remaining period is as fickle as the waves in water. Of what avail is the sense of prestige and dignity?
- 29. Days and nights in the garb of old age traverse the earth. Death swallows the living beings like the serpent taking in air.
- 30. If our activities while walking or standing, waking or sleeping are not for the service of fellow beings they are not different from beastial actions.
- 31. What is the difference between a beast and a beast in human form with an intellect devoid of discrimination between what is wholesome and what is not; who enters into endless arguments with people in regard to the Vedic expositions, and who remains fully satisfied if he can fill his belly.
- 32. He who has not earned spotless reputation for valour, austerity, charity, learning or acquisition of wealth is but an excrement of his mother.
- 33. A good life even for a moment is considered a perfect life by those who know the same—if it is full of perfect know-ledge, valour and fame and men are not disrespected. Even a crow lives a long life and partakes of oblations.
- 34. Of what avail is that life devoid of wealth and honour? Of what use is that friend who hesitates whether he is to be friendly or not? O ye, adopt the rite of a lion, do not be grief-stricken. Even a crow lives a long life and partakes of oblations.

I.115.47 361

35. If a man does not sympathise with and render help to himself, his preceptor, his servants, the poor public and his friends, of what purpose is his life? Even a crow lives for a long time partaking the oblations.

- 36. Days come and go to a man devoid of virtue, wealth and love. Although he may breathe, his life is like that of the bellows of the blacksmith.
- 37. Success is for him who has an independent means of substance and not for him who depends on others. Those who depend on others are no better than dead even though physically alive.
- 38. Contemptible wretches fulfil their own wants; a mouse's handful is just enough to fill it; a contemptible wretch though dissatisfied will be contented with something small.
- 39. These six are like bubbles:—the shadow of clouds, fire made with dry grass, service to the base, water on the surface of the road, the love of a prostitute and the pleasant manners of the wicked.
- 40. The world cannot be pleased by a person who creates a caravan with words. Life is rooted in honour; if honour is slighted how can one derive pleasure?
- 41 A king is the support for the weak; crying constitutes the strength of the child; the strength of a fool lies in silence and that of a thief is falsehood.
- 42. As a man proceeds ahead with his study of Sastras his intellect becomes sharper and perfect knowledge appeals to him.
- 43. As a person goes ahead devoting his mind and attention to the welfare of others, everyone becomes attached to him and he becomes popular.
- 44. A person perishes due to the three-greed, grave error and implicit confidence. Hence, these shall be avoided.
- 45. Danger is to be dreaded as long as it does not befall.

 The moment it occurs fear shall be eschewed.
- 46. Balance of debt undischarged, remnant of fire not put out and sickness partially cured increase steadily. Hence, these remnants shall be avoided.
 - 47. Repay good action by goodness and violence by violence. I do not find any fault, if a wicked man is met with wickedness.

- 48. A friend who speaks sweet words in our presence and spoils our work behind our back should be avoided. Avoid an enemy using foul means.
- 49. Even a good man perishes by his association with the wicked. Even a clear water is rendered muddy by its mixing up with dust.
- 50. He whose wealth is dedicated to the brahmins enjoys well. Hence, a brahmin shall be honoured by all means.
- 51. Food taken in, after brahmins have been fed, is the real food; he is intelligent who commits no sin; that is friendship which manifests itself behind our back; that is the real sacred rite which is performed without ostentation.
- 52. That is no assembly where the aged are not present; they are not the aged who do not expound virtue; that is not virtue which is not backed by truth; that is no truth which is mixed with deception.
- 53. The best among men is the brahmin; the best among luminaries is the sun; the best among the organs is the head and the best among the sacred rites is the truth.
- 54. That is auspicious where mind is delighted; that is a real life which does not involve service and slavery; that is the real earning which is shared and enjoyed with one's own kith and kin and that is the real thunder which is made in the battle in the presence of the enemy.
- 55. She is the real woman who has no vanity; He is really happy who has shunned vain desires; He is the real friend in whom confidence can be placed and he is the real man who has controlled his organs of sense.
- 56. One should cast off honour and love where love is extinct; Only that is praiseworthy the core of which is held in esteem.
- 57. No attempt should be made to trace the origin of rivers, Agnihotra worshippers and the family of Bharata. Such an attempt is bound to fail.
- 58. Rivers end with the sea of salt-water; sexual intercourse ends with the treachery of the woman; back-biting ends with the news being made public and wealth comes to an end with misery.

I.115.67 363

- 59. The prosperity of a kingdom comes to an end with the curse of a brahmin; the spiritual power of a brahmin comes to an end with his sin; all decency in conduct of life comes to an end if residence is taken near cowsheds; the family is ruined if women rule.
- 60. All hoarded things end in wastage, rising in power comes to an end in downfall; all contacts and intimacies come to an end in separation and disintegration; life comes to an end with death.
- 61. If one wishes the return of the guest he shall not be followed very far at the time of farewell. He can be followed upto a pond or well or a tree with plenty of shade and colourful leaves.
- 62. One shall not reside in a land where there is no leader or where there are many leaders or where the leadership is vested in a woman or in a child.
- 63. The father protects her in childhood; the husband in youth and the son in old age. A woman is not to be allowed to stay independently.
- 64. A barren woman shall be abandoned in the eighth year after marriage; a woman whose children die in infancy shall be abandoned in the ninth year; a woman who gives birth only to daughters shall be abandoned in the eleventh year; and a woman who speaks unpleasant words shall be abandoned immediately.
- 65. Three persons beyond the pale of money stick to their lords. One who is not in want; one who is afraid of men; one who is afraid of servants.
- 66. An intelligent man must keep aloof from these:—the exhausted horse, the elephant in its rut, cows in their first parturition, and frogs outside water.
- 67. Those who are mad after money do not have friends or kinsmen; those who are lustful and lecherous know no fear or shame; those who are worried with anxious thoughts have no pleasure or sleep and those who are oppressed by hunger do not want even salt or warmth in the food.

- 68. How can these have peaceful sleep?—the poor, the slave, the man fond of another man's wife and the wretch who wants to rob another man of his wealth.
- 69. Blissfully sleeps the man who has no debts to repay and who is free from sickness. He who is not yet married, takes his food leisurely.
- 70. The height of a lotus is in proportion to the quantity of water in the pond; a servant becomes proud if his master is strong and influential.
- 71. The sun and Varuna (water) befriend the lotus when it stands firm in its place; they make it fade and putrefy if it is uprooted.
- 72. Those who had been friends of a man in high office become enemies when he steps down from the office. The sun delightfully causes the bloom of the lotus in water but when it is plucked and put on the ground the sun dries it up.
- 73. Things in their proper places and persons in their respective offices are honoured. Away from their original places neither hair nor the nails, neither the teeth nor men shine or receive consideration.
- 74. Manners and behaviour indicate parentage; manner of speech and accent indicates the native place; flutter up indicates affection and the physical build indicates the diet accustomed to.
- 75. A downpour in the ocean is unnecessary; feeding an over-fed and satiated man is superfluous; a charity made over to an affluent man is unnecessary and the meritorious actions of a base man are futile.
- 76. Even a person who is far off is as good as near if he has a place in the heart; if cast out of the heart a man close at hand is no better than one far off.
- 77. Contortions in the face, low sunk husky voice, perspiration all over the body and a frightened appearance—these are the signs usually seen at the time of death and in regard to a man out to beg.
- 78. The life of a worm in the person of the beggar or that of one blown by the wind over his head is better than the life of beggar himself.

I.116.4 365

79. The lord of the world Visnu himself when he begged suffered dimunition of stature. Who is there superior to him who can be a suppliant and yet not suffer disrespect.

- 80. The parents by whom children are not educated are no better than enemies. The uneducated can never shine in an assembly of the learned like cranes amidst swans.
- 81. Learning gives beauty to the ugly; it is a well protected asset; it makes man a saint; it makes him popular; it is revered of the revered; it dispels the sorrow of kinsmen; it is a deity; even kings honour it; a man devoid of learning is no better than a beast.
- 82-83. Inside the house there are many things which can be taken away by others but not learning. Lord Visnu expounded the essence of polity to Saunaka, as well as all sacred rites. Lord Siva heard this. Vyasa heard from Siva and we heard it from Vyasa.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahma said:

- O Vyása, I shall expound the sacred rites by which Lord Vişnu should be propitiated and which bestow everything. Lord Vişnu can be worshipped in any month or day of the lunar fortnight or the week or when any star is ascendant.
- The devotee fasts completely or takes a single meal at night or mere fruits. With a desire for the birth of a son, victory in battle and acquisition of a kingdom he shall make charitable gifts of cash or foodgrains.
- 3-4. Vaiśvānara and Kubera worshipped on the first day of the lunar fortnight bestow wealth. If Brahmā is worshipped on the first day of the lunar fortnight after a full fast he bestows wealth and mares. Yama, Nārāyaṇa and goddess Lakṣmī worshipped on the second day bestow wealth. The three deities Gauri, Vighnesa (Ganesa) and Śankara should be worshipped on the third day.

- 5. Lord Caturvyūha (Viṣṇu) worshipped on the fourth day, Lord Viṣṇuw orshipped on the fifth day, Lord Kārttikeya and Lord Sun worshipped on the sixth day, and Bhāskara¹ on the seventh day—all these bestow wealth.
- 6. Goddess Durgå shall be worshipped on the eighth day. The seven Mothers and the eight quarters worshipped on the ninth day bestow wealth. Yama and the Moon shall be worshipped on the tenth day and the sages shall be worshipped on the eleventh day.
- 7. Lord Hari shall be worshipped on the twelfth day and Cupid on the thirteenth day; Maheśvara² on the fourteenth day and Brahmā and the Pitṛs (Manes) worshipped on the fifteenth day bestow wealth.
- 8. The presiding deities of the days of the week, Sun and others, shall be worshipped on the new moon day. The presiding deities of the stars and Yogas worshipped shall bestow everything.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTEEN

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- 1-2. In the month of Margasīrṣa (Oct-Nov.) on the thirteenth day of the bright half, which is called Ananga Trayodasī, Lord Śiva shall be worshipped with Dhattūra³ flowers and tooth pick twigs of the tree Mallikā,⁴ with the Naivedya (food offering) of honey saying that it is for the Cupid. In the month Pauṣa, Yogeśvara should be worshipped with the Bilva flowers; the Kadamba⁵ twig is the tooth pick; sandal paste and Karavira¹ flowers. Fragrant pastes and seat are offered. The Naivedya is ghee, etc. and the tooth pick is of Karavira tree.

- 10-12. In the month of Bhādrapada (July-Aug.) lord Sadyojāta² should be worshipped with Bakula³ flowers. Pūpaka (cake) is the naivedya. In the month of Āśvina (Aug-Sep.) the gandharva lord Madanaja and Indra, the lord of the deities should be worshipped in water in a gold pot, with the offerings of Modaka. The tooth pick is of Khadira³ tree (catechu). In the month of Kārttika (Sep-Oct.) Rudra should be worshipped. The tooth pick should be of Badari⁴ tree. The devotee should either fast or take one tenth of the usual food. At the end of the year he should worship Śiva with lotuses offering milk and vegetables as naivedya.
- 13. Lord Ananga accompanied by Rati should be worshipped on a golden throne. Gingelly seeds and rice grains should be offered in the fire ten thousand times.
- 14. He should keep awake in the night in singing songs or playing on instruments. In the morning worship should again be performed. Bed, vessels, cloth, umbrella and shoes should be given to brahmins.
- 15. He should feed cows and brahmins with devotion. He should be delighted. This is the concluding rite for all Vratas. The fruit of all these Vratas is prosperity, health, and good fortune.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTEEN

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahma said :

- 1-2. I shall expound Akhanda-Dvådaśi-Vrata that yields salvation: quelling of all evils. In the bright half of the month of Mārgaśīrşa the devotee should fast on the eleventh day taking in only Pañcagavya. On the twelfth day he should worship Lord Viṣṇu. For four consecutive months he shall give vessels containing the five kinds of food grains to a brahmin and say:—
- 3-5. "Whatever, O noble sir, I have done in seven previous births shall, by your grace, be unsevered. Just as the entire universe is one complete whole, let all the vratas performed by me be one whole. You are Purusottama himself." In the four months from Caitra he should give vessels of flour and in the four months from Śrāvaṇa he shall give vessels of butter. The devotee who performs this Vrata would obtain good wife, sons and attain heaven after death.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND NINETEEN

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- 1-2. I should now expound Agastyarghya Vrata which yields worldly enjoyment and salvation. Three days before the transit of the Sun to Kanyārāśi (Virgo), an image of the sage should be made with Kāśa¹ flowers in a vessel and Arghya shall be offered after duly worshipping it. The devotee should keep awake in the night.
- 3-4. The worship should be with curd, rice grains, flowers and fruits too. The pot should be painted in five colours. It may be of gold or silver. It should contain seven types of grains. It should be smeared with curd and sandal paste. While giving "Arghya" the mantra "Agastyah Khanamanah" etc. shall be recited.

^{1.} Saccharum Spontaneum

- 5. While worshipping, the devotee should say :— "O sage Agastya! obeisance unto thee. Thou art the son of Mitra and Varuna. Thou art born of Fire and Wind. Thou art like the Kasa flower."
- 6. Sūdras and women should use only this mantra for offering grains, fruits and juice. The devotee shall give the vessel to a brahmin with dakṣiṇās and feed brahmins. By doing so for seven years he will get every thing he wants.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- 1-2. I shall now expound Rambhā-Tṛtīyā-Vrata that yields good fortune, wealth and sons. In the month of Mārgašīrṣa, on the third day in the bright half, the devotee should worship Gaurī with the leaves of Bilva after duly fasting. He should wash his hands with water from Kuśa grass. The tooth pick should be of the Kadamba twig. In the same way in the month of Pauṣa he should worship Girisutā¹ with Maruvaka flowers.
- 3-4. He should take in only the leaves of Karpūra plant. He should offer Kṛśaras (balls of gingelly seeds in treacle). The tooth pick should be of Mallikā twig. In the month of Māgha, the devotee should worship Subhadrā with Kalhāra flowers. He should take only butter. Maṇḍaka should be offered. The tooth pick should be Gītīmaya? In the month of Phālguna, Gomatī shall be worshipped. The tooth pick should be of Kunda twigs. He should offer Śaṣkulīs and take only just a little food to keep him active.
 - 1. Parvati, the daughter of Himalaya.

I.120.11 371

5. In the month of Caitra, the devotee should take only Curd. "Viśālākṣī should be worshipped with Madanaka flowers offering Kṛśaras. The tooth pick shall be of Tagara twig. In the month of Vaiśākha, Śrīmukhī should be worshipped with Karņikāra flowers. The tooth pick is of Aśoka twigs and the devotee should take only Aśoka leaves.

6. In the month of Jyestha, Narayani should be worshipped with lotus flowers. Sugar candy should be offered. He should take in only clove. In the month of Aşadha, Madhavi should be worshipped.

7. The devotee should take only gingelly seeds. The worship should be performed with Bilva leaves. He should offer milk pudding and Vaṭakas (fried pies). The tooth pick shall be either Udumbara twigs or Tagarī. Goddess Śrī should be worshipped in Śrāvaṇa.

8. The tooth pick should be of Mallika and milk offerings should be made. In the month of Bhadrapada, Uttama should be worshipped with lotuses. Offerings are jaggery, etc.

The devotee should take in Srngada (aloe wood).

9. In the month of Aśvina, the goddess Rājaputrī should be worshipped with Japā flowers (China rose), the devotee taking only Jīraka in the night. The Naivedya is Kṛśara.

- 10. In the month of Karttika, the goddess Padmaja should be worshipped with Jati flowers. He shall take only Pancagavya. At the end of the year, he should worship Brahmin couples. He himself should take butter and cooked rice.
- 11. After worshipping Umamahesvara jaggery should be given along with cloth, umbrella, gold, etc. He should keep awake the whole of the night engaged in singing. In the morning he should give cows, etc. The devotee would get everything.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYONE

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- I shall now mention the Caturmasya Vratas These rites can be taken either on the eleventh day or on Full moon day, in the month of Aşadha. The devotee should pray thus at the outset.
- 2-3. "O Keśava, I have taken up this Vrata before you. If you are pleased may, it be completed without hindrances. Having taken up this rite if I die before completing the same, O Lord, may it be treated as completed through your grace."
- 4. One should take up the Vrata, Arcana, Japa, etc after praying at the outset like this. The sins of those who even desire to perform Lord Hari's Vrata perish entirely.
- 5. He who takes his bath daily and worships Vişnu continuously for four months taking a single meal every day attains the region of Viṣnu, free from impurities.
- 6. The devotee should abstain from taking wine, meat and oil bath and perform the worship of Hari. He should continue his study of Vedas and perform the Krechra rite. He will attain the region of Visnu and become Visnu himself.
- 7. By fasting for a night the devotee becomes a deity moving about in aerial car. By fasting for three nights or taking only a sixth of his usual diet he attains Svetadvipa.
- 8. A devotee who performs Candrayana attains the region of Hari. He who performs Prajapatya attains salvation unsolicited. He who performs Parakavrata attains Visnuloka and becomes Hari Himself.
- The devotee should sustain himself on grain flour, barley, alms, milk, curd, ghee, cow's urine and Pañcagavya; he should avoid vegetables, roots, fruits and juice. He will thus attain Vişnu.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYTWO

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

- 1. I shall now mention the Vrata Māsopavāsa that lasts for a month and is the most excellent of all Vratas. This fast for a month should be undertaken by an ascetic in his Vānaprastha stage of life or by an elderly lady.
- 2. The devotee should inaugurate the fast for a month on the eleventh day in the bright half of the month of Asvina.
- 3-4. He should first pray like this:—"From this day onwards O Viṣṇu, I shall worship Thee for thirty days without taking food till Utthana Dvadasi" (the day of rising up) in the month of Karttika. May not there be any sin of cutting Vrata if I were to die in the midst of the bright twelfths of Aśvina and Karttika."
- 5-7. Taking three baths every day, the devotee shall worship Hari with sweet scents. He should refrain from taking oil bath and not smear his body with sweet scents within the precincts of the temple. The fasting devotee shall perform the worship on the twelfth day, feed the brahmins and then do the Pāraṇā (taking of food). If in the course of Vrata he falls unconscious he can drink milk. This Vrata is not spoiled by drinking milk. He will enjoy worldly pleasures and salvation.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYTHREE

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- 1. I shall mention some Vratas in the month of Karttika. The devotee should worship Vişņu after bathing. He should take a single meal a day in the night or live on alms for a whole-month.
 - 2. He should take milk, vegetables and fruits or take fast. Freed from his sin he should attain everyone of his desires and attain Hari.

- 3. Hari's Vrata is always excellent. In Daksinayana it is still more excellent. In the Caturmasya the excellence is heightened further and the Bhismapancaka in the month of Karttika is better still.
- 4. Hence, this excellent Vrata should be performed on the eleventh day in the bright half. He shall take three baths. Lord Hari, and the manes should be worshipped with barley grains.
- While worshipping he should be silent. The idol should be bathed with butter Pañcagavya and water and smeared with camphor.
- 6-7. During the five days of Vrata, the devotee should burn incense sticks with ghee-smeared Guggulu. The Naivedya is sweet rice porridge. He should recite 'Om obeisance to Våsudeva' one hundred and eight times and with this same eight-syllabled mantra ending with Svåhå he shall perform Homa with butter, rice grains and gingelly seeds.
- 8-10. On the first day of the Vrata he should worship Hari's feet with lotus flowers; on the second day he should worship the knees with Bilva leaves; on the third day the navel with scents; on the fourth day the shoulders with water from Bilva leaves and on the fifth day he should worship the head with Mālatī flowers. During these days he should sleep only on the bare ground. The five constituents of Pañcagavya should be taken in order on each day thus:—first day cowdung; second day urine, third day milk, fourth day curd and on the fifth day all five ones. On the night of the fifteenth day (Full Moon) the Vrata shall conclude. He who performs this Vrata attains to worldly pleasures and salvation.
- 11. Fasting on Ekādašī days (eleventh day) in both halves of the month shall be observed. It removes all sins and wards off hell—nay it enables one to attain Viṣṇuloka and gives everything desired.
- 12-13. For authentic fasts, the eleventh and twelfth phases of the moon should cover the full day from sunrise to sunset and the thirteenth phase should be at sunrise. The Parana should be on the twelfth day. This Vrata can be performed even when there is impurity due to birth or death. If the eleventh phase covers the whole day from sunrise to sunset Lord Hari is present. If part of the day is covered by the tenth phase and part by the eleventh phase, demons permeate that. Fasts shall not be undertaken then.

- 14. O sage, if the Full moon or New moon phase is mixed with either the fourteenth or the first phase, fast shall be undertaken.
- 15. Similarly, fast can be undertaken when the third fourth, fifth or the sixth phase gets mixed with each other in the course of the day.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYFOUR

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

 I shall now mention the "Sivaratri-Vrata', and the story connected with the same that yields everything one desires. Goddess Gauri was told this Vrata by Siva when she asked him about it.

Isvara said :

- The fourteenth phase of the moon in the dark half between the months of Magha and Phalguna is the day fixed for this Vrata. The devotee shall keep awake for the whole night and worship Lord Rudra. He should attain worldly pleasures and salvation.
- Lord Siva should be worshipped in the company of Lord Cupid just as Lord Keśava is worshipped on Dvādaśī days. If after fast, the lord is worshipped he will enable the devotee to cross the Hell.
- 4. Once Sundara Senaka, the sinful king of Niṣādas went ahunting into a forest along with his dogs.
- 5. He was unable to bag any game. He became exhausted due to hunger and thirst. He took rest in a bower on the banks of the lake on a mountain, but could not get even a wink of sleep.

- 6. In his attempt to balance himself on the tree he let fall a few leaves from the tree on a Linga (the phallic emblem of Siva) at the foot of the tree but he was not aware of the same.
- 7-8. An arrow fell from his quiver. He jumped down to retrieve it. In his search for the arrow he crawled up to the linga and touched it. To wash himself of the dust he brought some water, a few drops of which fell on the linga too. Thus all the items in a worship—bathing, worshipping with leaves, prostration and touching the linga and keeping awake—had been performed unconsciously.
- 9. In the morning he returned home and had his food brought by his wife. After some time when he died he was dragged by the soldiers of Yama with a noose.
- 10. Then my followers fought with them and released him. Thus purified along with his faithful dog of that day he became one of my attendants (Ganas).
- 11. Thus, even without knowing he got the fruits of worship. He who knowingly performs worship will derive everlasting benefit. The devotee shall first worship Siva on the thirteenth day and pray thus:
- 12-13. "O God, I shall keep awake on the Caturdaśi night. The worship, charitable gift, penance and Homa shall be performed according to my ability. O Sambhu after fasting for the whole of Caturdaśi (fourteenth) I shall take food only the next day. O Lord, be my refuge and accord me worldly pleasures and salvation."
- 14. After bathing the linga with Pañcagavya and water, at the close of worship, the devotee should approach his preceptor and worship Lord Siva again with the mantra "Om obeisance, obeisance to Siva" and offer scents.
- 15. Then he should perform Homa with gingelly seeds, rice and other grains as well as butter. After Pūrņāhuti he should listen to songs of prayer and mythological storics.
- 16. The worship should again be performed at midnight and at the end of third and fourth Yamas. The concluding rites should be performed in the morning with the Mülamantra.

17-19. "O Lord, with your favour I have concluded the rites unhindered. O lord of the universe, forgive me. O lord of the three worlds, O Hara, the merit that I derived today due to the naivedya offering to the lord Rudra is immense. O Lord with thy grace the Vrata has been concluded. O Lord, be pleased. Return to Thy region. I have become purified by "Thy holy sight." The devotee should feed brahmins stable in their contemplation and give clothes, umbrella, etc, to them.

20-21. "O Lord of gods, lord of goblins, the blesser of the world, what I have offered out of faith be delightfully received by Thee", saying this he shall conclude the final rites. If the devotee does this for twelve years he will attain glory, fortune, children, realm as well as Siva's region.

22-23. This rite can be performed in twelve months by keeping awake at night. He should feed twelve brahmins and make gift of lamps to them. He will attain heaven hereafter.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYFIVE

Sacred Rites (Vratus)

Brahmā said :

 Måndhåtr became an emperor by fasting on Ekådaśi days. In both halves of the month none shall take anything on the eleventh day.

 Gåndhåri fasted on a day when the tenth and eleventh phases of the moon were mixed. Her hundred sons perished. Hence such days shall be avoided for fasting purposes.

3-4. Where the tenth and eleventh phases of the moon are on separate full days, Lord Hari is present there. When there is any doubt about the mixture of Dasami and Ekadasi the fast shall be undertaken where the mixture of Ekadasi and Dvadasi is present and the Parana shall be had on Trayodasi (the thirteenth day).

5. Where Ekadasi, Dvadasi and Trayodasi are mixed, that is a very auspicious occasion.

- 6. O Brahmin, thus fast can be undertaken when there is full Ekādaśī, or mixture of Ekādaśī and Dvādaśī or mixture of the three but never on the day when there is mixture of the tenth with the eleventh day.
- 7. King Rukmängada undertook fast on two Ekādaśī days, kept awake during the night listening to Purāņas and worshipping Gadādhara. He attained Salvation. Others too have attained salvation by undertaking Ekādaśī Vrata.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYSIX

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- 1. I shall now explain a means of worship by which people attain salvation and which yields worldly enjoyment and salvation together.
- The usual mystical diagram shall be drawn and Dhātr shall be placed at the entrance. So also Vidhātr, Gangā, Yamunā and Mahānadī shall be placed at other entrances.
- 3. Dvāraśrī, Daṇḍa, Pracaṇḍa and Vāstupuruṣa shall be placed at other entrances. In the middle the Ādhāraśakti (the supporting power), Kūrma (the tortoise) and Ananta (Lord Viṣṇu's serpent bed) should be worshipped.
- 4-6. In the corners the earth, virtue, knowledge, renunciation, prosperity, the four i.e. Adharma, Ajñāna, Avairāgya and Anaiśvarya (opposite of the foregoing four) Kandanāla (the inner stalk) lotus, the petals, Sattva, Rajas, Tamas, the spheres sun, etc., Vimalā and other Śaktis, Durgā, the attendants, Sarasvatī and Kṣetrapāla should be worshipped. The seats should be worshipped and then the idol, Vāsudeva and Bala and Smara should be worshipped.
- 7-8. Aniruddha and Mahātmā Nārāyana should be worshipped. The limbs, hearts, etc., Śańkha and other weapons, Śrī, Puṣṭi, Garuda, the preceptor and the preceptor's preceptor should be worshipped. In the quarters Indra and others (fire, etc.) should be worshipped. The Naga (serpent) should be worshipped below and Brahma above.

9-10. The worship of Vişvaksena is in the north-east. The above worship is narrated in the Vedas. He who worships like this even for once duly, has no re-birth in the world. Worship of Puṇḍarīka, Brahmā and Gadādhara is also necessary.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYSEVEN

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- 1. Bhīma undertook fast for a day on the eleventh day of the bright half of the month of Magha, when there was the star Hasta too present.
- 2. After performing this wonderful Vrata he became free from the indebtedness to the Manes. This Bhīmadvādaśī is very famous and makes the merit of every one flourish.
- 3. Even when the Hasta star is not conjoined with the Ekadasi, the fast undertaken is so powerful as to remove the sin of slaying a brahmin. It removes all great sins like the bad king destroying his own realm.
- 4-8. A bad son destroys his family; a bad wife destroys her husband; virtue destroys evil; a bad minister destroys his king; ignorance destroys knowledge, purity destroys impurity, lack of faith destroys Śrāddha; untruths destroy Truth; the heat destroys the effect of snow; hoarded wealth destroys illness, boasting destroys the merit of charity; haughtiness destroys the power of penance; absence of education spoils a boy; too much of walking destroys cattle; anger destroys mental peace, absence of means to increase it spoils wealth; knowledge destroys ignorance and absence of desire and attachment spoils the fruit. This auspicious Vrata is recommended for the destruction of all sins.
 - 9-11. The sins of slaying a brahmin, drinking wine, stealing gold, illicit intercourse with preceptor's wife acquired simultaneously cannot be wiped off even if one makes pilgrimage to Puşkara three times (but this Vrata wipes them off). Neither Naimişa, Kurukşetra, Prabhāsa nor Kālindī, Yamunā, Gangā, Sarasvatī nor any of the other holy rivers, can equal this Ekādasī. Nor charitable gifts nor japa, nor homa nor any other sacred rite can equal this Ekādasī.

- 12. If on one pan the merit of making a gift of the whole world is placed and on the other pan the merit of this Vrata the latter alone will be found excellent.
- 13-14. A golden image of the Boar incarnation of the Lord should be placed in a copper vessel over another vessel. All grain seeds should be placed in it and the vessel shall be covered with a white cloth. With gold (for Dakṣiṇā) lamp, etc. the worship should be performed duly.
- 15-17. With the mantras specified the respective limbs should be worshipped duly:

Mantra	Limbs
Obeisance to Varáha	two feet
Obeisance to Krodakrti	hip
Obeisance to GabhIraghoşa	navel
Obeisance to Śrīvatsadhārin	chest
Obeisance to Sahasrasiras	arms
Obeisance to Sarvesvara	neck
Obeisance to Sarvātman	face
Obeisance to Prabhava	forenead
Obeisance to Satamayūkha	hair

After worshipping duly, the devotee shall keep awake during the night.

- 18. He should listen to the Puranas illustrating the greatness of the lord. In the morning gifts should be given to brahmins and beggars of auspicious nature.
- 19. Cloth bordered with gold should be given to brahmins. Meals at the completion of the Vrata should then be had but not upto satiety.
- 20. Even if the devotee does this only once he will not be born again to be suckled at the breasts of a mother. By fasting on Ekādaśi days the devotee is freed from the three debts. He will get everything he desires by this Vrata.

I.128.12 381

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYEIGHT

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

1. O Vyasa I shall mention the rules governing all Vratas by which Lord Hari will be pleased and bestow everything. A Vrata should be performed together with the observation of Niyamas (restraints) mentioned in the scriptures. A Vrata is a form of penance.

2. Yamas (self-restraints) along with Niyamas (External restraints) should be equally observed. He should take three baths every day and lie on the bare ground. He should have perfect control on his sense-organs.

3. He should not speak to women, Sūdras and degraded persons. He should make offering into fire of five sacred articles to the extent of his monetary capacity.

4. Krcchra type of Vratas should be performed for mere merit. If the devotee wants preservation of wealth (and similar things) the Vrata should be performed twice.

- 5. Persons observing fasts should not drink water out of a bell-metal vessel. During other Vratas he should abstain from taking black grain, Masūr Dāla, Bengal grain, and grains of Koradūṣaka variety; he should avoid vegetables, honey and other's food.
- 6. Wearing flower garlands, ornaments and gaudy clothes, smearing of scented unguents, washing the teeth and applying Collyrium spoil the fast.
- 7. Before starting Vrata he should wash his teeth and take in Pañcagavya in the morning. Constant drinking of water, chewing betel leaves, sleeping during the day, gambling and sexual intercourse spoil a Vrata.
- 8-9. In all Vratas ten virtuous practices should be followed, viz:—forbearance, truthfulness, sympathy, charity, purity control over the sense-organs, worship of gods, sacrificial offering into the fire, contentment and non-stealing.
- 10-12. Night-meal means taking food after seeing the stars. When a person performs a Brahmakrcchra Vrata the Pancagavya is constituted thus:—One pala of cow's urine is taken and consecrated by Gāyatrī, Cowdung of half the size of the thumb and consecrated by the mantra Gandha¹ etc; One pala of ghee consecrated by the mantra "Tejosi"² etc; seven palas of milk consecrated by the mantra "Āpyāyasva"³ etc; three palas of curd consecrated by the mantra "Dadhikrāvņo"⁴ etc; one pala of Kuśa water consecrated by the mantra "Devasya"⁵ etc.

- 13 During Malamasa or the intercalary month many auspicious rites are not performed e.g. Agnyadhana (the first kindling of the sacrificial fire); installation of idols, sacrifices, charities, Vratas, Vedic rites, Vrsotsarga (setting free of a bull) rites, tonsure ceremony, investiture with the sacred thread, marriages and crowning of kings.
- 14-17. Savana calculation of month consists of thirty days from one New moon to another. Saura calculation of a month is based on the transit of the sun from one zodiac sign to the next. A stellar month consists of twenty seven days. Saura month is taken for the celebration of marriages. For sacrifices etc. Savana calculation is followed. Two phases of the moon on the same day are very auspicious such as—second and third; third and fourth and fourth and fifth; sixth and seventh, eighth and ninth; eleventh and twelfth; fourteenth and the full moon and the New moon with the first. The conjunction of Tithis other than these is very frightful destroying all previous merits.
- 18. When a woman after starting a Vrata menstruates, the Vrata need not be stopped; all physical activities she can continue but charity, etc. shall be performed through proxies.
- 19. If there is a cessation of a Vrata in the middle due to anger, greed or mistakes, the devotee should observe fast for three days and completely tonsure the head.
- 20. If there is physical incapacity due to illness the devotee should ask his son to continue the Vrata. If a brahmin becomes unconscious during the Vrata, he can be allowed to drink water.
 - 1. RVKh. 5.87.9.
 - 2. AV. 7.89.4.
 - 3. RV. 1.91.16.
 - 4. RV. 4.39.6.
 - 5. VS. 1.24.

I.129.11 383

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTYNINE

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

- 1. I shall mention the Vratas for Pratipad and other days, O Vyāsa. This is called Sikhivrata. He should take one meal on the first day. At the close, he should make a gift of a brown cow. He would attain Vaiśvānara region.
- This can be performed in the beginning of Caitra too with due worship of Brahma, due offerings of fragrant flowers, garlands and homas into the fire. The devotee shall attain all desires.
- 3. A person desirous of beauty shall perform the Vrata on the eighth day of the bright half of the Karttika month wearing flower garlands and offering flowers, etc. He shall be endowed with beauty.
- 4-6. Lord Śrīdhara with Śrī shall be worshipped on the third day in the dark half of Śrāvaṇa. Bed, clothes and fruits shall be gifted to Brahmins. When giving bed he shall pray "Obeisance to Śrīdhara and Śrī. In the beginning of Caitra on the third day the devotee shall worship Umā, Śiva and fire god. The naivedya offered shall be Havişya (cooked rice soaked in butter) along with Madanaka. He shall reap the fruit as mentioned by Umā to me.
- 7-8. A three days abstention from salt from the first to the third day in the beginning of Phalguna is a bliss yielding excellent Vrata and the devotee shall attain Gauriloka. At the end of the Vrata he shall duly worship a brahmin couple and make a gift of a bed and a house with all requisites, saying, "O Bhavani (Goddess Pārvatī) be pleased".
- 9-10. The twelve manifestations of the goddess, viz:—Gauri, Kālī, Umā, Bhadrā, Durgā, Kānti, Sarasvatī, Mangalā, Vaiṣṇavī, Lakṣmī, Śivā and Nārāyaṇī shall be worshipped either on twelve successive days from the third day of Mārga-śīrṣa month or in twelve successive months from the said day (taking the third day in every month for the Vrata). He shall never suffer from separation from his beloved.
- 11. The devotee shall observe fast on the fourth day in the bright half of the month of Magha and take up the Vrata.

He shall gift away gingelly seeds to a brahmin and shall drink only gingelly water. The Vrata is concluded in two years. He will not be hindered by obstacles in his life.

- 12-14. The Mülamantra is "Om Gaḥ Svāhā". The Nyāsa mantra for the heart is Glaum Glām. The nyāsa mantras for head and tuft are "Gām Gīm Gūm and Hrūm Hrīm Hrīm" the nyāsa for Varman is "Gūm" "Gom" and for the eye "Gaum" and "Gom". Hence Āvāhana, etc. The oblation and Visarjana (mystical dismissal) are with the mantras "Āgaccholkāya Gandholkaḥ Puṣpolko Dhūpakolkakaḥ Dīpolkāya Maholkāya". The Nyāsa on the thumb etc. is with "Gāyatrī".
- 15. The Gayatri mantra runs thus:—"Om, we realise the huge-eared deity, we meditate upon the deity with bent trunk. May the deity with the tusk goad us (on our path)".
- 16. Gingelly seeds shall be consigned to the sacrificial fire in the Homa. All his attendant Gaņas shall be worshipped: "Svāhā unto the Gaṇa and to the lord of Gaṇas. Obeisance to Kūşmāṇḍaka.
- 17. Obeisance to Amogholka, obeisance to Ekadanta and obeisance to Tripurantakarūpin". Om obeisance to the deity with dark tusks and terrific face, the lord of battles.
- 18. Svāhā unto Padmadamṣṭra. The usual Mudrās (mystical signs) are shown. The devotee then dances, laughs and claps his hands. The fruit of this Vrata is Saubhāgya (good fortune).
- 19. Beginning with the fourth day in the bright half of Margasirsa this worship of Ganas shall be continued for a year. The devotee shall be blessed with good learning, wealth, fame, longevity and sons.
- 20. On a Monday when the fourth phase of the moon is also present, Ganas can be worshipped after due fast with the usual japas and homas. The devotee shall attain heaven without obstacles.
- 21. God Vighneśvara shall be worshipped on the fourth day in the bright half of any month with sugar candies, Laddukas (sweet balls of fried flour dough) and sweet meats. He shall attain everything he desires and good fortune.
 - 22. If the worship is done with Madana flowers he will be blessed with sons. The Caturthi is also called "Madana Caturthi". With the mantras "Om obeisance to Ganapati,"

- 23-24. All the Ganas shall be worshipped in any month with homas and japas. He shall attain everything he desires. All obstacles will be destroyed. He who worships Vinayaka in his idol with these names attains the goal of the good, heaven, happiness and final salvation.
- 25-26. The names are twelve:—Gaṇapūjya (worthy of the worship of the group), Ekadantin (single-tusked), Vakratuṇḍa (Bent Trunk), Tryambaka (Three-eyed), Nīlagtīva (blue-necked), Lambodara (large-bellied), Vikaṭa (the terrific), Vighnarājaka the remover of obstacles), Dhūmravarṇa (smoke-coloured) Bālacandra (pleasing as the crescent moon) Vināyaka, Gaṇapati and Hastimukha (Elephant-faced). The devotee shall attain everything he desires.
- 27-29. The scipent gods Vásuki, Takşaka, Kaliya, Manibhadraka, Airāvata, Dhrtaraṣṭra, Karkoṭaka and Dhanañ-jaya shall be worshipped after bathing the idols in Ghee on the fifth day in any of the months Śrāvaṇa, Āśvina, Bhādra and Kārttika. The devotee shall be blessed with longevity, health and heavenly bliss.
- 30-31. The serpents Ananta, Vāsuki, Sankha, Padma, Kambala, Karkoṭaka, Nāga, Dhṛtarāṣṭra, Śankhaka, Kāliya, Takṣaka and Pingala shall be worshipped in order in the different months. Or in the bright half of Bhādra the eight serpents mentioned before shall be worshipped. He will attain salvation and heavenly bliss.
- 32. On the fifth day in the bright half of Śrāvaṇa the pictures of the serpents shall be painted on either side of the main door of the house. They shall be worshipped. Milk and butter constitute the Naivedya. This rite removes all poisons. The serpents shall bestow freedom from fear. This is called Daṣṭoddharaṇapañcamī.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

1-2. Similarly, God Kårttikeya is to be worshipped in the month of Bhådrapada. The ceremonial bath, charitable gift etc. in this Vrata is of everlasting benefit. On the seventh day, brahmins have to be fed and god sun is to be worshipped with the following mantra—"Svåhå unto Khakkolka. Thou art immortal, let Thy contact be pleasing for ever." The Påranå is on the eighth day with pepper. The devotee shall attain heaven.

Thus Maricasaptami is explained.

3-4. On the seventh day of the lunar month the devotee shall take his bath and duly worship the sun-god. With the prayer "May the sun-god be pleased, he shall give fruits to the brahmins. The fruits offered and taken by himself shall be dates, coconuts or pomegranates. While offering the prayer he shall think "May all my desires be fulfilled".

Thus Phalasaptami is explained:

5-6. After worshipping one's own favourite deity on the Saptami (seventh) day he shall feed brahmins with milk puddings and shall drink any milk. The word Odana connotes all kinds of foodstuffs chewed, sucked or licked (lambatives). If the devotee is desirous of wealth, sons, etc. he shall remain Anodana (not taking any of the foodstuffs). Brahmins shall be given due Dakṣiṇās as well.

Thus Anodanasaptami is explained.

7-8. The devotee desirous of victory shall perform Vijaya Saptami Vrata taking nothing but air, the devotee desirous of love shall eat leaves of the sun plant (Arka) or observe fast. It yields everything he desires. He who abjures wheat, pulses, barley, the Şaştika variety of rice, bell metal vessels, stony vessels, wheat flour, honey, wine, meat, sexual intercourse, oil bath, applying collyrium and gingelly seeds on Saptami (seventh) days is to be considered as having fasted for seven Saptamis (as explained in this and the next chapter).

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTYONE

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

1-2. On the Aṣṭamī (eighth) day in the bright half of the month of Bhādrapada, the goddesses Dūrvā and Gaurī as well as Gaṇeśa and Śiva are to be worshipped with fruits, grains and flowers reciting the mantra—"Obeisance to Śambhu and Śiva. O Dūrvā, thou art of immortal birth." Only raw food, not cooked in fire, shall be taken by the devotce. He shall attain everything he desires.

Thus Dūrvastamī is explained:

- 3. On the eighth day in the dark half mingled with Rohini star Lord Hari is to be worshipped. Even if the seventh phase of the moon remains in the earlier part of the day, there is no objection. This Vrata dispels the sin of three births.
- 4. The devotee shall observe fast and pray thus—"Obeisance obeisance to Govinda, the lord of Yoga and Yoga itself." The Pāraṇā is to be had when both the Tithi (lunar day) and the star come to a close.
- 5. The mantra for ceremonial bath is this—"Obeisance, obeisance unto Govinda the god of sacrifices, the lord of sacrifices, the outcome of sacrifices, nay the sacrifice itself." The mantra for worship is as follows:— "Obeisance, obeisance unto Govinda, the god of the universe, the lord of the universe, nay the universe itself."
- 6. The mantra for laying the deity to sleep is—"obeisance, obeisance to Govinda, the outcome of all, the god of all, the mountain, the All." The lord is to be worshipped on the bare ground. So also the star Rohini accompanied by the moon.
- 7. The devotee shall take the holy water in the conch shell along with flowers, fruits and sandal paste, kneel on the ground and give Arghya to the moon.
- 3. O moon God! born of the milky ocean, originating from the eyes of sage Atri, be pleased to accept this Arghya of mine along with Thy consort Rohini.
 - 9. Similar Arghya offerings shall be made to goddess

Śrī, Yaśoda, Nanda, Vasudeva and Bala, with offerings of fruits.

- 10-16. The following names of the lord shall be repeated: -Anagha (sinless) Vamana (the dwarf) Sauri, Vaikuntha, Purușottama (best of man), Văsudeva, Hṛṣīkeśa, Mādhava (consort of Laksmi) Madhusudana (slayer of the demon Madhu) Varāha (the divine Boar), Pundarīkāksa, (the lotuseyed), Nṛsimha (the manlion), Daityasūdana (destroyer of demons), Dāmodara, Padmanābha, Keśava, Garudadhvaja, Govinda, Acyuta, Ananta Deva (Deathless deity) Aparājita (the undefeated), Adhoksaja, Jagadbija (the seed of the universe) Sargasthityantakāraņam (the cause of creation, sustenance and dissolution) Anadinidhana (having neither the beginning nor death), Vișnu, Trilokeśa (lord of the three worlds), Trivikrama Nārāyaņa, Caturbāhu (four-armed), Sankha cakra gadādhara, Pītāmbaradhara (wearing yellow garments) Divya (the divine) Vanamālāvibhūṣita (bedecked with the garlands of wild flowers), Śrīvatsānka (having the natural mark on the chest named Śrīvatsa), Jagaddhāma, (the support of the universe), Śrīpati, Śrīdhara, Hari. After repeating these names the devotee shall pray thus:-Obeisance unto the deity in the form of Brahman whom Vasudeva begot of Devaki for the protection of the entire earth.
- 17. O Lord of lords Hari, save me from the ocean of existence. O destroyer of all sins, save me from the ocean of miseries and sorrow, O Lord!
- 18-21. O Lord of Śrī, son of Devakī, Hari, Viṣṇu, thou art reputed to be the saviour of even wicked persons who remember Thee but once. O lord, I am the most wicked of all wicked persons, save me from the ocean of sorrow. O Puṣka-rākṣa (lotus-eyed), I am deeply immersed in the ocean of ignorance. O God of gods, save me. Save thee there is no other protector. Obeisance unto the self-born Vāsudeva, the benefactor of cows and brahmins and the whole universe. Obeisance, obeisance to Kṛṣṇa, Govinda. Let there be peace. Let there be welfare. Let me be the possessor of wealth, fame, and a vast realm.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTYTWO

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said:

- 1. The devotee shall perform Vrata on the eighth day taking food only in the night. When the Vrata has been performed for a year he shall make a gift of a cow. This is called Sadgativrata and the devotee attains the status of Indra.
- The same Vrata performed on the eighth day in the bright half of the month of Pauşa is called Mahārudravrata.
 The fruit of that Vrata is a hundred thousand times more fruitful, if it is dedicated unto me.
- 3. If Aştamī (eighth day in either half) and Wednesday coincide, the Vrata is to be performed. Such votaries will never lose their riches as in the story.
- 4. The devotee shall aspire for salvation alone. He must have perfect devotion and full faith. Only eight handfuls of grains shall be used for food by him and the handfuls shall be with the thumb and the index finger stretched out.
- 5. The food is taken on the leaves of a mango tree made into a cup and covered with Kuśa grass. The Kalambikā (a kind of green vegetable) cooked in tamarind water is taken along with the food. The fruit of such a Vrata is whatever one desires.
- 6. In a pond or a river Budha (Mercury) shall be worshipped with the five usual forms of propitiation or articles of worship. Dakṣiṇā in accordance with the capacity of the devotee shall be given. A Karkarī (water jar with small holes in the bottom) full of rice grains shall also be given as gift.
- 7. The mystic lotus symbol, etc. shall be used. The Bija mantra is Bum Budhaya Svaha. The god shall be contemplated as armed with arrows and bow and dark in colour. The Angas (limbs) are in the middle.
- 8. The performer shall hear the story of Budhasjami narrated by scholars. There was a certain famous brahmin named Vira in the city of Pataliputra.
- 9. His wife was Rambhā. They had a virtuous son named Kausika and a daughter named Vijayā. They had a bullock named Dhanapāla.

- 10. On a summer day the boy Kausika took the bullock to the river Ganga and began to play with the cow-herds there. The bullock was stolen by thieves forcibly.
- 11. The grief-stricken boy left the river bank and wandered through the forest. The daughter Vijayā who came there to fetch water accompanied her brother.
- 12. The poor boy became thirsty and so in search of lotus stalks came to a lake where he was surprised to see the remnants of the articles of worship used by celestial damsels.
- 13. He approached the divine damsels and begged them for food for himself and his hungry sister. They directed him to perform the Vrata saying "Practise this Vrata. We shall give you food."
- 14. The children performed the Vrata, the boy for the sake of recovering the lost bullock Dhanapala and the girl for securing a suitable husband. The children took two mangoleaf cupfuls of food given by the damsels.
- 15. The children saw the bullock returned to them by the thieves and reached home by dusk.
- 16. Vira had been grief-stricken. The children bowed to him. They spent the night in sound sleep. The father was now worried on seeing his daughter blooming into a young lady. "To whom shall I give my daughter?" he mused loudly.
- 17. As is usual, the girl said "To Yama" out of her sorrow, but really on account of the good effects of her Vrata. The parents passed away and Kausika performed the Vrata again for the sake of kingdom.
- 18. As a result of the Vrata. Kausika became the king of Ayodhyā and gave his sister in marriage to Yama. Yama told Vijayā— "Be the lady of my house in my own city."
- 19. There in Yama's city she saw her mother bound by noose and tortured. The grief-stricken Vijayā remembered that the Vrata had the potentiality of yielding salvation.
- 20-21. She herself performed the Vrata and the mother attained salvation due to the meritorious potentialities of the Vrata. She went to heaven and stayed there happily.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTYTHREE

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

- 1. Those who chew eight buds of the Aśoka tree on the eighth day in the bright half of the month of Caitra with the star Punarvasu will never be tormented by sorrow.
- 2. O Aśoka, favourite of God Śiva, blossoming in the month of Caitra, I am chewing Thee, grief-stricken that I am. Be pleased to make me free from sorrow

Thus Aśokastami is explained:

- 3. If the eighth and ninth Phases of the moon in the bright half of the month of Aśvina coincide with Uttaraṣāḍha star it is called Mahānavamī. Ceremonial bath and charity on that day have everlasting benefits.
- 4. Even if there is no overlapping of Astami, but only Navami, still Durgā can be worshipped. This is a great Vrata of excellent merit performed by even Sankara and others.
- 5. A king desirous of overthrowing his enemy shall start the Vrata with Japa and Homa on the previous sixth day (Ṣaṣṭhī) itself and shall feed a virgin every day. The Vrata is then called Ayācitādi Vrata. Of course, the concluding rites are only on the Navamī day.
- 6. In the worship the mantra is "Obeisance to Thee, O Durga, Durga the protectress Svaha." All the nine goddesses are to be worshipped like this with the names ending in long vowel "A"
- 7. The rites of Nyāsa in the heart, etc. are with the six words Namaḥ, Svāhā, Vaṣaṭ, Huṁ, Vauṣaṭ and Phaṭ, and along with the Nyāsas on the fingers beginning with the thumb and ending with the little finger the devotee shall worship goddess Śivā.
- 8. On the Astami itself nine wooden huts (for nine goddesses) or a single wooden house is built in which the golden or silver image of the goddess is installed.
- 9-11. Instead of idols, a trident, a sword, a book, a cloth or a mystic diagram can be used as the object of worship. Durga has eighteen hands. In the nine left hands she holds a skull, a club, a bell, a mirror, a threat, a bow, a banner, a drum and a noose. In the nine right hands she holds a Sakti (Javelin) an iron club, a spear, a thunderbolt, a sword, a goad, an arrow, a discus and a Salākā (a tubelike dart). The remaining goddesses have sixteen hands without Salākā and Damaru (drum).

- 12. The eight other goddcsses are: Ugracandă, Pracandă, Candogră, Candanăyikă, Candă, Candavati, Candarūpā and Aticandikā.
- 13. The ninth goddess and Ugracanda are in the middle and are of fiery colour. The others are in order of pigment colour, rosy, dark, blue, smoke-coloured, white, yellow and grey. They stand in the Alīdha pose (right knee advanced and left leg retracted).
- 14. The Mahişa (buffalo) demon is being hit by the sword and his fist is in an attitude of trying to catch hold of the tresses. After reciting the ten-syllabled mantra "Obeisance to Mahişasuramardini" the trident shall be worshipped.
- 15. The goddess can be worshipped on the phallic emblem too and the sandals in water also. These must be a variegated Pūjā on the Aṣṭamī day and fasting also.
- 16-18. A well grown buffalo of five years shall be sacrificed at the close of the night. All rites of Kalī must be duly performed. The blood coming out of the buffalo shall be offered to Pūtanā in the south-west, to Pāparākṣasī in the north-west, to Caṇḍikī in the north-east and to Vidārikā in the south-east.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTYFOUR

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahma said :

1. Mahakausika mantra which is very efficacious is being mentioned—"Om obeisance to Mahakausika, Om Hum Hum Prasphura Lala Lala Kulva Kulva Culva Culva Khalla Khalla Mulva Mulva Gulva Gulva Tulva Tulva Pulla Pulla

Visnu said :

3. On the tenth day of every month the devotee takes only a single morsel and performs Vrata for a year At the end of the year he makes a gift of ten cows and gold images of the presiding deities of the quarters. He shall eventually attain the lordship of the whole cosmos.

Thus Digdaśami is explained.

Brahmā said :

- 4. Worship of the sages with all materials shall be performed. The devotee shall become wealthy and blessed with sons. After death he shall be honoured in the Rsiloka.
- 5. The sages are Marici, Atri, Angiras, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Pracetas, Vasistha, Bhrgu and Narada. The worship is carried out in the beginning of Caitra with garlands of Damana flowers.
- 6-7. Thus has been explained the Aśokāṣṭamī; the Vīranavamī, the Damananavamī, the Digdaśamī and the (Rṣi) Ekādaśī.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTYSIX

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

 I shall explain the Śrāvaņa Dvadaśi Vrata which yields worldly enjoyments and salvation. If the eleventh and twelfth phases of the moon coincide with the star Śravaņa,

2. That Tithi is called Vijaya. Worship of Lord Hari on this day is of everlasting benefit.

3. If the devotee fasts, takes alms, takes only a single morsel in the day or foodstuff in the night when not solicited by him he does not violate the rules of the Dvadasī Vrata.

I.136.12.

4. The devotee shall avoid on that day the use of bell metal vessels, meat, honey, greed, idle talk, exercise, sexual intercourse, sleep during the day, application of collyrium, flour, etc. ground at the grind stone and Masūra dāla.

- 5. The twelfth day in the bright half of the month of Bhādrapada with Wednesday and the star Śravana coinciding is called Mahatī Dvādašī. A fast on this day with ceremonial bath in the confluence of two rivers yields immense benefit.
- 6. Gems shall be put in golden water pot and the deity Vāmana shall be worshipped. The image is covered with a pair of white cloths. An umbrella and a pair of sandals also accompany the same.
- 7-9. With the mantras specified the respective limbs are worshipped.

Om obeisance to Vasudeva-the head

Om obeisance to Śridhara-the face

Om obeisance to Kṛṣṇa—the neck

Om obeisance to Śripati-the chest

Om obeisance to Sarvāstradhārin—the arms

Om obeisance to Vyapaka-the belly

Om obeisance to Keśava-the lower stomach

Om obeisance to Trailokyapati-the penis.

Om obeisance to Sarvapati-the calves.

Om obeisance to Sarvatman-the feet

The naivedya to be offered is butter and milk pudding.

- 10. He shall make gifts of water pots, sweet meats, etc. He shall keep awake at night. After bath, Acamana and worship by offerings of flowers he shall pray as follows:
- 11. "Obeisance unto Thee O Govinda, Budha called Śravaṇa, be pleased to destroy all sins and bless me with all comforts."
- 12. The devotee shall give water pots to brahmins saying—"May the god of gods be pleased". The Vrata can also be performed on the banks of a river. The devotee shall acquire everything he desires.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTYSEVEN

Sacred Rites (Vratas)

Brahmā said :

1. The worship of the favourite God on the thirteenth day called Kāmadevatrayodaśi with Madana flowers, etc. bestows sexual pleasure, freedom from sorrow and all due respect from everyone.

Thus Madanatrayodasi is explained.

2. The devotee shall observe fast on the fourteenth day in the bright half and on the eighth day in the dark half for a whole year and worship Siva. He shall enjoy all worldly pleasures.

Thus Caturdasyastamī Vrata is explained.

- 3. In the month of Karttika the devotee shall observe fast for three days and make a gift of an excellent house. He shall attain the region of the sun. This excellent Vrata is called Dhamavrata.
- 4. On the new moon day if one offers libations of water to the Manes it has immense benefit. If one worships in water in the names of the days of the week (with their presiding deities) taking food only in the night, one shall attain everything.

Thus Varavratas have been explained.

5. The devotce shall worship well Lord Acyuta in the name of the twelve stars in the twelve months (in accordance with the name).

- 6. Keśava is worshipped in the month of Mārgaśīrṣa. This worship can be the inaugural one or in the month of Kārttika. For the four months of the Caturmāsa period homa is offered with butter. The Naivedya is Kṛṣara (gingelly seeds rounded into balls with treacle).
- 7. The naivedya in Aṣāḍha, etc. is milk pudding. The brahmins too are to be fed on this. The bath is in Pañca-gavya water. The remnant of naivedya constitutes the night food of the devotee.
- 8. Before Visarjana (the ceremonial dismissal) all usual materials can be used as Naivedya. When Jagannatha is formally discharged that becomes Nirmalya (remnant of the offerings).

I.137.19 397

- 9. All devotees during the Pañcaratra (five nights) take naivedya. Thus the Pūjā shall be continued for a year with special rites.
- 10. The prayer—"Obeisance, obeisance unto Thee, O Acyuta, let the sins be destroyed; let the Punya (merit) flourish. Let prosperity be everlasting. Let my family flourish.
- 11. O Acyuta, just as Thou art beyond the greatest, Brahman the Supreme, O destroyer of sins, O the unknowable, make my desire too undegraded; make my actions undegraded.
- 12. O Acyuta, O Ananda, O Govinda, O Purusottama, let my desire be of everlasting benefit. Make it so O, Unknowable!"
- 13-14. If this Vrata is performed for seven years the devotee obtains longevity, prosperity and the goal of the good. Observing fast on the eleventh, eighth, fourteenth and seventh days for a year and worshipping Viṣṇu, Durgā, Śambhu, and Ravi (sun) in the order, the devotee attains their respective regions. He becomes pure and gets everything he desires.
- 15 By taking a single morsel, by taking food received unsolicited at night, by fasting or by taking only vegetables all deities can be worshipped in all the Tithis. The devotee shall attain worldly pleasures and salvation.
- 16-19. Kubera, Agni and the two Aśvini gods are to be worshipped on the first day. Śrī and Yama on the second; Pārvatī and Śrī on the fifth; Nāgas and Kārttikeya on the sixth, the sun on the seventh; Durgā and Mothers on the eighth; Takṣaka on the Ninth; Indra and Kubera on the tenth; the sages on the eleventh; Hari on the twelfth; Kāma and Maheśvara on the thirteenth; Brahmā on the fourteenth and the manes on New Moon and Full moon.

- 25. His son was Samvaraņa who begot Kuru who had threesons Sudhanus, Parīkşit and Jahnu.
- 26. Sudhanus begot Suhotra whose son Cyavana had three sons: Kṛtaka, Uparicara and Vasu.
- 27. Vasu's sons were Brhadratha, Pratyagra, Satya and others. The eldest of them Brhadratha begot Kuśagra father of Rsabha.
- 28. His son was Puspavan, father of Satyahita who begot Sudhanva father of Jahnu.
- 29. Brhadratha had another son named Jarasandha whose son Sahadeva begot Somapi father of Śrutavan.
- 30. He had many sons Bhīmasena, Ugrasena, Śrutasena, Aparājita, Janamejaya, etc. Jahnu's son was Suratha.
- 31. His son Viduratha begot Sarvabhauma father of Jayasena whose son was Avadhita.
- 32. His son Ayutayu begot Akrodhana, father of Atithi whose son was Rksa.

1.141.8

33. His son Bhīmasena begot Dilīpa, father of Pratīpa whose son was Devāpi.

34-35. Śantanu Vāhlīka were the brothers of Devāpi. Vāhlīka begot four sons Somadatta, Bhūri, Bhūriśravas and Śāla. Śantanu begot of Gangā the most virtuous Bhīşma and of Satyavatī two sons: Citrāngada and Vicitravīrya.

- 36-37. Vicitravīrya had two wives: Ambikā and Ambālikā. Vyāsa begot of Ambikā Dhṛtarāṣṭra and of Ambālikā Pāṇḍu and of their maid servant Vidura. Gāndhārī bore Dhṛtarāṣṭra one hundred sons: Duryodhana and others while Pāṇḍu had five sons.
- 38. The five brothers married Draupadi and begot of her respectively Prativindhya, Śrutasoma, Śrutakīrti, Śatānika and Śrutakarman.
- 39-41. The ladies Yaudheyi, Hidimba, Subhadra (sister of Kṛṣṇa), Vijayī and Reņumatī bore the Paṇḍava brothers these sons respectively—Devaka, Ghaṭotkaca, Abhimanyu (who was quick of movement) Suhotra and Niramitra. Abhimanyu's son was Parīkṣit whose son was Janamejaya. Now listen to the names of the future kings.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FORTYONE

Genealogy of the Pauravas and others

Hari said :

- The future kings will be these in order: Śatānīka, Aśvamedhadatta, Adhisomaka, Kṛṣṇa, Aniruddha, Uṣṇa, and Citraratha.
- 2-4. (The other kings in the line will be:) Šuciratha, Vṛṣṇimān, Suṣeṇa, Sunītha, Nṛcakṣu, Mukhābāṇa, Medhāvī, Nṛpañjaya, Pāriplava, Sunaya, Medhāvī, Nṛpañjaya, Hari, Tigma, Bṛhadratha, Śatānīka, Sudāna, Udāna, Ahīnara, Daṇḍapāṇi, Nimittaka, Kṣemaka and a line of Śūdra kings, thereafter.
- _5-8. The future line of kings in the Iksvaku race will be :--Brhadbala, Uruksaya, Vatsavyūha, Sūrya, Sahadeva, Bṛhadaśva, Bhānuratha, Pratīcya, Pratītaka, Manudeva, Sunakṣatra, Kinnara, Antarikṣaka, Suparṇa, Kṛtajit, the virtuous Bṛhadbhrāja, Kṛtañjaya, Dhanañjaya, Sañjaya, Śākya, Suddhodana, Bāhula, Senajit, Kṣudraka, Samitra, Kuḍava and Sumitra. Now listen to the kings of Magadha.

- 9-11. Jarāsandha, Sahadeva, Somāpi, Śrutaśravas, Ayutāyu, Niramitra, Svakṣatra, Bahukarmaka, Śrutañjaya, Senajit, Bhūri, Śuci, Kṣemya, Suvrata, Dharma, Śmaśrula, Dṛḍhasenaka, Sumati, Subala, Nīta, Asatyajit, Viśvajit and Iṣuñjaya. These kings will be the descendants of Bṛhadratha.
- 12. Thereafter all the kings will be Sūdras of evil and impious deeds. Nārāyaṇa the imperishable Lord is the creator of heaven, etc.
- 13-14. There are three different types of dissolution of the world—1) Naimittika i.e. the conditional dissolution 2) Prākṛtika (the natural or cosmic dissolution) and 3) Ātyantika or the final and absolute dissolution. The Earth will dissolve into water. The water will dissolve into Tejas (Heat). The heat will dissolve into the Air, the Air into Ether and the Ether into the Cosmic ego or Ahankara, the cosmic ego into the cosmic Intellect, the cosmic Intellect into Jīva (the Cosmic Self) which will dissolve into Avyakta which will dissolve into the Ātman.
- 15-16. The Atman is the Supreme Lord Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa and Nara which is Imperishable. All the other things are perishable. All the kings have been destroyed. Hence avoid Sin. One shall always be virtuous so that by casting off sins one could attain Hari.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FORTYTWO

Greatness of Sita

Brahmā said :

1. For the destruction of the impious way of living of the demons and the protection of the Vedic Religion, Lord Hari incarnated in the world and saved the pious lines of kings.

1.142.16 411

2-3. The lord incarnated in the form of Fish, etc. Taking the form of Fish he fought with the demon Hayagrīva in battle, killed him, redeemed the Vedas and saved Manu and others. Taking the form of a Tortoise he lifted the mountain Mandara on his back for the benefit of all.

- 4-5. At the time of churning the milky ocean, he took the form of the first physician Dhanvantari and holding the vessel full of Nectar rose up from the ocean. He taught the science of medicine and health with its eightfold sub-divisions to Suśruta. Hari took the form of a lady and made devas drink nectar.
- Incarnating as a Boar he killed Hiranyāksa, extricated the Earth from his clutches and saved the deities.
- 7. Incarnating as Nṛsimha (manlion) he killed the demon Hiraṇyakaśipu and preserved the Vedic religion and its principles.
- 8. Then Hari incarnated as the son of Jamadagni, Parasurama by name and freed the Earth of Kşatriyas thrice seven (twentyone) times.
- 9. The Lord then killed Karttavirya and gifted away land to Kasyapa. After performing a sacrifice the powerful lord made a permanent stay on the mountain Mahendra.
- 10-11. Desirous of incarnating as Rāma, the suppressor of the wicked, he divided himself into four and Daśaratha's four sons were born, viz. Rāma, Bharata, Lakṣmaṇa and Śatrughna. Rāma's wife was Jānakī.
- 12. To do a good turn to his step-mother and to preserve the truthfulness of his father he came to Dandaka forest passing through Śrngavera and Citrakūţa.
- 13-15. He chopped off the nose of Sūrpaṇakhā, killed the demons Khara, Dūṣaṇa, and Rāvaṇa who abducted Sītā along with his brother (Kumbhakarṇa). After installing his other brother Vibhīṣaṇa in the kingdom of Laṅkā he returned to Ayodhyā in the celestial car Puṣpaka accompanied by Sugrīva, Hanumān and others and his chaste wife Sītā of great fidelity.
- 16. He ruled over the kingdom, protected subjects, saved devas, performed Aśvamedha (horse sacrifice) and other sacrifices and preserved righteousness.

- 17-18. Rāma lived happily with his loyal wife. Although she stayed in the premises of Rāvaņa she never went over to him in mind, speech or action. She never thought of anyone except Rāma. She was as good a chaste woman as the celebrated Anasūyā.
- 19. I shall tell you about the greatness of Sītā by narrating the greatness of chastity. Once, in the city of Pratisthana, there lived a brahmin named Kauśika who suffered from leprosy.
- 20. In spite of his loathsome disease his wife worshipped him like a god. Even when rebuked by him she never ceased to venerate him.
- 21-22. Ordered by her husband she took him to a prostitute's house, taking with her plenty of money. The sage Māṇḍavya who had been impaled on being suspected as a thief unjustifiably and who was pining in darkness was inadvertently kicked by the brahmin Kauśika who was seated on his wife's shoulders.
- 23. Māṇḍavya became furious on being kicked with the foot and said, "He who tossed me with his foot shall die at sunrise."
- 24. On hearing that, the wife of Kausika said, "The sun will never rise." Since the sun did not rise there was perpetual night.
- 25. Many years went by like this. The gods became afraid. They went to Brahmā for help. Brahmā told them.
- 26-28. The splendour of asceticism is being subdued by this splendour of chastity, since the greatness of the chaste lady prevents the sun from rising. If the sun does not rise the loss is yours as well as men's. Hence, go to the chaste wife of Atri, Anasūyā, the holy woman and propitiate her for making the sun rise." The gods went to the chaste lady Anasūyā and entreated her.
- 29. Making the sun rise she resuscitated Kausika too. It is said that Sītā was superior to even Anasūyā in chastity.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FORTYTHREE

The Story of Rama

Brahmā said :

- Now, I shall narrate Rămāyana (Rāma's story) which mitigates sins on being heard. Brahmā was born of the lotus from the navel of Vișnu and Marīci was his son.
- 2. Kasyapa was born of Marīci; Sun was born of Kasyapa; Manu was born of Sun and Ikşvāku was Manu's son. The king Raghu was a scion of this family.
- 3. Raghu's son was Aja whose son was the mighty Dasaratha. He had four valiant sons.
- Rāma was born of Kausalyā. Bharata was the son of Kaikeyī. The two brothers, Lakşmana, and Satrughna were born of Sumitrā.
- Rāma was devotedly attached to his father and mother. He learned the use of many miraculous weapons from Viśvāmitra. Then he killed the ogress Tādakā.
- The powerful Rāma killed Subāhu at the sacrificial altar of Viśvāmitra. Visiting the holy sacrifice of Janaka, he married Sītā.
- 7. Lakşmana married Ürmilä. Bharata married Mandavī and Satrughna married Srutakīrti, both of whom were the daughters of Kuśadhvaja.
- 8. Rāma and his brothers returned to Ayodhyā accompanied by their parents. Then Bharata and Satrughna went to the former's uncle Yudhājit.
- 9. While they were away, the king wanted to give his kingdom to Rāma, the best of his sons. Kaikeyi wanted that for her son and also desired that Rāma should go to stay in the forest for fourteen years.
- 10. For the benefit of his father Rama forsook his kingdom like a blade of grass and went to Srngaverapura accompanied by Laksmana and Sitä.
- 11. Abandoning the chariot he passed through Prayaga reaching the mountain Citrakuta. Unable to bear the pangs of separation from Rama the king Dasaratha passed away.
 - 12. After the obsequies of his father, Bharata accompanied by the armed forces came to Rāma and said—"Please come back to Ayodhyā to rule over kingdom, noble brother dear."

- 13-14. But Rāma did not like the idea. As a symbol for ruling kingdom he gave Bharata his sandals. Thus dismissed, Bharata protected Rāma's kingdom stationing himself in Nandigrāma and never entering Ayodhyā. Rāma left Citrakūţa and went over to Atri's hermitage.
- 15-16. After paying due respects to Sutikșņa and Agastya he went to Daņdaka forest. There the ogress named Śūrpaṇakhā came to devour them. Rāma cut off her ears and nose. Inimically disposed she induced her brothers Khara, Triśiras and Dūṣaṇa who came over there.
- 17. By means of his arrows Rāma sent them to Yama's abode along with the fourteen thousand Rākṣasa soldiers.
- 18. Induced by the ogress, Rāvaņa assumed the form of an anchorite in order to abduct Sītā and came there preceded by Mārīca in the guise of a deer.
- 19. Requested by Sītā, Rāma went out to beg the deer but killed Mārīca who cried out "Alas! Sītā Alas Lakşmaņa" while dying.
- 20. When Sītā asked him to go, Laksmaņa too went out and on seeing him Rāma said, "This is only a deceptive trick of the ogress! Surely Sītā has been abducted."
- 21. Getting a suitable opportunity Råvana abducted Sītā and went back to Lankā striking Jaţāyu on the way.
- 22. He kept Sītā in the Aśoka grove. (Here in the forest) Rāma returned to the hut only to see it empty.
- 23-25. Grief-stricken Rāma sought Sītā here and there. He cremated Jaţāyu and as directed by him went southwards and made alliance with Sugrīva. With a single arrow, with a hooked point he cut off seven huge trees and killed Bāli. He made Sugrīva the Lord of monkeys in Kişkindhā while he himself remained in Rşyamūka.
- 26. Sugrīva sent brawny monkeys huge like mountains in search of Sītā to all quarters.
- 27-28. Those who went to West, North and East came back. Those who went to South in search of Sītā roamed in forests, mountains, islands and on river banks but could not see her. Hence, they decided on self-immolation.

I.143.46 415

29. On knowing the whereabouts of Sitā from Sampāti's words, Hanumān the elephantine monkey, leapt across the abode of sharks (the ocean) one thousand two hundred kilometres wide.

- 30-31. There he saw Sità sitting in the Asoka grove, rebuked by the ogresses, tormented by the demon king Ravana with the importunities "Be my wife" and engrossed in thoughts about Rama. He gave her the signet ring and consoled Sità by telling her about the welfare of Rama.
- 32. "I am the messenger of Rāma, O noble daughter of Mithilā, do not be grief-stricken. Give me a token that could be recognised by Rāma."
- 33. On hearing that, Sītā gave her crest-jewel to Hanuman saying "Please tell him everything in such a manner as to make Rāma take me away quickly."
- 34. "So shall I", said Hanuman and immediately set about uprooting the various trees in the beautiful garden nearby. After killing Prince Akşa and other demons he voluntarily let them bind him.
- 35. Bound by Indrajit's miraculous weapons he was led to Rāvaņa on seeing whom he said, "I am Hanuman the messenger of Rāma. Surrender Sītā to him."
- 36. On hearing this, the infuriated demon set fire to his tail. The powerful monkey with his blazing tail burnt the city of Lanka.
- 37. After burning the city and feasting himself and his friends on the delicious fruits of Madhuvana, the monkey came back to Rāma, saying "my Lord, Sītā has been found."
- 38. He then handed over the crest-jewel to Rāma. Accompanied by Lakṣmaṇa, Sugriva, Hanumān, Angada and others, Rāma marched to Lankā.
- 39. Vibhīṣaṇa, the younger brother of Rāvaṇa, sought refuge in Rāma who readily crowned him as the king of Lankā in anticipation.
- 40. Rāma got the bridge constructed through Nala and crossed the sea to the mountain Suvela from the summit of which he surveyed the city of Lanka.
- 41-46. The leaders of the monkey host were Nila, Angada, Nala, Dhumra, Dhumraksa, Virendra, Jambavan, Mainda, Dvivida and many others. They attacked and demolished the various parts of the city of Lanka. Rama and Laksmana accompanied by the monkey leaders fought with the Raksasas of huge bodies dark like mountains of collyrium. The leaders among the demons were Vidyujjihva, Dhūmraksa, Devāntaka, Narāntaka, Mahodara, Mahāpārsva, Atikāya, Mahābala, Kumbha, Nikumbha, Matta, Makarāksa, Akampana, Prahasta, Vīra, Unmatta and the powerful Kumbhakarna. Rāma killed them all. Laksmana killed Indrajit, son of Rāvana. After chopping off his hands Rāma killed Rāvana.

- 47. After Sītā had proved her chastity by passing through the blazing pyre she was accepted by Rāma and all of them returned to the city of Ayodhyā in the celestial chariot Puşpaka.
- 48-49. Rāma ruled over the kingdom protecting the subjects like his own children. He performed ten horse sacrifices, Piņdadāna and other rites in Gayāśīrṣa and charitable gifts too. He crowned his sons Kuśa and Lava in the kingdom.
- 50-51. Rāma ruled the kingdom for eleven thousand years. Satrughna killed the demon Lavaņa. Bharata presided over dramaturgy. Agastya and other sages were worshipped. They told Rāma about the crigin and antecedents of the Rāksasas. Finally, with all the people of Ayodhyā Rāma ascended Heaven.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY FOUR

Incarnation of Krsna

Brahma said :

1-2. I shall narrate the story of Visnu where Śrikṛṣṇa's greatness is explicit. Vāsudeva begot of Devakī Vāsudeva (Lord Kṛṣṇa) and Bala, for the preservation of virtue and the annihilation of evil. Kṛṣṇa sucked the breasts of the ogress. Pūtanā and killed her.

- 3. The Śakaţa (Cart) demon was upset, and the twin Arjuna trees were uprooted, the serpent Kaliya was humiliated and the demon Dhenuka (Cow) was thrown off.
- 4-5. The mountain Govardhana was lifted up by Kṛṣṇa and he was honoured by Indra. He freed the Earth of its burden and promised protection for Arjuna and others. The demons Ariṣṭa and others were killed; the demon Keśin was slain and the cowherds were blessed and delighted.
- 6-7. The wrestlers Cāṇūra and Muṣṭika were killed and Kamsa was thrown off his couch and killed. Lord Hari had eight principal wives Rukmiṇi, Satyabhāmā and others, besides sixteen thousand other women. Their sons and grandsons were hundreds of thousands in number.
- 8 He begot of Rukmini a son Pradyumna who killed Sambara. His son was Aniruddha who became the husband of Usa, the daughter of Bana.
- 9. (In the context of Aniruddha's love-affairs with Uşā) a great battle between Lord Hari and Lord Sankara ensued wherein thousand hands of Bāṇa were chopped off, leaving him with only two hands.
- 10. By the Lord, Naraka too was killed and the celestial tree Pārijāta was brought on earth. The asuraș Bala, Śiśupāla and the monkey Dvivida were killed by him.
- 11. Aniruddha's son was Vajra who became king when Lord Hari passed away. He made Såndipani his preceptor and reunited him with his son. He installed Ugrasena in the city of Mathura and set about the task of protecting the deities.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FORTYFIVE

The Story of the Mahabharata

Brahma said :

1. I shall narrate briefly the story of the Mahabharata. Fighting for the sake of Pandavas and others Lord Krana relieved the Earth of its burden.

- Brahmā was born of the lotus from the navel of Viṣṇu. Atri was Brahmā's son. Soma (moon) was born of Atri. Budha (Mercury) was his son. He begot Purūravas of Ūrvasī.
- 3-4. His son was Ayu. In his line the kings Yayati, Bharata, Kuru and Santanu were born. Bhīşma was born of Santanu and Gangā. He was endowed with all good qualities and he became a master of the Purāna called Brahmavaivarta.
- Santanu had two sons of his wife Satyavatī. The first son Citrāngada was killed by a Gandharva of the same name.
- 6-8. The other son Vicitravīrya married the two daughters of the king of Kāśī. When he passed away Vyāsa begot of Ambikā his wife Dhṛtarāṣṭra and of Ambālikā the son Pāṇḍu and another son Vidura of the maid-servant. Dhṛtarāṣṭra begot of Gāndhārī one hundred sons of great prowess, the chief of whom was Duryodhana. Pāṇḍu was blessed with five sons in his wives Kuntī and Mādrī.
- 9. The five sons were: Yudhisthira, Bhimasena, Arjuna, Nakula and Sahadeva. All of them were very valiant.
- 10. Due to the working of Fate an enmity and mutual struggle ensued between the Kauravas and Pāṇḍavas. The frightened and nervous Duryodhana began to harass the Pāṇḍavas.
- 11-12. After setting fire to the house of lac, the Pandavas saved themselves by their shrewd intelligence. The pure-hearted noble-souled Pandavas took the guise of brahmins and stayed in the house of a brahmin in the village of Ekacakra and killed the demon Baka.
- 13. They heard of the Svayamvara (voluntary self-choice of husband) of Draupadi in the Pañcala territory. Prowess and valour being the condition for marrying her they won her hand.
- 14. With the permission of Drona and Bhişma, Dhrtaraşţra brought them back and gave them half the kingdom with the capital at Indraprastha, the excellent city.
- 15. They built a fine Assembly Hall and performed the sacrifice Rajasuya after due performance of sacred rites. Arjuna married Subhadra, the sister of Vasudeva at Dvaraka and Krana became his lifelong friend.

I.145.28 419

16. From Agni (fire-god) he got the divine chariot Nandighosa, the bow of great renown in the three worlds named Gaṇḍiva, inexhaustible supply of arrows and a coat of mail that could not be pierced through.

17. That bow held in his hand, with Kṛṣṇa for his help Bībhatsu (Arjuna) propitiated the fire god in the forest of Khāṇdava.

- 18. He defeated many kings in his campaign of conquest and won precious gems and jewels. He gave gladly all these to his brother, the noble Yudhişthira, a master of statesmanship.
- 19. Unfortunately the righteous Yudhisthira along with his brothers was defeated in a deceitful fraudulent game of dice by the wicked Duryodhana.
- 20. The wicked Duryodhana followed the counsel of Karņa, Duśśasana and Śakuni. The Paṇdavas thereafter underwent great hardships for twelve years in the forest.
- 21-22. In the forests they were accompanied by the sage Dhaumya, their wife Draupadī, and many other brahmins and sages. For one year they stayed in the city of Virāţa in disguise. They saved a herd of cows and thus being recognised they put forward their claim to their kingdom.
- 23. In the absence of their full share they wanted only half the kingdom and if that were not given they wanted only five villages. They did not get any of these. Hence, they fought a battle in Kuruksetra with their vast hosts.
- 24. They had seven Akşauhiņīs (great divisions) of armies and the Kauravas had eleven Akşauhiņīs.
- 25. In the beginning Bhisma was the commander-inchief of Duryodhana's army. A terrific battle not inferior to the battle of gods and demons ensued thereafter.
- 26. At the head of the army of Pandavas was Sikhandin. In the battle, weapons were met with weapons and arrows were split with arrows. It went on thus for ten days.
- 27-28. Bhīṣma was pierced with hundreds of arrows by Sikhaṇḍin and Arjuna and thrown down. He awaited Uttarā-yaṇa (for his final death). He meditated on Lord Gadādhara. He taught Yudhiṣṭhira many religious precepts. He performed Tarpaṇa for the manes. Finally, he merged himself in the pure Bliss of Supreme God freed of all sins.

- 29. The battle continued for five days between Drona and Dhṛṣṭadyumna in a great terrific manner.
- 30. Many kings perished in that Vast ocean of arrows, After sinking in the ocean of sorrow, Drona finally passed away and attained heaven.
- 31. Then Karna took up the leadership, and fought Arjuna. After two days' battle he sank in the ocean of Arjuna's arrows and attained the Solar region.
- 32. Then Salya fought with Yudhisthira but by midday he was killed by arrows blazing like fire.
- 33. The powerful Duryodhana seized his club and rushed at Bhīma as terrible as God of death.
- 34-35. He was killed by the powerful Bhima with his mace. Aśvatthāmā, the son of Droņa, infuriated by the death of his father went to the battle-field at night and killed hundreds of sleeping soldiers. He killed Dhṛṣṭadyumna as well as the sons of Draupadī.
- 36. When Draupadi began to bewail, Arjuna caught hold of Aśvatthāmā and severed his crest-jewel with an Aişikāstra (a grass blade arrow). [He being a brahmin and the son of preceptor was not killed by Arjuna. The severance of the crest-jewel was symbolical of slaughter].
- 37-38. He consoled Yudhişthira as well as the hundreds of widows plunged in misery. On being consoled by Bhīma, Yudhişthira took bath, performed Tarpaņa to the pitrs, devas and grandfathers. He ruled over the kingdom and performed a horse sacrifice with due gifts.
- 39. On hearing the destruction of Yadavas in the civil war due to the fight with threshing rods, the king repeated one thousand names of Viṣṇu, crowned Parīkṣit in the kingdom and ascended Heaven in the company of his brothers.
- 40-43. Väsudeva will incarnate as Buddha to delude demons, to protect gods, to wipe off evil, and to kill the wicked. In the twentieth Manvantara at the time of churning the milk ocean he incarnated as Dhanvantari and taught Suśruta, son of Viśvāmitra, the whole of Ayurveda, to enliven gods. A man who hears the story of the Mahabharata and the incarnations of Viṣpu shall attain Heaven.

CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND FORTYSIX

Description of Diseases

Dhanvantari said:

- O Suśruta,¹ I shall now mention the pathology of all diseases correctly as narrated before by the sages Atreya and others.
- The words Roga, Pāpmā, Jvara, Vyādhi, Vikāra, Duṣṭam, Āmaya, Yakṣmā, Ātanka, Gada and Bādhā are all synonyms (meaning sickness).
- The diagnosis of diseases consists of five essential categories, i.e.

Nidana (Pathology)

Pūrvarūpas (Preliminary stages)

Rūpas (Indications)

Upasaya (amelioration)

Samprapti (Localisation and cure)

- 4. Nidåna or Pathology is mentioned by these words as well—Nimitta (cause), Hetu (Reason), Äyatana (Pathology), Pratyaya (belief), Utthana Karana (exciting factor). It is from this that Pūrvarūpa (preliminary stage) is inferred.
- The preliminary stage is that wherein the sickness about to set in but not excited by all Doşas exhibits uncertain symptoms.
- 6. When the same manifests itself in various indications it is called Rūpa (Indications). Other words synonymous with this are Samsthāna (fixation), Vyañjana (manifestation), Linga (symptom), Lakṣaṇa (characteristic trait), Cihna (sign) and Ākṛti (shape).
- 7-8. The alleviative employment of medicines, diet and general conduct of the patient antagonistic to the disease or its causes, or capable of producing such antidotes, is called Upasaya (Amelioration). Another term is Satmya (identity).
- Author and compiler of the famous Suiruta-Samhitä. He is the earliest writer to deal with surgery. He is later than Caraka. His work was translated in Arabic before the end of the eighth century. There is a Latin translation by Hepler and one in German by Vullers. (CSL p. 100; CDHM p. 312).

The opposite of this is called Anupasaya (non amelioration) or Vyadhi-Asatmya (non-identity with the sickness).

- 9. The removal of sickness by the eradication of the Dosas, the three principles of Vayu¹, Pitta² and Kapha³ not being in their normal proportion) is called Samprapti (localisation and cure. Other terms are Yati and Agati.
- 10. Sickness and its pathology differ due to the change of seasons, force of their attack, time of the day, their importance, and the number of varieties. As for example, now we are going to say that fevers are of eight varieties.
- 11. What is mentioned as Vikalpa (doubt or suspense) which differentiates one disease from another is preponderance or deficiency of the morbid principles of vayu, pitta and kapha. Importance as the differentiating character in various diseases means independence or dependence of the different principles in acting as exciting factors of sickness.
- 12. Differentiation due to potency is to be based on the full complement of the various exciting factors. Differentiation due to the time factor is the various units of time as night, day, season, or the period that lapses between one meal and the next.
- 13. Thus the meaning of the word Nidana has been explained briefly now. It will be explained in detail later on. To say, in brief, therefore the cause of all illnesses is the upsetting of the equilibrium of the three Doşas.
- 14. The cause of the upset of the doşas is resorting to Ahita (unwholesome) things which are of three types (i.e. in diet medication and conduct) as mentioned before.
- 15-16. The Väyu (the principle connected with nerve forces, vital airs, etc.) becomes upset usually in summer, towards the close of the night or the day or at the end of a meal. It is also caused by gluttonous eating or taking in bitter, sour, astringent, hot and coarse parchifying articles of food. Running, lifting up heavy objects, keeping awake at night too long, loud shouting, sudden onslaught, shock of fear and sorrow, anxious brooding, exercises and excited sexual intercourse also cause the upset of the Väyu principle.
- 17. The principle of Pittam (i.e. bile causing defective metabolism) is usually upset in the season of autumn, midday or midnight or in the course of digestion or acidification of food taken in. Taking in articles of food too hot, pungent sour, and creating a burning sensation in the body is also a cause for such an upset. Getting angry may also cause the upset of Pitta.

- 18-19. The principle of Kapha or Śleşmā (i.e. phlegm controlling secretions or excretory process) usually gets upset in the forenoon, early parts of the nights, in the season of spring and immediately after taking food when vomiting, belching etc. accompanies it. Foodstuffs sweet, sour, too saltish, oily and greasy, very heavy, (indigestible), too cold and fluid and soup like in nature too cause the upset of Kapha. Other causes are sedentary habits, sleeplessness, indigestion, sleeping during the day and eructation.
- 20. The Sannipâta or a combination of these deranged humours takes place due to various causes. Taking in a miscellaneous assortment of food, irregular and incompatible meals, and indigestion cause Sannipâta.
- 21. Stale beverages and wine, dry vegetables and green, raw radish, etc., asafoetida, oilcakes, putrefying or dry meat—all these cause a jumbled upset of four humours.
- 22. Sudden change of diet inducing the upset of all humours, exposure to a gust of wind from front affecting the seven vital elements of the body (i.e. the Dhatus viz., secretions, blood, flesh, fat, bones, marrows and semen) and other disorders cause Sannipata.
- 23-24. If the food is ill cooked or spoiled in various ways, if bile-producing stuffs are eaten indiscriminately, if the treatment is untimely and ill directed, if various sinful deeds are committed, if the stars are malignant, a sannipata or combination of deranged humours results. In the case of woman post-parturition disorders not properly remedied may cause this. Sometimes taking in of Aphrodisiacs also upsets this. Various illnesses result therefrom with chemical changes in the blood based on the nature of the disease.
